How Social Security Works

This Explains All About It

MONTHLY FEDERAL OLD-AGE RETIREMENT BENEFITS.

Q. 28. After finding the total amount of my wages by this method, how can I then figure the amount of monthly federal old-age retirement benefits?

A. If your total wages are less than $2000, you are not eligible for monthly retirement benefits. If your total wages are $2000 or more but not in excess of $3000, your monthly benefits will equal 1/2 per cent of your total wages. If your total wages are more than $3000, your monthly benefits will equal 1/2 per cent of the first $3000 plus 1/12 per cent of any amount over $3000 up to total wages of $45,000. If your total wages are more than $45,000, your monthly federal old-age retirement benefits will be 1/2 per cent of the first $3000 plus 1/12 per cent of $42,000 plus 1/24 per cent of all over $45,000, up to a total that will provide a monthly payment of $85, the highest monthly payments that will be made.

Q. 29. Why was this method of calculating the amount of monthly federal old-age retirement benefits adopted?

A. The purpose of paying a higher percentage of the smaller amounts of total wages is to provide more liberal benefits for lower-paid workers. Workers who are already middle-aged will also benefit by this provision, since their total wages used in the computation of benefits will be wages for only a few years.

Q. 30. If I became 50 on July 1, 1936, and from June, 1936, until I reach 65 my wages average $150 a month, how much will my total wages be?

A. Only wages from employment after December 31, 1936, can be included. Your 65th birthday occurs on July 1, 1951, and you will be able to include wages from employment during 14 1/2 years, or 174 months. If your wages during this period amount to an average of $150 a month, your total wages will be $26,100.

Q. 31. If my total wages are $26,100 when I reach 65, what will my monthly federal old-age retirement benefits be?

A. The amount of your monthly federal old-age retirement benefits will be 1/2 per cent of the first $3000 plus 1/12 per cent of the remaining $23,100. 1/2 per cent of $3000 $15.00
1/12 per cent of $23,100 19.25

Total $34.25
Your monthly federal old-age retirement benefits will be $34.25.

PROSPERITY COMES TO "BRIDGE OF THE GODS"

WALLA WALLA.—Greatly increased traffic over "The Bridge of the Gods" near Bonneville dam has increased earnings to such an extent that the Northwest Toll Bridge company, owner of the bridge, will be able to make two 1933 interest payments on its bond issue December 21, it is announced.

President D. F. Baker reported this year's bridge tolls were $10,000 above the 1935 earnings.

IDAHO IS RECEIVING REDUCED POWER RATE

The Washington Water Power company filed today with the department of public service of Washington and public utilities commission of Idaho voluntary rate reductions on suburban industrial power service, affecting customers now on rate schedule 44, announced J. E. E. Royer, vice president and general manager.

The reductions are primarily in the first step or so-called demand which will become effective on all meter readings after January 15, 1937. Only all-year customers outside of Spokane now served under schedule 44 will be affected. The yearly saving to these customers is estimated at $65,000.

DUST STORM STOPS TRAFFIC

PASCO, Wash.—Driven by a high wind, dense clouds of dust enveloped this district Friday, disrupting motor traffic and halting business.

The wind reached such a high velocity that the top soil and seeded wheat were stripped from seeded lands left dry by lack of moisture.

LOST RACE TO R. R. CROSSING

PASCO, Wash. — Harold Gerlack, Pasco, lost in a race to a railroad grade crossing, but lived to tell about it.

The engineer of a switch engine saw the Gerlack car coming and brought the locomotive to a stop when about a third over the crossing. Although the auto was nearly demolished, the driver sustained only minor injuries.

XMAS IN REVERSE!

GRANGE WINS IN COAST POWER DISTRICT FIGHT

OLYMPIA.—In a decision written by Justice Geraghty, the supreme court last Wednesday clarified several provisions of the Grange power district law in deciding that Mason county power district No. 3 was legally formed, and reversing a lower court decision enjoining the county treasurer from levying and collecting a tax for the power district.

The court held that under the power district law the provisions for two weeks' notice on the budget hearing was "directory" rather than "mandatory" and that two publications, a week apart in advance of the hearing, although the first was not a full two weeks before the hearing, was sufficient.

