

LATAH COUNTY NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Clipped From The Columns of Neighboring Papers.

A number of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of the local lodges went to Kendrick, Tuesday evening, where they were entertained by the members of the Kendrick lodges. Cards and dancing were the amusements for the evening, after which a fine supper was served. The occasion was a most enjoyable event in every way and the local members all report a splendid time.—Julietta Record.

Joseph Edwards, a World War veteran, who, according to his own statement, served for three years with the American expeditionary forces in France, was Monday morning sentenced to serve three months in the Latah county jail, after pleading guilty to a charge of the possession of intoxicating liquor.

Edwards was arrested recently by members of the local sheriff's force, and when arraigned Monday morning in the district court pleaded guilty to the charge placed against him by the district attorney, and was given a jail sentence of 90 days by Judge Edgar C. Steele. He is an American born citizen, and was born in Alexandria, Minnesota. He had had no permanent home since his discharge from the army.—Star-Mirror.

Long Distance Dancing

Lewiston Banner: An endurance craze is sweeping the country among dancers, in which lovers of the light fantastic toe are striving to see who can make the biggest fool of themselves. An effort is being made to dance 100 hours without stopping. This is about as sensible as striving for the honors of making the longest fast, losing the most sleep, eating the largest number of eggs, drinking the biggest quantity of wood alcohol, smoking the most tobacco at one continuous period, out-cussing the champion vulgarly artist, or doing any other fool stunt from the effect of which the participant is almost certain never to entirely recover. Why not start a "Drink the most Carboic Acid" club, and give a tombstone as a premium to the winner? Or, for the encouragement of the fine points of cigarette smoking among the ladies (?) let the manufacturers of "coffin nails" offer a bob-tailed bull dog as a first prize, and an engraved epitaph, reading: Here lies Miss Jones, alas, alack! The world will never never miss her.

She strove for fame as a smoking dame—
The thirteenth package killed her.

Kendrick Needs a Baker

There is a strictly up-to-date electric bakery equipment lying idle in Kendrick, just waiting for a good baker to come along and open up a local bakery. With better times ahead a bakery can be made to pay well here. There is a good territory around Kendrick so that a nice volume of business could be worked up. It's a good business opportunity for the right man.

Village Election Quiet

One of the lightest votes cast in Kendrick for years was recorded last Tuesday in the election of a new board of trustees. There were only five candidates and as there was no opposing ticket the incentive for voting was lacking. Those elected were E. A. Deobald, E. T. Long, M. O. Raby, A. V. Dunkie and R. D. Newton. There seems to be general satisfaction with the personnel of the newly elected trustees. They will be installed the first Tuesday in May.

Install Electronic Machine

Dr. S. I. Ringsage, who has been located in Kendrick for the past year or more, announced this week that he has purchased an Electronic Reaction machine and would install it in his office in Kendrick about the first of May. It is the same type machine being used by Dr. Abrams of Lewiston. Dr. Ringsage recently completed a course in Electronic Radio Reaction in Spokane.

Moscow, Idaho:—James McMahan, Latah county pioneer and Civil war veteran, died Friday night near Potlatch. If he had lived until August 15 he would have been 101 years of age.

He came west after the Civil war and settled in northern Idaho, coming to Latah county over 50 years ago. He enjoyed good health until he reached the century mark, and attributed his long life to hard work and living in the open.

Seed Inspector Busy

C. B. Ahlson, state seed commissioner and field agronomist of the University of Idaho extension division, recently spent a week in northern Idaho inspecting seed, says the Star-Mirror. Analysis of samples purchased by farmers and interviews with growers indicated to Mr. Ahlson that they are demanding pure seed for planting. On the trip he visited the dealers' establishments and found the seeds to be of a high quality. Only a few samples were condemned because of the presence of noxious weed seed.

The high cost of hay in northern Idaho due to the shortage of production last year and high freight rates has caused many farmers to plant part of their wheat land to hay, Mr. Ahlson finds. There is a tremendous increase in the acreage of legumes, especially alfalfa and sweet clover, in north Idaho due partly to the desire to grow more hay but as a recognition of the legumes as soil improvers. The experiments conducted by the University of Idaho experiment station on the various substation farms show that land seeded to legumes makes ideal seed beds. Idaho county was cited by Mr. Ahlson as an example of the basis upon which to estimate the increase in legumes. He says that although an area of 1000 acres of alfalfa was being grown in that county last year fully 5000 acres in addition will be seeded this year. The thousands of samples received this season at the main seed laboratory at Boise and the branch laboratory at Moscow indicate that the growers realize the value of securing a test before planting the seed. Inoculation is also very general in north Idaho this year and the expenditure of about 25 cents an acre for inoculating bacteria is proving an exceptional investment.

