

LATAH COUNTY NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

Genesee News: As there has been some discussion as to just when game birds can be killed in this and Nez Perce counties, a synopsis of the game law is herewith given: Chinese, Kingneck or Mongolian pheasants, in Latah and Nez Perce counties, November 1, to November 30, inclusive quail, in Nez Perce county only, November 1 to November 30 inclusive; native pheasants or grouse, in Latah and Nez Perce counties, September 15 to October 15, inclusive; Hungarian partridge, November 1 to November 30, in Nez Perce county and November 1 to November 15, inclusive in Latah county, wild duck, goose, woodcock, black breasted and golden plover, yellow legs, Wilson or jack-snipe, October 1 to December 31, inclusive.

It has been stated that there has been some considerable unlawful killing of game birds in the Genesee section and there is a good deal of complaint regarding it. The game hog with a gun is just as bad as the road hog with an automobile.

Juliaetta Record: The first of the week Frank Vincent displayed a cluster of eight large evenly ripened tomatoes on one stem of a volunteer tomato plant, which came up late in his garden. He discovered the plant while hoeing muskmelons and decided to let it grow, with the result that it proved to be one of the best producers on the place. In addition to eight ripe ones there are 17 other tomatoes on the plant, all of which are ripening. The eight large ones were in a cluster at the top of the plant, which was bent over by the weight of the tomatoes, and rested on the ground. The whole cluster ripened at the same time and it is difficult to distinguish any difference in the color of any. Mr. Vincent intends to save some of the seed and plant them next year and see what they will do.

Troy News: The Troy Lumber & Manufacturing Co. force are kept very busy these days, the result of an extra large order for apple boxes. The order calls for 85,000 boxes to be shipped to Lewiston, and in order to get these out in the shortest possible time the plant is being run two hours overtime each night. Manager Bohman informs us that he has already shipped three carloads and will send out another this week if he can secure the car. The three cars totaled about 25,000 boxes. The plant has been taking care of smaller shipments of boxes, besides the other business in their line which speaks very well for the institution.

Deary Press: Another farmer has taken up his permanent residence on Big Bear ridge. Tipping the scales at eight and a quarter pounds, this gentleman arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ingle last Monday morning. At last accounts he was doing fine and thoroughly prepared for his first Potlatch winter.

Star-Mirror: T. A. Sonnevile, a threshing machine man from northern Latah county, was in Moscow Saturday and states that the story told by the threshing machine in that district is somewhat different from that in many sections of the Palouse country.

Mr. Sonnevile says that a number of crops which he threshed in Latah county and across the line in Washington, went over 30 bushels to the acres and many went 25 bushels. V. W. Tidwell, who lives near Palouse, threshed an average of 36 bushels from his land; John Kamm, who lives just at the Idaho line, threshed 35 bushels, as did also Seth Lynd and several other farmers. The average yield in the Cove district, where Mr. Sonnevile farms, was about 25 bushels. He states that he does not know of any other district which harvested as big a crop as northern Latah county.

Will Show Local Movies

G. G. Oldfield, manager of the New Kendrick, stated this week that the local moving pictures, taken some time ago by two Chicago movie photographers, would be shown here tonight and Saturday. The pictures represent local scenes of various sorts, including many of the children at play in the park and at the swimming hole. A number of the prominent business houses are also represented in the moving picture program.

Mr. Oldfield has been at considerable expense in securing these pictures but they will no doubt prove exceedingly interesting to the people of the community and will draw good houses both nights.

American Legion Notes

Weiser—The second meeting of the Third District of the Idaho Legion will be held September 26. Representatives from Boise, Nampa, Caldwell, Homedale, Bruneau, Mountain Home, Emmett, Payette, Parma, Council, Cambridge, New Plymouth and Cascade are expected. Weiser Legionnaires will entertain the visitors at the "Round-up."

Sandpoint—When the city failed to raise sufficient funds for a recent celebration the local Legion took charge and raised $1500.00 in three days. The celebration was a huge success.

