

NEWS NOTES FROM KENDRICK SCHOOLS

Events of Interest to School Patrons

Don't forget the Basketball game for Friday, November 17 (tonight) with the Anatone boys. This opens our series of basketball games for the season, and the high school is looking forward to the loyal support of the Kendrick people. As one of the old members of last years team has moved away, and one graduated, there are a couple of vacancies remaining to be filled; several of the new players are trying out for these places, and we are assured by their efforts that they will be a success. The prospects of a strong girls team are also very good, they have already several games scheduled for future dates.

Artylee Hollada has been elected yell leader for our high school. Several yell practices have been held and the students intend to give the boys their heartiest support.

Work has begun on a high school play, "All On Account of Polly", which will be given the Friday and Saturday nights before Christmas. The coaching is being done by Miss Whitney and Mr. Daniel, and much enthusiasm is being shown by the students. Tryouts for the various parts are being made, and part of the cast has already been selected. The list of characters will be published in next week's paper.

The Community Civics class had a very interesting debate this week. The question for the debate was: "Resolved, that the United States should maintain in control of the Philippine Islands." The negative side won, but many good arguments were given both for and against. Much ability was displayed by those taking part.

Brothers Marry Sisters

At Juliaetta on last Saturday two brothers married sisters, the contracting couples being Walter D. Huffman and Miss Helen M. Carey, and Cecil J. Huffman and Miss Sadie B. Carey.

The ceremonies were performed by Rev. Mr. Akins in the Juliaetta Methodist church.

The grooms are both of Lewiston and are well known throughout all this section of Idaho. The sisters are residents of the Lenore section, being members of a prominent family there. The couples left Monday by motor for Riverside Cal., on their honeymoon and expect to return to Lewiston next spring to locate.

Bank Puts on Contract

The Kendrick State Bank is putting on a contest for the school children of the Potlatch country, to stimulate their interest in thrift. Prizes will be awarded by the bank for the best theme written by any grade or first or second year high school student. The themes are to be written on the subject of "Thrift". It is believed that considerable interest will be taken in this contest. The three best themes will be published in the Gazette.

Home-Made Corn Meal

G. C. Blackburn, with his home-made grist mill, grinds the best old southern corn meal that you could find anywhere this side of North Carolina or even Missouri. The meal is ground from corn grown last summer and is fresh and sweet and makes corn pone that any southern gentleman would take of his hat to. Mr. Blackburn has sold a large quantity of cornmeal in this section of the country during the past few years.

Holbrook & Emmett shipped two carloads of cattle from Kendrick to the Spokane market, Thursday.

Test New Wheat

A new wheat that has been under careful tests in the experimental plots at the Aberdeen Sub-station of the Agricultural Experiment Station has been distributed by Superintendent A. E. McClymonds and Field Agronomist C. B. Ahlson in small amounts to a considerable number of farmers in the irrigated wheat growing districts. This wheat, known as Federation, has been outyielding all other varieties including Dicklow in the experimental plots at Aberdeen. If this year's field tests confirm the Aberdeen data, Federation will be released by the Experiment Station for general distribution, and the Extension Division will then add this variety to the list of those inspected for certification as a part of the crop improvement program.

ARMISTICE DAY DULY CELEBRATED

Crowd of Seven Hundred People in Attendance

There was a goodly attendance at the Armistice Day celebration in Kendrick last Saturday, a crowd numbering approximately 700 people gathering in the afternoon to observe the day. Much of the success of the celebration is due to the work of the Sunshine Club, the members being the originators of the idea. The business men and American Legion are also to be commended for the financial support they gave.

The afternoon program started at the New Kendrick with exercises by the public school and an address by Prof. Cunningham, N. E. Walker, mayor of Kendrick, presiding. H. P. Hull, A. Barber and M. Brandlet, three Civil War veterans had seats on the stage and Mr. Hull and Mr. Brandlet recounted incidents that happened during their war experience.

The flag drill given by the pupils of the school was a very pleasing feature of the program and was exceptionally well executed.

After the school program a free moving picture show was put on at the New Kendrick. The theater was packed to the doors at both the school program and picture show, many having to witness the entertainment by looking through the doors from the outside.

A free lunch was then served by the ladies of the Sunshine Club, to 400 people, which was followed by a bonfire in the park. It was a very pleasant afternoon for everyone and worthy of the day which inspired it.

League Elects Officers

The members of the Epworth League met in the basement of the Church Monday evening, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. Although a business meeting was held, a social good time was also enjoyed. Those elected to office were: Everett Frazier, president; Miss Newkirk, 1st vice president; Buelah Long, 2nd vice president; Audrey Stanton, 3rd vice president; Nell Ameling, secretary and newspaper correspondent; Artylee Hollada, treasurer; and Edith Dammarell, organist.

