

Phowls Phor Phrophet

There are few more interesting subjects at this time than chickens—not flappers—the fowl kind. Judged by the standards of all other modern enterprises, poultry keeping for egg production is still in its infancy. We have been content to jog along in pretty much the same old rut, gathering 200 eggs a year from each hen and taking it for granted that it was enough. It is true that 15 or 20 years ago a hen that laid 50 eggs a year was about the average, which at least demonstrates the fact that larger egg production is possible.

Our plan of an ideal poultry plant is one that keeps hens that lay an average of an egg an hour for eight hours a day. This is a particularly significant number as 8 hours is considered a working day, so why not demand of the hen a full day's work? This will leave her 8 hours for eats and recreation and 8 hours for refreshment and repose. An ideal day and worthy of emulation. You will say that it is impossible, but that's nothing—you probably said the same thing about the radio. If hens can be stimulated in a few generations to improve from 50 eggs a year to 200 eggs a year—why stop there?

Burbank performed his miracles by plant selection, year after year, until he got what he wanted. We know of hens that have laid 2 eggs a day. Mr. Burbank would use these hens for breeding stock and in the course of time develop hens that would lay 3 eggs a day. From this it is only a few steps to the 8-egg-a-day hen. After achieving this modern egg-laying machine, the greatest surmountable difficulty has been consummated and the ideal poultry plant will begin to function.

The selection of the breed might cause considerable confusion as J. C. Hamil would no doubt insist on White Leghorns, while Art Rogstad would stand pat for Barred Rocks. To avoid this complication we will use a Barred Rock rooster and Leghorn hens.

The opinion should be unanimous that a hen that lays 8 eggs a day ought to be 8 times more profitable than the drone that produces but one egg a day. You will say that to produce 8 eggs will require more feed than to produce one, which is probably true, but any farmer will tell you that wheat is hardly worth hauling to town, so why worry about such a minor matter as feed?

Eight eggs a day for the average month of 30 days would net 20 dozen eggs, or an average income of $6.00 per hen. Our plan is a modest one, so we believe that to start with 1,000 8-egg-a-day hens would be ample for one man, as an average monthly income of $6,000 would suffice for common food and clothing and the nick-nacks and scarcities may be added as the enlargement of the poultry plant increases the revenue.

One of the heaviest expenses in launching the ideal poultry plant is the supplying of a good, durable nest for each hen, as the requirements necessitate that all 1,000 hens would be laying simultaneously during the eight hour period. However, this expense item could be met from the accumulation of a week of 8 hour days.

As the incessant cackling from 1,000 hens, who believe in advertising, might become a nuisance in town, we suggest that Dad Roberts be requested to invent a practical muffler for each bird to don during the working period. There are probably other minor details that may have to be worked out to make this ideal poultry plant function to its highest efficiency, but as a really practical idea, we believe it stands alone. It is not patented, so please help yourselves.

Plans for a new steamer, "Lewiston," to be built by the O. W. R. & N. company, for service on the Snake river out of Lewiston, are now under way in the company's offices, according to word received recently. The craft will cost $50,000 and will be ready for service July 1. It will be 160 feet long and 35-foot beam, having a carrying capacity of 300 tons.

Near East Relief

Stimulating efforts now under way throughout Latah County to help alleviate suffering among refugees from the horrors of war and among victims of famine in the Near East, word reached here today from Northwestern headquarters of the Near East Relief at Spokane that virtually the entire Christian population of Asia Minor has been forced to take flight from the Turkish Nationalist territory.

Only boys and men between 19 and 55 are exempted from the exodus, according to Charles W. Fowie, foreign secretary of the relief Society, who is now in Athens. These are being held prisoners by the Turks while the women and children who have been dependent upon them are left destitute to face starvation in exile.

"All men from nineteen to fifty-five are being retained in the interior villages," Mr. Fowie reports. "Only women and children and the infirm are reaching safety outside. These are without food or warm clothes. Some have not eaten for days. Our orphanages are crowded with orphans. Refugees are bringing babies in arms begging our workers to take them. In the name of humanity, do all you can to help feed and shelter these suffering people and the orphan children, who have nobody else but the Near East Relief to look after them."

Tim Sullivan of Moscow is chairman of the Latah County Near East Relief committee which is endeavoring to raise funds to care for 46 orphans as this county's share in the Near East Relief child-saving effort.

