

LATAH COUNTY NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

Genesee News: Over at Klamath Falls, Oregon, the girl students of the Klamath county high school have appeared in the uniform of middie blouses and plaid skirts, officially adopted recently at a girls' mass meeting. Friday, the last day of grace, was celebrated with a gay display of satins, sheer stockings, elaborate coiffures and heightened complexions. Fancy clothes went down to defeat, literally, with flying colors.

Students will co-operate with the faculty in enforcing the simplicity program. Braids and ribbons will replace puffs and marcell waves.

Deary Press: Announcement is authorized that the Deary creamery will resume operation, March 15, according to present plans. Suitable arrangements are being made to provide funds to get the plant started.

D. Stevens will have charge of the business. Mr. Stevens took a course in dairying at the University last fall and is fitted to handle the business of buttermaking.

At Saturday's meeting of the stockholders, A. M. Johnson, Anton Hanson, and James Donelson were made directors, J. B. Kitch is president, Mr. Johnson, vice president and Mr. Stevens, secretary.

Julietta Record: A fuel and feed yard is being established by Thos. Fox in Julietta. The stock which he will handle came from Claude Craig at Leland and will include lumber, wood and posts. Besides he expects to handle coal in connection with his fuel business. The lumber for the present will be stored near the depot while the wood, posts, etc., is being hauled to Mr. Fox's home in the upper part of town.

Troy News: The Troy Lumber Company held its annual meeting at the local office, Tuesday. Officers elected for the ensuing year were: president, August Peterson; vice president, W. M. Duthie; secretary, O. Bohman; manager at Troy, A. R. Bohman, manager for Lewiston and Clarkston offices, August Peterson. The following directors were elected: O. Bohman, A. R. Bohman, W. M. Duthie, August Peterson, Peter Mathson, P. Johanson and Chas. Freed.

Star-Mirror: County School Superintendent Miss Lillian Scattaboe returned Wednesday from Lewiston where she attended a joint session of the county school superintendents of Idaho, Lewis, Latah, Nez Perce and Clearwater counties. It was decided at this meeting to hold the next joint teachers' institute of the five counties at Moscow. The representatives of the five counties unanimously elected Prof. Ph. Soulen, superintendent of the Moscow schools, as director of the institute. The institute will be held in October.

P. L. Orcutt Visits Kendrick

P. L. Orcutt of Moscow was in Kendrick on business a few days last week. Mr. Orcutt formerly followed the rough and rocky road of a country newspaper publisher, but is now in the more respectable profession of selling life insurance. While here he told us a story that, he said best described his idea of the newspaper business. It follows: A merchant who wished to do some advertising with his local newspaperman asked him what his circulation was. The editor replied as follows: "I've got a good circulation. Why, my paper goes to England, Africa, South America, Europe and it's all I can do to keep it from going to hell."

✕ The price of pork at retail in Spokane advanced 20 per cent over January prices on February 10.

Sunshine Club Met

The Sunshine Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. James Emmett last Tuesday. After dispensing with the regular routine business, Prof. Daniel gave a very interesting and instructive talk in "The Co-operation of the Home and School". Prof. Daniel ably discussed a subject that deserves serious consideration by every parent in the community. Delicately refreshments were served by Mrs. Emmett, aided by Mrs. John Brown.

FARMERS INSTITUTE TO BE HELD HERE

A Social Get-together Meeting Thursday.

Plans are now being put into effect for a big Get-together meeting and Farmers' Institute, to be held at the Fraternal Temple in Kendrick, Thursday, February 23. The meeting will be conducted jointly by the business men of Kendrick, the Extension Division of the University of Idaho and the farmers of the surrounding territory.

The speaking sessions will be held in the lodge room of the temple and the dining room will be reserved for the noon lunch hour.

This meeting will have something of value for everyone. It is for the men and women of both town and country and everyone is most cordially invited to attend. A Farmers' Institute is something new for this locality and there is no question but that it will have much of interest for everyone, the program having been outlined with special reference to the fact that many people having varied interests will be in attendance.