New Orleans—The Idaho potatoes that made a railroad famous will grace the American Legion banquet tables during the national convention of that organization in New Orleans, October 16-20.

Since serving Idaho "spuds," none of which weighed less than two pounds, the Northern Pacific Railroad has become renowned as "The Route of the Great Big Baked Potato." Through courtesy of the National Bank of Idaho at Pocatello, and Carl DeLong of Twin Falls, manager of Boyle Commission Co., the biggest potatoes obtainable will be provided for Legion Banquets during the convention.

Idaho is famous throughout the Northwest for its finely flavored potatoes which grow to a large size without losing flavor or firmness. Marshall Foch expressed his admiration of their quality and quantity during his transcontinental tour as a guest of the Legion. The potatoes are in great demand throughout the United States.

Boise—The Monteleone Hotel in New Orleans will be the headquarters of the Idaho Department and the Idaho Delegation to the American Legion Convention, October 16 to 20, according to word received by Lester F. Albert, State Adjutant, from National Headquarters at Indianapolis. Other states whose departmental headquarters and delegates will be housed in this hotel are Maine, Maryland, Mexico, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Panama, The Philippine Islands and Utah.

National Headquarters of the American Legion will be at the Grunwald Hotel, which will also accommodate distinguished guests at the Convention as well as some state departments. The St. Charles and the Planters Hotel will also house delegations and state departments while the national headquarters of the American Legion Auxiliary will be at the Bienville Hotel.

Helton Sold Farm

R. C. Heimgartner bought 106 acres of land from Walker Helton and Mrs. Zigler, the deal being closed last week. The land is located in the Fairview community on Potlatch ridge and is one of the choice farms in this part of the country. It is all under cultivation. The consideration was $13,500. Mr. Helton will dispose of his farming equipment at public auction next Monday. He has not made any definite plans for the future.

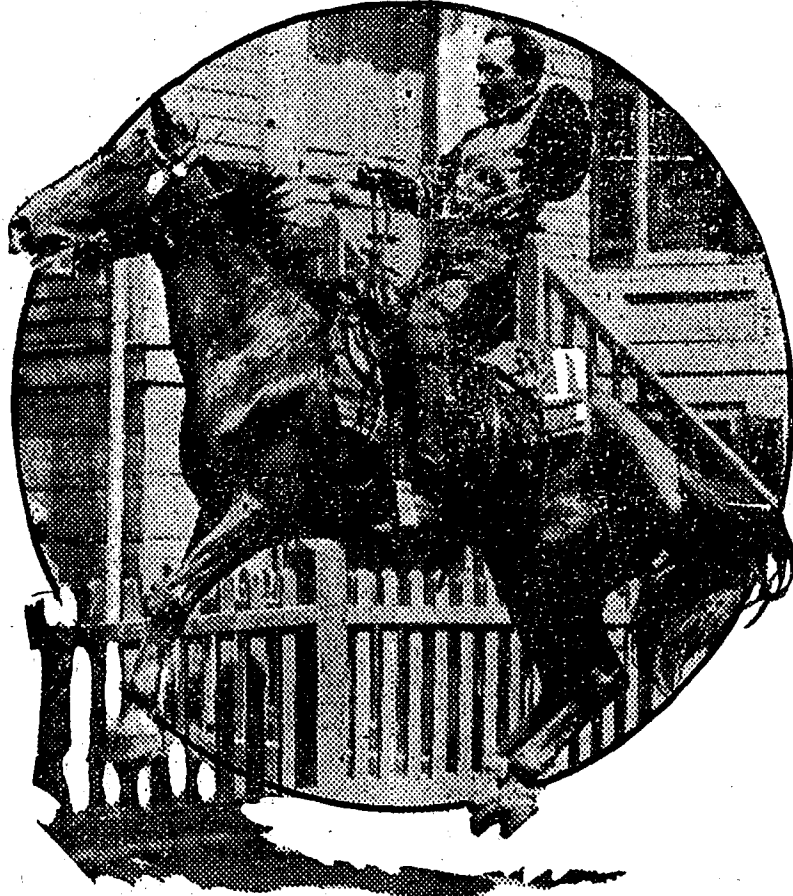

E. W. Lutz drove to Peck the first of the week to transact business.

Which of These Flappers Is 50 Years Old?