Oil Man Visited Kendrick

H. C. Stapleton of the Stapleton Royalty & Holding Co., of Shelby, Montana, was in Kendrick the first of the week making arrangements for a local agent for his company in this territory. G. F. Walker was appointed to represent the company here. Mr. Stapleton was the originator of the "Three-In-One" oil company of Troy, having promoted that company.

George Barnum is operating a planer at the old Sturdevant Lumber yard. He is surfacing the rough lumber in the yard for the Standard Lumber Co.

Really a Revolution, Although They Don't Call It That

AFTER the war there was considerable Bolshevick sentiment in Italy. Benito Mussolini of Milan formed a society called the Fascisti to fight it. Lately the Fascisti became dissatisfied with Premier Facta's policies. To drive him from office the society began seizing big towns, cutting telegraphs—in fact, threatening civil war. It was not called a revolution but that was what it amounted to. Facta resigned and the king made Mussolini premier in his place. The picture shows the Fascisti seizing Milan.

Kendrick Hardware Safe Blown

Cash to The Amount of $60 Taken--Burglary Make Their Escape in Automobile.

Last Tuesday morning, sometime between 3 and 4 o'clock, safe crackers blew open the vault and safe of the Kendrick Hardware Co., securing nearly $60 in cash and a number of checks. The safe was practically wrecked and some of the store records used for deadening the noise, were badly damaged. No clue to the identity of the robbers has as yet been discovered.

N. E. Walker, mayor of Kendrick, had the night shift as inspector for the street work that is being done here. About three-thirty the lights all over town went out. A few minutes later, as he was standing in front of Stanton Bros. store, he heard an explosion across the street in the Kendrick Hardware building. Believing it to be safe crackers at work, he ran to the home of Joe Gardner, city marshal, which was about three blocks away. As soon as Mr. Gardner could dress he came up town while Mr. Walker went for more assistance. They found the store full of smoke but no trace of the safe crackers. It is believed that immediately after the safe was blown up they took what cash there was in sight and ran to the lower end of town where they had their car parked and then went on down the Potlatch toward Arrow. E. E. McDowell was awakened early in the morning by a car going past his place at an unusually fast rate of speed and some of the men who are on the night shift doing the street work, heard a car leave town about that time in the morning.

The sheriff's office was notified at once and about two hours after the robbery occurred Sheriff Woody and his deputy, Mr. Summerville were on the job. They left shortly afterward, driving down the Potlatch, but failed to get track of the robbers. They are still working on the case.

More Favorable Rail Rates

The Inland Empire and the entire western interior country between the Rockies and the Cascades from the Canadian to the Mexican borders won complete and it is believed permanent relief from discriminatory rail rates Saturday, with refusal of the interstate commerce commission to permit transcontinental railroads to reduce rates to and from Pacific coast terminals on traffic originating from the east or consigned east from the Pacific coast, says the Star-Mirror. The decision was announced at Washington.

The decision is regarded as the greatest commercial and industrial rail rate victory ever achieved for the western intermountain territories, according to Spokane dispatches. Following are some of the points which will result from the decision: Establishment in general of rail rates to the western interior on a mile-for-mile basis, instead of on a district to district basis.

Permanent relief from discriminatory freight rates favoring the coast on westbound traffic from the east and eastbound traffic from the Pacific coast.

Relief to western wool shippers through equalization of intermediate and terminal rates.

Saving of millions of dollars which consumers of the interior would lose through inability of interior merchants to sell at prices as low as Coast merchants favored with lower rates.

Extension of territory served by interior merchants by enabling them to compete with Coast merchants.

The ruling, announced at Washington, denied the application of transcontinental roads to reduce rates to and from Pacific coast terminals without making corresponding reductions to interior points.

Moscow and every Inland Empire city will benefit materially by the decision. The rate to Moscow will now be the same as that to Portland and other coast points, eliminating

Shooting Match

Advertising is out for a big shooting match to be held at Camerbn, Idaho, Saturday, November 25. It will be a regular, old-fashioned Thanksgiving match and the best shots to win.

Auto Trip To Conrad

The 25th of last September Gus Blum of Cameron and Carl Flomer of Genesee started on an overland trip to Conrad, Montana, to work in the harvest fields. From Genesee they drove to Wallace the first day, reaching that town at 6 p. m. The following day a distance of 187 miles was covered and Drummond reached at 5:30 p. m. With Conrad as the objective for the third day, a distance of 257 miles, a hard day's drive was experienced and the town reached at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The next day the boys landed a job on a threshing crew and stayed with this machine for 9 days and after working with three other machines they got in a run of 28 1/2 days.