As you will see in the above program, the opening number of the institute will start at 10:30 sharp.

The program in the afternoon will conclude at an hour early enough so that those who live in the country will not be kept in town too late for their convenience.

Free coffee will be served in the dining room during the noon hour. Everyone from both town and country, is urged to bring lunch and make the noon hour a social one. It will offer a splendid opportunity for an exchange of good fellowship.

Of course the entire program is free to all.

School Notes

The advanced division of the second grade have completed their reader and have taken up a third reader.

The first and second grades observed St. Valentine's Day with a valentine hunt which was very much enjoyed by the children. The valentines were hidden about the room and each child hunted those containing his name.

There have been very few cases of tardiness or absence in the primary room the past two weeks. It is hoped that the attendance will continue to improve.

The girls of the fifth and sixth grades have organized a sewing club and will meet every Thursday.

The third and fourth grades have been having very poor attendance, resulting from sickness.

President Upham gave a very interesting talk at the high school, Monday afternoon.

The high school attendance has been very poor this week because of illness.

The basket ball games between Kendrick High School and Troy High School were very good ones. The scores were, eleven to twenty-five in favor of the Kendrick boys and thirteen to twenty-nine in favor of the Kendrick girls.

Russell Webb of Fort Lapwai was in Kendrick last Saturday on business.

K. H. S. Won Two Games

Two good basket ball games were played here last Friday evening between the girls' and the boys' high school teams of Troy and Kendrick. Both games were intensely interesting. The girls' teams played first and the Kendrick girls won by a score of 29 to 11, the difference in the number of points is not a true indication of the class of the two teams, as Troy plays a fast game but of course was handicapped on a strange floor. Then, too, the locals had fully determined to win and did so by playing a harder, faster game than their opponents.

The first ten minutes of the game between the boys' teams was an exhibition of some of the fastest playing ever seen on the local floor. Kendrick has a light team but every man in it is fast and has plenty of endurance to keep up the pace. The Kendrick boys fairly played the Troy boys off their feet during the first part of the game and kept the lead until the whistle blew at the end of the second half. Troy did good work passing the ball but was not so sure on throwing baskets.

Egnaz Flaig for Kendrick, shot a number of sensational baskets and his work generally was exceptionally fast. The guarding by the locals was good and was responsible for winning the game, as Troy had few open chances to score. The end of the second half showed 25 for Kendrick and 13 for Troy.

Prof. Carlisle refereed both games and his decisions gave general satisfaction.

Big Bean Sales

There is still a little loose change in the Potlatch country as the following bean sales would rather conclusively indicate. One day last week Dora May of American ridge sold 579 sacks of beans on the Kendrick market, receiving for them a check for $3032.85. The same day Eric Peterson of Little Bear ridge sold 975 sacks and was given a check for $5392.59. Then Tom Cook of Potlatch ridge sold 382 sacks for $2091.62. The three sales were all made on the local market and total the sum of $10,517.06.

Stewart Heffel of Potlatch ridge a few days later, sold 326 sacks of beans and received a check for $1616.58.

Another big check was paid to Mrs. Dave Denlar of Fix ridge, Wednesday, for wheat. She sold 1828 bushels of wheat for $3368.29.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lutz went to Spokane last Friday for a brief visit.

Hund-Parks

(Leland Correspondent) A very pretty home wedding was solemnized Sunday at one o'clock, when Hugh Parks and Miss Cathryn Hund were united in marriage at the home of the bride, by their pastor, Rev. Hall.

The bride was beautifully gowned in Pekin blue satin. The groom also wore a suit of blue. They were attended by Miss Elizabeth Hund and Mr. Homer Parks. Immediately after the ceremony a lovely wedding dinner was served. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jennie Hund of Leland, while the groom is the son of R. B. Parks, a prominent farmer near Leland.

