Find Tuberculosis in Hogs Killed in 1922

One of Every Seven Animals Had Dread Disease.

Federal meat-inspection records for one hog out of every seven slaughtered in establishments under federal inspection during the year showed lesions of tuberculosis. Altogether, 39,-416,439 hogs were slaughtered under federal inspection in 1922, and 5,640,-061 of them showed lesions of the Hogs are infected principally by following diseased cattle in the feed lot and by drinking milk from tuberculous cattle. Because of the short feeding period of hogs, the tuberculous lesions are usually localized; the head and glands of the neck are most commonly affected. However, it is estimated that in 1922 more than $2,000,000 worth of pork was condemned as unfit for human food on account of tuberculosis. This is but a part of the total loss sustained by the nation on account of tuberculosis in hogs. Animals affected with the disease cannot make the best gains, and the danger to human health is a factor always to be considered.

The vigorous campaign being conducted for the eradication of this dread disease has resulted up to March 1, 1923; in 24,132 accredited herds in the United States, in which more than a half million cattle have been pronounced free from tubercu-Every herd that is freed reduces the menace to the hog industry.

Main Requirements of Good Alfalfa Seed Bed The main requirements of a good seed bed for alfalfa, red and sweet clover, and other small seeded crops are that it be moist, finely pulverized, compact, with a loose surface. Aside from moisture which depends on the weather, perhaps the most important point, especially if the seed bed has been plowed, is to get it firmly packed.

Rosette Disease of Wheat Is Compared

Difficult to Tell Accurately Harm Caused by Each.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The rosette disease of wheat, discovered in Illinois and Indiana in 1919, affects wheat seedlings in somewhat the same way as do the attacks by the Hessian fly and certain ether insect their work serves definitely to show the cause of the trouble. Wheat seedlings attacked by rosette disease alone show no evidence of the presence or work of insects, it is pointed out by soil. On such soil the alfalfa seed specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture who have been investigating these wheat maladies.

The first positive indications of the rosette disease become evident early in the spring after the growth of the healthy plants is well started. Plants ground the seed should be covered affected by rosette remain dormant in shallow and the surface soil be well the spring after the healthy plants compacted by rolling after the seeding commence their spring growth. Infest- is done. ed fields are spotted with irregular patches of dwarfed plants, the leaves of which are dark blue-green in color and are rather broad and stiff. The whole plant has a bunchy, rosette appearance.

When both rosette disease and insect injuries, especially those by Hessian fly, occur together in the spring, it sometimes is difficult to determine accurately the injuries caused by each. As the rosette disease is not apparent in the autumn and as it becomes evident in the spring before the emergence of the adult Hessian fly, there dish and everybody is invited to is very little chance to confuse the two come and bring a full dinner maladies during these periods. In the late spring, however, there is a possibility of confusion, especially if plants affected by rosette show, in addition, the spring infestation of the Hessian fly. These matters are discussed in Bulletin 1137, Symptoms of Wheat Rosette Compared With Those Produced by Certain Insects, just issued, and may be secured upon request from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. Soy Beans With Corn

Do Not Lessen Yield There is no decrease in yield of corn when soy beans are planted with the corn, judging by results at the Ohio experiment station. Over a period of three years each acre of soy beans and corn, planted for hogging down, made 180 pounds more grain to the acre than corn alone.

When planted for silage, corn and soy beans showed even more decided advantages. Corn alone averaged 8.2 tons of silage to the acre; the cornsoy bean combination, 11.2 tons to the acre. The combination proved most profitable in wet seasons. The poorer the soil, the more likely are corn and soy beans to be good business. The corn and soy beans can be drilled together at the same time. The soy-bean seed should be inoculated. Lime the soil, if sour.

Dairy cows receiving corn-soy bean silage need less bran and oilmeal than those receiving corn silage. Figuring the protein at 5 cents a pound, and the carbohydrates at 1 cent a pound, the mixed crop has been found worth about $6 more to the acre than corn

One Dollar Saved . Represents . Ten Dollars Earned

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he can not be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill ot several dollars.—Adv.