The court also held that the law provides that a county-wide district may embrace a smaller power district previously formed.

FARMERS BECOMING MORE TREE-MINDED

Dr. Henry S. Graves, dean of the graduate school of forestry at Yale university, while at Portland attending the Society of American Foresters' convention recently, stated that American farmers are becoming more and more tree-minded.

"Besides being useful, I think it is very educational for a farmer to plant an acre or two in trees aside from his orchard," the dean stated, "and a great deal of this is being done, especially where state nurseries help the farmers. I find different kinds of trees are planted in different sections of the country."

"In Tennessee there is a great deal of erosion, and many planters are setting out locust trees to stop this waste. A great deal of hardwood is planted in the prairie states for shelter belts. Wherever possible, it is a good thing to set out native black walnut trees, for in time these logs are very valuable.

Plant Unused Acres.
He thinks more planting is done, all over the nation, with pine and spruce than other species.

Dr. Graves urged tree-planting over unused land, but thought the owner should advise with an expert to learn what trees would be best suited to the acres not in crops. Such planting, he believed, is especially helpful in the dry regions.

More Jobs Than Men.
Asked if the large number of foresters now being graduated from the universities are able to find jobs, he said, "There has been a sharp demand for foresters—more than could be supplied—and naturally where you have an increased demand it is reflected in young men turning to this profession to make it their life work. This is shown in the schools of forestry, the largely increased attendance resulting in graduate schools being crowded. It is too early yet to tell whether it is overdone or not."

CCC ENROLLMENTS TO CLOSE HERE JAN. 8TH

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, Dec. 23.—Another call for enrollment for the CCC will be ready for January 8. The county ICRA office here says all available enrollees will be accepted but applications are required to be all in by December 29.

16 MILES OF REA LINEAGE TO SERVE NORTH IDAHO

The Northern Idaho Rural Electric Rehabilitation Association, Inc., of Sandpoint awarded a construction contract for 16 miles of line to serve 72 customers to Tinning and Powell. The contract for material and labor only estimated on unit assemblies was $14,284.09.

NEW CATTLE DEALERS ASSO. FORMED IN SPOKANE

SPOKANE, Wash.—With representatives present from the four north-west states at a meeting in Spokane, December 13, the Inland Empire Hereford Breeders' association was organized and officers elected.

Frank Riches, Buena, Wash., was elected president and sales manager for the association. Lewis Whitmore, Pomeroy, was named vice president and Howard Hackedorn, W. S. C. secretary. Mrs. Belle Curtice Wright, Stevesville, Mont., and Hermann Nordby, Idaho, were elected to the board of directors.

Arrangements were also made for an annual sale of pure bred Hereford cattle, with the 1937 sale to be held in Spokane, March 27.

DROUGHT REFUGEES IN DIRE DISTRESS HERE

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, Dec. 23.—More than 150 transient families in Kootenai county are in distress, awaiting relief. They come from the drought-stricken areas of the middle west. Because of prevailing governmental set-up there seems no immediate resources for them. The county commissioners have sent a long distance message to Governor C. Ben Ross. The transients are mostly flat broke, and few of them have even enough to tide them over until help arrives from other sources. One farmer explained that he came to Idaho because "his farm blew away."

SALE OF BREWERY ATTACKED

WALLA WALLA.—Mrs. A. LeVere, Mrs. J. Grindoe, E. Person, Mrs. B. Musgrove and Al Voligny, five stockholders of Pierce county, have filed a petition in superior court to set aside the judgment and order of sale in the case of the International Union of Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink Workers of America vs. North West Brewing company in a $150,000 mortgage foreclosure action.

The petitioners asked a show-cause order, alleging "that the procuring of the judgment of foreclosure and the order of sale are in fraud of the rights of the plaintiffs and all other stockholders."

The judgment was given November 10 in superior court at Walla Walla, and sales were scheduled, including those of personal property in Pierce county, for December 26; real property there, January 2, and real property in Walla Walla county, the brewery here, January 9.