Vote Those Bonds Tuesday

Help Boost The Goods Roads Program That Will Put The Potlatch on The Highway Map.

Next Tuesday the voters of Kendrick Highway District will have an opportunity to express themselves on one of the most important road projects that has ever been put up to the district, when they go to the polls to vote at the bond election. The amount of money involved is not large, but the good effect on other neighboring road projects if it carries, or the ill effect if the election is lost, will have far-reaching results.

The four miles of road from Wandcher gulch bridge to the highway district line between Juliaetta and Kendrick, will play a most important part in the entire road system of the Potlatch. It is really the key to the road building of the whole community.

Kendrick built one mile of main trunk line road through the town by forming an improvement district within the town limits. This is being paid for by money raised from special levies on town real estate. The two miles from the town limits toward Juliaetta are now graded in splendid shape and this roadbed will compare favorably with any highway grading in the Inland Empire. However, unless the bonds carry, this section of road cannot be surfaced because of a lack of funds. To allow the roadbed to go without surfacing at this time would be extravagant and poor business policy, as much of the grading at the end of a year or two would deteriorate and would be expensive to repair.

The mile above town from the Bear creek bridge to the mouth of Wandcher gulch is only partly surfaced. Most of this piece of road still lacks the top coat of fine crushed rock. It would be disastrous to allow it to go for another year or two, or maybe longer, without putting on the finishing course of crushed rock.

There are a few who take rather a narrow view of road matters and are opposed to this project because the road isn't on their ridge or doesn't go past their farms. If this attitude is carried out throughout the Potlatch country, there will never be another mile of permanent road construction done here.

The road work for which the bonds are to be voted is the key to the highway from Lewiston to the Potlatch country. Knowing this to be the case, we can hardly conceive why a man should take such a narrow view of the road situation that he will not admit the importance of having a main trunk line to Lewiston. This main trunk line will serve every ridge in this section and will be the means of starting the road building to the various ridges tributary to Kendrick.

The voters of Kendrick Highway District will get this main trunk line if they carry the bond election next Tuesday. When we consider that the completion of these three miles of road, so nearly finished, will fulfill the pledge that this district made to Lewiston at the big road meeting last December, we cannot believe that those who are interested in the future welfare of the Potlatch country, will vote against the small bond issue. If we take the view that the only road that will benefit us is the road that passes by our door, then there is little hope for road building here.

The prospects look very favorable that the bond issue will carry. We can truthfully say that a majority of the farmers on Bear ridge and American ridge have expressed themselves in favor of the bond issue. Those who have taken the trouble to investigate the road construction for which the bond money will be used, have almost universally expressed themselves highly favorable to it. If those who are now in favor if the bonds will all go to the polls Tuesday, there will be little doubt of the outcome. If you are a good roads booster you will not fail to vote—and vote right.

The highway commissioners made a deal some time ago with Campbell & Barr, the contractors who have been doing the splendid road work here, to let the highway district rock crusher and the elevator which belongs to it, go in as part payment on the grading. The crusher was traded in at the price it cost the district new, so that it at any time in the future there is a demand for a rock crusher here, a new one may be purchased without loss of money. No other machinery belonging to the district was traded in.

The commissioners state that the taxes for 1923 will not be raised one cent over last year by voting these bonds, as they will make the same levy of 8½ mills that they made in 1922. These bonds can be paid from the general fund without increasing the levy, within an estimated period of four or five years, and there will still be money enough left in the treasury to do what upkeep work is necessary on the roads of the district. You can rest assured that your road taxes in 1923 will not be increased by voting the $20,000 bond issue.

When the three miles of road involved in the bond election, is finished, the entire cost will be a little less than $10,000 per mile. According to figures obtained from the Bureau of Highways at Lewiston this is $3,100 a mile less than the cost of any other standard width and surfaced highway in Nez Perce or Latah counties. With these figures in evidence it is hardly probable that the commissioners have been extravagant in the expenditure of the money used in the road work so far accomplished.

Campbell & Barr have their rock crushers and motors to run them, set and ready for business. They even have the rock quarry drilled and loaded ready to "shoot." It will be an estimated loss to the district of $5,000 if the contractors are forced to waste this "readiness to serve" by the failure of the bonds to carry. Folks, its roads suicide to vote this bond issue down. We don't believe the Potlatch people will be so utterly lacking in business sense as to vote "no" next Tuesday.

