

TOM THUMB WAS SAFELY MARRIED

Wedding Ceremony Created Much Amusement

The Tom Thumb Wedding, or the Marriage of the Midgets, which was given at the New Kendrick Theater, on Friday evening, December 8, was a decided success in every respect. The evening's entertainment provided one of constant laughter, and a better pleased audience never filed out of the Theater.

It was a merry party of about fifty little folks of the town, who took part in the wedding. The little girls in their long skirts with trains, were lovely, but they could not have been more graceful and dignified than their companions in their small black dress suits. The perfection with which the children acted their parts was remarkable.

While a piano solo was being played, the guests were ushered down the aisle and onto the stage by the two small and very dignified ushers, Scott Barr and Roy Long. Among these guests, were the three old maids, Gladys Reece, Blanche Aiken and Bernada Cummings, who came to the wedding only because they were curious; the two bachelors, Oscar Onstott and Keith Dammarell, the former a rejected suitor of the bride; Rosebud Brown, another of the bride; Harley May and Mary Johnson, representing Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb, grandparents of the groom; and Mr. and Mrs. Midget, grandparents of the bride. Other guests were the cousins of the bride, aunts of the bride and groom, and friends of the couple.

After the guests had all assembled on the stage, and had been appointed to seats by the ushers, the bridal party proceeded down the aisle to the tune of Lohengrin's Wedding March. First came the groom, small Paul Dammarell, with his best man, Donald MacPherson. In their well pressed dress suits, they looked very manly and dignified as they followed the usher onto the stage. Next in line came the flower girls, Alberta Sparber and Marjorie Onstott, who were dressed in white and carried small baskets of flowers, and the ringbearer, small Gladys Fowler, who also was dressed in white and carried a red poppy, the center of which carried the most important of all, the wedding ring. The bridesmaids had on pretty pink and blue dresses, and also carried flowers. They were the little Misses Effie Doll Aiken, Eleanor Lutz, Marjorie Newton and Jean Dunkle. The beautiful young bride, Vivian Wegner, came down the aisle leaning on the arm of her father, Chester Fowler. She was dressed in a pretty white dress, with a net veil, and she carried a large bouquet of yellow crysanthemums. Following her was the maid of honor, little Miss Mary Ellen Dunle.

Last, but not least, came the minister, the most important character. William Holt, impersonating the minister, came up the aisle accompanied by his wife, Phyllis Cummings. After the bridal party had all assembled on the stage, and were all in their proper places, the minister went through the ceremony with much pomp and grace, and although it was in no sense like the real one, it was extremely clever.

Several songs were sung by the guests, among those, Lillian Long sang "Oh, Promise Me", Nettie Mae McDowell sang, "I Love you Truly",

POTLATCH BOOSTERS GO TO LEWISTON

Big Road Meeting Held There Last Evening.

Representatives from nearly all sections of Potlatch ridge left on the afternoon train for Lewiston, yesterday, to attend a meeting at the Lewis-Clark Hotel at 6 o'clock in the evening. The meeting was called by the Lewiston Commercial Club to consider the proposition of putting a highway through from Lewiston to Kendrick. The following article concerning the meeting was published in the Tribune, Thursday morning:

This evening at 6 o'clock, at the Lewis-Clark hotel, a conference, at dinner, will be had by the Lewiston Commercial club and other citizens interested with a large delegation from Latah county, consisting of the members of the board of county commissioners of Latah county and people from Kendrick, Juliaetta, Cameron and Leland.

The purpose of the visit is to interest the people here in securing the co-operation of this city and county in the completion of an important connecting link. It appears that the Kendrick highway district is building a road to Juliaetta, all of which has been financed and is under way. At the same time, the Latah county commissioners and the Juliaetta district are building a road to the Latah-Nez Perce county line on Potlatch creek, a distance of eight miles.

From the Nez Perce-Latah county line, to which point the above road reaches, to Arrow Junction, a distance of eight miles, is a section not provided for, all being situated in the Clearwater highway district which is in Nez Perce county. This is not of expensive construction and is of easy grade. It is regarded as a problem for Lewiston and Nez Perce county to work out in the financing of the construction.

Those who understand the situation declare that there can be no better road investment of funds, considering the value that the completion of the improvement will be to this place. It is largely a Lewiston business problem, for the opening up of a valuable territory tributary to this city, at a comparatively small cost. Among those who are to be present will be the Nez Perce county commissioners and the commissioners of the Clearwater highway district.

Harley May, as grandfather of the groom sang "When You and I were Young Maggie", after which his wife, Mary Johnson, gave the selection, "I Cannot Sing the Old Songs". Ralph Blevens, the grandfather of the bride sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold", and Juanita Stanton, a guest, sang, "When I Look in the Heart of a Rose".

After the usual congratulations had been extended to the very young couple, and the three old maids had jealously sang their song, "The Three Spinners", refreshments were served, and the wedding party broke up while Max Oldfield and Iva Johnson, guests, sang the verse of "I'd Love to Live in Loveland", and the happy crowd joined in the chorus.

This event will long be remembered by the children that took part in it, as one of the most enjoyable time of their childhood days, and it will not be them alone that will remember, for the older folks have expressed the opinion that it was one of the most enjoyable evenings of their lives.—N. Potlatch Mill Shut Down

The Potlatch Lumber company's big mill at Potlatch was closed down Saturday night, and will remain closed until about March 1, says the Star-Mirror. A statement made to the Star-Mirror by A. W. Laird, general manager of the company, over long distance telephone this afternoon was to the effect that the company had intended operating for a few weeks yet, but the severe storm, coupled with the car shortage, made it necessary to suspend operations at once.

While the demand for lumber is fairly good, Mr. Laird stated, the car shortage has resulted in the yard filling up, necessitating an abrupt termination of activities, both at the mill and in the woods, for the winter.

The company has been greatly discommoded by the inability to secure cars the past fall, but the management expects a more favorable condition before spring and it seems certain that it will not be necessary to prolong the shutdown beyond the first of March.

Several hundred men will be thrown out of employment by the sudden cessation of work and with winter just coming on, this is considered one of the unfortunate features. However, it has been the policy of the company to take care, in so far as possible, of men with families, during any time that the plant is not in operation.

Crocker-Miller

Miss Eula Crocker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crocker of this place was quietly married last Saturday afternoon to Donald Miller of Herrington, Wash. The wedding took place in Lewiston, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. H. Koper of the Presbyterian church.

Both of the young people are well known and popular among the younger set here. They graduated in the same class from the Kendrick High School several years ago. Mrs. Miller is assistant in the local postoffice and her husband is traveling representative in this territory for the Todd Protectograph Co.

Highway Commissioners Met

At the meeting of the Kendrick Highway Commissioners last Saturday several matters of importance were disposed of. The work recently completed by Axel Swanson, near the Wandcher gulch bridge, was accepted and paid for. The steel work on the bridge across the Potlatch between Kendrick district and Cedar Creek road district was also accepted and paid for.

The board passed a resolution in favor of letting a contract for the completion of the mile of road east of Kendrick, from the Bear creek bridge to the Wandcher gulch bridge, also for the completion of the two miles of road from Kendrick half way to Juliaetta, which is the boundary of Kendrick Highway District. As soon as arrangements have been made concerning width of grade and also width of surface, a contract will be let for the work. When this contract has been fulfilled there will be four miles of surfaced road from the Wandcher gulch bridge to a point two miles below Kendrick.

What About Sweet Clover?

