Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

Deary Press: Miss Margaret De-Yoe, of Spokane representing the Ellison-White Lyceum Bureau, met with the local lyceum association, Monday evening, her object being to contract for a course of entertainments for 1922. For obvious reasons (which do not include any criticisms of the entertainment features supplied) the local committee declined to contract for next year, so there will be no lyceum attractions here for the winter of 1922-23.

Troy News: One of our farmers went into his cow stable the other night and by mistake mixed up his milk with a nice mash in a box of sawdust instead of bran. The cow merely supposing that the hard times had come and they were all going to economize, meekly ate her supper and the man never discovered his mistake until the next morning when he milked the cow and she let down a half gallon of turpentine, a quart of shoe pegs and a bundle of lath.

Genesee News: According to word sent out from Moscow, J. Houston McCroskey of Garfield, Wash., president of the Western Royal Livestock show and also of the Whitman and Latah County Shorthorn Breeders' association, and J. E. Nordby, an extensive breeder of shorthorns from Genesee, are scouring this district for purebred shorthorns, to be taken to Spokane for sale at the auction of Shorthorns in that city February 22. They are inspecting the animals, taking only the best. The shipment will include a number from herds in the Moscow district, the J. J. Papinau herd, the Griet herd and Uniontown, the Nordby herd, Genesee, and the Trimble and McCroskey herds at Garfield.

Juliaetta Record: During the time the ground is covered with snow it is hard for the game birds to find enough to eat to keep them from starving. O. E. McAllister, mail carrier on R. F. D. No. 1 has been putting out some feed along his route since the recent snow fall and reports that the birds have been feeding regularly at the points where feed for them has been deposited. By feeding the birds during the snowy weather many hundreds of them will be saved from starvation.

Star-Mirror: Idaho becomes a member of the Northwest Sheriff's association along with Washington, Oregon, British Columbia, Canada and Montana, according to announcement made Monday by Sheriff John L. Woody who returned Sunday night from Bellingham, Washington where he attended the meeting of the sheriff's of Washington, northern Idaho, British Columbia and Oregon. At this meeting the Northwest Sheriff's association was organized.

The sheriffs met at Bellingham, January 24, 25 and 26. The last day of the meeting was held at Vancouver, B. C., where the sheriffs met with the law enforcement officials of British Columbia.

Sheriff Woody attended the meeting as a special representative of the state of Idaho through the authorization of Robert O. Jones, secretary of state and commissioner of law enforcement. Sheriff Woody is president of the Idaho Sheriff's association. Mr. Woody made several talks at round table discussions of the peace officers.

Sheriff Woody and T. R. Quarels of Coeur d'Alene, sheriff of Kootenai county, were named on the board of governors of the newly organized Northwest Sheriff's association.

Ralph Hall of Moscow was transacting business in Kendrick the first of the week.

Pickens-Woody

Miss Fannie Pickens of Juliaetta and Elgin Woody of American ridge surprised their many friends in this community by being quietly married at Juliaetta last Monday. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. A. M. Pickens of Juliaetta. Elgin is a son of Sheriff John L. Woody and is a prosperous young farmer of American ridge. The happy young couple will make their home on the Woody farm.

PRESIDENT UPHAM WILL SPEAK HERE

Deliver Address at Lincoln
Day Program, Feb. 13

Superintendent Daniel announced yesterday that President A. H. Upham of the University of Idaho would be here February 13, to deliver an address at the Lincoln Day program, which will be held in the high school auditorium. This will be President Upham's first appearance in Kendrick and the opportunity of hearing him will be a privilege that should be duly appreciated.

President Upham is considered one of the ablest speakers in the West. His services are in great demand all over the country as his lectures are extremely popular. President Upham stated over the phone Thursday that he had reserved the thirteenth for Kendrick and that unless something unavoidable happened to prevent his coming, he would be here.

In addition to the address by President Upham, there will be a program consisting of music and other numbers appropriate to the occasion. The presentation of a handsome bust of Lincoln will be made to the school by last year's senior class. Miss Minnie Jorgerson will make the presentation address.

There will be no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to attend. The program will be published in next week's issue.