They report crops to be much better than they expected, Marquis being the only grain sown there, which averaged from 15 to 25 bushels to the acre on dry land and from 30 to 35 and even as high as 49 bushels on irrigated land.

Leaving Conrad on the morning of November 7, by hard driving they arrived in Genesee, November 9 at 6:30 p. m., having covered a distance of practically 2,000 miles on the entire trip. They had an Overland Light Four roadster and experienced no car trouble.

New Farm Home

Charles McKeever returned from American ridge, Tuesday evening, where he installed the plumbing fixtures in the Harry Langdon home on American ridge. The house in which the Langdon family live was recently built by B. Assman, of Portland, who owns the place. It is one of the best farm homes in the Potlatch country. It has a gravity water system, full basement and will later be equipped with furnace heat. Mr. Assman believes in making his renters comfortable.

Some time ago a Kendrick citizen was congratulating Mr. Assman on having one of the best renters in the country. Mr. Assman replied: "Yes, that is true, and I hope to be considered one of the best landlords in the Potlatch." Maybe that is why he always has good renters.

HARRY ORCHARD SEEKS PARDONS

Murderer of Ex-Governor Arks For Freedom.

Pleas of the strongest kind for the pardon of Harry Orchard, confessed murderer of former Governor Frank Steunenberg, were made Monday before the board of pardons by James A. Hawley, Senator Frank R. Gooding James N. Sullivan and F. A. Jeter.

None appeared before the board to urge against a pardon while the former governor who was chief prosecutor at the Haywood-Pettibone-Moyer trials the United States senator who was governor of Idaho at the time of the murder and prosecution the former chief justice and the newly elected secretary of state and pardon board members pleaded for it.

Governor D. W. Davis at the conclusion of the three talks in Orchard's favor announced that the board would recess again until November 27 when hearings on the applications for pardon would be had. Some time before that date he said action for or against the pardoning of Orchard would be definitely taken. Nor did any of these appear as an attorney or personal representative of the notorious criminal. No prayer for mercy of the kind so often made was offered. Sympathy for Orchard the man was even disclaimed. But on the ground that the state owes him a debt undischarged while he remains incarcerated the pardon was asked.

The gist of the argument presented by Governor Hawley and emphasized in his own way by Senator Gooding was that Orchard's confession opened the only way to prosecute the higher-ups in the western federation of mines for their unbridled sweep of lawlessness; that this prosecution freed the federation from criminal control and restored peace and order; and that for this inestimable service leniency and freedom to Orchard is long overdue.

Card Club Entertains

The Circle Card Club held a very enjoyable party at the Fraternal Temple last Tuesday evening, about thirty members of the club and their guests being present.

A chicken dinner was served in the banquet hall at 7:30 and it is needless to say that this was a delightful part of the evening's festivities. The dinner was daintily served and was everything that could be desired.

After dinner dancing and cards rounded out the evening in a most satisfactory manner. The guests of the club were: Messrs. and Mesdames Snyder, Lester Hill; Walter Thomas; Misses Long, Leith, Hanson, Ameling and Mrs. Ed Petrick; Messrs. Joday, Tom and Marvin Long, and Bob Spencer.

John Dammarell visited friends in Lewiston over Sunday.

LATAH COUNTY NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

For several months past Rev. Bodin has had traps set to catch a bear on Moscow mountain, but bruin has been too wise for him until last week. Mr. Bodin concluded that he might just as well bring in the traps and on Friday went to get them. When within a few feet of the traps, he came face to face with old bruin, held in the iron jaws of the trap by two claws. From appearances he had been a captive about two days and was nearly ready to make his escape when a bullet thru his head ended his career. The animal was brought to town and viewed by the residents. It tipped the beam at 246 pounds.—Troy News.

We have been told that it is Mr. Keane's intention to rid the county of bootleggers. In this undertaking Keane will find himself up against exactly the same conditions under which his predecessor labored, one of the hardest of which is the lack of active and whole-hearted support of the law-abiding public. Sometimes there are localities in which one or more stills are being operated with the full knowledge of many of the neighbors. Let an officer start to investigate, and how many will come forward with information that will enable him to find the still and make an arrest? People do not withhold such information because they want to protect the bootlegger, but rather from a very natural desire not to get mixed up in the affair. The officer, unless he has other dependable information, must go it blind. If he fails he very often gets fits from those very neighbors for not doing his duty. If Mr. Keane has or should hit upon a scheme to overcome this one difficulty he will probably be qualified to cope with most of the others.—Deary Press.

