Kendrick Lyceum Course

The dates for the Kendrick lyceum course were received last week. The course this year will consist of four numbers, instead of the usual five mbers, the lecture having been eliminated. The course is highly recommended and the local lyceum porarily for the time being and lat committee is looking forward to four very interesting productions, three of them to be supplied by the Ellison-White Bureau and the fourth a home talent entertainment. The first number will be the Freeman-Hammond Company. It is said that Freeman Hammond is one of the most talented and most promising young artists now before the American public. He is a character impersonator and in the few short years he has been in the work he has come to the front with remarkable strides. He leads his own company, a musical and dramatic organization with delightful vocal, piano and other instrumental features. Two talented young ladies assist Mr. Hammond in making the program a success wherever given, latter part of last week. The road Miss Ethel McDonald, violinist and has been graded and drained. The soprano soloist and Miss Lilian Car-graveling is being done in the low penter, pianist and reader. This program will be given Thanksgiving night, November 24.

will be a most popular number. They never fail as a real novelty attraction, and present one of the best programs of the season. There is lots of fun in their program and some clever character sketch work. "They ring true and sing truethese jolly boys of the Bell Kinging. Male Quartet." They will appear here Tuesday, December 6.

The DeMarco-Aistrup Entertainers present a fascinating program. Miss DeMarco plays the harp and the piano. Prior to heading this company she was a well known concert and symphony star. Lowell Aistrup is a young American artist. a composer of considerable note.

Delegate Reports Meeting

Mrs. H. P. Hull, who attended the meeting of the Red Cross at Moscow last Friday, sent in the following report to the local organization:

Delegates were present from Mos cow, Troy, Kendrick, Juliaetta, Genesee and Bear ridge. Mrs. Driscoll of Genese was acting chairman; Mrs. George Hoyt of Troy, secretary. Prominent delegates from chapters made reports but none stated funds on hand except Kendrick, the amount in this chapter's treasury being $891.54.

It was urged that chapters that had failed to elect officers for the present year do so at once.

The principal business of the to employ such a nurse at a salary of $1500 a year, with one month vacation with pay. She will be employed on trial and must be a gradwate nurse recommended by headquarters. This will be done providing the county pays half the salary, which the commissioners have signified that they would do, the other half to be paid by the chapters on a pro rata basis.

The officers elected were: chairman, Mr. Fred Veatch; vice-chairman, R. C. Rowe; secretary, Dr. Virgil Gilchrist; treasurer, J. R. Safford.

Over The County

Juliaetta Record: The village board met in special session Wednesday evening and discussed the matter of improving the sidewalks about town. Some repairs will be made and the walks fixed up temer on it is planned to put in concrete walks. It was also decided to permit the school board to use the village hall for a place of meeting in the future, they having no other suitable place for the purpose.

Tory News: A. F. Flint sold his meat business last week tog Dallberg & Kullberg, both well known residents of this district, the new owners taking possession at once. The sale included all the equipment and slaughter house, the considera tion for which was not learned. Mr. Flint will move to Moscow for the winter and will cast about for another location for business.

Genesee News: Work of graveling the "missing link" was started the places first and will no doubt be completed in a short time if favorable weather continues. While the The Bell Ringers, a male quartet, road will only be a temporary one nevertheless it will be fully appreciated by all who travel it.

> Deary Press: The citizens of Deary and vicinity are subscribing generously to a fund that is being raised by the members of Arnold Aosved the purpose of completing their pavillion. The building was started over a year ago but its completion has been delayed for lack of funds to purchase materials needed. The money now being raised will enable the boys to go ahead with the work.

Freeman Hammond's "Second Childhood" Declared to Be Classic of Modern Lyceum

Distinguished Young American Artist, Heading Freeman Hammond Company, to Appear in Local Lyceum Series in Near Future.