Both are highly respected young people and have a host of friends here who extend hearty congratulations. They expect to be at home soon on the fine farm, recently purchased by the groom's father in the Fairview neighborhood.

Miss Hund was given a miscellaneous shower at the parsonage, Friday afternoon. She was the recipient of many useful presents, consisting in part of aluminum, cut glass, linen, dishes and many other things too numerous to mention. The dining room was decorated with pink and white, refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served.

Mrs. Clarence Newman

The community was shocked yesterday afternoon to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Clarence Newman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis of the Fairview neighborhood. Mrs. Newman became ill with influenza and the attack was so severe that she lived but a short time afterward, death taking place at 1:30 yesterday afternoon. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

The bereaved husband and parents have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their sorrow.

He Knew From Experience

Here is the original of all the mother-in-law stories in the world. As Mr. Caveman was gnawing at a bear bone in his cave one morning, Mrs. Caveman rushed in and said: "Quick! Get your club! Oh Quick!" "What's the matter?" growled Mr. Caveman.

"Sabre-toothed tiger chasing mother," gasped his wife. Mr. Caveman spat on the floor. "And what the blazes," he asked "do I care what happens to a sabre-toothed tiger?"

The W. O. W. Campaign

The local Woodmen lodge is winding up a campaign for new members. Nearly 40 applications have been received to date which will bring the membership of the lodge to about 175. At the regular meeting Wednesday night 13 candidates were initiated. Charles Riggle secured 19 new applications and received three prizes for his work, a lodge emblem button, watch fob and ring.

Wednesday night of next week there will be a special meeting, when a dozen or more candidates will ride the goat.

HERMAN SCHUPFER INSTALLS WIRELESS

Receiving Station in Local Phone Office.

The first of the week Herman Schupfer installed a wireless telephone receiving station at the office of the Potlatch Telephone Co. The wireless is now in full operation. Messages have been received from Pacific coast points as far south as San Francisco, also from Denver and other points. The outfit complete will cost in the neighborhood of $150, which will include amplifiers and many of the latest accessories.

The nearest station of consequence is at Pullman. One night this week the station at that place was sending out music produced by a phonograph.

Mr. Schupfer received the music over his wireless and sent it back to the Pullman wireless operator over the regular "wire telephone".

Monday night a Seattle phonograph wholesale house was demonstrating records for prospective customers over the wireless phone. Market and weather reports, music and news dispatches were received Tuesday night. By using a phonograph horn at the transmitter the sounds could easily be distinguished across the room.

Sunday night the wireless wasn't working very well. The following night a report came from Spokane to the effect that an electric storm in Oregon was the cause.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the wireless reports which Mr. Schupfer has been getting every night.

Lincoln Day Program

The Lincoln Day program, given by the Kendrick high school at the Methodist church last Friday evening, was a great success. The church was filled to capacity and many had to stand up during the program. It was a most interesting entertainment throughout. The bust of Lincoln, presented to the school by last year's graduating class, is a handsome one and will be one of the cherished possessions of the school. Kester Dammarell, in a few appropriate words, presented the bust to the school. Miss Nell Ameling, who was on the program for the acceptance speech, was unavoidably absent, so Prof. Daniel took her place. The feature number of the program was the address, delivered by President A. H. Upham of the University of Idaho. It was rather a difficult situation as his audience ranged in age from primary grades on up. However, the address was thoroughly enjoyed by both the young folks and their elders. President Upham spoke on Lincoln and George Washington, making a number of striking comparisons of the lives of the two great men.

Program at Leland Tonight

The Leland school will give a program at the I. O. O. F. lodge room tonight, (Friday) starting at 7 o'clock. After the program there will be an oyster supper, given by the I. O. O. F. lodge, in the dining room on the first floor. Everybody is invited to attend.

LELAND TO HOLD FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Under Director of Nez Perce County Farm Bureau.