Frozen Deposits Of Busted Banks Are Making Good

Eleven of eastern Washington defunct banks are releasing $150,700 frozen deposits as a Santa Claus gift this month. C. E. Jenks, state supervisor of banks, sends word from Olympia.

The eastern Washington banks who will distribute to depositors this month, with the amounts and total distributions to date, are: Addy State bank, $2700, 78 per cent; Almira, Farmers' State bank, $6300, 70; Bank of Chewelah, $8400, 52; Davenport County State bank, $25,000, 116.9; Hunters Exchange State bank, $4000, 60; Okanogan, Commercial bank, $6300, 33; Palouse, Farmers' State bank, $4600, 100; St. John, Farmers' State bank, $17,000—bank has been liquidated and balance of superadded payments and interest reimbursed stockholders; Walla Walla, People's State bank, $39,000, 70; Waterville, Douglas County State bank, $12,400, 40, and Wenatchee, Commercial Bank & Trust company, $30,000, 55.

BIDS TO BE ASKED ON ROZA CANAL UNIT

YAKIMA. — Reclamation officials have announced they will call for bids on another unit of the Roza project shortly after January 1. This will be for construction of four miles of canal in the Moxee and Terrace Heights district.

Three miles of the new canal will serve an area where sugarcorn now prevails and will open for settlement and development several thousands of acres within a few miles of Yakima as soon as water is available.

WINTER'S WHEAT IN IDAHO CAUSE OF SOME WORRY

By Dr. K. H. W. Klages, Head, Department of Agronomy, University of Idaho College of Agriculture.

The condition of winter wheat is causing considerable concern. Numerous speculations as to what may happen to the crop are being voiced. The lack of moisture in the Palouse and adjacent sections of Idaho is acute. There is no doubt about the fact that the condition of the prospective winter wheat crop is critical.

Driest in Many Years.
The three fall months this year are, with one exception, the driest recorded over the 45-year period rainfall data have been collected by the agronomy department of the University of Idaho. In 1929 only 1.44 inches of rainfall were recorded while this year the total rainfall in September, October and November amounted to 1.72 inches. The average normal precipitation for this period is 5.79 inches.

Seedlings Are Vigorous.
In the present season, early September seedlings emerged normally. Most October seedling, except in a few instances where a reserve supply of moisture was present in the soil, did not come up. The seed is still in the soil, in most instances well preserved and fully able to germinate and produce vigorous seedlings. There is a fair possibility that the seed in these fields will come through the winter in good shape and produce normal plants. The yields to be expected from such fields will depend to a large degree on the special climatic conditions under which the crop will be grown.

IDAHO FARMS FACING MENACE FROM CRICKETS

"If Idaho citizens whose farms and ranches are in cricket-infested areas want control work in 1937, they should see that funds are made available not later than February 15," according to Dr. Claude Wakeland, entomologist with the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station. "This is necessary to allow time for procuring supplies, selecting trained personnel, and completing the detailed plans of organization so that work can be under way by April 1.

Idaho has gone through its fifth year of the present outbreak of Mormon crickets and the end is not yet in sight. The known infested area has grown from approximately 100,000 acres in 1932 to 1,300,000 acres at present.

CASCADE PASSES CLOSED
ELLENSBURG, Wash.—Snoqualmie pass was kept open all of last week, despite 26 inches of snow, but Chinook and Stevens passes were closed, highway officials reported.

Traffic trouble, due to icy pavements and heavy fogs, was reported on the Columbia River and Oregon Trail highways.

NEW SMUT-RESISTANT WHEAT

PULLMAN, Wash.—A new variety of wheat has been produced at the Utah experiment station which is more resistant to "hunk" or stinking smut, which is prevalent in wheat fields in the west.

Success in experiments with this new variety, named "Relief," compares with that achieved with Rex wheat in Oregon and Hymar at the Washington station.

Beauticians In Big Demand at Larger Salary

DEMAND IS FOR BEAUTICIANS WITH FINER TRAINING.

There are many attractive opportunities for the skilled worker in beauty culture—more today than ever before—responsible, well-paid jobs that demand genuine ability. These jobs require a background of good training, and beauty shop owners, in hiring operators, emphatically stress the element of preparedness.