Mr. Freeman Hummond, one of the most promising young artists of the platform, has made a most enviable reputation for himself during the past two seasons, through his intensely human little sketch "Second Childhood," It is said to be one of the finest and most artistic impersonations ever offered by any one. If will be given here in the near future when the Freeman Hammond Company appears.

Mr. Hammond's characterizations are splendidly done in his every effort. He works in costumes and grease paint and does every one of his characters with an ease and naturalness that is indicative of a wonderful art. With Mr. Hammond appear two clever assisting artists in dramatic and musical num-

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

This is a newspaper age and people depend upon the public press for un-to-date information, especially in the commercial lines. The total daily circulation of daily newspapers in the United States is more than 30,000,000 copies a day, or more than eleven billions a year, or more than 100 copies a year for each man, woman and child in the entire country. This is about one cent a day, or $3.65 a year for each inhabitant, but does not include magazine advertising, to say nothing of circulars, billcoards and many other methods of securing publicity.

The advertising columns of a daily or weekly newspaper are probably read tully as much as are the news columns, and more than the editorial column, and this is why business houses continue to advertise. The right kind of advertising brings returns, and any advertising that fails to bring returns is deficient either in what it presents or in the way it is presented.

Advertising is a study in itself and commands some of the best brains in the country. A man who knows how to advertise has business success within his grasp. ANNUAL WHITE SWEET CLOVER YIELDS WELL

New Variety May Possess Important Possibilities.

When Farmer Finds His Hay Supply Will Be Short This Crop Can Be Planted—Grows Well During First Season.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) It has been determined that sweet clover, which grows luxuriantly along roadsides and out-of-the-way places, and which is grown in some sections as a forage crop, has one strain which is annual. The annual sweet clover occasionally appears in patches of the more common biennial form, either as single specimens or in small groups.

Seed of the annual has been separated, agated. These points are brought out in Department Chemur 169, Annual White Sweet Clover and Strains of by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The nature of this new variety, according to the bulletin, is such as to indicate that it may have important possibilities. Probably its greatest use for hay will be as an emergency crop. When a stand of clover has been win-Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn and ter killed, or when for any reason a and the proper bacteria are present, will yield a good hay crop. Where rainfall is sufficient it may be seeded even after wheat harvest. It makes a good growth the first season, and experiments in Iowa and Michigan have feason will keep ahead of weeds.

The annual has a smaller and more woody root than the biennial form.

and crown or resting buds are not formed. The stems, branches, leaves, flowers, pods and seeds are indistinguishable from those of the biennial form, but during the season of seeding the plant grows more rapidly, blossoms, fruits and dies. It blooms early and ripens seed in August when seeded early. Seed of the annual form is still very scarce and high priced and, since it cannot be distinguished from seed of the ordinary biennial, should be purchase with caution.

CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER SIRES

Since Movement Was Started There Have Been Many Animals and Fowls Enrolled.

Recent figures on the enrollment of nimals and poultry in the "better sires-better stock" campaign, which is being supervised by the United States department of agriculture, show that since the movement was started in October, 1919, there have been 174,-194 animals and 264,945 chickens or other poultry enrolled. During this time 3.576 certificates of membership in the campaign have been issued by the department. In order to secure a certificate, a stock breeder or poultryman must fill out a blank, which is supplied by the bureau of animal industry, stating that he will use only purebred sires. A report recently issued by the department shows that 45 states and two possessions—Guam prise dance at Fry's, Saturday night, and Porto Rico-have stock breeders in honor of Clarence's birthday, or poultrymen enrolled in the campaign. Virginia leads in the movement with 1.130 certificates issued, but Nebraska has the largest number of live stock enrolled.