County Agent O. S. Fletcher reports that each year more farmers of Latah County are becoming interested in sweet clover, and that many people are seeking information in regard to this crop that is proving such a success in the county. In order to assemble data that may be published in regard to the crop in the county, the county agent desires to send a question blank to all farmers who have had experience with sweet clover in Latah County. All farmers who are now growing, or who have grown sweet clover in Latah County are requested to communicate with O. S. Fletcher, County Agent, Moscow, Idaho.

NEWS NOTES FROM KENDRICK SCHOOLS

Events of Interest to School Patrons.

The local high school is giving the play "All On Account of Polly", at the New Kendrick Theater, Friday and Saturday nights, December 22 and 23. A synopsis of the play follows: The affairs of Beverly, a typical New York business man, have reached a very critical stage, due to his reckless and extravagant family. "I'll give ye jest one week to pay this note", says Young, the loan shark. In a most tragic tone, Mrs. Beverly exclaims, "Luxuries! Party gowns, motors, flowers, hair dressing, manuring, wines. You call those things luxuries? Why they are absolute necessities!" Beverly, realizing the seriousness of the situation replies, "Perhaps you may enjoy a week or more of this gilded existence, but I doubt it. As it looks to me now, it's just a matter of hours, and then—"

Egnaz Flaig has been appointed as business manager of the high school play, and Frank Brocke as property man. With your support they are going to make this part of the program a complete success. It is hoped that the proceeds will more than pay for the gym balcony which was recently erected by the manual training boys.

Those pupils in the 8th grade making an average above 90 for the second six weeks are Elsie Morey, 93; Maude Compton, Clarice Leith, Victor Gentry and Arthur Wayland, 91 each. The highest test grades made by the 7th and 8th grade pupils in Physiology were: Pearl Johnson, 100 per cent and Ellis Carlisle, 95 per cent.

Those in the seventh and eighth grade geography test receiving 90 or above are: Ellis Carlisle, Shirley Clem, Rush Chamberlain, Arthur Wayland, Pearl Johnson and Hester Knepper.

The seventh and eighth grades drew names, to buy Christmas presents. They will have a program on the Friday before Christmas, prepared by a committee of pupils. The parents are cordially invited to attend.

The community civics class devoted Tuesday upon the question "Resolved, that convict labor should be paid". The affirmative side won by two points.

The pupils who made an average of 90 or above during the past six weeks in the first grade are Phyllis Cummings, Dalmer Schneider, Marjorie Newton, Roy Long, Johnny Kite, Evelyn Lister, Chester Fowler, Effie Doll Aiken, Jean Dunkle and Jane Plummer. In the second grade Elmer Fraser, Mary Johnson, Hazel Sparber, Nellie Crocker, Nettie Mae McDowell and Elsie Jarvis.

Don't forget the basket ball game tonight with the Kooskia boys. They defeated both Orofino and Peck by a large score. Their record shows they have a strong team and we know that our boys are capable of showing them a fast game.

Charles Carlson of Spokane visited friends in Kendrick, Tuesday. Charlie lived in Kendrick for 18 years and has a wide acquaintance here. He moved from Kendrick to Spokane about 9 years ago. He said the town has improved wonderfully since the last time he was here.

LATAH COUNTY NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

It has been years since a December was ushered in with a snow-storm of such proportions as the present one. We don't attempt to camouflage. There is a foot of the beautiful covering over our turnip patch right now. Spokane pleads guilty to but 9 inches. Some sections won't admit they have any snow at all. All bosh. And what is worse, with a foot of snow now, what may be expected by the first of March? But cheer up—Easter will fall on April 1, and that means an early spring, say the wise guys. It also falls on the day when lots of the wise guys get fooled, too.—Deary Press.

Walter Clark brought in a load of second hand shoes the first of the week and turned them over to Jos. Perry, the second-hand man. There were several hundred pairs of the shoes, representing the accumulation of the many years Mr. Clark has resided on his ranch on Fix Ridge. The shoes ranged from infant's size to grown-ups and all the stages of youth's footwear from the beginning of the family to the present day are represented in the collection. Mr. Clark started in storing the shoes away as fast as discarded and kept it up to the present time. If the shoes were new ones he could set up business with a good sized stock of shoes on the shelves.—Juliaetta Record.

The annual Panhandle Poultry association show will be held at Moscow January 25, 26 and 27, according to a decision arrived at at a meeting of the association, Saturday afternoon. One of the features of the show will be a poultry judging contest between teams representing the University of Idaho and Washington State college.

Plans for the largest show in the history of Moscow were made. A separate building will be rented to house the large number of exhibits expected from all parts of northern Idaho and eastern Washington. All cash prizes are to be offered as awards to winning exhibitors.

The show will be recognized as an official show of the American Poultry association in that the Panhandle association is a unit of the national organization. A number of years ago what was known as the Moscow Poultry association held a charter from the national association but the charter was allowed to lapse during the war. Last year the association was reorganized into the Panhandle association and the charter was renewed.

R. E. Waldo, vice-president of the Poultry association, H. W. Hulbert, secretary, and E. A. Kruger were named on the commission of supervisors for the show. Frank Chitty was made chairman of the finance committee with Herman Wilson and Mayor Hawkin Melgard the other members of the committee. The show will be financed through advertising.—Star-Mirror.

The radio receiving stations of both Herman Schupfer and A. V. Dunkle heard a big hotel orchestra in New York, Monday night. Herman sends radio music to many towns in the surrounding country over his "wire" telephone system. When the music is good he connects up with Troy, Juliaetta, Orofino, Lewiston, Moscow, Palouse and other towns and they get the benefit of this radio music.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY AGENT

O. S. Fletcher Gives Resume of Year's Work

Since all residents of Latah County are either directly or indirectly interested in agriculture, and especially in the agricultural development of Latah County, your county agricultural agent has prepared this brief summary of his report for the year beginning December 1, 1921, and ending November 30, 1922, and is sending it to the farmers and other business men of Latah County. Of necessity, the summary is short. However, a copy of the full report of the county agent is on file in his office at Moscow, and may be examined at any time by any interested party.

The results that have been secured during the past year, and for that matter during the entire period of more than four years that the present county agent has served the people of Latah County, could not have been achieved without the assistance and encouragement that have at all times been given freely by the progressive farmers of the county, the county farm bureau and other cooperating farmer organizations, the Board of County Commissioners, and the administrative staff and specialists of the Extension Division and the College of Agriculture of the University of Idaho.

ORGANIZATION

During 1922 one additional community was organized for county agent work. This makes a total of twenty-five organized communities in the county. The twenty-five communities adopted a total of 131 local projects. One hundred-eighteen farmers lead these 131 local lines of work, some men leading two projects. Lines of work taken up in each community were determined by the sources of income in that community, the aim being to work on projects that were of greatest local importance. Farmers of each community decided upon the work for that community and selected their local leaders. The county program is a composite of the community programs.

PEST CONTROL

The chief work on the pest control project for 1922 was a continuation of the campaign against the Columbian ground squirrel started in 1920 and carried on in 1921. Practically the same methods were used this year as in previous years. All of the 25 organized communities of the county adopted this project as a part of their work for 1922. Briefly, results of the campaign were as follows:

1. General squirrel control meetings were held in 22 communities, with an attendance of 339.
2. The Bureau of Biological Survey method of preparing poison bait was demonstrated in 22 communities.
3. Poisoning supplies were sold at cost in 26 communities and the use of poison thereby increased. 1739 ounces of strychnine and 483 ounces of saccharine were sold to 511 farmers.
4. Monday was set as poisoning day in each of the 26 communities with the understanding that if the weather were bad on Monday, the first fair day thereafter should be poisoning day. People generally poisoned on that day and thereby concerted the attack on the squirrel.
5. Sixteen hundred acres of public land were poisoned over by the county agent and farmers adjoining the land, with poison furnished by the state and prepared by county agent.
6. Committeemen nominated at squirrel control meeting in 20 communities were later appointed by the Board of County Commissioners to act as local inspectors, or supervisors, to enforce the rodent control law in the 20 communities which asked to have the law enforced.
7. Loss from work of ground squirrels was reduced to a minimum in all of the communities adopting this work as a project.