Parent-Teachers Met

A very interesting Parent-Teachers meeting with a good attendance was held at the school auditorium last Friday afternoon. A pleasing program was rendered, consisting of musical numbers and short talks, after which dainty refreshments were served by the domestic science girls, under the supervision of Miss Whitney.

The annual business meeting and election of officers was held with the following results: Mrs. M. O. Raby, president; M. V. Thomas, vice-president; Mrs. E. H. Dammarell, secretary-treasurer. It was voted to turn the Parent-Teachers Association into a civic club for the summer months and some very interesting meetings were suggested.

A committee of three was appointed to arrange for a program for a farewell reception to the teachers, to be held some time the first part of May.

Epworth League

Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Pickering entertained the Epworth League members at a delightful dinner, in the Epworth hall, Monday evening, at which the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. Following is a list of the officers: President, Hugh Stanton; 1st vice president, Marion Pickering; 2nd and 3rd vice president, Artylee Hollada; 4th vice president, Edith Dammarell; Secretary, Nell Arneling; Treasurer, Audrey Stanton; organist, Alberta Walker.

School Election Results

The vote last Saturday at the local school election was not a record breaker by any means. After the judges and clerks had all voted and the count made it was found that seven ballots had been cast, E. W. Lutz being elected to succeed himself as trustee. A ten mill levy was voted and an extra levy of 7 1/2 mills for bond interest and sinking fund. It might safely be termed a very quiet election and satisfactory results.

Booster Meeting Wednesday

At a meeting of the Good Fellowship Club held at the Commercial Hotel Wednesday evening, it was decided to have a big booster meeting of the business men and baseball boys next Wednesday evening at the hotel. The meeting will be called for the purpose of making arrangements for a big celebration July 4th; also to elect a manager for the baseball team. The idea is being considered favorably and a big crowd is expected. A musical program is being arranged for the early part of the evening.

Dinner will be served at the Commercial Hotel about 6:30. Joe Gardner was appointed to get a list of those who wish plates reserved for them.

New Station Agent Here

A. E. Wilcox, who for 13 years held the position of station agent here, left Tuesday for Orofino to take charge of the station there. His successor H. R. Ramey of Creston, Wash., took over the Kendrick station Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Ramey was station agent at Creston for the past 11 years. He is a young man and has a fine family who arrived yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ramey was serving on the Creston town council when he left and also pitched for the Creston baseball team last year. What more could anyone ask of a new station agent?

Bananas Concealed Snake

A bunch of bananas ripening in an Iowa store suddenly gave up a three-foot snake. The snake was captured and was identified as the "bush master," most deadly of South American snakes. Its body slender, pinkish yellow in color, with a row of large diamond-shaped patches from head to tail. It is related to the deadly fer-de-lance but grows even larger than that snake. The reptile is believed to have been imported with the fruit.

A snake of like kind and proportions was found in a bunch of bananas at the Follet store a few years ago by George Bolou. The reptile measured 32 inches in length. It was taken and skinned by Grant Clark, who still has the hide.

Celebrate Anniversary

(Too late for last week)
The home of Mrs. M. A. Deobald on American ridge was the scene of a jolly party Sunday, April 15, when she entertained at one of her usual sumptuous dinners, in honor of the ninth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Bechtol of Moscow and their little daughter Edwardine's eighth birthday, and also the first birthday of little Margaret Arlene Deobald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald of Kendrick.

The decorations consisted chiefly of immense bouquets of hyacinths and narcissus from Mrs. Deobald's beautiful gardens, which filled the rooms with their delicious fragrance, also a beautiful wedding cake, which was cut by Mrs. Bechtol, who before her marriage was Louise Caroline Deobald, and two dainty birthday cakes for Arlene and Edwardine, decorated with pink candles set in tiny roses.

Mrs. Deobald in every way carried out the scheme used at the Deobald-Bechtol wedding, which took place at the Deobald home, even in seating the guests at the bountifully spread table, the only noticeable difference being the hour—the wedding having taken place at 6 a. m. and a dainty breakfast being served immediately after the ceremony.

This day is one which will always be remembered as one of the most pleasant in the lives of almost two score of relatives and friends who were guests at this delightful affair. —A guest.

