

LATAH COUNTY NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

Juliaetta Record: County Surveyor Pearsop, assisted by a crew of local men, is this week making a survey of the section of road thru town from the northern to the southern village boundary lines, for the purpose of obtaining an estimate of the probable cost of grading and surfacing of the road which will connect with the Kendrick highway district on the north and the Nez Perce county line on the south. It is understood that the road from Arrow will be built in the near future to the Latah county line and Juliaetta and Latah county will build the intervening link to the Kendrick highway district thus completing the road from Kendrick to the main highway at Arrow. Main street is included in the town's portion of this road improvement. It is being planned to bond the town for the necessary funds to do the work in the village limits and Latah county will build the connecting link outside the village limits to the Nez Perce county line.

Deary Press: John Warner, an I. W. W., was arrested at Camp 6 last Sunday while making his way into the upper lumber camps with a grip full of wobbly literature. Deputy Sheriff Pat Malone made the arrest having been notified at Bovill by officials of the company that the man was starting to spread wobbly propaganda in the camps. Warner was brought to Deary and lodged in the village jail while Deputy Malone, C. J. Nogle, woods foreman, and others went to the camps west of here to look for another member of the organization who was reported to be in that vicinity. The man was not found, however, having no doubt departed hence rather than meet the officers. Warner was taken to Moscow, Monday.

Continue County Agent

At a meeting of the board of commissioners of Nez Perce county last week, provisions were made for carrying on extension work in the county in co-operation with the University of Idaho extension division and the U. S. department of agriculture. They retained Waldo W. Skuse in charge of the county agent work of the extension department for the past few years, the appropriation for the department amounting to $2,200, a cut of $445 from last year. The $2,200 set aside as the budget for maintaining the extension work in Nez Perce county is to help pay the cost of conducting the same and the county's share of Mr. Skuse's salary. The salary of Mr. Skuse remains the same as last year, state and federal funds providing for that portion not paid by the county.

Epitaph of Jazz

Poor Jazz is dead! It bumped the bumps. We miss it like the flu or mumps. We miss the weird, uncanny groans of dissipated saxophones; the ghastly grunts and moans of cellos, cowbells, slide trombones; the wild unearthly shrieks and squalls, the brash ear-piercing caterwauls. O, yes, we miss them sure we do—we'd miss earache and rumbolds too. Barbaric yawns of Whitman ilk compared with jazz were soft as silk. It sounded more like dying wails or pulling rusty iron nails. 'Twas like a hungry mule's he-haws or like some cuss was filing saws; some dog bset to bay the moon; some love-lorn cat's nocturnal tune; some skinny old sow's mournful squeal; some titman begging for his meal. The man who built a noise like that is two-thirds coyote—one-third cat. With forbears such as that guy has, the natural result is jazz. I'm not surprised it's underground, it never was a healthy sound—Exchange.

Deary S. S. Convention

Deary, Idaho—The Latah County Sunday School convention will meet at Deary, April 23, 1923 at 2:00 and 7:30 o'clock p. m.

The local committee is leaving no effort undone to make this convention in Deary one of the best that has been held for a long time. This is the first time that a S. S. convention has been held as far East in this county as Deary, and there are many small, earnest, struggling Sunday schools up in this territory that have never had a delegation to one of these conventions of inspiration and help. Therefore the committee is looking for the help and support of everybody who can possibly get here. From all advance reports we are anticipating a capacity crowd.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Knapp, Dean Eldredge and several other "big guns" are going to have charge of the program. Special music by the Potlatch Choir and other attractions are scheduled.

We cannot publish the program, for it is to be a "Surprise Program". This means that you will never know what is coming next and you won't dare to miss any of it—as Mr. Knapp is noted for his lively and interesting programs. He is ranked as one of the very best in the whole U. S. in his line of work.

The Ladies Needlework Guild will serve dinner and supper at reasonable prices.

The roads are good from every direction and we are promised good attendance from every section of the county.

All will be welcomed.

Cedar Creek Bonds Carry

The bond election of Good Road District No. 1, Cedar Creek ridge, carried by a vote of 68 to 6. It was simply a landslide in favor of the bond issue. Probably few road bond elections in the state have ever gone over by a more substantial majority than the one held at Linden last Saturday. It was a most emphatic declaration on the part of the property owners of Cedar Creek ridge that they are determined to build a good road to market.