Rock Chucks

One demonstration on methods of poisoning rock chucks was conducted on the W. H. Bennett farm, on Driscoll Ridge, and one on the A. L. Whitted farm, on Fix Ridge. Each of these demonstrations was successful and the rock chucks were stopped from doing further damage.

LIVESTOCK IMPROVEMENT

1. During the last two weeks in July, two veterinarians doing work under the direction of Dr. J. D. Adams, Director of the State Bureau of Animal Husbandry, tested cattle in Latah County for tuberculosis. This work was done in cooperation with the county agent and farm bureau committeemen. During the two weeks, 1092 cattle were tested in nine county communities and in the towns of Moscow, Troy, Juliaetta and Kendrick. Six of these reacted and were slaughtered.

2. A Holstein Calf Club was organized at Moscow with three members. One of the members started with a grade calf and the other two started with purebred calves. Other boys wanted to enter the club but satisfactory calves could not be found. The club will be continued and enlarged in 1923. The three calves were exhibited at the Fair at Lewiston by the club members. They won a total of $46.66 in prizes with their three calves in the calf club and open classes.

3. A boys' and girls' pig club was organized in the Kennedy Ford and Palouse communities, under the local leadership of Chas. Sawyer. The members of the club purchased bred, purebred Duroc Jersey gilts and started their club project on January 12th. The club was financed by the Potlatch State Bank. Each member of the club had good success with his sow and raised a good litter. With one exception, the club members will continue their work thru next year and additional members will be added to the club. Virgil Thompson, president of the club, plans to keep four of his gilts in addition to the foundation sow and have five brood sows in 1923.

4. One of the six members exhibited a young sow and a young boar at the Lewiston-Clarkston Tri-State Fair. The members entered their pigs in both the pig club and open classes and won a total of $105.00 in prizes.

4. One purebred Jersey bull calf was donated by Walkiri Farm, Spokane, to each of two bull clubs organized by the county agent in Latah County during 1922. The Big Meadows Club, of north of Troy, secured a calf in April, while the Babcock Bull Club, east of Kendrick, received its calf late in November.

5. H. H. Reames, livestock project leader of Rock Creek community, secured a purebred Guernsey bull calf for use of breeders of that section.

6. Palouse community completed standardization on Duroc Jersey and Chester White breeds hogs.

WEED CONTROL

Weed control was adopted as a project in 19 communities this year. 1. Demonstrations to show the effect of a poison spray of sodium arsenite in the control of wild morning glory were conducted on 49 farms in 16 communities; 23 such demonstrations were conducted in 12 communities on Canada thistle, quack grass was sprayed in one community; as was also fan weed. Results of these demonstrations indicate that Canada thistle can be eradicated by this spray and that morning glory can be controlled, if not eradicated. The spray was useless on quack grass and, while it killed fan weed, it cannot be recommended for the control of this weed.

2. Weed control excursions were conducted in three communities. All these were attended by 52 people. All learned to identify the noxious weeds of their communities and of Latah County and prevention and control methods were discussed.

3. Weed specimens were identified for 15 different farmers. The number of specimens sent in indicates increased interest over that shown last year.

4. All weed control committeemen of the farm bureau were appointed as local weed reporters by the Board of County Commissioners to report cases of negligence to that board.

5. Much greater interest was shown in the control of noxious weeds this year than was shown in previous years and farmers of various communities urged the County Commissioners to enforce the weed law in their communities. This was done in a number of instances. A special effort was made to make all land owners and farmers realize the seriousness of the weed menace and to get all land owners to control noxious weeds on their land.

WHEAT IMPROVEMENT

Wheat improvement was adopted as a project for 1922 by 15 communities.

1. Variety test plots were started in Farmington and Pine Grove communities. Owing to the difficulty of getting accurate yield data, this method of comparing varieties has been abandoned.

2. Eighteen fields of wheat in nine communities were inspected for certification by Prof. H. W. Hulbert. Eight of the fields of wheat inspected passed the first and second inspections and were pronounced eligible for certification.

While not as many fields were inspected as was the case in 1921, there was a great deal more pure wheat than there was that year because pure wheat of one or more varieties has been introduced into practically every community in the county. Careful estimates indicate that at least 60,000 bushels of wheat that would class as improved seed was produced in Latah County during the past season. Farmers did not apply for inspection because they realized there was so much good seed that it would hardly pay to have their seed certified.

3. The county agent took six sacks of certified Jenkins Club seed wheat to Farmington community, where it was planted and increased on clean ground by Guy Munger. The crop was sold by Mr. Munger to farmers of that section who will further increase the wheat on clean land so that next year all farmers of the Farmington community who desire pure wheat of this variety may get it. Pure seed of Jenkins Club was introduced into Crane Creek community from Princeton community.

4. The smut test plots planted by Oscar H. Nordby, of Genesee, in the fall of 1921, were observed and checked during the summer of 1922. Results secured indicate that the bluestone-salt-lime dip treatment for smut control is more effective than either the straight bluestone or the copper carbonate dust treatments.

5. While the tests on the Nordby farm and tests at the Idaho Experimental Station indicate that copper carbonate is not as effective as bluestone in controlling smut, results secured in Whitman county, Washington, and at the Washington Experimental Station, show results favorable to copper carbonate. On account of this, the Idaho Experimental Station is cooperating with the county agent and farmers of Latah County in testing methods of treating seed wheat. Demonstrations to compare copper carbonate dust with treatments now being used were started on 64 farms in 20 communities with 11 different varieties of wheat.

6. On 13 of the 64 farms trying copper carbonate, some wheat was treated with a bluestone-salt-lime dip treatment in addition to the wheat treated with straight bluestone, so that on these 13 farms, which are in nine different communities, there are three different test plots as follows: Straight bluestone, or bluestone and salt; bluestone-salt with lime bath; and copper carbonate dust.

POULTRY IMPROVEMENT

Ten communities adopted poultry improvement as a part of their cooperative extension work for 1922. 1. Ten culling demonstrations were held with an attendance of 238. Committeemen and other farmers report that during the past season, approximately 12,000 chickens have been culled by committeemen and farmers who attended the poultry meetings. Of these approximately 40 per cent were culled. This shows a decrease from the percentage of culled found in 1921, when there were 50 per cent.

2. Five new poultry houses have been built in the county during the past year on plans recommended by the county agent and five old poultry houses have been remodeled.

3. The production of eggs increased faster during the past year than has the number of chickens kept, indicating that the farmers are getting rid of the boarder hens and increasing the average production of their flocks.

POTATO IMPROVEMENT

While this project was adopted by but one community when work for 1922 was planned, the work has grown rapidly during the past season and work was done in 15 communities.

1. A general potato disease and potato culture meeting was held at Genesee on April 15th, with an attendance of 31. The meeting was addressed by Prof. C. W. Hungerford, who showed lantern slides to illustrate his talk.

2. Fifty-five fields of potatoes with a total of 300 acres in 15 communities, were inspected for certification as seed by Mr. E. R. Bennett, or men acting for him. Thirty-five of these fields passed first inspection and were inspected a second time in October. Twenty-seven fields passed both first and second inspections.

3. Demonstrations and information on the field selection of seed potatoes were given at each of the 35 farms where potatoes were given the second inspection.