Income Tax Facts

Changes in the revenue law are of material benefit to the average family man. Under the revenue act of 1921 a married person, living with wife or husband, whose net income for 1921 was $5,000 or less is allowed a personal exemption of $2,500. Under the revenue act of 1918 the exemption allowed a married person was $2,000, regardless of the amount of net income. The normal tax rate is the same, 4 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions, and 8 per cent on the remaining net income. Given his personal exemption of $2,500, plus $400 for each dependent, a married man with three children—the average American family—will pay this year a net income of $4,000 a tax of $12. On the same income for 1921 he would have paid a tax of $56.

Every citizen and resident of the United States must determine for himself whether his income for 1921 was sufficient to require that a return be filed. Full instructions for making out a return are contained on the forms, a copy of which will be sent to taxpayers who filed a return last year. Failure to receive a return however does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file a return on time on or before March 15, 1922. Forms may be obtained from collectors of internal revenue and branch offices.

Hunt-Zimmerman

Miss Mayme Hunt and Fred Zimmerman, both of Crescent, were united in marriage at Lewiston, Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Probate Judge C. A. Woefflen performed the ceremony. The bride and groom will make their home on the ranch in the Crescent country.

News Notes of Interest

Big Bend farmers are more than pleased with the quantity of snow to date this season. Examination of winter wheat under the snow shows it to be in splendid condition. Moisture extends into the ground more than 30 inches. It is expected that small lakes and potholes dry for years will be filled this spring.

Following the successful poultry show at Spokane an auction sale was held. The top price was $40 for a Barred Rock pullet sold by Martin M. Lower, of Gaston, Ore., to H. C. Blair.

Improvements to cost $40,000 are under way at the Lewiston, Idaho, telephone exchange which serves the city and vicinity, necessitated by the rapid increase in the demand for telephone service.

Plans have been launched for a dam across the Snake river at the mouth of Dry Gulch just below Clarkston. The proposed barrier would be 28 feet high, costing $400,000 and form an enormous storage lake for timber.

According to the Spokane weather observatory the present winter ranks fourth in point of severity. There has been snow for sleighing continuously since December 14 last.

Authorities at Newport, Wash., discovered a cache containing six hind quarters of venison. The meat was seized and sold at auction, realizing 80 cents per pound.

Will Examine Pupils' Teeth

Dr. H. R. Veon, local dentist, has made arrangements with the school authorities to devote Monday morning of each week for the next five weeks, for the examination of the teeth of the pupils of the Kendrick schools. No charge will be made for the examination and to each pupil will be given a chart showing the condition of the teeth and what is required to keep them in condition. The examinations will be started in the first grade and carried up through the high school. This system has been adopted in many schools all over the country and has been proved highly beneficial. The Genesee schools are having a physical examination of the pupils conducted by two of the town's physicians. The examinations conducted by Dr. Veon will be confined to the condition of the mouth and teeth.

Buford Earl Aiken

A sad death occurred in the O. C. Aiken family Friday morning, when their little boy, Buford Earl, age 5 months and 12 days, passed away. Death was due to pneumonia. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock at the Methodist church, Rev. A. E. Janes, officiating. The little body was then taken to the Kendrick cemetery for burial. The community deeply sympathizes with the bereaved family in their sorrow.

Said to be a new story: Young man rushed thru a train exclaiming: "Lady just fainted in the other car anybody got any whisky?" Man reached down in his grip, took out a flask, the young man grabbed it and putting it to his lips, took a big drink, then handed it back saying: "Thank you, it always upsets me to see a lady faint."

Cougar Near Kendrick

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd, who live on the Helpman ranch about a mile from Kendrick, were awakened Monday night by the cries of a cougar. At first they thought it was a woman screaming, but Mr. Boyd finally made up his mind it was a cougar. Tuesday morning he saw tracks made by the animal in his barnyard. The cougar had come down through the timber along the slopes of Bear creek canyon and was no doubt after some of the stock, as the Boyds have quite a large herd of cattle.

Wireless Auto Phone

A. V. Dunkle says that for $135 you can buy a wireless telephone that can be carried around in your car. With this equipment you may talk to home folks from a distance of 25 miles. The rubber tires act as insulators so that all you have to do when you want to call up home, is to drive a nail in the ground for your ground wire, take down the receiver and get it off your chest. The only use the writer could possibly have for it would be on a fishing trip to prepare the folks at home in advance for the usual disappointment.