The bond issue voted was for the sum of $65,000 in 10-20 year negotiable bonds. This money will be used to build a surfaced road from the top of Cedar Creek ridge near the "Banner Hill" to the mouth of Cedar Creek on a 5 per cent grade; also to improve the road from the mouth of Cedar Creek to the Potlatch bridge, which is the end of the district. The roadbed will be 16 feet wide with a 6 inch crushed rock surface 12 feet wide.

As soon as the bonds can be sold and other preliminary work done, the commissioners expect to let a contract for the grading, probably some time the latter part of June or the first of July. The surfacing will probably not be done until next spring so that the new grading and fills will have had time to settle before putting on the crushed rock.

The building of this road will do more for Cedar Creek ridge in developing its splendid farming resources than any other investment of a like amount, could possibly do. It will mean big things for the landowners of that community.

Baseball Benefit Tuesday

There will be a baseball benefit show and dance Tuesday, April 24. The show will be given at the New Kendrick Theater in the evening at the usual hour. Immediately after the show a dance will be held at the Fraternal Temple. The proceeds from the dance and show will be turned into the baseball treasury.

Dr. J. T. Moser and Glen Porter drove up from Lewiston Monday afternoon to visit Dr. Moser's ranches on Texas and Potlatch ridges. They were very much surprised and highly pleased at the road work that is being done here.

How Have the Mighty Fallen! Royalty Toiling on a Farm

SHOWN here is a princess, the daughter of a royal house, resting for a few minutes from her toil as a handworker on a Bavarian farm. Her father was Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria, where her brother Boris, Ferdinand's son, reigns insecurely today. But the princess took refuge abroad and supports herself on her own small patch of ground.

Faculty Play Packed the New Kendrick

Big Crowd Immensely Enjoyed the Splendid Entertainment Last Saturday Night

The faculty play "You'd Be Surprised", given at the New Kendrick Theater last Saturday evening, drew a packed house. It was pronounced by everyone to be one of the best home talent productions ever put on in this town. The play was a difficult one and contained many exceedingly clever situations.

It requires many hours of tire-some rehearsals to put on an entertainment in a class with "You'd Be Surprised". The only recompense the cast may expect is the appreciation of the audience. The play Saturday night was certainly appreciated to the fullest and it is safe to say there has seldom been a more delighted audience than the one that witnessed this star performance. The cast is to be congratulated upon its clever work.

Following is the cast of characters and a brief synopsis of the play:

- |                         |                             |                 |

--- SYNOPSIS ---

- Act I. Post office—Village of Stonehampton. Jimmy Barnes vainly tries to establish the identity of Stonehampton's heiress. Mary, with her socially ambitious aunt, returns from New York, and with them a prospective suitor and his sister. Mary loses her pearl necklace.
- Act II. Village Carnival—Evening of same day. The Countess tries to aid her brother's suit, but mistakes Jimmy for Jack, and in trying to use the ouija board to further her scheme, succeeds in making things worse than ever.
- Act III. Postoffice—Two days later. Jimmy confides business secrets to Betty, and Boggs unravels the mystery, thereby exposing the villains.

Holding Millinery Classes

Miss Clara Cowgill, District Home Demonstration Agent of the extension division of the University of Idaho, is conducting a series of millinery and dress form classes in Latah County at the present time. While in the county, she will hold seven millinery classes and three dress form classes. The millinery classes require three days for each class, while one day is required for each dress form class. Communities in which millinery classes are being held are as follows: Viola, Genesee, Cove, Big Bear Kidge, Deary, Cedar Creek and Pine Grove. Dress form classes will be held in Upper Crane Creek, Lower Crane Creek and Pine Grove communities. These classes were arranged for by and are being conducted under the supervision of County Agent O. S. Fletcher, as a part of the regular extension program of Latah County.

Herman Schuitz of Spokane, and son, William of Olympia, arrived the first of the week to visit friends in the community.

Darby Home Burned

Early Sunday morning the John Darby residence at Crescent, together with the contents, was totally destroyed by fire. It is believed that the blaze originated from a spark falling on the roof. The loss is a heavy one to the Darby family as there was only insurance to the amount of $1,000 on the house and none on the contents. It was one of the best houses on Cedar Creek ridge.