AFTER you've had your guess, the answer is: The one in the middle. She's Edna Wallace Hopper, or so she's still known on the stage once DeWolf Hopper's wife. Strictly speaking, she's a couple of years short of 50, according to "Who's Who," but at that, would you pick her as any older than the others in the group? They're around 16.

Right Into Boston Just Off His Wyoming Ranch

GEORGE MORIN "ranches it" in Wyoming. Until the other day he hadn't seen his sister, who lives in Boston, in 13 years. He'd pay her a visit, he decided. But he hated to leave his "plinto." Skeeters. As a way out of the difficulty, he simply rode Skeeters right into Boston from the ranch. It took him three months. The picture shows him cavorting up to his sister's door. He attracted some attention in Boston in his cowboy clothes.

Killed By Shotgun

Charles Cummings, Jr., 22 years of age, son of Charles Cummings, Sr., of American ridge, accidentally shot and killed himself Saturday morning. He was hauling corn fodder from the field with a friend and had his shotgun in the wagon with him. The gun had become covered with corn stalks and when he attempted to pull it out of the wagon by the muzzle, it was discharged, the shot entering his neck and killing him instantly.

Mr. Cummings was married and had one child. He was a cousin of Ben Cummings of Kendrick.

Funeral services were held at the Bethel church on American ridge and interment made in the Moscow cemetery, Monday.

McPhee-Bohn

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Miss Celia McPhee of Linden and Edgar Bohn of Park, which took place at Lewiston, Wednesday at the Methodist church, Rev. Mark Pike officiating. The young couple are well known in this community where they have a large circle of friends who will be pleased to hear of their happy marriage.

Miss Ina Elliott, a former Bear ridge girl, daughter of Mrs. Clara Groves of Seattle, was married this month to J. C. Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will make their home at Corpus Christi, Texas, about October 15.

Pleasant Social Event

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lutz entertained the members of the Okoke Klootchman Club and their husbands at a most enjoyable card party last Wednesday evening. Four tables were devoted to auction bridge and after a number of very interesting games, points were totaled and a prize of a deck of cards awarded to M. B. McConnell for the high score. Delightful refreshments were served, consisting of creamed fish in tumbal, potato chips, hot rolls, stuffed olives, assorted cakes and coffee. Mrs. Lutz announced that refreshments would be served to the husbands in one room and their wives in the adjoining room, which was rather unique, but proved to be a most satisfactory arrangement. Following is a list of those present: Messrs. and Mesdames. Newton, McConnell, Oldfield, Raaberg, Knepper, Dunkle, Daniel, Bechtol and Lutz.

Narrow Escape

Jim Cain of American ridge had a narrow escape last week from serious injury. He was lying in the feeder of a separator tightening the cylinder teeth. In turning the cylinder he started the engine. Before the engine was stopped his hand and arm had been drawn into the machine and one thumb badly crushed. It was most fortunate that the machine was stopped quickly, or the accident would probably have been a very serious one.

Street Work Started

A dream which has been fondly cherished by Kendrick boosters for the past twenty years or more, is at last being realized. Campbell & Barr, the contractors who have charge of the construction work of macadamizing the streets of the town, arrived last Friday and are now busy at work grading in the lower end of town. They have also set up a steam drill near the Potlatch bridge, back of the Robert Bigham place, and are getting rock ready for the crushers.

P. P. Oehler of the firm of Van Arsdol & Oehler of Lewiston, was here the first of the week looking after the engineering features of the work.

With good weather conditions it is hoped that the work will be completed in the early part of the winter. The contract calls for grading and surfacing with crushed rock, practically all of the important streets of the town.