School Notes

The Sophomores gave a feature party in honor of the Juniors and Seniors last Friday evening. Opal Jones won the honors for best costume, and Miss McAllister the honor for the best characteristic stunt. The evening was spent in playing games after which refreshments were served.

Miss Coburn, a substitute teacher from Lewiston, is teaching in Miss Stewards room during her illness. Mrs. Deobald is teaching in Miss Newkirk's room while she is under the doctor's care.

The boys' basket ball team will play the Lapwai boys, Saturday, February 4th on the Lapwai floor. The game with Culesac scheduled for Friday has been cancelled.

Last Friday afternoon the Freshmen class took a sleigh ride out on American Ridge, returning about seven o'clock. A real good time was enjoyed by all.

A new Health Crusade Tournament was started by the grades this week. The last contest was very close, being won by the 3rd and 4th grades by 15 of a point. The winners of the New tournament will have to be very careful about their health chores.

Obituary

Juliaetta, Idaho—At the home of his only son, John C. Hamil, who resides on a farm a mile and a half east of Juliaetta, at 4 o'clock Thursday morning, January 26, David C. Hamil passed away—lacking but 12 days of having lived 90 years. Up to within a few days of his death Mr. Hamil seemed unusually strong and vigorous. Only a short time ago he drove from his son's farm a bunch of hogs to Juliaetta, all alone. He had taken a severe cold during the late cold spell and then sustained a fall which no doubt hastened the end.

David C. Hamil was born in Blount county, Tennessee, February 7, 1832. In 1853 he moved to Iowa and in 1912 he came to Idaho.

Mr. Hamil was twice married. On March 9, 1854 he married Nancy Jane Orr who died about one year later, leaving no child.

In March, 1862, Mr. Hamil married Elizabeth C. Duncan of Columbus City, Iowa. To this union two children were born—John C. and Clara J. The second wife died on June 20, 1903 at Washington, Iowa, where the remains will be taken and interred beside those of his companion.

Mr. Hamil was a man of excellent character and wherever he located he was soon surrounded by those who were his friends.

Hill-Scott

Word reached here last week of the marriage of Mrs. Mary Hill to Mr. Hammond Scott of Bellingham, Wash. The wedding took place January 24, at Bellingham. Mrs. Scott has a wide circle of friends in this community, her home having been in Kendrick for many years. Mr. Scott is a wealthy farmer of Bellingham.

LATAH FARMERS SECURES PRIZES

Made Good Showing at the State Seed Show

Field seed grown in Latah County made a very strong showing at the 1922 Idaho State Seed Show in Blackfoot during the week beginning January 9th. O. S. Fletcher, Latah County Agricultural Agent, who gathered the exhibit material and forwarded it to the State Seed Show, has just received notice of prizes won by exhibits from Latah County. The classes with the names and addresses of winners follows:

- Jenkins Club Wheat Special:
1st Benscoter Bros., Kendrick Idaho.
2nd James Cain, Kendrick, Idaho.
3rd Robert Cain, Kendrick, Idaho.
4th Carroll Cox, Kendrick, Idaho.
- White Winter Barley: 1st Eric Reiersen, Troy, Idaho. 2nd Otto Schlueter, Moscow, Idaho.
Soft Red Winter Wheat: 1st Frank Gustafson, Moscow, Idaho.
Navy Beans: 4th Eric Reiersen, Troy, Idaho.
- Field Peas: 4th Washburn & Wilson, Moscow, Idaho.

All of the above exhibits, with the exception of the white winter barley shown by Otto Schlueter of Moscow were grown in Latah County. Mr. Schlueter's barley was grown on his farm just across the line in Whitman County, Washington, but the sample was sent with the Latah County exhibit. Eleven lots of seed were entered and nine prizes were won. The farmers winning first, second, third and fourth in the Jenkins Club Wheat Special class all live on American ridge, near Kendrick.

Black Moonshine

A man traveling by train, at a certain stopping place, got a bottle of hooch from a negro woman bootlegger. After the train got under way the traveler went into the smoking room, raised the bottle to his lips and took a long pull. Suddenly everything went black. The man dropped the bottle, gave a sharp yell. The conductor came running into the compartment. "What's wrong with you?" he demanded of the frightened passenger. "I'm poisoned," wailed the man. "Back there at Blankville I got a bottle of hooch from a nigger woman. I just took one swig at it. Now look at me. I'm blind. Can't see a thing. Everything as black as midnight." The conductor gave a heartless laugh. "Aw cheer up, man," he said, "we're just passing thru a tunnel."