Parent-Teachers Meet Today

There will be a meeting of the Parent-Teachers at the school house this afternoon (Friday) at three o'clock. A very interesting program has been arranged and it is to be hoped that a large number of those interested in the welfare of the school will be present to take part in the meeting. Some important matters will be brought up. A part of the business session will be devoted to the election of officers for the ensuing year.

Pest Control Meetings

Twenty-four pest control meetings have been held in Latah County this spring by County Agent O. S. Fletcher. A total of 491 farmers attended the meetings. At these meetings, poisoning supplies were distributed to farmers of the various communities and plans completed for concerted community attacks on the ground squirrel. A total of 1486 ounces of strychnine had been distributed thru the county agent's office at the close of April 14th.

Farmers of 23 communities voted to have the Board of County Commissioners enforce the rodent control law in those communities and nominated a total of 94 committee men for the commissioners to appoint to act as local inspectors, or supervisors, to enforce the rodent control law in their respective communities. At their regular April meeting, the county commissioners voted to enforce the rodent control law in the petitioning communities and appointed the nominated committeemen to enforce the law in the various communities. Practically all sections of the county are covered by the communities that voted to enforce the rodent control law.

The Idaho rodent control law provides that the County Commissioners, or persons authorized and appointed by them, may enter upon any farm, railroad right-of-way, grounds, or premises where there are ground squirrels, or other injurious rodents, to ascertain conditions and to poison, kill, and exterminate these pests when the owner, or occupant, shall neglect or refuse to do so. The expenses of this work are charged against the land as taxes and collected with the taxes.

Cameron News

NEWS NOTES FROM KENDRICK SCHOOLS

Events of Interest to School Patrons.

Much enthusiasm is being shown by the members of the Senior Class who are taking part in the class play which is to be given sometime during the latter part of May. The business side of the play is expected to be efficiently handled by the following committees: Business manager, Audrey Stanton; assistant business manager, Beulah Long; stage manager, Frank Brocke; property manager, Rita Leith; ticket manager, Egnaz Flaig and head usher, Edna Quirk. The cast of characters will be published later.

The plan to help in graveling the school play ground which was originated by a member of the Parent-Teachers association is being successfully put over. Half of the amount was raised at school by a twenty-five cent assessment of each student. The remainder is being raised by donations from the businessmen. This task of collecting is being performed by Miss Evelyn Hanson, one of the high school girls, and the cooperation and assistance of Kendrick's business men is duly appreciated.

The following report gives an accurate account of the proceeds which were derived from the faculty play. The net proceed will be used for the benefit of the school. Total receipts $102.50; expenditures $30.87; net proceeds $71.63.

Those neither absent nor tardy from the 5th grade for the past month are: Max Oldfield, Howard Dammarell, Walter Brocke and Wilfred Nowling. From the 6th grade are: Elbert Long, Hugh McDowell, Robert Dammarell and Wil-mot Humphrey.

Those with an average of 90 per cent or above in the 6th grade for the six weeks are: Lois Johnson, Robert Dammarell, Elbert Long, Bennie Westendahl and George Atchison.

Wilfred Nowling leads the 5th and 6th grades in the Curtis Arithmetic practice tests.

Mrs. Dan Stevens

Mrs. Dan Stevens, who for many years lived in Kendrick and on American ridge, passed away quite suddenly last Sunday afternoon of acute heart failure. Her sudden death was a shock to the community. Mrs. Stevens was a pioneer resident of this community and had many relatives in various parts of the Potlatch country.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church in Kendrick, Thursday morning, Rev. C. A. Pickering officiating. Interment was made in the Kendrick cemetery.

An obituary will be published in next week's Gazette.

Bridge at Lenore

The Nez Perce board of county commissioners last week officially designated Lenore as the site for the new bridge which is to be constructed by the county. There was indecision for some time whether to build the bridge at Lenore or Agatha, but the former place was finally decided to be the logical site for the new structure.

For Better or Worse

A ducky, who had recently married was asked by the farmer for whom he worked how he and his Mandy were getting along. "Not very well, boss. The fact is, Mandy and me we've done pal'ted." "Parted!" exclaimed the farmer. "Why, you were just married. You know, Sam, you can't leave Mandy. She's your wife and you took her for better or for worse." "That's just it, boss," said Sam. "I shore did tell that pahnson that I took that gal for better or wus. But, Lawd, dat gal is wus'n I took her to be."

Life Lines

BY H.M.C.