Greatly Relieved

A patient, escaped from an insane asylum, was at last discovered in earnest conversation with a colored guard at a military encampment. By means of signs behind the maniacs back, the attendants were at last able to capture him. Then one of them happened to glance toward the guard and demanded in astonishment: "Why, man, what's the matter with you? You're trembling and the sweat is pouring off your face" "Yassir," gulped the negro. "Boss, after dat feller been talkin to me five minutes I knowed one of us was crazy, and now I've found out it's him. I see so relieved—I see so relieved."—Legion Weekly.

NEWS NOTES FROM KENDRICK SCHOOLS

Events of Interest to School Patrons

Any of the farmers having fruits or vegetables that they would care to donate to the school are requested to notify the domestic science teacher, Miss Whitney, regarding the kind and quantity. Donation of this sort will be greatly appreciated by the school, as they will be needed in order to serve the hot lunch to the school children this winter.

The modern trend of education is toward a more complete interest in the development of childhood. Not only is it interested in the development of the mind, but the body as well. In the more progressive schools, children are regularly examined by a nurse or physician, and many schools now provide clinics in which they endeavor to remedy the physical ills of children. There are some schools, however, much larger than ours, which have not made the physical welfare of the child a part of their work.

We are fortunate this year in being able to have all of the students given at least a partial physical examination, the expense to be born by the local Red Cross. These examinations will include the eyes, ears, nose and throat, however, complete examinations will be given where requested by the parents. The examinations will of course be useless, unless at least some of the recommendations of the examining physician are carried out.

The Students' Association has been reorganized and its officers for the coming year have been elected. They are as follows: President, Merit Smith; Vice-President, Neil Ameling and Secretary-treasurer, Bina Kabay.

All of the high school classes have been organized and have elected their officers. The supervisors have also been appointed. Miss Dawson has charge of the freshman class; Miss Whitney, the sophomores; Mr. Daniel the juniors and Mr. Strauch is the senior supervisor.

A great deal of interest was displayed by the high school students, in choosing the magazines for this year. The selections were very good, all the magazines being of the best type. Among those chosen were: Good Housekeeping, National Geographic, Literary Digest and Field and Stream.

Neil Ameling has been appointed school librarian and Beulah Long the newspaper correspondent.

Lenore News

Most all of the beans in this section have been threshed and the hullers pulled into winter quarters.

Lenn Lutie has gone to Spokane where he will work during the coming winter.

Mrs. Z. M. Powell of Kamiah is here visiting friends and relatives. She has been suffering from blood-poisoning in one of her hands but is getting better rapidly.

Asie Choate's little son has been very ill. Mr. and Mrs. Choate took him to Orofino, Sunday, for medical aid and we hope he is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant and family of Lenore moved to Ahsahka where the children have attended school the past two winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wheeler motored to Orofino last week to do some trading.

Elmer Kight had a sale recently and disposed of his personal property. He and his family have moved to Oregon to locate. It is stated that prices are very low at these sales this fall.

The farmers are rapidly getting the ground ready for fall planting of grain, but have been unable to seed owing to the fact that the soil is so dry. They fear hasty action in seeding might lead to smut next year.

Grandma Frost is very ill at this writing, but we hope she will soon recover.

Life Lines

BY H.M.C.
In days of old the Indians bold wore paint upon their faces. It simply was a part of Indian ways. But, though to very olden times this color fancy traces, it still holds forth with flappers in these days. And recollection also cites the way the Indians danced: with heads bowed down they clattered on their heels. And so, today, we find young girls the same way are entranced. No more do they do mild Virginia reels.

Another thing that seems to hitch the present and the past is in the clothes the Indians used to don. Great buttons on their clothing, just as ornament, were fast. Today the flapper's stockings have them on. And yet they say the warriors were far from civilized, until the white man's missionaries came. It makes a person wonder—when will it be realized that modern flappers need some of the same?

POULTRY

COMPARE MERITS OF BREEDS
In Culling Operations in Indiana Standard Bred Hens Show Superiority Over Mongrels.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
In Knox County, Ind., half the number of flocks of hens culled under the supervision of the county agent, employed co-operatively by the United States Department of Agriculture, the State Agricultural college, and the county, were standard bred and the other half mixed breeds, so their comparative merits could be considered through culling.