The general prediction at this time of the year is usually for a hard winter. This year this lugubrious chant is changed and it has gone out that a mild winter is before us. This is based on many things that those who live in the mountains have observed. It is a portion of their business to properly anticipate the weather probabilities of deep snow and severe cold, and the action of wild things such as the squirrels gives these men the information they seek. This year the squirrels appear lazy and are not laying up a great stock of food for winter, even the mushrooms they gather and hang on the trees are placed very low. When a hard winter is expected they hang them high up in the branches. Hope they are right.—Genesee News.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Whitted passed through town Monday on their way home to Orofino from St. Paul, where they went a short time ago in connection with a settlement with the railroad company for the injuries received several months ago by Mr. Whitted. They finally agreed to a settlement for $6,000 which Mr. Whitted will receive, according to a letter dropped by them to Mrs. F. D. White as they passed her place on the trail. An examination of Mr. Whitted's injuries by bone specialists disclosed his back and leg in pretty bad shape.—Juliaetta Record.

A Few Reminders Regarding The Sale of Turkeys

No. 1. birds will bring the top price. Be sure the birds are fat. Don't guess at it. If you are not sure that they are fat, hold those that are not for the Christmas trade, which will in all probability be just as good as the Thanksgiving trade. Bring them to market on empty crops. Be careful about bruises. Remember that Friday, November 24th is the last day that we can guarantee to accept birds for the Thanksgiving trade.

The dance given at Mr. Chestler's place last Friday night was well attended and music furnished by the Walter Huffman orchestra.

The men around this part of the neighborhood are contemplating hauling their winter supply of wood the first rain we get, so as not to cut up the roads. They wait for rain and then travel them on high—the muddier the road the steeper they go, because they must see that we have good car roads, thus their methods. Beware, it's dangerous. Better haul your wood while the sun shines and so be fair and square with the community. Remember others must travel the same weary or cheery road you do.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

POULTRY

NO BEST BREED OF POULTRY

Three Classes Recognized Are Egg Producers, Dual Purpose and Extremely Large Fowls.

What is the best breed of chickens? That question frequently is asked by persons who are thinking of taking a plunge in the poultry business.

But there is no "best breed," according to Harry Embleton, professor of poultry husbandry at Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college.

"You can find good and poor layers, large and small birds in every breed," Embleton explains. "It is the strain more than the breed that is really the more important thing to consider."

"There are three recognized general classes of poultry," Embleton says, "the small birds or the so-called egg-producing class, the medium-sized bird or the so-called dual purpose class, and the extremely large or the meat class. There is no great distinction between the egg class or the dual so far as the egg production is concerned, for many of the medium meat breeds are good egg layers, and in the small-sized birds which are considered for egg laying only, there are oftentimes found individuals that will weigh from five to five and one-half pounds and these will make a fairly good meat bird."

"Now, in regard to the breed you would like to have, I have first to suggest that you decide upon whether you want eggs primarily or whether you want general-purpose breeds. When you have made this decision pick out

MARKET SEASON FOR GUINEAS

Latter Part of Summer and Throughout Fall is Best Time to Dispose of Fowls.

The marketing season for guinea fowl is during the latter part of summer, and throughout the fall. At this time the demand in the city market is for young birds weighing from one to two pounds each. At about 2½ months old guineas weigh from one to 1½ pounds, and at this size they begin reaching the markets in August. As the season advances the demand is for heavier birds.

The usual practice in marketing game birds is to place them on the market unplucked, and in most markets guineas are sold this way. They appear more attractive with feathers on, and sell more readily. Dressed, the small size and dark color of the skin are likely to prejudice the prospective customer who may be unfamiliar with the bird's excellent eating qualities. For hotel and restaurant trade, however, guineas should be dressed in the same way as common fowl. Better ask the dealer, before shipping, whether he wants the feathers on or off.

If the feathers are to be left on the birds all that is necessary in preparing for market is to bleed them by severing the principal blood vessels of the neck, allowing them to hang head downward until bleeding is complete.

If the feathers are to be removed it should be done by dry picking. When the brain is pierced after severing the blood vessels in the neck the feathers are loosened by a convulsive movement of the muscles and can be removed easily.

Life Lines BY H.M.C.

PERHAPS 'twas fifty years ago, and maybe more than that, when granddad bought a pair of winter shoes. He wore them and he wore them and he swore that they were pat. He never faltered at giving them their dues.

For many years, when snowflakes fell, these shoes came into play. They kept the cold and wetness from his feet. And if granddad was living he'd be wearin' them today, and still be tellin' folks they were a treat.