How Better Than Pills

The question has been asked. In what way are Chamberlain's Tablets superior to the ordinary cathartic and liver pilis? Our answer is, they are easier and more pleasant to take and their effect is so gentle that one nardly realizes that it is produced by a medicine. SELF-DOCTORING

DR. ARTHUR J. CRAMP, American Medical Association, Chicago. DOSSIBLY in Utopia the ailing always go to their medical advisers, no matter how trivial the ailment; but we are not living in Utopia. Yet all self-doctoring is risky and carries with it the possibility of injury. In spite of this we persist in "doctoring" ourselves. Few persons suffering from a passing attack of constipation go to their physician for a prescription; they go to the drug store for a cuthartic. Yet the abuse of cathartics is one of the most perniciously widespread evils of self-drugging. This is because the ill effects are not immediately shown and are not definitely traceable to the cathartic habit. The rational treatment of most cases of constipation may not call for any purgative drug, yet most of us will take such drugs until we are better informed.

The danger of self-treatment of any diseased condition lies not only in the lack of knowledge regarding the action of the drugs taken, but in the probability of an error of diagnosis. What may be self-diagnosed as a simple sore throat may in reality be the onset of a malignant case of diphtheria. What may be thought to be a simple cold may actually be the first symptoms

But assuming that, under present economic conditions, a certain amount of self-drugging is inevitable, what class of remedies should be used? Every drugstore in the country has on its shelves preparations that are moderate in price, non-secret in character, and not advertised so as to cause the purchaser to magnify trivial ailments and dose himself unnecessarily. These preparations are some of the simple official products from the U.S. Pharmacopeia or the National Formulary whose standards of strength and purity are constant and enforced by law. In using such non-secret preparations, should the self-treated ailment not respond, the doctor will be better able to tell whether the symptoms he finds are due to the disease or to the drugs that have been taken.

Yet all self-doctoring carries with it a certain degree of danger. The human body is a complex machine whose tendency in sickness is usually to get well. In the vast majority of instances of mere passing indispositions the taking of drugs hinders rather than helps the return to normal. In nine cases out of ten we should recover from our minor ailments more quickly if, instead of taking drugs, we would slightly modify our dietetic and hygienic

Red Cross Trains 147 Blind Vets In Useful Work

Training designed to fit them for the battle of life was taken by 147 blinded ex-service men at the Red Cross Institute for the Blind, near Baltimore, Md., during the fiscal year 1920-1921 according to the report of the Institute for that period.

Of this number, 19 have gone on to other institutions, in almost every case to institutions where those having sight are receiving advanced education. The blind ex-service men who have entered such institutions are provided with special text-books in Braille, reading which they were taught at the Red Cross Institute. Twelve men have passed from the Institute to successfully carry on some occupation or business for which they were fitted by special training. A few have withdrawn from the Institute because of poor physical condition, 14 are receiving further "training on the job" and 87 are still in training.

Red Cross Plans $6,000,000 Effort To Save Children

Medical care and clothing for thousands of children in Central and Eastern Europe are outlined as the activities of the American Red Cross in Europe for the current year, says a statement on the eve of the Annual Roll Call of the organization. These activities, supplemental to the feeding rest is all accomplished by the oboperations of the European Relief servation of landmarks.

Through the establishment of child welfare stations in the centers of population of those countries where adequate medical care is not now obtainable, the American Red Cross plans to provide the medical assistance needed to restore these children to a normally healthy life. The sum of $6,-000,000 has been made available for this work.

Red Cross Gives $310,000 to Aid 'Clean-Up' Drive

An appropriation of $310,000 for Red Cross work in connection with the "clean-up" campaign instituted by the Government to bring the claims of all disabled service men who are entitled to Federal aid before the proper government bureau for action, has been made by the American Red Cross. The Executive Committee of the American Red Cross in making the appropriation authorized the appropriation of $35,000 of this sum to the American Legion to defray the expense of the Legion representatives assigned to the various districts of the Veterans Bureau.

The remainder of the appropriation was authorized for apportionment among the several Divisions of the Red Cross for carrying on that part of the "clean-up" work that falls directly upon the Red Cross organization.