Hans Eichner

Claus Eichner was called to Aberdeen, Wash., last week on account of the critical illness of his brother, Hans, but before he reached his bedside, death had taken place, due to an acute attack of pneumonia. The body was shipped to Kendrick, arriving here Wednesday afternoon. Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock at the Eichner home, Rev. Rein, Lutheran minister of Camer, on, officiating. Interment was made at the American ridge cemetery.

Hans Eichner was born in Germany about the year 1867. He is survived by two brothers, Claus and Henry, who live on American ridge, and a sister.

E. W. Lutz was transacting business in Moscow the first of the week.

WOODMEN LODGE OPEN MEETING

Had Big Time With About
225 Present

The members of the local Woodmen Lodge had an open meeting at the fraternal temple Tuesday night. In spite of the extreme cold there was a large attendance, over 225 people being present, and they all report a big time, plenty of fun, amusement and eats for everyone.

The opening number on the program was a minstrel put on by nine W. O. W. members. It was a howling success and brought down the house at frequent intervals. The four end men, Tom and Marvin Long, George Carlson and Prof. Carlisle, made a good team and with Aaron McCrery as interlocutor, they put over some good ones, particularly the local hits, which provoked enthusiastic applause. The end men and interlocutor were supported by a jazz hound chorus, consisting of N. E. Walker, Don McCrea, Thos. McDowell and Ira Bolton. Jokes, stump speeches and musical numbers were a part of the clever minstrel stunt. A clog dancing specialty by Frank Whitcomb of Big Bear ridge was also a feature of the black face comedy.

The next number was a farce comedy, "The Irishman and the Coon", put on by Aaron McCrery as the Irishman and Marvin Long, the Coon. This was a good sketch, much enjoyed by the audience.

Then followed a most interesting address by E. P. Martin, deputy head consul, who told of the many good features of the lodge and its value to those who are members.

Refreshments and dancing rounded out a most successful evening of solid enjoyment.

Feed The Birds

At a meeting of the Latah County Fish and Game Protective association, held at Moscow, Wednesday evening it was decided to make a united effort to have the game birds of the county fed during the period the deep snow is on the ground. Many quail and China pheasants will perish if the cold weather and deep snow continue for any length of time.

C. B. Green phoned to S. P. Callison Wednesday night and told him that if the people of this community would scatter the feed the game department would pay the cost of feed. Mr. Callison is taking the necessary steps to have the matter looked after in this vicinity.

All farmers are urged to assist in this work. Many of them are taking care of small flocks of birds that come to their barnyards. A little feed will keep them alive until the good weather comes.

Bechtol Gets Contract

The contract for remodeling the building for the new theater was given to E. E. Bechtol. Work will be started in the very near future. Considerable excavating will have to be done to get ready to put in the sloping concrete floor, but most of the other work will be held up until it is possible to get sand and gravel from the creek bed.

Farm Bureau Meeting

A farm bureau meeting was held by the American ridge community, Wednesday night. County Agent Fletcher and Charles G. Stonebreaker of the national federation of farm bureaus, were present at the meeting. On account of the cold weather the attendance was not large but nevertheless a profitable time was spent. Mr. Stonebreaker expects to return in the near future and get memberships in the national federation.

The same community officers as last year were elected except that William Watts was elected secretary in place of Walter Taylor.

Job owned 7 sons, 3 daughters, 7,000 sheep, 3,000 camels, 500 yoke of oxen, 500 donkeys. He lost them all, but he said everything would be all right in the spring.

Superintendent Daniel is to be congratulated in securing a date with President Upham to speak here for the Lincoln Day program, Monday night, February 13. Those who delight in hearing a speaker of extraordinary ability, will derive a great deal of pleasure in the address which President Upham will make here. It is to be hoped that there will be many who will take advantage of the opportunity.

If all of the remedies that are being advanced for the betterment of the condition of farmers, were adopted, chaos would certainly be with us. Every cure-all that is advanced has its followers. However, the general sentiment that now seems to prevail is that the world is sick and our ablest financiers are not able to diagnose the case. When all other business enterprises are running smoothly, the farming industry will also have come back to its own.