A farmers' institute will be held at the I. O. O. F. Hall at Leland, Tuesday, February 21, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. The institute will be under the direction of the Nez Perce County Farm Bureau and will be held for both farmers and their wives.

A valuable program will be given and everyone is urged to attend and be present at 10 o'clock sharp as that is the time it will start. A jolly time will be spent during the noon hour, as everyone is expected to bring lunch and have a big community "feed".

Excellent speakers have been secured for the day. Prof. R. T. Parkhurst, head of the poultry department of the University of Idaho, will speak on poultry at 10 o'clock in the morning. The morning session will be for both men and women.

In the afternoon there will be a session for the women at which Miss Irwin will give a complete dress form demonstration. Many of the women have been asking for this. It will prove of value to everyone.

Other speakers are Prof. Atchison, head of dairy department of the University, who will speak on Livestock; Prof. R. K. Bonnett, head of farm crops department whose subject will be Crops and Rotations; Mr. Byron Hunter, in charge of investigation work, will talk on Farm Management.

Concerning the Farmers' Institute Waldo W. Skuse, county agent says: "I strongly urge the attendance of all farm men and women as I believe it will mean dollars and cents in your pockets to do so."

Income Tax Facts

Farmers, rangers, herders, dairymen, truck gardeners, vineyard and orchard owners, and other food producers must compute their net and gross income for 1921 and ascertain whether an income tax return, or a tax, or both are due. All gains, profits, and income derived from the sale or exchange of farm products, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold, must be included in gross income. When a farmer exchanges his products for groceries, clothing, or other merchandise, the fair market value of such goods must be included. Profit received from the sale of farm land, or rent received for the use thereof, must be included.

In determining income, upon which the tax is assessed, the farmer may deduct from gross income all necessary expenses incurred in the operation of his farm during the year 1921. These include cost of cultivation, harvesting, and marketing of his crops, cost of feed and fertilizer used, amount spent in repairs to farm buildings (other than the dwelling and to fences and machinery. Wages paid to farm hands are deductible, but not wages paid to a domestic servant, which is a personal expense.

As an aid to farmers, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has prepared a special form, 1040F, for recording sales of live stock, produce, and a summary which must be attached to the individual return of income and expenses.

An unmarried or widowed farmer or one living apart from his wife must file an individual return for 1921 if his net income for 1921 was $1,000 or more, or if his gross income was $5,000 or more. If married and living with his wife on December 31, 1921 a return must be filed if his net income was $2,000 or more, or if his gross income was $5,000 or more.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilken of Fairview community were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rowley.

Don't fail to attend the Farmers' Institute, to be held in Kendrick, Thursday of next week.

From grain raising to dairying is being advocated all over the country at this time. The idea is to produce less grain and more dairy products. While there is every reason to believe the dairy business will always be a profitable one, still there is the possibility of over production along this line as in any other. The production end of dairying is not all of it. While we are agitating the producing of more butter, it might be well to make preparations on the same scale for the marketing of it. If dairying is to be carried on in the Potlatch country on a large scale, a good creamery would be a most convenient place to handle the output of the dairy farms. Kendrick has the building ready for some enterprising creamery man. There is no question but that in a very short time there will be sufficient cream produced in the country tributary to Kendrick to furnish a creamery with a good business.

The Farmers Institute, to be held here next Thursday morning and afternoon, will present a great opportunity for the people of the community to hear some of the best speakers of the state, along agricultural lines. The program will be held both morning and afternoon, so it will be worth while making a special effort to attend. Kendrick is one of the three fortunate towns of the county to secure a Farmers' Institute. The meeting will be held jointly by the business men of Kendrick, the Extension Division of the University of Idaho and the farmers of the territory in the Kendrick section. It will be too good to miss, so don't miss it!