Any elector may vote at the bond election. If he failed to register for the last general election he may be sworn in at the polls and vote.

Lyons Wins Spelling Match

David Lyons, son of Frank Lyons of Linden, covered himself with glory last Saturday by winning the Latah county spelling match in class one. There were 30 pupils in the match representing 15 schools. A cash prize of $5 was awarded to the best speller in each group, $3 for second and $2 for third.

The three highest in each of the two groups will represent Latah county at the inter-county contest to be held at Lewiston, April 14.

Mrs. R. W. Bigbam, accompanied by her mother, went to Troy, Thursday, for a visit.

Alva Craig Best Speller

Alva Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Craig of Leland, carried away the laurels at the Nez Perce county spelling match at Lewiston, last Saturday, by winning first prize. With Alva winning first for Nez Perce and David Lyons first for Latah, the Potlatch country is leading in spelling as in most everything else.

At the annual stockholders' meeting of the Idaho Fire and Brick company, of Troy, Idaho, checks for an eight per cent dividend were distributed. The good business of last year and the prospects for this year prompted action of this kind.

Over The County

The Elk River News states that a wagon road is being surveyed between Elk River and the Clearwater to connect the northern part of the county with the county seat. The road will climb the hill on an easy grade and when it reaches the old Jericho mine will swing down to Elk River, crossing the creek at one of the falls. The road between Bovill and Elk River is nearly completed, the news says. The completion of the road between Deary and Bovill to connect with that road, which goes on to the north, will give this section a splendid highway system. —Deary Press.

The Continental Oil company, having large refining and distributing holdings throughout the country, today definitely announced its intention of establishing a divisional distributing station and warehouse in Moscow with all the appurtenant business and executive staff, and through its district representatives completed arrangements for the purchase of suitable property on which to erect a large warehouse and office building. According to the proposed plans of the company, Moscow is to be made the distributing and business center for this part of the country, oils and gasoline to be shipped in here in carload lots and either put into barrels for local delivery or distributed to surrounding towns in large tank carrier trucks.

Arrangements for the purchase of a piece of ground having a 150 foot frontage on Main street just to the south of the Northern Pacific railway company's tracks, belonging to the Smithwick estate, were made this morning by General District Manager Hollister of Denver, Colorado, J. C. Curtis of Butte, assistant district manager, and C. A. Mairs of St. Maries, district superintendent. —Star-Mirror.

Juliaetta To Fix Streets

At a well attended mass meeting held in the city hall at Juliaetta Tuesday evening the question of surfacing the highway running from Lewiston to Kendrick was discussed at great length and the final decision of the meeting was a request to the village council to have the proposed road surveyed as soon as possible and the cost estimated. As soon as these figures are available, another meeting will be called at which the cost will be considered and ways and means of raising the money to proceed with the work will be discussed. At the meeting Tuesday the question was brought before the people from several different angles. It was mentioned that Juliaetta had wisely refrained from spending money during the period of apparent prosperity and people all around us had been bonding and rebonding, and receiving for the money spent possibly only 50c on the dollar in value. But now that period has passed, prices of building are greatly reduced and because of the retrenchment in nearly all lines of work, money has become scarce and times rather hard. At this particular time we could get value received for money spent in road work and at the same time greatly beautify the town and keep our promise made in Lewiston last fall that we would take care of our part of the road, and there is no doubt but that our county commissioners and the Nezperce county commissioners will also make good their promises and see that the road is completed to Lewiston as speedily as possible. —Juliaetta Record.

Dr. McKeever is completing four years of hard work at dental college and with this splendid training he will undoubtedly be able to do first class work.

Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.

Phowls Phor Phrophet

There are few more interesting subjects at this time than chickens—not flappers—the fowl kind. Judged by the standards of all other modern enterprises, poultry keeping for egg production is still in its infancy. We have been content to jog along in pretty much the same old rut, gathering 200 eggs a year from each hen and taking it for granted that it was enough. It is true that 15 or 20 years ago a hen that laid 50 eggs a year was about the average, which at least demonstrates the fact that larger egg production is possible.

Our plan of an ideal poultry plant is one that keeps hens that lay an average of an egg an hour for eight hours a day. This is a particularly significant number as 8 hours is considered a working day, so why not demand of the hen a full day's work? This will leave her 8 hours for eats and recreation and 8 hours for refreshment and repose. An ideal day and worthy of emulation.