THERE are many combinations that the world knows mighty well. What I mean is, things we mention in duet. And they come in close relations; just for instance, let us tell of a line of combinations we can get.
Ham and eggs is surely listed in the places where you eat and you'll also find the famous pork and beans. Many years they have existed and stood forth as quite a treat and have caused you to bring money from your jeans.
Then there's liver with its bacon that we all have heard about. And the well-known dish of beef and cabbage, too. Where's the man who has not taken cakes and sausage? There's no doubt that mere bread and milk have oft' appealed to you.
Steak and onions is a winner that is always bound to please and, another dish that's sure to hit you right, is the spare ribs and its sauerkraut or the bite of pie and cheese that you eat before you go to bed at night.
Now there may be many dishes that we've left out of this list, which are prominent at morning, noon or night. But, with these, our little wish is that the aim in mind's not missed and those mentioned give you all an appetite.

PREPARE FOWLS FOR MARKET

Birds Should Be Penned in Small Enclosure and Not Permitted to Have Free Range.

Fowls intended for market should be penned in small enclosures and not allowed to have free range, as they will run off practically as much flesh as the ration supplies them. It is also unwise to feed fowls being fattened for market green food at any time. Commercial feeders generally place them in crates and keep them there throughout the fattening process.

POULTRY

EGG PRODUCTION IN WINTER

Feeding a Well-Balanced Ration is of First Importance—Greens and Exercise Needed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

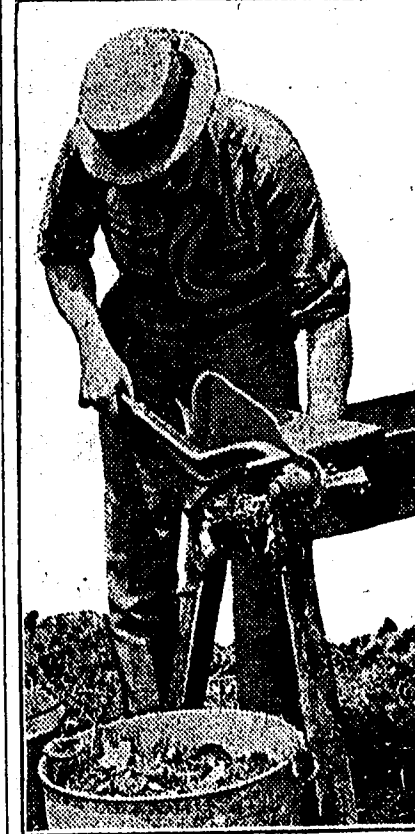

The pullets that are expected to be doing their bit in the laying flock this winter should have been put in winter quarters early in November and fed the sort of ration that will supply plenty of material for egg production. Every attention that will tend to stimulate laying is demanded by the pullets at this time, for a good early start may help to establish the habit of laying through a long season, say the poultrymen of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Good rations, however, cannot be expected to keep a flock laying properly if health conditions are not what they should be. Droppings boards and nests need cleaning and disinfection occasionally, and it goes almost without saying that there must be frequent changes of litter and always an abundant supply of clean water. A sick hen is about as poor a piece of property as a man can own, and many experienced poultry raisers go so far as to say that a sick one is less desirable than a dead one.

If pullets are a little slow in coming into laying it is sometimes possible to stimulate them by some changes in the feeding schedule. If the quantity of scratch feed allowed in the morning is cut down by one-half, it will make the birds hungrier during the day and they will consume more of the dry mash, which will frequently start them laying a week earlier than otherwise would be the case.

Another help is to feed a little of the mash wet at noon, as even this little variation seems to whet their appetites. The use of buttermilk in mixing this moist mash is one of the best stimulants to help start egg production. If the poultry keeper feels that he does not want to force the birds too hard he may cut down on this moistened mash. It is possible that forcing too much on the feed may cause the fowls to be weakened in fertility, but few farmers and back-yard chicken raisers will be inclined to overdo this matter of feeding. A little stimulus in the beginning may have a great deal to do with getting the hens started in their work, and once on their way it is probable that they will keep on it well fed and cared for.

If the weather is mild it may be possible to feed the hens outside, and when this is done they will generally get plenty of exercise. When the birds must be kept in, feeding the grain in deep litter is the best way to get them to take the needed exercise. It is possible, however, to overdo such a good thing as exercise. Too much scratching and running around keeps the layers always hungry, and the demands of the body are so great that egg making may be interfered with. The hens should go to roost every night with a crop full of feed, and usually a handful of grain for each hen will be equivalent to a cropful.