The garage next door to the print shop has been forced to get water from us on account of frozen water pipes. It's all right to advertise free air, but a little hot air goes a long way toward keeping pipes thawed during these snappy times.

A carload of Holstein and Durham dairy cattle were shipped to Moscow recently to be sold at public auction. The idea was to improve the dairy cattle of that section and to supply a demand that existed for stock of that class. The same thing might be done here. As soon as this section begins to adopt dairying and diversified farming, prosperity will follow and the price of wheat will not be a matter of such great importance.

Taking Desperate Chances

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious disease. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle.—Adv.

There can be little question that Latah county has fared better than most of the counties of Idaho during the hard times. There have been no bank failures and scarcely a business failure of any consequence. This condition is no doubt largely due to the splendid agricultural resources of the county. Nez Perce county has a record almost equally as good, except for the failure of one small bank.

If all bootleggers were rounded up and given a sentence with a kick in it, instead of a 30 to 90, day suspended jail sentence, the luster would gradually wear off of the moonshine industry. Six months hard labor on the county roads starting a moonshiner in the face would have a kick in it bigger than a barrel of "white mule".

The action of the business men of Latah in refusing to sign another lyceum contract for next season, is worthy of emulation. Unless the lyceum circuit puts on better talent than has visited this town the past two seasons, there is no reason why a few business men should guarantee

Webster —Man's Man

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of
"Cappy Rick," "The Valley of the Giants," etc.

(Copyright, by Peter B. Kyne)

CHAPTER X.—Webster receives a warning conveyed by "Don Juan Caffery," really John J. Caffery, Irishman of good qualities fallen through overindulgence in liquor, that there is a plot to assassinate him. Webster makes a firm friend of Caffery. Later, the American is insulted by a Sobrantean army officer and publicly ridiculed. A challenge to a duel is accepted under such stern conditions that the Sobranteans withdraw.

CHAPTER XI.—Webster secretly visits "Andrew Bowers" at Mother Jenks. He learns that "Bowers" is Ricardo Ruey, son of the assassinated president, brother of Dolores (whom he believes dead), and that a revolution is contemplated. Next morning he tells Dolores that her brother, of whom she has no recollection, is in the country, projecting the overthrow of President Sarros. Very much in love with the girl, but believing that her affection has been bestowed on Geary, Webster leaves to investigate the mine which he has come to finance.

"And when I was feeling tip-top once more I'd wire old John Stuart Webster and tell him so, after which I'd stand by for a cable from the said sordoughd inviting me to return and take up my labors."

Billy's wan yellow face lighted up like a sunrise on the desert. "I guess that plan's kind of poor," he announced feelingly. "You're right, Jack. I'm in rotten condition and I ought to be right before I start. Still, if I should arrange to get married before I leave, I'd like mighty well to have a good man and true see me safely over the hurdles."

"That's nice, son, but I haven't time to be your best man. Arranging the honeymoon lets me out, Bill. I'm in a hurry to finish here and get back, so the sooner we both start our prospective jobs the sooner we'll finish. Have a quiet little marriage, Bill, without any fuss or feathers or voices breathing o'er Eden. What are the odds, provided you get hitched properly? Besides, I'm in mortal dread of that town of Buenaventura. The sewer system is bad; it's rotten with fever; and you'd better get that girl out of it P. D. Q., and the quicker the better. Myself, I prefer to stay up here in these mountains in a temperate climate where there are no mosquitoes."

Billy saw that Webster was serious and would resent any interference in his plans. "All right, Jack," he assented. "You're the boss."

"Fine. Now, Bill, you listen to father and be guided accordingly. When you get to Buenaventura, wire the Bingham Engineering company of Denver, using my name, and tell them to add to my order given them last month and held for shipping directions, 12 dozen picks, 12 dozen shovels, 12 dozen mattocks, six dozen axes, brush knives, a big road plow, and whatever other things you happen to think of and which would come in handy when building our road. Also, when you get to New Orleans buy a stanch three-ton motor truck. We'll need it for getting in supplies from San Miguel de Padua. Pay for the truck also, and if you go broke and cannot reach me by cable, wire Nedy Jerome at the Engineers' club in Denver and kick his eye out in my honored name."

"I guess that's about all of your job, Bill. As for me, I'll camp right here. I'll have a deal of surveying to do and I plan to sweat the booze out of that Caffery person. I'll make Don Juan my chain man and run the tail off him. Then I'll be busy with preliminary plans, arranging for labor and so on, and when I'm idle I'll go hunting."