Young America Sends Vast Relief To Needy Abroad

Various relief projects of the Junior American Red Cross in European countries resulted in helping 237,000 destitute children during the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of the American Red Cross for that period. The growth of the activities of the Juniors abroad is manifested by a comparison which shows this figure is 200,000 larger than that of the previous fiscal year.

The National Children's Fund raised by school children, members of the Junior American Red Cross, was drawn upon for $420,557 for these projects. Receipts for the National Children's Fund during the last fiscal year totalled $155,317.

Last Year.

To help overcome conditions of acute distress in five famine stricken provinces of Northern China, where millions of persons were affected by an unprecedented shortage of food, the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year spent more than $1,200,000, $1,000,000 of which was contributed directy by National Headquarters and the remainder by various groups interested in the welfare of China.

Through the wide relief operations thus made possible it is estimated that more than 600,000 famine sufferers were saved from starvation.

To the end that similar prompt relief measures by the organization may always be possible the Red Cross is asking continued support by the American people by universal renewal of membership at the Annual Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

The method of relief employed by the American Red, Cross in its operations in China was particularly effective, for in addition to saving hundreds of thousands of lives it provided China with more than 900 miles of permanent roads that are sorely needed to pre vent a recurrence of famine. At one time the Red Cross employed 74,000 Chinese workmen, paying them in food for themselves and dependents, this food being brought in from Manchuria and elsewhere.

Moulting time is the time that a hen needs assistance. It is the off-season in the life of the hen.

Think of the amount of a hen's energy, vitality and red blood that's required to reproduce a thousand feathers! (which is only an average plumage).

A moulting hen needs good health, good appetite and digestion. That's just what Poultry Pan-a-ce-a does for a moulting hen-gives her appetite and good digestion, so that she'll eat more and digest more.

Dr. Hess Poultry PAN-A-CE-A

Helps your poultry through the moult. And starts your pullets and moulted hens to laying.

It contains Tonics that produce appetite and good cigestion—Tonics that tone up the dormant egg organs— Iron that gives a moulting hen rich, red blood and a red comb. It contains Internal Antiseptics that destroy disease germs that may be lurking in the system.

No disease where Pan-a-ce-a is fed Pan-a-ce-a helps your poultry to stay at par during the moult. They don't become run-down, pale and thin.

CHAPTER III. — Dolores Ruey, the young woman Webster befriended, and who has made a deep impression on him, as he has on her, is also on the way to Sobrante.

"Henrietta Wilkins," he murmured. "By the gods, one would never suspect a name like that belonged to a face like that. By fingo, it would be strange if that madman persuaded her to marry him. I hope he does. If I'm any judge of character, Jack Webster won't be cruel enough to chain that vision to Sobrante; and besides, she's liable to make him decide who's most popular with him-Henrietta or Billy Geary. If she does, I'll play Geary to lose. Well! Needs must when the devil drives." And he entered the station telegraph office and commenced to write.

An hour later Miss Dolores Ruey. alias Henrietta Wilkins, was handed this remarkably verbose and truly candid telegram:

"Miss Henrietta Wilkins, Lower 6, Car 9, on board train 24.

"Do you recall the bewhiskered, ragged individual you met on the S. P., L. A. & St. L. train in Death valley ten days ago? He lifted his hat to you tonight, and you almost killed him with a look. It did not occur to him that you would not recognize him disguised as a gentleman, and he lifted his hat on impulse. Do not hold it against him. The sight of you again set his reason tottering on its throne, and he told me his sad story.

"This man, John Stuart Webster, is wealthy, single, forty, fine and crazy as a March hare. He is in love with vou. You might do worse than fall in love with him. He is the best mining engineer in the world, and he is now aboard the same train with you, en route to New Orleans, thence to take the steamer to Buenaventura, Sobrante. C. A., where he is to meet another lunatic and finance a hole in the ground. I do not want him to go to Sobrante. If you marry him, he will still might arrange to make him listen to reason. If you can induce him to come to work for me within the next 90 days, whether you marry him or not, I will give you $5,000 the day he reports on the job. Please bear in mind that he does not know I am doing this. If he did, he would kill me, but business is business, and this is a plain business proposition. I am putting you wise, so you will know your power and can exercise it if you care to earn the money. If not, please forget about it. At any rate, please do me the favor to communicate with me on the subject, if at all interested.