Radios While Doing Dishes

Nat McMillan, drayman for the State College of Washington, is an ardent radio fan, but is willing that "friend wife" should have the headphones while she is "clearing up" at night. The college broadcaster is in operation 7 to 8 p. m., so he hitches one end of his aerial wire to the stovepipe, the other to the water faucet at the sink, puts an extra long cord on the head piece, and there she is! She washes her dishes to the strains of the Cougar Five Orchestra, or listens to the sweet soprano of Miss Millicent Brown of Puyallup; or perhaps to Miss Edna Avery of Tacoma on the new styles. Then, when the last plate is wiped and the kettles scoured, Nat takes his turn and hears good advice on curing the ills of a family Ford, or making the vegetable garden.

By the way, his receiving set, copied from college "home-mades", cost but $2.05.

Kendrick Needs Creamery

There are probably few places in the northwest where conditions are better for starting a creamery than here in the Potlatch. There are more cows in this section than there have been for many years and the production of cream is still on the increase. With the extra stimulus that a local creamery would bring to dairying in this locality, it is safe to say that the demand for good milk cows would surpass all previous records.

With the present creamery building available, nothing would be required but a good creamery man with a little capital to install machinery. The dairy products here are ample to support a creamery at this time.

John Phillips of Clarkston was transacting business in Kendrick, Tuesday afternoon.

of Agriculture.)

A drop of 26 per cent in the value of plow lands during the past three years is shown in a statistical survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture. Plow lands in the United States had an average value istering a decrease of $66 an acre. Illinois is next with a drop of $44 an acre; Indiana third with a drop of Hampshire. Connecticut shows a drop of $3; Alabama $4, New York and Florida $5, Virginia and West Virginia $6. An increase of $3 per acre is shown in New Jersey, and of $2 in Preventative Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of grip. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.

GLEANINGS

Van Arsdol & Oehler of Lewiston engineers in charge of the Kendrick street work were in Kendrick yesterday inspecting the construction work done by Campbell & Barr. They passed a favorable opinion on the job with the exception of a few soft spots in the concrete gutters and some of the crosswalks, possibly caused by freezing or a poor grade of cement. This work will be repaired before the job is accepted by the engineers and town council. In all other respects it is considered a first class job.

ANNUAL COST OF FARM TRACTORS

Big Items Are Depreciation, Fuel, Repairs and Upkeep, Interest and Oil.

TAXES AND INSURANCE COUNT

Bulletin Issued by Department of Agriculture Gives Simple Formula for Figuring Expense—Many Suggestions Given.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Principal items of cost in operating a tractor, in order of their relative importance, are depreciation, fuel, repairs and upkeep, interest and lubricating oil, according to L. A. Reynolds and H. R. Tolley of the United States Department of Agriculture. Other costs making up the total cost are: Labor in repairing and attending the tractor, housing, grease, taxes and insurance. These conclusions are the results of investigations concerning tractor costs which the Department of Agriculture has conducted among tractor owners at various times and which have been brought together and are presented in Farmers' Bulletin 1297, "Cost of Using Tractors on Corn-Belt Farms."

First Cost of Tractor.

Granting that any tractor will do the work for which it is made, first cost is stated to be the item which demands greatest consideration on the part of the purchaser. This item depends on the size, type and make of machine and should indicate fairly well the quality. To determine depreciation charges on a tractor whether by the day or year, first cost is divided by the total useful life in years, or the days of work done during the life of the machine. The annual cost for interest on a tractor is a fixed charge for each year of life. The bulletin gives a simple formula for figuring the interest on a tractor costing any amount and giving different numbers of years' service.

Keep Down Repair Expense.

To keep repair expense at a minimum, the farmer is advised to do his own repairing and overhauling so far as possible. The size of a machine, the operation, and above all, the operator, are said to govern to a large extent the quantities of fuel and oil which are daily required. The wide variation in the amount of fuel and oil used per day by different sized tractors is counterbalanced by the larger or smaller amounts of work done by the different sizes, the bulletin states.

"Owners and prospective owners should not place too much weight on the average performance of tractors," the authors of the bulletin advise, pointing out that "an average figure represents various results, some of which may be normal, and some either above or below normal. It should be the object of every farmer operating a tractor to strive to excel any result given as an average figure whether it represents life, cost of operation or days of use." Suggestions for reducing the cost of using tractors include the acquiring of ability to operate tractors, saving time, and combining implements and operation.

Copies of Bulletin 1297 may be obtained free upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.