Green feed is one of the essentials for laying hens and no good poultryman will neglect to supply it in some form or other. There is a great variety of this kind of feed, including cabbage, mangels, sprouted oats and cut green rye. It may be fed at noon, or such green stuff as cabbage and mangels may be nailed to the wall so that the birds may peck at it.

Tomorrow night, Herbert Rawlinson stars at the New Kendrick Theater in "The Scrapper". This is undoubtedly the best picture Rawlinson has made since his appearance with Priscilla Dean in "Conflict". It is full of action, romance and is a story of the good old Irish kind with plenty of wholesome Irish wit thru the subtitles. 16-11

Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.

ROUP IS DANGEROUS DISEASE

Delicate Fowls Have Very Severe Attacks and Recover Slowly—Isolate Sick Birds.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the worse results of the wet and inclement weather of fall and early winter is the disease of chickens commonly called roup. It resembles the more malignant forms of influenza in larger animals and in man, attacking principally the membranes lining the eye, the sacks below the eye, the nostrils, the larynx and the trachea.
It is attended with high fever and is very contagious, but the nature of the germ is not yet known. However, it is known that contagion is brought into the poultry yard by infected birds.
Outbreaks of roup in the fall occur
most commonly where the growing chickens are overcrowded in the coop or where the coops are not waterproof or are poorly ventilated. Sometimes these are birds purchased from other flocks, and sometimes they are birds from the home flock which have been on exhibition and exposed to contagion. Again, they are wild birds or pigeons which fly from one poultry yard to another.

Delicate birds have very severe attacks and recover slowly, as pointed out in Farmers' Bulletin 957, published by the United States Department of Agriculture. Often a chronic condition persists for a long time and birds so affected give and spread the disease for a year or more, becoming a starting point for many new outbreaks.

At first symptoms are similar to an ordinary cold, but there is more fever, dullness and prostration. The eyelids are swollen and held closed most of the time. The birds sneeze and shake their heads in their efforts to free the air passages. Sometimes the eyes are entirely closed and birds are prevented from finding food. This, of course, results in rapid loss of strength, and many of the birds die within a week or ten days. Some of the affected ones recover and others continue weak and have a chronic form of disease for months.

The best treatment is to place sick
birds in a warm, dry, well-ventilated room free from drafts, and away from the rest of the flock. An antiseptic and healing mixture should be applied to the affected membranes. Lacking a spraying apparatus, a small syringe and oil can, or even a medicine dropper, may answer the purpose, or the bird's head may be plunged into a basin of the mixture and held there for a few seconds. The most suitable remedies are: Equal parts of hydrogen peroxide and water; boric acid, 1 ounce, water, 1 quart; or permanganate of potash, 1 dram, water 1 pint.

MIGHTY FINE MAN

JOHN MITCHELL, oldest baker in New England, is getting a lot of attention as he rounds out his 62d year in the baking business. His home is in Dorchester, Mass.
Mitchell is 73, but he still rises at 3 o'clock every morning, works until noon, then rests for a few hours. Around evening he shows up again in his bake-shop to look over the books and see that everything is in good running order for the next day.

How many other men at 73 are that active? Will you be? Mitchell says it's his hard work that keeps him in such excellent health. Some will sneer at that. But this much is certain: The man who keeps busy has little time to analyze his body's functioning and to worry over petty ailments until the mind expands them into serious illness.
Worry and fear can make almost any one unhealthy—any one with too much time for thinking about himself.

Mitchell worked for others 21 years. Then he got into business for himself. Hard work and honest dealing have made his business successful, prosperous. Another reason why he does not worry.

Somehow we cannot help but wish that monuments could be erected in honor of hard-toiling men like Mitchell.
They are the best citizens, the men on whose shoulders our civilization is carried.

The war hero, the movie star, the brilliant artist—all these are valuable to civilization in their own way. But there wouldn't be any civilization without the baker, the carpenter, the machinist, the miner and the host of others who are sort of lost in the shuffle and never heard of by the public at large.

Carry your head proudly, if you are performing useful service in life. Our great America is built on a foundation of faithful service by millions who deserve fame but seldom get it.