The 9 standard bred flocks numbered 1,087, while the 9 of mixed flocks numbered 1,103, or 16 more hens. The week before culling, the standard bred hens laid 2,900 eggs and the mixed breeds 2,547, or 352 less. In culling, 314 standard bred and 355 mongrel hens were removed from the flocks, leaving 773 standard bred and 738 mongrels, or 35 more standard breeds. Two owners of the standard bred flocks, being breeders, culled much closer than the owners of the mixed flocks. The week after culling the standard bred hens laid 2,724 and the mongrels 2,433 eggs. The figures show that among the 1,087 standard bred hens there were 41 less culls than among the 1,103 of the mixed flocks, and that they laid 350 more eggs the week before culling and 291 more the week after.

The busy hen is the one that makes the best layer.

It pays to feed the young fowls liberally until they are full grown.

Be kind to your fowls; make friends with them and they will repay you. Fright reduces the egg yield.

Exercise makes the hens lay better, insures fertile eggs and makes the chicks grow strong and healthy.

Make the nest boxes of ample size, but not too deep. The hens, if large in size, will break the eggs in getting into the nest if it be too deep.

A hen too closely confined soon becomes restless and uneasy. Restlessness results in discomfort and the development of such vices as egg-eating, feather-pulling and cannibalism.

Every year the people of the Park, Cedar Creek and Deary communities are showing considerable progress in pushing the timber line farther from their ranches and replacing the timber and brush patches with, productive farm lands. The heavy smoke screen which hung over this section of the country for a greater part of this month, was caused largely by the "slashings" that were being burned over, preparatory to getting the raw land into a state of cultivation. Anyone driving through the territory above mentioned, may notice each year, many acres of new land ready for crops.

If Ford was really endeavoring to act the part of a public benefactor in closing his plants in protest of excessive coal prices, why doesn't he divulge the price he paid for coal when he finally brought the coal dealers to terms? He reaps the benefit of his "jewing down" process, but the public still pays the price. Ford is becoming more and more recognized as a grandstand advertiser, but the public doesn't take as much stock in his principles as in days gone by.

It would be most fitting to put on a celebration of some sort when the street work has been completed here. Mayor Walker should be granted the privilege of putting the last shovel full of crushed rock on the streets, thus finishing the good work which his unceasing efforts have in a large measure, been the mean of starting. It will be the beginning of better things for Kendrick when this work is completed and should be an occasion of rejoicing on the part of every loyal Potlatcher.

According to the government mortality statistics, Kansans live a year or two longer than other Americans. The reason is plain. They are never bored. Always something is going on and they like the show. If it is not a cyclone, or an uprising, or an industrial court, or a lady with a hatchet, or Ed Howe, or the hot winds, or the worlds biggest crop, it is something else worth watching. Kansans have the box seats of the worlds theater and can always see the figures, issues, events, causes and cataclysms, waiting in the wings for the cue from fate. For things start in Kansans that finish in history. So Kansans always are eager to see the act clear thru. Kansas is hardly a state. It is a kind of prophecy.—Emporia Gazette.

KILLING OFF BEST CHICKENS

Housewife Makes Mistake in Getting Rid of Cockerels Because They Are Large.

The housewife who kills off her largest and best cockerels and pullets is not as much a poultrywoman as some people think. Often it is the cockerels that are the most valuable, yet nearly every farm woman thinks she is justified in killing off her largest chicks if they happen to be cockerels. It is not a very hard matter to get $2 and $3 for good, vigorous utility cockerels nowadays. Better be certain before you kill the next one.

Look out for lice when your chickens look droopy and sleepy.

LINCOLN'S CABIN

THE famous log cabin which Abraham Lincoln and his father built near Decatur, Ill., is lost. Older readers will recall that for many years this cabin was hauled around the country and exhibited at such gatherings as the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876.

After its exhibit in Philadelphia, the log cabin disappeared as completely as Charley Ross.

An historical society now is trying to locate it. The most promising clew is that a syndicate of London showmen bought it for exhibition in England, but the ship carrying it went down in a storm at sea.