In conformity with this plan, therefore, Billy said good-by to his friend and packed out for San Miguel de Padua bright and early next morning. During the following ten days Webster managed to keep himself fairly busy around the camp at the mine; then for a week he hunted and fished, and finally, when that began to pall on him, his agile mind returned to business and the consideration of the possibility of a flaw in Billy's title to the claim; whereupon he suddenly decided to return to Buenaventura and investigate that title fully before proceeding to throw dollars right and left.

At the head of his little cavalcade, therefore, he rode out one morning for the railroad, whereat providence, in its inscrutable wisdom, ordained that en route he should fall in with no less a personage than Don Ricardo Luis Ruey, ne Andrew Bowers. Ricardo was mounted, armed, and alone, and at sight of Webster he shouted with delight and spurred toward him.

"What the devil! You, Rick, the government cut-up? What are you doing in these parts?" Webster rode up and shook hands.

"Oh, I'm Robb Hooding it around this part of the country. It is so secluded, you know, and Sarros hasn't any friends or any telegraph lines or any garrisons up this way. I heard in San Miguel de Padua that you were pumped yonder, and I was on my way over to confer with you on matters of state. Met your friend, Geary, at El Buen Amigo a couple or weeks ago, just before he sailed for the United States. He was telling me you had to have a lot of tools for road building, so I cabled in a secret cipher to the Sobrantean revolutionary junta in New Orleans to slip these tools to you immediately. They arrived on the last trip of the Atlanta and now repose in Leber's warehouse waiting for you to call and remove them."

"You scoundrel! What have you sent me?"

"A couple of hundred rifles and three machine guns, branded axes, picks, shovels, plows, and so on. I also ran in three cases of ammunition, labeled grindstones, two more cases disguised as bolts, and quite several thousand labeled nails in kegs. I should feel rather sorry for you if my friend, Sarros, should get suspicious and investigate, but I haven't any fear that he will. You see, he knows you're here on legitimate business. He has investigated and learned that you are a bona fide mining engineer of considerable reputation—and then, you know, your friend, Geary, dickered with him for the concession. The mining property you are about to develop belongs to the people, not to Sarros; yet he has bartered it away and will divert the royalty to his own pocket instead of the public treasury."

"Hum-m-m! What do you want me to do with all those munitions consigned to me?"

"Arrange with Leber to keep them there until you get ready to build your road into the mine. I want them there when my American mercenaries arrive in Buenaventura. By the way, you are going to import these mercenaries for me. They are American miners and road builders in the employ of the Honda Mining & Development company, which is to be the name of your enterprise. I hope you'll like the name, Webster. I picked it out myself."

"You cool scoundrel! You're making cat's paw out of me."

"That is because you happen to be so handy for my purpose. You see my plan, do you not? I'm going to attack Buenaventura from within and without. I'm going to come down on Sarros like a wolf on the fold, and the job is scheduled for next Saturday night a week."

"Look here, Rick, my boy, I have no desire to mix in the politics of this country."

"You have some desire, however, to mix in its wealth," Ricardo reminded him.

"Well?"

"I'm the only man that can help you. By the way, do not order your machinery shipped until after I am seated firmly on the throne of my fathers."

Care of The Teeth

Dr. H. R. Veon

Good teeth are necessary for good health. Good teeth are necessary for good digestion. Happiness is largely a matter of good digestion. Long life depends on good health, good digestion and on good teeth. Who wants a long life burdened with toothache?

THE MOUTH

If you were to make a list of all of the things you have ever put into your mouth, you would wonder how you have escaped the asylum. The mouth is intended to receive and prepare food for the stomach and to act as an organ of speech. If you will use your mouth as nature intended you will avoid more than one-half of the disease germs that are trying to get into your body.

Nearly seventy per cent of all human disease enters through the mouth. Keep your mouth clean and disappooint the disease-producing bacteria.

TEMPORARY TEETH

If the family interest in baby's first tooth could be made a permanent interest in all of baby's teeth, there would be more happy and healthy children in the world than there are today.

Every child needs every tooth every day. There is only one way to preserve the temporary teeth and that is by taking care of them now. Every tiny cavity must be cleaned and filled at once.