Nature has done wonders in making a picturesque setting for Kendrick, but many of the property owners are not living up to the possibilities that exist for making this the little city beautiful. We should der to think of the impression tourists get of the town as they go thru on the train. Unfortunately a large share of the backyards of the town are right up against the railroad right-of-way. A back yard isn't such an awful sight if properly cared for, but when neglected for years it doesn't present a picture that lends beauty to the landscape.

County Agent Fletcher wrote this week that he would like to have it impressed upon the people of Kendrick, Juliaetta and surrounding territory, that it will be a rare opportunity for a social noon hour if everyone will bring lunch and eat it together at the Fraternal Temple dining room. Free coffee, made by N. Brocke (the world's most famous) will be "on tap" for lunch. EVERYBODY is invited to attend.

A Judicious Inquiry

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if for a child, they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, croup and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.—Adv.

Webster - Man's Man

By PETER B. KYNE

Author of "Cappy Ricks," "The Valley of the Giants," etc.

(Copyright, by Peter B. Kyne)

CHAPTER X.—Webster receives a warning conveyed by "Don Juan Cafetero," really John J. Cafferty, Irishman of good qualities fallen through overindulgence in liquor, that there is a plot to assassinate him. Webster makes a firm friend of Cafferty. Later, the American is insulted by a Sobranian army officer and publicly ridiculed him. A challenge to a duel is accepted under such stern conditions that the Sobranians withdraw it.

CHAPTER XI.—Webster secretly visits "Andrew Bowers" at Mother Jenks'. He learns that "Bowers" is Ricardo Rucy, son of the assassinated president, brother of Dolores (whom he believes dead), and that a revolution is contemplated. Next morning he tells Dolores that her brother, of whom she has no recollection, is in the country, projecting the overthrow of President Sarros. Very much in love with the girl, but believing that her affection has been bestowed on Geary, Webster leaves to investigate the mine which he has come to finance.

"It's no use for an individual to fight a government despot in courts controlled by the latter," he concluded. "Your brother must win and depose the Sarros; then with the title to the property certified by the government as without a flaw, I may dare to spend $50,000 developing it."

"And if my brother doesn't win?" "I may never have an opportunity to present you to him. We mustn't be squeamish about this matter, Miss Rucy. If Ricardo doesn't turn the trick, he may go the way of his father, unless he can manage to get out of the country."

She was silent, digesting this grim alternative. "As I understand it, then, Caliph, Ricardo hopes to win his revolution when he strikes the first blow."

"I think so. I dare say Ricardo hopes to take Sarros by surprise, bottle the city garrison up in the quarter and the government palace and there besiege them. Having secured nominal control of a seaport, he can import arms and ammunition; also he can recruit openly, and at his leisure hunt down the outlying garrisons. The Sarros crowd doesn't suspect his presence in Sobranite, and by a quick, savage stroke he should be able to jerk this one-horse government up by the heels in a jig time—particularly since the citizenry feel no loyalty toward the Sarros regime and are only kept in subjection through fear and lack of a leader. I'm going to play Ricardo to win, if he isn't killed in the opening row, for I'm certain he'll lead his men."

"I dare say he is greatly like his father—not afraid to die for his country," she replied presently. "I am glad to be here when he takes that risk."

"Oh, but you mustn't be here," Webster protested.

"Why?" "Because there'll be street fighting—probably of a desperate character, and I understand your countrymen go rather war-mad and do things not sanctioned by The Hague tribunal. If there's a steamer in port at the time I'll put you aboard her until the issue is decided. I'm going to see Ricardo tomorrow night and learn the details of his plan of campaign; after that I'll be able to act intelligently."

Ricardo Rucy, with Dr. Pacheco and Colonel Caraveo, were engaged in consultation when Jack Webster, having left the Hotel Mateo via his bedroom window in order to avoid possible espionage and made his way to El Buen Amigo on foot, was announced by Mother Jenks. The three conspirators greeted him joyously, as indeed they should, for his loyal friendship had thus far been one of their principal bulwarks.