It is typical of the fate of all the material accomplishments of man.

The farmer raises his crop. It vanishes like snow on a hot stove. Great cities of the past had monuments and buildings that seemed indestructible at the time. Now they lie buried under the desert sands, along with the civilizations that created them.

But—
While the cabin built by the hands of Abraham Lincoln may lie at the bottom of the ocean, Lincoln's character and his public deeds live on. No desert sands can cover them, no ocean can engulf them, for they are spiritual.

Our material accomplishments inevitably end in oblivion. You realize this as you look at pictures of the crumbling Sphinx and the Chinese Wall.

But our spiritual accomplishments live on. Only in our spiritual and mental accomplishments can we build for eternity. Time erases evil. But nothing can erase a good deed. Contagious, it grows mightier with the passing of years. What good influence are YOU building for eternity?

MAKING LEATHER ON SMALL SCALE

There Are Times When Farmer
Finds It Profitable to Do
His Own Tanning.

DETAILED DIRECTIONS GIVEN

Suggestions as to Usual Practices, Rates and Methods of Payment Are Made in Circular of Department of Agriculture.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Tanneries are equipped to make all the leather the country needs and can make better leather more economically than the farmer can, but there are times when the producer of hides finds that the margin between the price paid for the raw material and the price asked for finished leather is so great

Removing the Flesh That Was Left
On in Improper Skinning.

that he determines to do his own tanning. For example in certain large sections of the country a farmer can hardly give away the hides he has, yet leather in small pieces costs him from $1 to $1.50 a pound. To help him in such emergencies the United States Department of Agriculture has just issued Department Circular 280, Home Tanning, which gives detailed directions for making leather for various purposes.

Best Way of Handling.
With the issuance of this publication the department now has for distribution, information on the handling of hides from the skinning of the animal to the care of the leather in the finished article such as harness, belts, boots, and shoes. Farmers' Bulletin 1055, Country Hides and Skins: Skinning, Curing and Marketing, recently revised and reprinted for the third time, tells how to perform these operations in the most efficient manner. In Farmers' Bulletin 1188,
The Care of Leather, also recently revised and reprinted, are directions for making leather last longer. Any, or all, of these bulletins, including the new circular, may be obtained free by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Suggestions as to Rates.
In the circular just issued the farmer who wishes to do tanning on a small scale may find explicit directions for making bark-tanned sole and harness leather, chrome-tanned leather, and alum-tanned lace leather. But in case he wishes to have the tanning done for him he will find suggestions as to the usual practices, rates, and methods of payment. It is the custom among some tanners who do work for farmers having only a few hides to tan a hide for half the leather. That is, the farmer sends in a hide and gets back one-half of it made into leather, usually paying the shipping charges both ways.

A list of tanneries that will tan one or more hides for farmers may be obtained from the bureau of chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

When high prices are charged for leather in small quantities it is usually possible to buy at a comparatively low price by taking more at a time. If a side of leather is bought, instead of a couple of pounds at a time says the circular, it is often possible to buy it at only 10 to 20 per cent above wholesale prices.

A number of inquiries recently received by the United States Department of Agriculture seem to be based upon newspaper reports that the government had approved a new kind of milk container made of paper. So far as the department is concerned, no statement of either approval or disapproval has been made regarding any specific type of milk container, from either the sanitary or the economic standpoint.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT YOUNG

Eighty-Five Per Cent of American Highways Are Yet to Be Improved in Some Way.

While highway improvement has made tremendous strides in the United States in recent years it is still in its infancy. Eighty-five per cent of American roads are yet to be improved. It is not now so much a question of raising the money required to build good roads as it is the problem of spending wisely the large sums available in every state for this purpose.

POULTRY NOTES

Eat or sell off all your surplus cock-ereels before commencing on the pullets.

The very early pullet is apt to molt in the fall and be no more profitable for laying purposes than the hen.

Put the coops for your little chickens as high in the yard as possible. A knoll covered with grass is preferable; then a sudden shower will not draw them.