But came the time when they passed on; an heirloom, as it were. An oldest son was glad to have these kicks. Perhaps they often wore a bit 'cause such things will occur, but they were very easy things to fix.

And so again they passed along, mid patches and the like. Another family member tried them out. They came in mighty handy when the owner wished to hike. "They're bully things," said he, "without a doubt."

The present little owner, is a kid of just sixteen. They're big for him, but you will hear him shout, "if good enough for granddad, why they're good enough for me—at least they will be when I fill them out."

To the Investing Public

November 11, 1922.

I am writing to announce the organization of a syndicate for the purpose of dealing in royalties, oil leases and lands in the Sweet Grass Arch area of Montana. Since the bringing in of the Campbell well last March an intensive drilling campaign has been carried on. More than 60 wells have been drilled, or are drilling; 18 wells have found commercial production of oil and 6 of gas. The oil wells are producing from 20 to 800 barrels per day of high grade oil. Because of the large acreage being tested out, prices have not risen to the levels that will be reached in the months to come. Money is not "easy", development has been most rapid and the news has gone out to the investing public slowly.

I have been here "on the ground" for more than two years; my efforts have helped to put over the Troy Sweet-Grass and other operating companies. I have had faith in the field from the start, am personally acquainted with the landowners, the operators, the financial conditions, the possibilities, and have the utmost confidence in the field's future greatness. Because of the field's wonderful outlook I can honestly urge anyone, friend or stranger, to come in and invest with me. With funds available, I know that in the next few months I can gather together some of the choicest holdings without risk or hazard. The money had will spread over numerous holdings. There will be rich profits for those who come in with me. I will buy when I am sure of a bargain and sell only when good business judgment says "sell".

Your money put into this syndicate will be honestly and conservatively expended and accounted for. I am selling a quarter of a million beneficial interests at par, $1.00 each, to accumulate a fund for the purpose outlined above; I could use 50 times that amount to good advantage and still not buy one-tenth the bargains that will be offered in the next 5 years. Without exaggeration, this is probably the beginning of one of the greatest oil fields the world has ever known--greatest in extent and greatest in probable length of productivity--and I am here, know what has happened and what will happen. I am inviting your financial co-operation in acquiring a portion of the best and cheapest offerings of oil royalties, leases and lands the investing public has ever had a chance to get in on, offering you an opportunity to come in with me in a "money pool" to invest in proven oil lands of certain and rapidly advancing value.

Subscribe as little or as much as you feel you care to, and believe me when I say that your investment will be returned to you a hundredfold in the next few years.

Sincerely yours,

Disposing of Jean.

Enoch, of the age of seven, was discussing with his grandfather the exciting details of an imaginary trip of adventure, including all hazards of land and sea and air. They had just summarily dispatched a lion which might spring upon them unawares from the jungle, when grandfather suddenly asked: "Enoch, what about Jean?" (his little playmate). "You can't take her on such a dangerous journey." "Oh," said Enoch, complacently, "Jean—'d kiss her and leave her at home."

A Nose for News

Not everyone has a nose for news. In fact, if we went out to count noses today we feel sure we'd find very few that could actually "scent" a news item, unless it was of tremendous importance. And yet every day something is occurring in your home or your neighborhood that is actual news. The comings and goings of yourself and your neighbor; unusual crop harvests, stock or farm product sales above the market figure—all that is of interest to someone. It may appear small on the surface, yet of such things are readable newspapers made. We can't be everywhere at the same time, and we can't hear all of the things that are going on that should be in the paper. That is why we would like to have you—and your neighbor—train your nose for news, and send us or bring us or telephone us items which you feel we haven't heard. It all goes to make up your home-town paper, and your home-town paper goes a long way toward reflecting the hustle and progress of the community in which it is published.

METHODIST CHURCH.
C. A. Pickering, Minister.

We will have services in Kendrick both morning and evening, Sunday. Dr. W. H. H. Fosyth will preach the evening sermon and hold the first quarterly conference Monday evening. We should like to have the members from the ridge attend the quarterly conference meeting.

The service last Sunday evening was especially interesting because of the very fine music and solos rendered. Mrs. McCrea played the voluntary and postlude; Mr. McDowell sang, "Tenting To-night", and Mr. Harold Thomas played a flute solo, being accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Thomas. Mrs. H. P. Hull furnished the flags and plants for the decorations. We wish to thank all these people for their assistance and we hope to be able to induce them to help us with a similar program for our Thanksgiving service.

The Epworth League has begun meetings downstairs and we are attempting to have a service for the older people in the auditorium, beginning at 6:45. Come and help us plan this service.

Please remember the prayer-meeting, Thursday evening.