"I believe that amazing old gentleman is absolutely dependable," was the decision at which she ultimately arrived, and calling for a telegraph blank, she wired the old schemer:

"Five thousand not enough money. Make it $10,000 and I will guarantee to deliver the man within 90 days. I stay on this train to New Orleans. "HENRIETTA."

That telegram arrived at the Engineers' club about midnight, and pursuant to instructions, the night barkeeper read it and 'phoned the contents to Neddy Jerome, who promptly telephoned his reply to the telegraph office, and then sat on the edge of his bed, scratching his toes and meditating.

"That's a remarkable young woman," he decided, "and business to her finger tips. Well, I've done my part, and it's now up to Jack Webster to protect himself in the clinches and

She snuggled back among the pillows and considered the various aspects of this amazing contract which she had undertaken with a perfect stranger. Hour after hour she lay there, thinking over this preposterous situation, and the more she weighed it, the more interesting and attractive the proposition appeared. But one consideration troubled her. How would the unknown knight manage an introduction? Or, if he failed to manage it, how was she to overcome that obstacle? "Oh, dear," she murmured, "I do hope he's brave."

faint crimson that was spreading and deepening upward athwart the east. In the patio of Mother Jenks' establishment in the Calle de Concordia. No. 19, the first shafts of morning light were filtering obliquely through the orange trees and creeping in under the deep, Gothic-arched veranda flanking the western side of the patio. Presently, through the silent reaches of the Calle de Concordia, the sound of a prodigious knocking and thumping echoed, as of some fretful individual seeking admission at the street door of El Buen Amigo, by which euphonious designation Mother Jenks' caravansary was known to the public of Buenaventura. In the second story, front, a window slid back and a woman's voice, husky with that huskiness that speaks so accusingly

Without the portal stood Don Juan Cafetero, of whom a word or two before proceeding. To begin, Don Juan Cafetero was not his real name, but rather a free Spanish translation of the Gaelic, If you do not marry him, you | John Cafferty. Mr. Cafferty was an exile of Erin with a horrible thirst. He had first arrived in Sobrante some five years before, as section boss in the employ of the little foreign-owned narrow-gauge railway which ran from Buenaventura on the Caribbean coast to San Miguel de Padua, up-country where the nitrate beds were located. Prior to his advent the railroad people had tried many breeds of section boss without visible results, until a Chicago man, who had come to Sobrante to install an inter-communicating telephone system in the government buildings, suggested to the superintendent of the road, who was a German, that the men made for bosses come from Erin's isle; wherefore Mr. Cafferty had been imported at a price of $5 a day gold. Result—a marked improvement in the road bed and consequently the train schedules, and the ultimate loss of the Cafferty soul. Something in the climate of Sobrante must have appealed to a touch of laissez faire in Don Juan's amiable nature, for in the course of time he had taken unto himself, without bell or book, after the fashion of the proletariat of Sobrante, the daughter of one Esteban Manuel Enrique Jose Maria Pasqual y Miramontes, an estimable peon who was singularly glad to have his daughter off his hands and no questions asked. Following the fashion of the country, however, Esteban had forthwith moved the remainder of his numerous progeny under the mantle of Don Juan Cafetero's philanthropy, and resigned a position which for many years he had not enjoyed -to-wit: salting and packing green hides at a local abattoir. This foolhardy economic move had so incensed Don Juan that in a fit of pique he spurned his father-in-law (we must call Esteban something and so why split hairs?) under the tails of his camisa, with such vigor as to sever forever the friendly relations hitherto existing between the families. Mrs. Cafferty (again we transgress, but what of it?) subsequently passed away in child birth, and no sooner had she been decently buried than Don Juan took a week off to drown his sorrows.