Where healthy fowls are used for breeding purposes, and they are housed in properly ventilated and arranged houses, and are fed a proper ration for the purpose in mind, disease is practically a total stranger.

HERE'S Miss Glenna Collett of missed par by 3. If she'd accomplished that she'd have beaten the best example set by either Herd or Taylor, the British "pros" who recently played over the same course, Miss Collett's record is 6 better than any other woman ever made at Shenecossett.

Ukulele Quartet Most Popular Brighton Feature of 1922

THE Ukulele Quartet has been the most popular feature of the 1922 season at Brighton Beach, New York. Big crowds have been on hand for every one of the club's daily concerts, rain or shine. The musicians are clever swimmers, too. From left to right they are: Florence Hicent, Dorothy Medler, Sylvia Schachter and Irene Bohn.

WALNUT AND HICKORY TREES HURT BY PEST

Species of Snout-Beetles Attack Immature Fruits.

Methods of Controlling Nut-Infesting Curculios Include Burning Fallen Nuts and Spraying With Arsenate of Lead.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Several species of snout-beetles nearly related to the common plum curculio attack the immature fruits, tender shoots and leaf petioles of walnut and hickory trees. A discussion of four such species, all belonging to the genus Conotrachelus, which closely resemble one another in appearance, habits and seasonal activities, is given in United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin 1066, Curculios That Attack the Young Fruits and Shoots of Walnut and Hickory, by Fred E. Brooks, entomologist.

Special characteristics of the butternut curculio, the black-walnut curculio, the hickory nut, the hickory-shoot curculios are separately described. Methods of controlling nut-infesting curculios include burning the fallen nuts, spraying the leaves which they eat with arsenical poisons, and spraying the nut trees with lead arsenate. While the dropping of curculio-infested walnuts and hickory nuts before the larvae in them mature affords an opportunity for destroying the young insects by collecting and burning or otherwise disposing of the fallen nuts, this method is successful only in cases of isolated trees or plantations. Lead arsenate applications on the stems, leaves and fruit, soon after growth starts in the spring, can be counted on to give good results in reducing injury from butternut and black-walnut curculios. Spraying walnut trees with lead arsenate at a strength of six pounds to fifty gallons of water is an effective method of controlling the butternut curculio.

RYE AND VETCH HELP SOILS

Combination Makes Fine Crop for Cattle and Contributes Source for Nitrogen.

Rye and hairy vetch make a very fine soiling crop for cattle. Vetch with rye also greatly adds to the crop for soil improvement. Vetch, being a legume, contributes a source for nitrogen-gathering organisms and thus helps enrich the soil in that constituent. One bushel of rye to thirty or forty pounds of vetch makes a good combination. As vetch seed are usually high, less may be planted, though with less benefit to thin soil.

FURNISH PROTECTION FOR CRANBERRY BOGS

Beneficial Effect of Sanding Is Noted in Wisconsin.

Frost Hazards Greatly Reduced and Water Supply Conserved by Eliminating Need for Frequent Flooding—Reduces Labor.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Observations by the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture on the beneficial effect of sanding cranberry bogs have recently been confirmed in a report from the cranberry experiment station near Cranmoor, Wis. According to the report there is an average of 58 days between the last spring and first fall frost (June 25 to August 22) over unsanded bog, as against 118 days between the last spring and first fall frost over sanded bog.

This represents a gain of 95 per cent in length of frost-free season on sanded bog. The item of sanding, therefore, greatly reduces frost hazards and conserves the water supply by eliminating the need for frequent flooding to protect against summer frosts. Sanding not only permits but requires deeper and better drainage, and is an insurance against fires on a bog in dry times. Sanding, together with thicker setting of plants, reduces labor and expense of weeding, besides insuring earlier cropping on the bog.