Deep cavities in baby teeth are dangerous because they may reach the pulp. If the pulp is exposed it will die and then the tooth may be lost. Those years in which the child depends upon its temporary teeth for mastication span the period of most rapid growth. Keep the baby teeth clean and healthy.

PERMANENT TEETH

When your permanent teeth are all in place, nature has finished her tooth job. You have your share of teeth and if you don't take care of them, you will either have to do without teeth or use artificial ones. Who wants to do without teeth? Certainly you don't. Besides, it is not very pleasant to have them taken out.

Your permanent teeth are a wonderful mechanism. They masticate your food, give shape and expression to your face and distinctness to your voice. The loss of even one tooth is a very serious injury, but the loss of more than one is a calamity. The longer you live, the more you need your teeth.

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

Editorial Delirium Tremens

A member of the firm of Kallison & Krocke Kiote Killing Company of Kendrick had a most thrilling experience recently. He doesn't know that we know that the incident took place; in fact, he himself, even, doesn't know that the occurrence happened, but we will give the particulars just the same, as nearly as our imagination will allow.

Last week while following the hounds over the Potlatch hills our hero jumped a rabbit, which had been feeding on some last year's squirrel poison, the brand that Bob Newton sells at the Red Cross Pharmacy. As the rabbit was fully 30 feet away, our friend made a mad dash to get within shooting distance, and in so doing attempted to jump a barb wire fence. The toe of his shoe caught on the top wire and left him suspended in thin air. The leather in the shoe being extremely tough, it having been purchased from N. B. Long & Sons, he knew that his most prodigious efforts would avail him not. Taking a handkerchief from his stag shirt, which he had recently bought on sale at the Kendrick Store Co. he mopped the cold sweat from his brow first removing his stocking cap, the kind Stanton Bros. sell for less.

Casting his eyes upward, or downward, whichever it might be termed, he spied a folded slip of paper, which had evidently fallen from his coat pocket. He knew at a glance that it was an insurance policy from one of G. F. Walker's companies. This, together with the fortitude gained at the weekly prayer meetings, held every Thursday night at the Methodist church, gave him courage to die.

While reflecting upon his past life, the thought occurred to him that his chances for seeing the opening show in the new theater next spring had gone glimmering. He felt so downcast over this prospect that he dropped his rifle, bot from the Farmers Hardware Co. The concussion of the falling weapon discharged the cartridge, sold to him that day by Walter Thomas. The steel jacketed bullet cut the barb wire, which was rotten, it having come from a mail order house, and allowed our gallant hero to drop, head down in the snow. His money, which he had failed to deposit in one of our local banks, fell from his pockets and was irreparably lost. He was as completely strapped as the Kendrick Harness Shop.

After taking stock of himself and finding that he had "fallen from the frying pan into the fire", as it were, the suggestive idea of the frying pan reminded him that he had in his coat pocket one of those useful little pancake turners, kindly given to him that morning by the Kendrick Furniture Co. With renewed vigor he, by the aid of this useful little household article, began digging himself out eventually gained the light of day and an upright position. Upon invoicing his physical condition he learned that in his anguish he had cracked one of his gold crowns, but knowing that our new dentist could soon fix it, he felt relieved and reached in his overall pocket for his trusty plug, bought for a hickie from Erickson and Taylor. They were Sears, Roebuck overalls so he found a hole in the pocket and the plug missing. However, he still had his jimmy pipe, which had been given to him by Tom McDowell.

After reflecting upon his adventures, he concluded that he had had a closer shave than you can get for a quarter at Rogers Barber Shop and that he had barely escaped landing in a place hotter than the oven in Pearson's Electric Bakery. In the meantime the rabbit hadn't moved, the poison being most effective.

FORD MAKES HEAVY REDUCTION ON TRACTORS

Notwithstanding the fact that the Fordson Tractor has always been the lowest priced tractor made when power, efficiency and durability are considered.

Improved methods of manufacturing are largely responsible for this sweeping reduction. The Ford Motor Company owns its own iron and coal mines, its own railroad and delivers its raw materials to its blast furnaces at the minimum cost. Ford castings are poured directly from these furnaces at the cost of which other factories buy the pig iron and then transport it to their foundries to be melted and run into the moulds. Economic methods of this kind enable Ford to furnish the cheapest farm power in the world today.