"Well," Webster inquired, after greeting them and carefully closing the door behind him, "here I am in Buenaventura, marking time and, like Mr. Mcawber, waiting for something to turn up."

"You will not be required to wait long," Colonel Caraveo assured him. "Thanks to your kindly offices, the trap is already baited."

"Our friend, Rucy, has, since our first meeting, insisted on dispensing with my consent when using me to Buenaventura will be severed. The night previous our steamer will have discharged her cargo of men and munitions at San Bruno; a chain of outposts will at once be established and all communication with the capital will be shut off."

"On Saturday night, also, the Consolidated Fruit company's steamer, La Estrellita, will make port with 30 Americans in her stowage. These men will be road-makers and miners imported by Mr. J. S. Webster, and in order to make certain that they will come, you have already ordered them by cable. We have arranged with the port doctor to give La Estrellita a clean bill of health the very night she arrives. Hence the ship's authorities will not be suspicious. I hope, when we remove our men after dark and house them in Leber's warehouse, where they will spend the night unpacking those spades, picks and shovels of yours and getting the factory grease off them.

"At 4 o'clock in the morning various citizens of Sobranite, with rebellion in their hearts, will begin to mobilize at Leber's warehouse, where they will be issued rifles and ammunition and where they will wait until the action is opened to the south by the detachment from San Bruno, which, having marched from San Bruno the night before, will have arrived outside the city, and will be awaiting the signal from me. I will attack from the west—cautiously."

"Now, there are 5,000 government troops in the city and in various cantonments on the outskirts. These cantonments are to be rushed and set afire; I figure that the confusion of our sudden attack will create a riot—particularly when I do something that isn't very popular as a war feature down this way, and that is charge—and keep on coming."

"The government troops will start to fall back on the city, only to find themselves flanked by a fierce artillery fire from the San Bruno contingent; the troops from the arsenal, the guards at the palace and the Fifteenth regiment of Infantry, now stationed at the Cuartel de Infanteria, next the government palace, will be dispatched post haste to repulse the attack, and 400 men, with the machine gun company waiting in Leber's warehouse, will promptly move upon them from the rear and capture the arsenal. There are a few thousand rifles and a lot of ammunition stored there; I miss my guess if, as soon as the news of its capture by the rebels spreads through the city (and I shall have men to spread it), I shall not have a few thousand volunteers eager to help overthrow Sarros."

"Once cut off from the arsenal and the palace, Sarros must fight his way out of the city in order to have the slightest chance to suppress the rebellion, for he will have no refuge in the city. And with the railroad and all the rolling stock in our hands, without a commissary for his troops, without a base of supplies, even should the government troops fight their way through, they leave the city in my hands and I'll recruit and arm my men and hunt them down like jack rabbits at my leisure. Once let the arsenal and the palace fall into my hands, once let me proclaim myself provisional president, once let the people know that Ricardo Rucy, the beloved, lives again in the person of his son, and I tell you, Webster, this country is saved. How do you like my plan of campaign?"

"It couldn't be any better if I had planned it myself. You might accept my suggestion and armor that little motor truck of mine. It arrived on yesterday's steamer."

"And some armor sheet steel with it—sheet steel already loop-holed for the barrels of the two machine guns it will carry!" Dr. Pacheco cried joyously.

"Have you provided a chauffeur, Doctor?" "I have—likewise an armored sheet-steel closet for him to sit in while chaffering."

"How about that loan to the provisional government?" Ricardo demanded pointedly.

Webster did not hesitate. After all, what was money to him now? Billy had gone away, his hopes raised high, already a millionaire after the fashion of mining men, who are ever ready to count their chicks before they are hatched, provided only they see the eggs. Besides, there was Dolores. Full well Webster realized that Billy, tossed back once more into the jaws of the well-known wolf of poverty, would not have the courage upon his return to Sobranite to ask Dolores to share his poverty with him; should the revolution fall, Ricardo Rucy would be an outcast, a hunted man with a price on his head, and in no position to care for his sister, even should he survive long enough to know he had a sister. She would be alone in the world if he, John Stuart Webster, failed her now—more than ever she needed a man's strength and affection to help her navigate the tide-rips of life, for life to a woman, alone and unprotected and dependent upon her labor for the bread she must eat, must contain, at best, a full measure of terror and despair and loneliness. He pictured her through a grim procession of years of skimping and petty sacrifices—and all because he, John Stuart Webster, had hesitated to lend a dreamer and an idealist a paltry $40,000 without security.