SUITABLE CABBAGE STORAGE

House Should Be So Arranged and Constructed as to Prevent Drip Striking Heads.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cabbage for storage should be carefully grown and handled and of a variety well adapted to keeping, say the vegetable specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The heads should be sold with all loose leaves removed and practically free from injuries caused by insects and diseases. They should be placed in a storage house so constructed and arranged as to prevent drip from the structure striking the stored heads. It is also essential that moisture and ventilation be so controlled as to prevent the condensation of moisture on the cabbage while in storage. The temperature maintained in common storage houses may vary from 32 degrees to 45 degrees or 50 degrees F., depending on outdoor conditions. In no case should the cabbage be allowed to freeze.

The usual type of construction employed in commercial storage houses is that of a broad, low house with an alley sufficiently wide to admit a team and wagon through the center, and with the storage bins or shelves arranged on either side. The cabbage is placed on shelves in layers one to three layers deep, or in crates or ventilated bins. Banks, pits, and cellars are also largely used for the keeping of the crop.

HENS HAMPER GRASSHOPPERS

Make Better Showing on Infested Nebraska Farm Than Poison—Fowls Bring Profit.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

On the Scottsbluff reclamation project, Mitchell, Nebraska, where the grasshopper pest has been particularly bad this year, various methods of control have been tried out. One of the most successful methods observed so far was used by a farmer who has a quarter-section of land.

Five hundred chickens divided into lots of 100 were kept in colony houses on 80 acres of the farm and moved about as occasion required. As a result, on the half of the farm where the chickens were pastured there were only about 20 per cent as many hoppers as on the other 80 acres. This is a better showing than has been made on most of the fields where poison was distributed.

The owner and the renter found the method profitable. After they had used what they needed of the poultry for domestic purposes, and after the weasels and coyotes had taken their toll, the rest were marketed and brought in about 75 per cent of the original investment. This year the owner is stocking the farm with 1,000 chickens as insurance against the grasshopper pest.

LEADERS IN EXTENSION WORK

Reports Show 42 Young Men and Women, Former Club Members, Now Community Chiefs.

Reports to the United States Department of Agriculture show that 42 young men and women, who, as boys and girls, enrolled in club work to learn the best way to raise a pig, make bread, or do some other thing, are now acting as local leaders of extension work in their home communities in Colorado. A number of former club girls are leaders of canning, clothing and millinery clubs. A grown-up corn-club boy, now on a farm of his own, has been community chairman on crops and live stock and leader of the boys' club for two years. A stock-judging team, which won first place at the Colorado state fair, was trained by a former club member.

BOYS INTRODUCE PUREBREDS

Among Other Things, Wyoming Club Brings Into County Nearly 200 Poland-China Pigs.

A boys' pork club, organized three years ago in Niobrara county, Wyo., according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, has accomplished the following: Introduced nearly 200 purebred Poland-China pigs into the county, including one of the best boars in the state; helped organize a county purebred Poland-China association; developed a county standard for purebred Poland-Chinas, and contributed materially to the success of community, county and state fairs through its exhibits and its interest in stock judging.

DAIRY COWS ARE IMPROVING

Dairymen in the 45 cow-testing associations in the nine western states now own 9,484 cows that have made more than forty pounds of butterfat in a month. Not many years ago a 40-pound cow was a rarity. There is much room for improvement, however, in the general run of herds in all parts of the country, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

PRODUCTION OF YOUNG TREES

Unless Allowed to Overload, They Will Not Be Injured by Rather Early Bearing.

Growers of fruits sometimes are alarmed because very young trees may set rather heavy crops of fruit. Since it is perfectly natural for fruit trees to bear, they will not be injured by early production unless allowed to overload.

As long as a tree makes a normal growth, fruit production will not hurt it. Peach and plum trees may produce considerable fruit at two or three years of age; even when only one year old they sometimes begin bearing.

Under the long system of pruning, which is now being so generally practiced, there is a tendency for trees to bear more heavily and earlier than under the old system of heavy cutting back. It has been noticed that despite rather heavy fruit production at an early age, such trees will make a fine growth and apparently there is no interference with their general condition.

While heavy thinning may be desirable in the case of young fruit trees, they may be allowed to bear some fruit, and the practice of those who pull it off seems to be unwarranted in the face of extended observations.