You will say that it is impossible, but that's nothing—you probably said the same thing about the radio. If hens can be stimulated in a few generations to improve from 50 eggs a year to 200 eggs a year—why stop there?

Burbank performed his miracles by plant selection, year after year, until he got what he wanted. We know of hens that have laid 2 eggs a day. Mr. Burbank would use these hens for breeding stock and in the course of time develop hens that would lay 3 eggs a day. From this it is only a few steps to the 8-egg-a-day hen. After achieving this modern egg-laying machine, the greatest surmountable difficulty has been surmounted and the ideal poultry plant will begin to function.

The selection of the breed might cause considerable confusion as J. C. Hamil would no doubt insist on White Leghorns, while Art Rogstad would stand pat for Barred Rocks. To avoid this complication we will use a Barred Rock rooster and Leghorn hens.

The opinion should be unanimous that a hen that lays 8 eggs a day ought to be 8 times more profitable than the drone that produces but one egg a day. You will say that to produce 8 eggs will require more feed than to produce one, which is probably true, but any farmer will tell you that wheat is hardly worth hauling to town, so why worry about such a minor matter as feed?

Eight eggs a day for the average month of 30 days would net 20 dozen eggs, or an average income of $6.00 per hen. Our plan is a modest one, so we believe that to start with 1,000 8-egg-a-day hens would be ample for one man, as an average monthly income of $6,000 would suffice for common food and clothing and the nick-nacks and scarcities may be added as the enlargement of the poultry plant increases the revenue.

One of the heaviest expenses in launching the ideal poultry plant is the supplying of a good, durable nest for each hen, as the requirements necessitate that all 1,000 hens would be laying simultaneously during the eight hour period. However, this expense item could be met from the accumulation of a week of 8 hour days.

As the incessant cackling from 1,000 hens, who believe in advertising, might become a nuisance in town, we suggest that Dad Roberts be requested to invent a practical muffler for each bird to don during the working period. There are probably other minor details that may have to be worked out to make this ideal poultry plant function to its highest efficiency, but as a really practical idea, we believe it stands alone. It is not patented, so please help yourselves.

Plans for a new steamer, "Lewis ton," to be built by the O-W-R. & N. company, for service on the Snake river out of Lewiston, are now under way in the company's offices, according to word received recently. The craft will cost $50,000 and will be ready for service July 1. It will be 160 feet long and 35-foot beam, having a carrying capacity of 300 tons.

Near East Relief

Stimulating efforts now under way throughout Latah County to help alleviate suffering among refugees from the horrors of war and among victims of famine in the Near East, word reached here today from Northwestern headquarters of the Near East Relief at Spokane that virtually the entire Christian population of Asia Minor has been forced to take flight from the Turkish Nationalist territory.

Only boys and men between 19 and 55 are exempted from the exodus, according to Charles W. Fowie, foreign secretary of the relief Society, who is now in Athens. These are being held prisoners by the Turks while the women and children who have been dependent upon them are left destitute to face starvation in exile.

"All men from nineteen to fifty-five are being retained in the interior villages," Mr. Fowie reports. "Only women and children and the infirm are reaching safety outside. These are without food or warm clothes. Some have not eaten for days. Our orphanages are crowded with orphans. Refugees are bringing babies in arms begging our workers to take them. In the name of humanity, do all you can to help feed and shelter these suffering people and the orphan children, who have nobody else but the Near East Relief to look after them."

Tim Sullivan of Moscow is chairman of the Latah County Near East Relief committee which is endeavoring to raise funds to care for 46 orphans as this county's share in the Near East Relief child-saving effort.

Vote Those Bonds Tuesday

Help Boost The Goods Roads Program That Will Put The Potlatch on The Highway Map.

Next Tuesday the voters of Kendrick Highway District will have an opportunity to express themselves on one of the most important road projects that has ever been put up to the district, when they go to the polls to vote at the bond election. The amount of money involved is not large, but the good effect on other neighboring road projects if it carries, or the ill effect if the election is lost, will have far-reaching results.

The four miles of road from Wandcher gulch bridge to the highway district line between Juliaetta and Kendrick, will play a most important part in the entire road system of the Potlatch. It is really the key to the road building of the whole community.