WOMEN'S WORK

Classes in this project were conducted by Miss Ada B. Erwin, who was District Home Demonstration Agent until September first, and by Miss Clara Coghill, who succeeded Miss Erwin. These Home Demonstration Agents conducted classes that were arranged and scheduled by the county agents.

1. Four millinery classes were conducted in three communities. Thirty new hats and seven new hat shapes were made; 8 hats were remodeled.

2. Twelve dress forms were made at classes in two communities. Thirteen forms were made in these two communities following the classes held, by ladies of the communities, so that 25 dress forms were made during the season.

3. Guide pattern classes were conducted in three communities. At these classes 25 guide patterns; 5 shirt waist patterns; 4 kimono waist patterns; and four dress patterns were made.

CROP REPORTING

Twelve communities of Latah County adopted crop reporting as a project for 1922 and reporters from each of these communities are reporting to Julius H. Jacobson, who has charge of a federal crop reporting work in Idaho.

SOILS AND CROP ROTATIONS

1. The cooperative experiment started in 1921 by A. N. Rogstad, of Big Bear Ridge, was continued thru 1922 and the first crop harvested from the test plots. This is an experiment to determine the effect of plowing under varying growths of alfalfa with varying treatments of land plaster on subsequent wheat crops. Yields on these plots will not be published until the experiment has run long enough to be of more value.

In order to stimulate interest in soil improvement, the county agent placed Prof. G. R. McDole, who has charge of soils work at the Idaho Experiment Station, on the program at each of the three Farmers' Institutes held in 1922. These talks did much to arouse greater interest in the care and management of soils in the communities affected.

MISCELLANEOUS

1. Twenty-five boys and girls of Moscow community enrolled in a garden club organized thru the county agent's office. Eighteen of the 25 members grew creditable gardens and completed their work. Ten members prepared exhibits and sent these to the Lewiston-Clarkston Tri-State Fair by the county agent. The ten members won nine first prizes and ten second prizes, each member winning one or more prizes. This club has been reorganized and is planning some intensive work in 1923.

2. The county agent prepared an exhibit of seeds of Latah County for the 1922 State Seed Show. Prizes were won in all classes entered. Among others, four lots of certified Jenkins Club seed wheat won first, second, third, and fourth prizes in the special class for that variety.

3. One field of alfalfa and one of peas were inspected for certification as seed.

4. One-day Farmers' Institutes were conducted at Kendrick, Potlatch and Genesee. A total of 398 people attended the three meetings. Special attention was paid to dairying, soil improvement, the farm home (women's work), and general livestock.

Sets Style for All France

Mlle. Cecile Sorbel, the actress, has the reputation of being the best-dressed woman in France—only just now she's visiting in the United States. When ex-Premier Clemenceau, another visitor in America, happened to meet her in her New York hotel, the actress promptly kissed him. "Such a reception," said the Tiger, "I'd come here every day."

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS

Birth of the Christ Child Announced by Angel.

Good Tidings of Great Joy to All the People in Coming of the Savior.

NOW it came to pass in those days, there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment made when Quirinius was governor of Syria. And all went to enroll themselves, every one to his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and family of David, to enroll himself with Mary, who was betrothed to him, being great with child. And it came to pass, while they were there, the days were fulfilled that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her first-born son; and she wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger, because there was not room for them in the inn.

And there were shepherds in the same country abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock. And an angel of the Lord stood by them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Be not afraid; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people: for there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord. And this is the sign unto you: Ye shall find a babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, and lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men in whom he is well pleased.

HOLLY MAY SOON BE EXTINCT

Popular Christmas Decoration is Growing Less Bountiful Each Year, According to Reports.

Christmas holly, that merriest and most beloved of all growing bushes, is threatened with extinction, according to a warning sounded by lovers of a red Christmas. Once growing profusely in southern New Jersey and Maryland, it has been swept from those states by the ruthless cutters for the city markets, and must now be sought in the swamps of Virginia and North Carolina, where already the supply is growing less bountiful each year. The Gulf states have been similarly shorn to make holiday for the large cities.

Little Johnny's Fears

WHERE we use to live, we had a fireplace big an' wide, An' all that Santy had to do Was hold his breath an' slide, An' squeeze himself until he fit The hole, an' then est drop— An' he knowed where the stockin' was, 'Cause that was where he'd stop.

Where we use to live, it was No trick for him to climb Up to the chimney on the roof An' find us, Christmas time; But now I'm worryin' for fear He won't know where he's at, Or mabe can't get in at all! We're livin' in a flat!

We're livin' in a flat, an' say, You mus' be most polite, Or else the janitor he'll go An' lock you out at night! There ain't no chimney to our house, Where Santy Claus can slide— There ain't no fireplace—just a pipe About two inches wide.

They heat our flat with steam—that's why I'm afraid he can't get in With all his toys an' drums an' things, Unless he's awful thin; An' how's he go to wriggle out When he gets in? Gee whiz! There's such an awful little hole There where the azzle is!

A YULE MESSAGE

Christmas Spirit, Peace and Good Will Should Prevail.

Time to Be Happy and to Aid Others in the Enjoyment of the Season's Cheer.

On earth, peace, good will.—Luke 2:14.

SURELY there is a mystic tie between spirit and nature, between heaven and earth, between God and man. Not strange is it, then, that on the night of the most wondrous birth time has seen, the age sealed skies should part and song of angels entrance the watchers on Bethlehem's plains.

What is the secret of the unwanted charm brought by this brightest day in time's calendar? Why is the season charged with such gladness? Why do men and women feel that they can lay down their vexing burdens and their faces smile again with the faith and joy of childhood's care-free days?

It is the rapt influence of the angelic song on the natal night, "Peace on Earth." To a humanity distracted, troubled by doubts and fears, wounded by sin and smitten by conscience, God sends a message: "Fear not, I am your Father. I give you a Savior from sin and misery. You are my children. My heavenly peace I breathe upon you." And in this sweet pledge of divine remembrance and Fatherly love—of God at peace with men—a wave of tranquil joy floods the world.

But, again, it is an evangel to man of peace with himself. Every man finds discord in his own being. His innermost personality is the seat of antagonisms. He is an instrument out of tune. The primal harmony of his spirit is broken. He is at war with himself. His baser strives with his higher nature. Soul and body war against each other. But "on earth peace," chants the seraphic choir. Regard the image of God stamped upon you. Put down the low and base. Let the spirit rule and the body serve.

Finally, the Christmastide should breathe the spirit of peace in our business and in all the relations of life. Especially in our homes we can cultivate the Christmas spirit, dispelling their frequent discontents, fault findings and contentions with peace and good will.

For this glad time, at least, let us all be better men and women; less selfish, more kindly, easier to live with. And how much happier will we be if this Christmas spirit—its cheery glow and kindly warmth—stay with us all through the year!—Junius B. Remensnyder.

In a pound of honey there is the concentrated essence of 62,000 blossoms. To get it the bee makes approximately 2,700,000 visits, often involving a journey of 2 miles there and back, making an aggregate of 5,000,000 miles for 1 pound of honey. Just consider the "busy bee."

An automobile owner installed a carburetor that was guaranteed to save 20 per cent. Then he put in special plugs that were guaranteed to save 20 per cent. Then he added an intake superheater that was guaranteed to save 20 per cent. He next added a special rear axle that was also put on high-pressure "cords" that guaranteed to save 20 per cent. He promised a 20 per cent saving. And now with fuel economy of 120 per cent he has to stop every hundred miles and haul fuel out of the gas tank to keep it from running over! —Exchange.