BRAIN TRAPS

A JOKER once said that the undertakers cover up a great many of the doctors' mistakes. Then there's the old story about the surgeon who, after a rare and difficult piece of cutting, said: "The operation was a success . . .
but the patient died."

We are reminded of these stories by the excitement in England, over a new book, "Mistakes and Accidents of Surgery," written by Dr. Harold Burrows, formerly of the Royal College of Surgeons. Joke writers and stage comedians have found in this book a source of new twists to ancient jests.

Dr. Burrows tells of numerous blunders in the operating room, including a case where the surgeon cut off the wrong leg. All of which, of course, is making quite a lot of talk.

People are always eager, for some mysterious reason, to find fault in others. They gladly pounce on an occasional error by a doctor. They forget the thousands, even millions, of cases where the doctors did not make a mistake.

You see this psychological principle illustrated in the popular notion that we are living in an age of crime. We read that 10,000 Americans are murdered a year—and forget that about 110 million others are not murdered. Then we read that a dozen big hold-ups have been staged, and we nod our heads and discuss the crime wave, forgetting the millions of cases where people daily go about their business without being molested for money.

A few schoolgirls, intoxicated by their emotions, commit indiscretions. Promptly the public talks about "flappers" and decides that the modern girl is a grave problem.

Trouble is, we usually hear only of the evil. There's a thousand times more good than evil in the world. Let's watch for the good and give it some of the publicity customary to crime.

She'll Pick Her Own Husband

MILDRED WEN, daughter of a rich Chinese merchant of Washington, was engaged to marry George Num Lee, also rich, also Chinese, of New York. On the eve of what was to have been her wedding day, she vanished. At first it was thought she was kidnapped, victim of "tong" violence. Later it developed that Miss Wen, displeased because, Chinese style, she had not been consulted as to whom she was to marry, had gone of her own accord. She says she's a true American girl and will select her own husband.

IS EARTH'S OLDEST HIGHWAY

Grand Trunk Road of India Has Been in Existence for Many Thousands of Years.

It is contended that the Grand Trunk road of India is the most romantic highway in the world. A stately avenue of three roads in one—the center of hard metal, the roads on each side ankle-deep in silvery dust, fringed by a double row of trees—runs for 1,400 miles through the vast southern plain that skirts the Himalayas, from Calcutta to far Peshawar, which keeps sentinel at the gate of Afghanistan.

From horizon to horizon, it stretches like a broad white ribbon, as straight as if traced by a gigantic ruler. And dotted along the entire lengths are hundreds of serais—wayside rest houses—each with its arched and turreted gateway, its spacious inclosure, where humans share shelter with oxen, camels and goats, and its central well of sparkling water.

For three thousand years the Himalayas have looked down on this road and have seen it as they see it today. It has witnessed a hundred generations of men come and go; a score of dynasties rise and fall. And yet today it is to the eye exactly the same as in the long-gone time when Nineveh was a proud city.

SENATORS NOW IN SECLUSION

Good Story That Explains the Substitution of Opaque Glass for Transparent in Lobby.

The secret of the substitution of opaque for transparent glass at either end of the lobby abutting the senate chamber is said to rest in the embarrassing experience of one senator with a well-meaning visitor. According to custom, the visitor, a constituent of the senator, sent in his card from the door just off the lobby.

The senator, so the story goes, returned the card with instructions to the page to tell his visitor he was not there. It so happened, however, that the visitor lingered a while and, peering through the then transparent windows by the door of the lobby, caught sight of the senator resting comfortably on a sofa. Senators now smoke and chat in calm security, free always to be "not in" to troublesome constituents.—Washington Dispatch in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

MEASURING SEA DEPTH

The destroyer, Stewart, equipped with the sonic range finder, used for sounding at sea, has made a practical test trip from Newport to Gibraltar. The new method is closely related to radio, depending on the transmission of sound waves through water, and is employed to measure depths of the ocean. Soundings are made by measuring the length of time required for sound oscillations sent out from the ship to travel to the bottom of the ocean and back again.

Soundings were taken at regular intervals without stopping the ship, and indicated depths from 90 to 2,500 fathoms.

Bert Lytell is seen in his best at the New Kendrick tonight. "A Message from Mars" is the title of the picture and deals with a young club man who finds himself in many humorous circumstances before he finally wins the love of the girl. You will remember Bert Lytell in "Sherlock Brown" shown here a few weeks ago. 16-1t