Kendrick built one mile of main trunk line road through the town by forming an improvement district within the town limits. This is being paid for by money raised from special levies on town real estate. The two miles from the town limits toward Juliaetta are now graded in splendid shape and this roadbed will compare favorably with any highway grading in the Inland Empire. However, unless the bonds carry, this section of road cannot be surfaced because of a lack of funds. To allow the roadbed to go without surfacing at this time would be extravagant and poor business policy, as much of the grading at the end of a year or two would deteriorate and would be expensive to repair.

The mile above town from the Bear creek bridge to the mouth of Wandcher gulch is only partly surfaced. Most of this piece of road still lacks the top coat of fine crushed rock. It would be disastrous to allow it to go for another year or two, or maybe longer, without putting on the finishing course of crushed rock.

There are a few who take rather a narrow view of road matters and are opposed to this project because the road isn't on their ridge or doesn't go past their farms. If this attitude is carried out throughout the Potlatch country, there will never be another mile of permanent road construction done here.

The road work for which the bonds are to be voted is the key to the highway from Lewiston to the Potlatch country. Knowing this to be the case, we can hardly conceive why a man should take such a narrow view of the road situation that he will not admit the importance of having a main trunk line to Lewiston. This main trunk line will serve every ridge in this section and will be the means of starting the road building to the various ridges tributary to Kendrick.

The voters of Kendrick Highway District will get this main trunk line if they carry the bond election next Tuesday. When we consider that the completion of these three miles of road, so nearly finished, will fulfill the pledge that this district made to Lewiston at the big road meeting last December, we cannot believe that those who are interested in the future welfare of the Potlatch country, will vote against the small bond issue. If we take the view that the only road that will benefit us is the road that passes by our door, then there is little hope for road building here.

The prospects look very favorable that the bond issue will carry. We can truthfully say that a majority of the farmers on Bear ridge and American ridge have expressed themselves in favor of the bond issue. Those who have taken the trouble to investigate the road construction for which the bond money will be used, have almost universally expressed themselves highly favorable to it. If those who are now in favor if the bonds will all go to the polls Tuesday, there will be little doubt of the outcome. If you are a good roads booster you will not fail to vote—and vote right.

The highway commissioners made a deal some time ago with Campbell & Barr, the contractors who have been doing the splendid road work here, to let the highway district rock crusher and the elevator which belongs to it, go in as part payment on the grading. The crusher was traded in at the price it cost the district new, so that if at any time in the future there is a demand for a rock crusher here, a new one may be purchased without loss of money. No other machinery belonging to the district was traded in.

The commissioners state that the taxes for 1923 will not be raised one cent over last year by voting these bonds, as they will make the same levy of 8½ mills that they made in 1922. These bonds can be paid from the general fund without increasing the levy, within an estimated period of four or five years, and there will still be money enough left in the treasury to do what upkeep work is necessary on the roads of the district. You can rest assured that your road taxes in 1923 will not be increased by voting the $20,000 bond issue.

When the three miles of road involved in the bond election, is finished, the entire cost will be a little less than $10,000 per mile. According to figures obtained from the Bureau of Highways at Lewiston this is $3,100 a mile less than the cost of any other standard width and surfaced highway in Nez Perce or Latah counties. With these figures in evidence it is hardly probable that the commissioners have been extravagant in the expenditure of the money used in the road work so far accomplished.

Campbell & Barr have their rock crushers and motors to run them, set and ready for business. They even have the rock quarry drilled and loaded ready to "shoot." It will be an estimated loss to the district of $5,000 if the contractors are forced to waste this "readiness to serve" by the failure of the bonds to carry. Folks, its roads suicide to vote this bond issue down. We don't believe the Potlatch people will be so utterly lacking in business sense as to vote "no" next Tuesday.

Any elector may vote at the bond election. If he failed to register for the last general election he may be sworn in at the polls and vote.

Lyons Wins Spelling Match

David Lyons, son of Frank Lyons of Lunden, covered himself with glory last Saturday by winning the Latah county spelling match in class one. There were 30 pupils in the match representing 15 schools. A cash prize of $5 was awarded to the best speller in each group, $3 for second and $2 for third.

The three highest in each of the two groups will represent Latah county at the inter-county contest to be held at Lewiston, April 14.

Mrs. R. W. Bigbam, accompanied by her mother, went to Troy, Thursday, for a visit.