"For my part," says a Kansas writer, "I prefer to live in a small town where all the people will sympathize with you in trouble, and if you haven't any trouble will hunt up some for you."

At the adjourned meeting of the town council last Friday evening an ordinance regulating public dances was read. The ordinance met with the favor of the council and will probably be passed at the next meeting. There is nothing in the ordinance that ought to prove objectionable. The main object of it is to prohibit young people under school age from attending public dances unless accompanied by either parent or guardian. The ordinance also requires that a permit be taken out by the party or parties giving the dance, the permit to be secured from the town authorities.

Those who are at the head of the American Legion dances here are co-operating with the town council in putting this ordinance into effect as they believe it will not in any way injure their dances, but in the end will be beneficial.

TAKING DESPARATE CHANCES

It is true that many contract severe colds and recover from them without taking any precaution or treatment, and a knowledge of this fact leads others to take their chances instead of giving their colds the needed attention. It should be borne in mind that every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality, makes the system less able to withstand each succeeding attack and paves the way for the more serious diseases. Can you afford to take such desperate chances when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle?

A Right Royal Merry Christmas

DeWinter & Goudzward, Leland, Idaho

America's Most Beautiful Women, Picked by a Well-Known Illustrator

At Christmas time there is a general forgetting of everything but being natural. Christmas is the great annual armistice of that portion of humanity that has come to be segregated under the name of Christendom. Christmas is the finest thing that has come out of Christianity, because it is the friendliest thing. Men and women are not naturally and healthily meddlers; the best part of their lives and the most of their happiness does not come from the tyranny they exercise or the repressions they set up or the reformatory cruelties they inflict on others.

At Christmas time men and women forget to be anything but children again.

Perhaps some day there will be a sort of Christmas every day of the year. Perhaps men and women will be able to forget more often and more completely, and thereby live more completely, the elimination of bitterness and artificial antagonisms being both the cause and the effect of this happy state.

Perhaps one of the lessons of Christmas is that we have more to forget than to learn.—Detroit News.

party should be handed to a committee of three knights, whose duty it is to pack them all neatly in Santa Claus' bag. At the time of the party, the members of the club should gather together in the meeting room, and the committee may meet in a room near by with the big boy who is to be Santa Claus. They must dress him up and escort him to the club. When Santa comes in all will rise, and the president will say:

"Greeting, Santa Claus; the boy await you."

Santa may reply, "Greeting, my children."

Then Santa passes out the presents. It is best for the boys to form a line, and for Santa to reach in the bag without looking and pull out the first thing that comes to his hand.

The last present in the bag is Santa Claus'. A good deal of amusement can be had at the party if a committee of five boys is chosen to look after the entertainment. A good plan is to get up shadow pictures. A sheet is hung up near one end of the room, about five feet from the wall. Behind the sheet, close to the wall and low down, is placed a strong light. The knights and others who are to be the audience all sit in front, and when everything is ready all lights except the one behind the sheet are put out. The boys who are to make the shadow pictures then go between the light and the sheet and cut up all sorts of antics, throwing large shadows on the sheet. If there is a boy who can make odd shadow pictures with his hands he can amuse the club for some time.

Another thing that makes fun at a Santa Claus party may be called the "boy orator." A large pair of boots is provided, and the boy orator puts his arms in these and stands back of a table, so that his booted arms may look like a pair of short legs and he appears to be a funny little man standing on the table. Another boy stands behind him, and puts his arms through under the orator's arms and makes the gestures while the orator delivers his speech. This can be made very funny if the orator learns a good speech and if the boy who makes the gestures waves his arms and makes very bad and inappropriate gestures. It is especially trying for the orator if the gesticulator holds a handkerchief in his hands and wipes his face occasionally or waves it in triumph at inappropriate times.—The Delineator.

Poultry kept on dairy or general live stock farms should not be allowed to run with cattle unless the herd has been tested and found free from tuberculosis. Poultrykeepers are beginning to realize that if they are to buy healthy birds they must get them from places where the live stock is known to be free from tuberculosis.

OLD YULETIDE CAROLS

"Holy Night" Regarded as One of Most Beautiful Songs.

"Draw Nigh, Immanuel," One of Oldest Pieces and Far Antedates Any Others.

THE ancient Christmas carol, "Holy Night" is German in its origin and is considered by many persons to be the most beautiful of all Christmas carols. It has sometimes been ascribed to Martin Luther, but the consensus of expert opinion is that it is much older than his time and is one of the oldest of German folk songs.

The carol "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen," is English in its origin and dates back to about the beginning of the Seventeenth century, although the author of the words and the composer of the music are unknown. The fine old melody sung to this poem possesses all the best qualifications of a sterling hymn tune and will probably last as long as the verses with which it is always associated.

The carol "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," is one of the oldest pieces of coherent music in existence, and both the words and music far antedate any of the others. The music is an old French melody, dated from the Thirteenth century, although, of course, it has been harmonized to conform with more modern standards.

There is a most curious but beautiful musical effect at the close of this carol. The words of "Draw Nigh, Immanuel," are about 100 years older than the music, being taken from the Mozarabic breviary of the Twelfth century, and it is generally believed that they were taken from the liturgy of the early Christians at Toledo, Spain, where the Mozarabic breviary was formulated.

Another carol, "The First Noel," has a traditional French melody and probably originated in Breton, although the exact origin of this fine old song is somewhat in doubt.

JOY OF CHRISTMAS

Season Proves That Men and Women Are Friendly Beings.

Desire to Make Presents and to Be Cheerful Shows People Wish to Be Congenial.

ONE of the finest things about Christmas is its trueeness, the joyous reality of it. At Christmas time no exhortation is necessary to make it go; Christmas never has to be made a "success," as a parade or a pageant.

institution; it comes at a certain date each year; it always has its Christmas tree, its stocking, its poultry dinner colored with cranberries. But it is one of those institutions that has never been institutionalized; it exists in the nature of man.

Christmas proves to us that men, women and children are at heart friendly beings. The spontaneity of Christmas giving and Christmas cheer proves what people really want to be—good friends.

Wars go on at other times; men and women quarrel among themselves over property or over other men and women; artificial requirements are imposed that incite to greed, dishonesty and bitterness. But at Christmas time there comes over the broad surface of our western civilization, which is pretty much like other civilizations, a great reversion to type. Man wants, most to be happy, he wants to dance and sing and to make other persons happy. At other times than Christmas something seems to be wrong, and man reasons that someone else is to

THE SANTA PARTY

How Lots of Christmas Fun May Be Had by Boys' Club.

Each Lad Provides One Present, Made by Himself, for Old Kris Kringle's Bag.

THE biggest boy in the club should be the Santa Claus. To dress him up, borrow a bath robe, and trim it round the collar and cuffs with some old fur. A big fur cap is the thing for Santa Claus' head, and a great big bag should be provided for him to hang over his shoulder to carry the presents in. A paper mask for Santa can be bought at some small store for about twenty cents, and a big beard can be made of excelsior, tied up so as to stay in place. If the excelsior can be dyed gray all the better.