Further evidence of the need for efficiently trained beauticians, and proof once more that ability rises above competition, is shown in the increasing number of calls for MARY STONE graduates.

The thoroughness of the curriculum at MARY STONE'S Beauty School of Distinction, the manifest superiority of training method, the complete and up-to-date facilities for practice, the progressive reputation of the school—these are the distinctive qualities that give the MARY STONE graduate an enviable prestige. To her goes the recognition of genuine merit; to her the more responsible position—the higher salary.

Ask the shop owner who employs MARY STONE graduates! And make a reservation now, to begin your training with the new 1937 class! Department of Licenses announces January 18 as the latest date for enrollment with this class. Write or call early to make sure of an opening.

Flower Fashion Notes

If you don't expect to change the water in your arrangements as often as necessary, put a few pieces of charcoal in the bowl; they will assist in keeping it sweet.

Silver and china service is oftentimes austere when laid out for a special occasion. To soften the appearance of the table, place a single pink carnation in a tiny container at each place.

A pompon chrysanthemum is the most brilliant of all boutonnières. Both men and women wear it.

Consider your size when you order flowers for a corsage or garland. The small woman will appear best with petite flowers such as the sweet pea, or pompon chrysanthemum, while only the tall woman can wear the huge lily.

A garland of roses worn at the waist will emphasize to good advantage the current vogue for high waistlines.

PILCHARD FISHING

Eying the 1937 legislature with justifiable concern, pilchard fishermen this week fairly outdid themselves in the matter of publicity calculated to prove that the inroads they have made in the pilchard have not depleted after all, the principal food of our Pacific coast salmon.

Although trollers and gill-netters have maintained emphatically that salmon do live on pilchard, the publicity blast states that only two species eat them, all others feeding on herring. "There is no evidence that the other species of salmon, constituting more than 80 per cent of the Puget sound catch, would even look at a pilchard," the article says.

In view of the fact that the pilchard industry yielded $100,000 in five weeks of this season, it may be that the gentlemen with capital invested and future fat profits in prospect, have seen fit to make their statements rather more extravagant than they would, say, if they were fishing salmon for a living and their employees told them that depletion of the pilchard threatened the salmon supply.

But whoever is correct in the matter, it certainly is the duty of the legislature to investigate the pilchard industry thoroughly, and it should be borne in mind that where such heavy profits are involved there inevitably will be misrepresentation, tireless lobbying and a horde of "expert" witnesses capable of making out a plausible case either pro or con.

WINERY PLANS DOUBLING THE SIZE OF ITS PLANT

GRANDVIEW, Wash.—Wright Winery & Distilling company officials have begun preliminary arrangements for construction of an addition to the Grandview plant next spring, it was announced here late last week.

The company has intimated that the addition will probably be as large as the present plant.

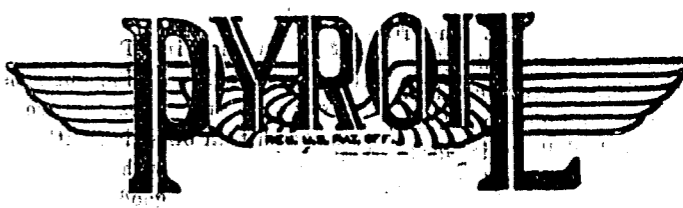

The winery began operations last spring, and the demand for its wine has increased to a point where additional space was required. The making of wine in the Yakima valley gave farmers an outlet for inferior fruit. The winery last spring took large quantities of cherries that were split by rains, also cull peaches which could not go on the market. Grapes which were frozen and unsuitable for retail trade were purchased for wine, officials said.

FARMERS PAYING OFF MORTGAGES STEADILY

A composite picture of the farm mortgage debt situation in Washington and general condition of agriculture since the low point of the depression reflects substantial improvement, according to figures announced by the farm credit administration.

Mortgage indebtedness is lower, carrying charges are lighter, foreclosures have declined, valuations are on the upgrade and income has mounted, according to the tabulators.