Alva Craig Best Speller

Alva Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Craig of Leland, carried away the laurels at the Nez Perce county spelling match at Lewiston, last Saturday, by winning first prize. With Alva winning first for Nez Perce and David Lyons first for Latah, the Potlatch country is leading in spelling as in most everything else.

At the annual stockholders' meeting of the Idaho Hare and Brick company, of Troy, Idaho, checks for an eight per cent dividend were distributed. The good business of last year and the prospects for this year prompted action of this kind.

Over The County

The Elk River News states that a wagon road is being surveyed between Elk River and the Clearwater to connect the northern part of the county with the county seat. The road will climb the hill on an easy grade and when it reaches the old Jericho mine will swing down to Elk River, crossing the creek at one of the falls. The road between Bovill and Elk River is nearly completed, the news says. The completion of the road between Denry and Bovill to connect with that road, which goes on to the north, will give this section a splendid highway system. —Denry Press.

The Continental Oil company, having large refining and distributing holdings throughout the country, today definitely announced its intention of establishing a divisional distributing station and warehouse in Moscow with all the appurtenant business and executive staff, and through its district representatives completed arrangements for the purchase of suitable property on which to erect a large warehouse and office building. According to the proposed plans of the company, Moscow is to be made the distributing and business center for this part of the country, oils and gasolines to be shipped in here in carload lots and either put into barrels for local delivery or distributed to surrounding towns in large tank carrier trucks.

Arrangements for the purchase of a piece of ground having a 150 foot frontage on Main street just to the south of the Northern Pacific railway company's tracks, belonging to the Smithwick estate, were made this morning by General District Manager Hollister of Denver, Colorado, J. C. Curtis of Butte, assistant district manager, and C. A. Maids of St. Maries, district superintendent. —Star-Mirror.

Juliaetta To Fix Streets

At a well attended mass meeting held in the city hall at Juliaetta Tuesday evening the question of surfacing the highway running from Lewiston to Kendrick was discussed at great length and the final decision of the meeting was a request to the village council to have the proposed road surveyed as soon as possible and the cost estimated. As soon as these figures are available, another meeting will be called at which the cost will be considered and ways and means of raising the money to proceed with the work will be discussed. At the meeting Tuesday the question was brought before the people from several different angles. It was mentioned that Juliaetta had wisely refrained from spending money during the period of apparent prosperity and people all around us had been bonding and rebonding, and receiving for the money spent possibly only 50c on the dollar in value. But now that period has passed, prices of building are greatly reduced and because of the retrenchment in nearly all lines of work, money has become scarce and times rather hard. At this particular time we could get value received for money spent in road work and at the same time greatly beautify the town and keep our promise made in Lewiston last fall that we would take care of our part of the road, and there is no doubt but that our county commissioners and the Nezperce county commissioners will also make good their promises and see that the road is completed to Lewiston as speedily as possible. —Juliaetta Record.

Kendrick to Have Dentist

Dr. Wallace McKeever has purchased the dental equipment formerly owned by Dr. Smith, deceased. Dr. McKeever will open his office here as soon as he has completed his course at the North Pacific Dental College at Portland, which will be some time in June. The people in this community will be glad to learn that there will soon be a local dentist. Dr. McKeever is completing four years of hard work at dental college and with this splendid training he will undoubtedly be able to do first class work.

City Dads Meet

The town council met last Tuesday evening in regular session with all members present. After disposing of the regular routine business several matters of importance were taken up.

An ordinance was introduced and read the first and second time, combining the offices of village clerk and police judge. After the third reading of the ordinance at the next meeting these two offices will be one.

An ordinance was also introduced and read the first and second time, revacating the stub of Second Street, between the property of Fred Johns and Emulus Brown.

The following judges were appointed to serve at the Village election, April 24: Charles Riggie, C. A. Pickering and Sam Bechtel; and two clerks as follows: Mrs. Grinolds and Mrs. Stella Plummer.

A resolution was adopted, setting the date for electing 5 trustees for the coming term.

The Board issued an order for the old sidewalk in front of the property of Mrs. N. C. Thomas, Mrs. Grace Helpman and Mrs. L. A. Grinolds, to be torn out and replaced with new walks, as the walks are now in a dangerous condition.

The speed limit was fixed at 18 miles per hour and an ordinance will be passed at the next meeting concerning same.

There being nothing further to bring before the Board the meeting adjourned to Wednesday night, April 18.

Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.