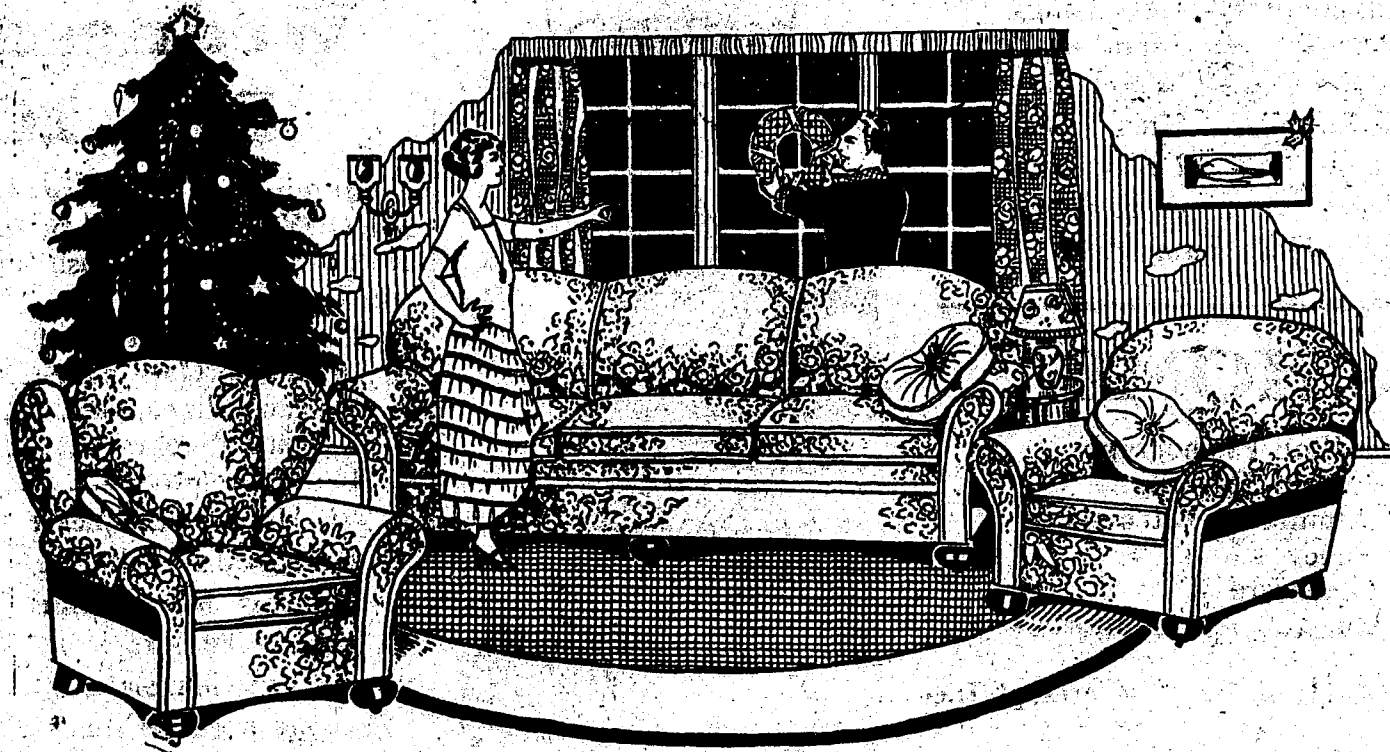

Each boy in the club should provide one present for Santa's bag. It would be better if each boy should make the present himself. Good things for such presents are bean bags, baseballs, bats, shiny sticks, tops, marbles, short wooden swords, slings, putty blowers, Jew's-harps, soap-bubble pipes, jack-stones, match-safes, candy, chewing gum, and so on.

Things That Santa Brought

PREVENT FROZEN COMBS

Combs usually become frozen at night when the fowls are on the roosts. It happens more frequently when there is a draft from a crack or a broken window light than when the birds are exposed to a large flow of air. The prevention is to keep the houses tight and dry at night and provide windbreaks of some kind during the day in very severe weather.

MITES ARE BLOOD SUCKERS

Pests Are Detrimental to Health of Fowls and Are Extremely Hard to Eradicate.

Mites feed on the birds, sucking their blood, during the night, but in the day retire to the dark crevices in the poultry house. Because of their blood sucking they are very detrimental to the health of the fowl. Thoroughly spray the house with some good disinfectant such as any of the cattle dips, crude oil, kerosene emulsion, etc. Care should be used to get the solution into the cracks and dark corners.

SEPARATE PENS FOR PULLETS

By Keeping Breeders Apart From Rest of Flock They Can Be Handled Differently.

It is often desirable to keep the pullets and the older hens separate. It may be that the flock owner will want to use more of the tested hens for breeders, and by keeping them apart from the rest of the flock they can be handled a little differently, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The yearling hens, or sometimes older ones, and the well-developed pullets are better for the breeding flock because the larger eggs produced will bring out larger and stronger chicks.

Some poultry raisers think that the older hens are better than even well-grown pullets that are laying full-sized eggs. They say that the germ cell in the egg from the older bird is stronger. However, eggs from the best pullets ordinarily will produce satisfactory chicks.

EGGS AND FOWLS PLENTIFUL

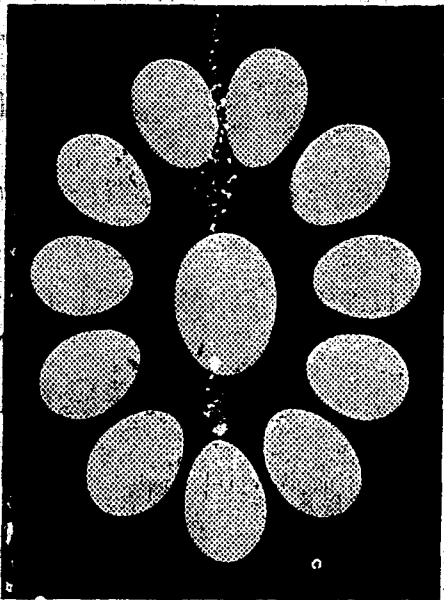

Storage Houses Are Full and Farmers Have Increased Flocks to Unusual Extent.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

This fall and winter eggs and poultry will be plentiful and prices should be low enough to make them economical. Just now storage houses are full of eggs and farmers have increased their flocks of poultry to an unusual extent. On August 1 there were 4,812,248 cases of eggs in storage, which is about 35 per cent more than the average at this season for the last three years.

Eggs start moving out of storage in summer and the greatest sales of such eggs come in fall and early winter. As a rule, the bulk of storage eggs are sold before the first of January, the activity of the market after that date depending on whether the weather is severe or mild enough to stimulate egg production. An open winter practically eliminates the storage eggs early in the season. But this year, regardless of the state of the weather, eggs should be available at very reasonable prices from the start.

Poultry farming, both as a specialty and as a side issue on other farms, has been one of the best-paying lines of agricultural work during the last two or three years, which accounts for the large supplies on hand this year. Prices to the farmer, however, have now reached a low point on both eggs and poultry, and he is not marketing poultry freely, but is holding his birds for better prices or using them on the table at home. Poultry fattening stations that are usually crowded at this season are now only about two-thirds full.

HENS ARE OFTEN DISTURBED

Interference With Nervous System Is Frequently Sufficient to Set Layers Back.

To a great many persons it will seem like going to extremes, but, nevertheless, it is true that interference with the nervous system is frequently great enough to cause a serious drain on the vitality of the laying hen, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Various things that interfere with the ordinary daily life of the fowls may be put in this class. Hens are often disturbed, especially those of the more nervous breeds, by the presence of "strangers." Changing them about frequently from one pen to another is also a disturbing factor and will set the layers back, as will the mixing together of birds that have been separated for some time.

TREATMENT FOR SCALY LEG

Mix Kerosene and Lard Together and Thoroughly Brush Into Covering on Feet.

One of the most common remedies for scaly leg of fowls is to mix together kerosene and lard and thoroughly brush or rub this into the scales covering the foot and Shank. It is rather harsh treatment, but will cure the trouble if repeated at intervals of a week. Some cases will be cured with two applications, while others may need several.