In this condition he had encountered Esteban Manuel Enrique Jose Maria Pasqual y Miramontes and called him out of his name. In the altercation that ensued Esteban, fully convinced that he had received the nub end of the transaction from start to finish, cut Don Juan severely; Don Juan had thereupon slain Esteban with a .44-caliber revolver and upon emerging from the railroad hospital a month later had been tried by a Sobrantean magistrate and fined the sum of $20,000, legal tender of the republic of Sobrante. Of course, he had paid it off within six months from his wages as section boss, but the memory of the injustice always rankled i him, and gradually he moved down the scale of society from section boss to day laborer, day laborer to tropical tramp, and tropical tramp to beach comber, in which latter state he had now existed for several months.

To return to Mother Jenks. Before Don Juan could even utter a matutinal greeting, Mother Jenks laid finger to lip and silenced him. "Go back to Leber's and return in an hour," she whispered. "I 'ave my reasons for wantin' that bloomin' cablegram delivered later."

Don Juan hadn't the least idea what Mother Jenks' reasons might be, but he presumed she was up to some chicanery, and so he winked his bloodshot eye very knowingly and nodded his acquiescence in the program.

When he had gone, Mother Jenks went behind the bar and fortified herself with her morning's morningwhich rite having been performed, her sleep-benumbed brain livened up immediately.

"Gord's truth!" the lady murmured. "An' me about to turn him adrift for the lawst fortnight! Well for 'im 'e allers hadmired the picture o' my sainted 'Enery, as was the spittin' image of his own fawther. 'Evings! Ell's bells! But that was a bit of a tight squeak! Just as I'm fully conwinced 'e's beat it an' I'm left 'oldin' the sack, all along o' my kindness of 'eart, 'e gets the cablegram 'e's been lookin' for this two months past; an' 'e allers claimed as 'ow any time 'e got a cablegram it'd be an answer to 'is letter, with money to foller! My word, but that was touch an' go!"

Still congratulating herself upon her good fortune in intercepting Don Juan Cafetero, Mother Jenks proceeded upstairs to her chamber, clothed herself, and adjourned to the kitchen. After giving orders for an extra special breakfast for two, Mother Jenks returned to her canting, and formally opened the same for the business of that day and night. To her came presently, via the tiled hallway, the object of her solicitude. a young man on the sunny side of thirty. He was thin for one of his height and breadth of chest; in color his countenance resembled that of a sick Chinaman. His hair was thick and wavy, but lusterless; his dark blue eyes carried a hint of jaundice; and a generous mouth, beneath an equally generous upper lip, gave ample ground for the suspicion that while Mr. William Geary's speech denoted him an American citizen, at least one of his maternal ancestors had been wooed and won by an Irishman. An old Panama hat, sad relic of a prosperous past, a pair of soiled buck skin pumps, a suit of unbleached linen equally befouled, and last but not least, the remnants of a smile that much hard luck could never quite obliterate, completed his attire—and to one a stranger in the tropics would appear to constitute a complete inventory of Mr. Geary's possessions.

"Dulce corazon mio, I extend a greeting," he called at the entrance. Mother Jenks, and that no evil dreams were born of your midnight repast of frijoles refritos, marmalade, and arf-

"Chop yer spoofin', Willie," Mother Jenks simpered. "My heye! So I'm yer sweet'eart, eh? Yer wheedlin' blighter, makin' love to a girl as is old enough to be yer mother!"

"A woman," Mr. Geary retorted sagely and not a whit abashed, "is at the apex of her feminine charms at thirty-seven."

He knew his landlady to be not a day under fifty, but such is the ease with which the Irish scatter their blarney that neither Billy Geary nor Mother Jenks regarded this pretty speech in the light of an observation immaterial, inconsequential and not germane to the matter at issue. Nevertheless, there was a deeper reason for his blarney. This morning, watching the telltale tinge of pleasure underlying the alcohol-begotten hue of the good creature's face, he felt almost ashamed of his own heartlessness—almost, but not quite.