No, there was no alternative. If his friendship for Billy was worth a sou, it was worth $40,000; if his silent, unrequited love for Dolores Rucy was worthy of her, no sacrifice on his part could be too great, provided it guaranteed her happiness.

"Ruined again," he sighed. "This is only another of those numerous occasions when the tail goes with the promote his enterprises, Colonel. Strange to say, I have been unable to berate him for his impudence. I was down at Leber's warehouse this afternoon. You have enough road-making tools consigned to me there to build a pretty fair highway to the gates of the government palace, I should say. I hope you have all pondered the result to me, an innocent bystander, if your enemies should take a notion to open one of those cases of shovels."

Colonel Caraveo favored him with a benign smile. "You forget, my friend, that I am second in command in the intelligence department, and that during the absence of your particular friend, Raoul Sarros, in New Orleans, I am first in command. Since I already know what those cases contain, naturally I shall not take the trouble to investigate."

"Well, that's a comfort, Colonel."

"You have investigated your mining concession, Webster?" Ricardo Rucy asked.

INFERTILE EGGS KEEP BEST

Are Preferred for All Purposes Except Hatching and Can Be Kept for Longer Period.

Ordinarily all eggs will be infertile after the male has been separated from the flock for two or three weeks. Infertile eggs will keep much longer than eggs that are fertile, and are best for all purposes except hatching.

Care of The Teeth

Dr. H. R. Veon

When you bite, you exert a pressure of from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred and fifty pounds. When nature gave us our powerful machinery for chewing she expected us to use it thoroughly.

Our teeth and jaws, normally, have all of the force that is needed to break up, mash and macerate our food so that it will be acceptable to the stomach.

The stomach can do the work properly if the mouth has done its duty and the intestines cannot do their work unless the teeth and stomach have finished their part.

Chew every particle of your food thoroughly so that the food will not only be finely separated but will also be properly mixed with saliva. Food is expensive and energy is valuable. Turn your food into energy.

The majority of infections of the body are due to centers of infection in some part of the head. These centers are mostly the cells and sinuses connected with the ear, nose, throat, tonsils and teeth.

There are thirty-two chances for infection from the permanent teeth and twenty from the temporary teeth. If the teeth and mouth are neglected, you are almost certain to have foci, or centers of infection, in the mouth.

Any disease that is caused by pus may develop from the teeth.

It is true that you cannot prevent all mouth infections no matter how hard you try, but you can prevent most of it. Isn't it foolish to suffer and waste health and energy from abscesses that you could have prevented?

You might be naturalized in another country and you might get another wife or husband, but you can't get another body. Take care of the one you have.

The word pyorrhea means pus running. Alveolus is the tooth socket; so pyorrhea alveolaris would be pus running from the socket of the tooth with the tooth still in place. Any inflammation about the neck of a tooth may be pyorrhea or may develop into pyorrhea if left alone.

Pyorrhea comes mainly from neglect of the teeth and mouth, although in some cases it is due to infections from the general system.

Whatever causes it, there is one way to treat it and that is by the careful removal of all tartar deposits about the tooth and in the pyorrhea pockets and the correction of all defects in the chewing apparatus.

The membrane that holds the teeth in place is the actual seat of this disease. Pyorrhea will not cure itself, and it means not only the certain loss of the teeth but general infection if left alone. If you have pyorrhea, have it treated. If you do not have pyorrhea, take care of your mouth so that you will escape it.