Probably the best remedy is oil of caraway. Mix one part of oil of caraway with five parts of vaseline. This material is very penetrating, but not nearly as irritating as kerosene. Rub the ointment in the leg and repeat every few days until signs of the disease disappear.

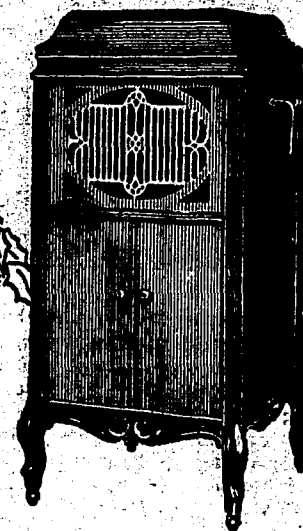

TO MAKE PULLETS LAY EGGS

Dry Mash Composed of Bran, Corn Meal, Oats, Shorts, and Meat Scrap Is Favored.

Pullets will satisfy their hunger through indiscriminate feeding. If left to themselves they do not select the food that produces eggs to the best advantage. Dry mash makes eggs. Here is a feed that has been tested by experts and found satisfactory:

Mix 25 pounds bran, 25 pounds cornmeal, 25 pounds ground oats, 25 pounds shorts, 25 pounds meat scraps or a good grade of tankage, 1 1/4 pounds fine table salt. If the birds have all the sour milk they can consume, only 12 1/2 pounds of meat scrap or tankage should be used.

Brunswick

Make This a Brunswick Christmas

An ideal addition to the Christmas festivities is a Brunswick, for it brings to each member of the household his favorite music in the intimate atmosphere of the home.

And note, too, that there is no reason, when buying a phonograph, to be satisfied with anything short of a Brunswick—for prices and terms on Brunswick are the same as those of other instruments.

Exclusive Features

Brunswick plays all makes of records without attachments. This means that with a Brunswick in your home you can enjoy all the great artists regardless of the make of records for which they record.

This is accomplished by the Ultone—a part of The Brunswick—not an "attachment."

Another exclusive Brunswick feature is the Oval Tone Amplifier or horn, made entirely of wood and moulded like a fine old violin. It is responsible for much of the wondrously beautiful Brunswick tone.

No change in situation and personnel beyond addition of Mr. Murphy as Secretary-Treasurer.

The Jeffreys-Murphy Auto Company came into existence last week. This corporation succeeding the Universal Sales Company, handling the Ford Motor Company products, which includes Ford cars and trucks, Lincoln cars and Fordson Tractors.

The Universal Sales Company purchased the business of Spiker and Jeffreys, for many years handling the Ford business in Lewiston. Mr. Jeffreys, a partner in each concern, being president of the newly organized company of Jeffreys-Murphy. Aside from being president, Mr. Jeffreys is managing-director.

The same quarters occupied by Spiker and Jeffreys and Universal Sales Company will be kept by the Jeffrey-Murphy concern. The large building at Eighth and Main Streets has housed the Ford agency here for several years. Mr. Jeffreys stated yesterday that some changes will be made in the building, giving suitable space for display of parts carried in stock which includes everything needed for the cars, trucks and tractors. The personnel in the shop will remain unchanged, with C. C. Madison as foreman, the same crew being connected with the place for years.

Mr. Jeffreys is among the best known business men in Lewiston. He has been connected as an officer in Ford establishments here for several years, this dating back to his co-partnership with R. L. Spiker. Mr. Murphy is a pioneer resident of the Genesee section. He will serve as Secretary-Treasurer of the newly organized firm. He will be in charge of the parts department of the plant.

THE HOLY MANGER

"Prespio," Instead of Christmas Tree, in Italy and Spain.

It is Representation of the Place Where Baby Christ Lay in Bethlehem.

GIRLS and boys of Italy and Spain, which are called the Latin countries, never hang up their stockings at Christmas time, nor do they have Christmas trees. Kris Kringle and Santa Claus are German saints and the Christmas tree came out of the German forests long, long ago, when the nations of northern Europe were forest tribes. It is the northern peoples—the Germans, Scandinavians and English, all of whom are descended from old Teutonic tribes—who keep Christmas as Americans do.

Instead of the Christmas tree, Italian and Spanish boys and girls have the prespio. "Prespio" means manger, and it is a representation of the manger where the baby Christ lay in Bethlehem. It is presented in different ways. Sometimes it shows only the inside of the barn where the Baby and His mother lay, with Joseph, the Three Wise Men and the animals about. Sometimes it shows a hillside, with the Wise Men coming on foot or horseback, or on donkeys, bringing their gifts to the stable. Sometimes the manger is small—not more than a foot square. Sometimes it is large enough to occupy the whole end of a room. It is built on a board foundation and is made of wood, with earth, pebbles, dried grass and leaves for the outdoor scenes. The figures are carved of wood, or perhaps little dolls are used, all very carefully and elaborately dressed by the girls. Sometimes brooks and lakes are ingeniously represented with paper, glass or isinglass. Sometimes the whole is rough and rude, but again it is very neatly and beautifully done, and is quaint and interesting when all complete.

The French, who are half Latin and half Teutonic in their makeup, mix the customs of both races in their Christmas keeping. They build the manger and they also give the chilgreen presents; only, instead of hanging her stocking, little French Babette puts out her shoes. The French call the manger "creche," and in country villages in France companies of children still go from house to house on Christmas eve, carrying the creche and singing Christmas carols. Sometimes they help to build a beautiful large creche in the village church, over which they are very proud and delighted.

HAS TONIC EFFECT

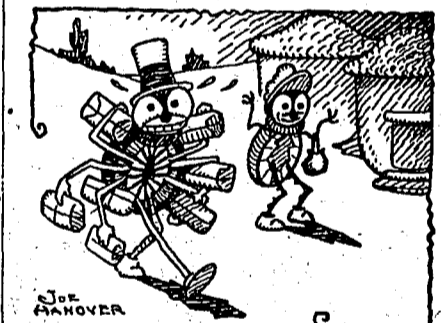

Christmas Day Pleasures Are of Benefit to People.

Mental State Does Everybody Good and Festivity Equals Prescription of Physician.

CLOSE observers in the ranks of the medical profession have noted one very interesting fact concerning the Christmas season—that it generally has a good tonic effect upon their patients. In explanation of this the London Lancet says that since Christmas has come to be regarded as a time for good cheer, a universal feeling of contentment and happiness is engendered at this time of joyousness, routine is for a while relieved, a certain freshness is given to the daily round, differences of opinion are sunk, and a charitable spirit prevails. Is it, by the way, hoping for too much, asks the Lancet, that the season of good fellowship should leave some lasting effect upon the manners and methods of all?

It may not be easy to trace exactly why the sense of exhilaration and well-being comes with the advent of Christmas, for the psychological factors concerned are not simple. But the main point is that the mental state does everybody good, and the annual festivity is just as excellent an institution as the prescription of the physician which gives tone and vigor to the struggler in life's race. There is no need nowadays, thanks to the good sense of the people and the counsels of their medical advisers, to moralize about the evils of a stupid indulgence in food, alcohol and tobacco on a festive occasion such as the present. Practically everybody realizes the great physiological advantages of being wise on a merry occasion.

Many more persons than formerly feel where use ends and abuse begins, and they act sensibly accordingly; and so far from it being a crime to make the season festive by enjoying, on a little extended scale perhaps, the creature comforts of life, some decided good is done to both the mental and physical health of the individual. The festive season may, therefore, be welcomed, which brings cheer to thousands, which induces the generous and charitable to brace the mental and physical functions of the community at large, giving it the opportunity of relinquishing its business and its worries for a time, to start again refreshed and ready for "the trivial round, the common task." The prescription "A Merry Christmas" is sound so long as the "signature" of good sense is observed.