Francesco Petrarch.

It is said that the great Italian poet, Francesco Petrarch, died, almost exactly to the day, 70 years after his birth. There seem to be conflicting dates regarding his precise day of birth and death, although the variance is very little. One account says that he died July 19, 1374.—Chicago JourThe "Liberty" Age.

Liberty day is usually thought of by Americans as July fourth and Liberty year is recalled from our histories as 1776, but statistics indicate that the liberty year of men and women differs. The average age of men seeking divorce is thirty-four and the average age of women on the same quest is twenty-nine.

BEST DIVISION OF PASTURES

A 20-Acre Tract Will Yield More Grass Where Herd Is Shifted to Small Fields.

Dividing pastures into smaller fields is time and money well spent. A 20-acre pasture divided will yield much more grass where the herd is shifted from one field to the other than if allowed to tramp on the entire field at will.

BEST CONDITIONS IN WOODS

Trampling of Soil by Different Animals Among Growing Trees It Not Favored.

You can't do two things at once. If the best growing conditions are wanted in a woods, grazing animals must be kept out. Hard trampling of soil does about the same amount of good in a woodlot as it does in a field of growing corn.

$10,000,000 AID FOR VETERANS

Red Cross Provides Friendly Service of Many Kinds to Army of Disabled.

BULK OF WORK BY CHAPTERS

2,397 of These Are Helping Ex-Service Men Obtain Benefits U.S. Provides.

One field of Red Cross service alone, that of assisting disabled veterans of the World War, entails expenditures $4,000,000 greater than the aggregate receipts of the Annual Roll Call of 1020, the American Red Cross announces in a statement urging a widespread increase in membership at the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24. At the present time National Headquarters and the nation-wide chain of Chapters of the Red Cross is spending approximately $10,000,000 annually for the relief of disabled ex-service men and their families, while the aggregate receipts from last year's Roll Call were approximately $6,000,000.

It is in the 2,289 of the 3,600 Red Cross Chapters which still are helping solve the veteran's problem of adjusting himself to a normal civilian status that the greater part of the cost of this service is borne. Of the total sum spent for veterans' relief last year, National Headquarters expended a total of more than $2,600,000, while the remaining disbursement of approximately $7,000,000 represents the contribution of Chapters in this countrywide effort to assist the Government in providing the aid sorely needed by these men and their families, of the Red Cross Chapter. Many Forms of Assistance

If there is delay before the man's the imperative needs of himself and his dependents.

Most vital to the man's gaining full benefit from the Government's care is keening his mind free from worry about his home. Keeping the veteran's family from hardship of every kind and informing him of its welfare is another province of the Chapter. Free from fear on this score, the man's recovery and advancement usually is Every month during the last year, the American Red Cross has given service of one kind or another to an average of 129,215 former service men and their families. An indication of the extent of the faith reposed in the Red Cross Chapter is to be found in the fact that there were 350,544 requests for friendly aid in the solution of personal problems.

448 Workers in Hospitals

While the man prior to entering Government care deals largely with the Chapter, afterward he comes into contact with the service provided by National Headquarters. There are 448 Red Cross workers in the United States Public Health Service and contract hospitals and other institutions in which these men are being cared for, whose duty is to provide for his recreation, help him with his compensation claims, keep him in touch with his family; in short, meeting his every need outside of that provided by the Government. While these are a few of the responsibilities of the National Organization, they are by no means all. Among other Red Cross accomplishments for the year are: It handled 70,732 allotment and allowance claims.

It delivered through its Chapter organization 63,655 allotment checks to veterans who had moved from the addresses furnished to the Burenu of War Risk Insurance.

It provided a special fund of $10,000 for medical assistance to men under vocational training.

1t made 32,495 loans totaling $450,000 to men taking vocational training, of which $5 per cent has been repaid.