POOR FOWLS LOWER PROFITS

Smaller Flock of High Producers Will Prove Far More Satisfactory—Cuts Feed Bill.

There is certainly no room for fowls on any farm when they lay so few eggs during the year that they scarcely pay for the grain and other feed they get. A smaller flock of high producers will make twice the profit with a smaller cost for feed and housing space. When a hen begins to moult, taking most of the summer and fall to replenish her supply of feathers, it is about as sure a sign as a poultry-raiser needs that she is an undesirable bird.

ENCOURAGE PULLETS TO LAY

With Small Amount of Attention and Care Young Fowls Will Produce Much Earlier.

Most pullets raised on the farm start laying when they are about ten months old in spite of the fact that a small amount of attention and care would bring them into laying when they are from six to seven months old. Getting eggs three months earlier at a time when egg prices are likely to be high is an important factor in increasing the profits from the flock.

DETERMINE BEST LAYING HEN

Fowls With Full Crops on Going to Roost at Night Are in All Probability Good Layers.

You can help to decide which hens are kept at a loss by going through the house just after dark and feeling the crop of each bird. Those hens whose crops are packed full are in all probability the hens which are laying well. You may well be suspicious of the hen which night after night has only a partly-filled crop.

Leads Campaign On Gashawks

LOS ANGELES recently undertook a vigorous campaign against automobile mashers—gashawks. The trouble was to get young women who had been accosted by these offenders to appear against them. Miss Gloria Goodwin, shown here, undertook this work. The result is that the gashawk is pretty nearly extinct in that municipality. In one evening she accounted for 19 of them. A policeman generally accompanied her and arrests were speedy.

A CHRISTMAS LEGEND

Crowing of the Cock to Keep Away Evil Spirits.

Tale of Saint Stephen, the First Martyr, Whose Day is December Twenty-Six.

EVER since that first Christmas eve the cock has crowed all night long on the anniversary to keep away evil spirits; for the cock is a holy bird and a knowing one. There is a pleasant tale of him and Saint Stephen, the first martyr, whose day is December 26, close by his dear Lord's.

Saint Stephen was King Herod's steward, it seems, who served him in the kitchen and at table. One night as he was bringing in the board's head for his master's dinner he saw the Star shining over Bethlehem, immediately he set down the huge platter and exclaimed:

"No longer, Herod, will I be thy servant, for a greater King than thou is born."

"What alleth thee?" cried the King wrathfully. "Do you lack meat or drink that you would desert my service for another's?"

"Nay," answered Stephen. "I lack neither meat nor drink. But the Child that is born this night is greater than all of us; and Him only will I serve."

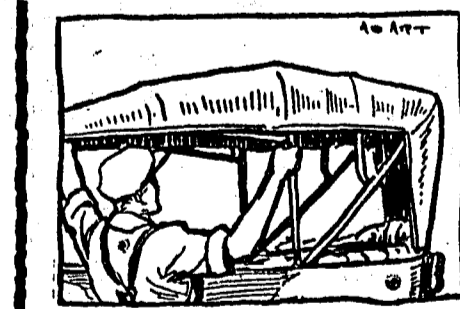

"That is as true," quoth Herod, snuffing the table with his fist, "as that this roast cock on the platter slink crow before us."

Hardly were the words out of his mouth when the cock stretched his neck and crowed lustily, "Christus natus est!" At this proof that Stephen's words were true, Herod was so angry that he made his soldiers take Stephen outside the walls of Jerusalem and stone him to death. And this is the reason why, unto this day, Saint Stephen is the patron of stone-cutters.—Abbie Farwell Brown, in Lippincott's Magazine.

That pictured halo o'er the Saviour's head
No shepherd saw, no wisdom's men beheld;
'Tis but a fancy, cunningly bespread
By loving art, that thus His glory spelled.

Yet no mere idle fancy aurooled
With peace the Child born to this troubled sphere,
More than the myrrh, and frankincense, and gold
The painter in his vision pictured here:

For this small peace must ever greater grow
Till all the world shall bend beneath its bow.

THE CHRISTMAS TABLE

Little Things That Add Much to Success of Home Day.

How the Housewife Can Prepare Delicacies That Will Appeal to Both Old and Young.

THE housewife can indulge in these excursive imaginings, however, only in the earliest of her preparations for the Christmas dinner, says Country Life in America. Soon she must closely consider the feast which will be suitable to her own household and purse. If she is a wise housewife, she will not make her festival over-elaborate, whatever the size of her income. She will want something more than "wine and wafers and a rose," but she will find that, if she puts her own best efforts into the decorations, and caresses with a thought for the tastes and fancies and little memories of those she is to serve, she will have a charming dinner, whatever the number of its courses.

Much of the pleasure of the Christmas dinner depends upon small things. This is the occasion for the most choice of the jelly and pickles which have been stored up in the summer. Of course, there must be celery and cranberry sauce, and the housewife will, if possible, have some small thing that is new to her household—a little luxury that comes in glass, if the cost must not be heavy, or, if she need not think of that, some far-fetched dainty with the international interest of coming from Japan or from the Philippines.

Dessert allows ample opportunity for small pleasures and surprises. One can hardly believe a child's happiness complete without raisins and almonds to eat in tiny sandwiches and as philopenas. One always hopes to see the old-fashioned kinds of candy at Christmas—striped sticks and clear sticks, and barley sugar, chocolate creams, and gum-drops. They are pretty for the table, and not bad for children, and older people like them for the sake of long-ago Christmas.

Plenty of Mistletoe.

The mistletoe supply is plentiful this year, but, as the girls say, what of it?

AFRAID OF SANTA

Black Tots at African Mission
Make for Place of Safety.

Presents of Apparel and Sweets Bring Confidence to the Men, Women and Kiddies.

AN AMUSING story of how Santa Claus frightened the black children at a mission station when he first appeared to them a few years ago, is told by the wife of a missionary stationed at Ballunda, Africa. They had celebrated Christmas at Ballunda before, but they never had had Santa Claus; so Mr. Stover, the missionary, dressed up as good Saint Nick.

He had been padded and powdered and packed until his own mother would not have known him," Mrs. Stover afterward related. "Presently we gave the signal, the door flew open and in walked Santa Claus. But, dear me! What consternation! He was greeted with shrieks and groans and cries of 'Let me out! It is the evil one. It is the day of judgment!'

"The urchins, catching the infection of terror from the older black people, fled to their bedrooms, fell down upon their faces, crept under chairs and tables—anywhere to hide themselves. Poor old Santa Claus never had such a greeting before. As soon as he realized the panic he had caused, he tore off his 'all hat and white cotton beard. Then from the bags on his back he began to throw gifts right and left and to tell who he was.

"Reassured once more, everyone was soon laughing and chatting, munching the great 'red breads' (doughnuts), tasting their fruits or nibbling at the sweets from the familiar little bags. One man wondered which end up he was to hold the fork Santa Claus had given him. Another immediately tried on his new shirt. The girls arranged their bright-hued handkerchiefs into turbans, while others sought to find some place about their scanty clothing where they could stow away their bunch of bread, as well as the paper of needles and cake of soap given to each.

"It seemed as though everyone tried to talk louder than his neighbor as they examined the costume of Santa Claus, whom they now no longer feared. One man said that he thought it was John the Baptist; another that it was Elijah returned. Yet another thought it was Satan himself.

Hanging Pictures.

In hanging pictures don't "sky them." A picture should be hung so that its center comes just on a level with a person of average height.