Spray Ring Will Improve Orchard

Successfully in Several Fruit States.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The co-operative spray ring, developed in connection with demonstrations in orchard spraying, is solving the problem of spraying the small home orchard, for an increasing number of farmers, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. While the plan has been used most extensively in Iowa, farmers in Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois omy jars. Mrs. John Reed, Ken- and Ohio find it a good method, and on the Atlantic coast several counties in Connecticut and New Jersey organized rings in 1921. In lowa, the number of counties reporting the organization of spray rings increased from 16 in 1921 to 31 in 1922. Seven counties in Illinois report new spray rings in 1922. Stark county, Illinois, which organized two rings in 1921, has become so interested in the care of the farm orchard that six power-machine rings and five hand-machine rings were organized in the summer of 1922, serving more than 100 home orchards.

Simple Organization Plan. The plan of organization of these rings is kept as simple as possible. The men interested in spraying get together at one of the extension meetings and decide to try co-operative spraying. Usually a written agreement covering the method of managing business matters and the ownership of equipment of the ring is prepared and signed. The kind of equipment, hand or power, is selected and the cost is apportioned, a schedule is made out and the members decide whether some one member will spray all the orchards for an agreed labor price, or whether an outside person will be hired to do the work. Each of the three plans has proved satisfactory. In Poweshiek county, Iowa, they | fruit was a problem, as none of the have found it most convenient to do the work individually; in Stark county, picking, packing or grading apples. Illinois, the same plan is followed. In Union county, Iowa, the sons of two farmers operated the power-machine last season, one furnishing a team and the other a gasoline engine. They sprayed 14 orchards, some 1,500 trees. completing each spray in two days, the members giving little or no attention to the work. Students of Runnell's Condeceased, to exhibit them with the solidated School in Polk county, Iowa, sprayed practically all the orchards in months after the first publication of their community. Advice as to sprays this notice, to the said administra- and time of applying is usually obtained from the county agent.

> Size of Ring Varies. The size of the ring varies, averaging from three or four members in the smallest ones to twenty or more in the larger. The cost of operation depends, of course, on several factors, the type of equipment, whether labor is employed or the work done by members for themselves, the distance betweeen and similar items. For one orchard in Webster county, Iowa, where four sprays were applied, the average cost of material per tree was 37 cents, labor 33 cents, depreciation on machinery 5 cents, making a total cost of 75 cents per tree for the four sprays. A Union county (Iowa) ring spent $210 for equipment, material and the labor of wo men and teams, and sprayed 1,500 trees four times. A 12-orchard ring organized in Johnson county, Iowa, several years ago, spends about 15 cents per tree per spray. The results, according to the owners, more than justify the small expenditure. In every case where the spraying was done as advised last season, the work accomplished its object and the members had plenty of clean, sound home-grown apples to store for winter use. The Webster county orchard produced 99 per cent clean fruit. Fayette county, Iowa, reports in the sprayed orchards 75 per cent of the fruit as clean and Of Course you'll see it - to sound, and 25 per cent scabby and miss it will be a misfortune! wormy; the unsprayed orchard showed 15 per cent sound, clean fruit and 85 county, Wisconsin, spray ring members figured in 1922 a return of $8.52 for each dollar spent in spraying. The bearing trees were sprayed three times.

Results of spray ring work in Hardin county, Iowa, in fact, were so good in 1922 that the disposal of the surplus members had had any experience in Twenty-five men were shown by extension workers how to pick and pack their apples, using home-made equipment, and the surplus apples were put on the market in baskets and boxes packed according to market grades.

Lessen Fence Bills With Concrete Posts

Practically Permanent if Properly Made and Set.

The use of concrete fence posts is one way of cutting down the tremendous bill which the American farmer has to pay for fences. Some authoritles estimate that approximately one billion fence posts are used each year in the United States and that their total value is in the neighborhood of $250,000.

Concrete fence posts when properly made and set are practically permanent, but a great deal of the durability of the fence as a whole is dependent upon the strength of the end posts and corner posts. The main strain of the wire fence, which, to give the best service should be stretched very tight, comes upon these end and corner posts. If these posts are made large enough and are deeply set into firm soil, it may not be necessary to brace them, but should a brace be necessary, a good way of providing it is shown in the illustration.

A concrete bar five inches square, reinforced with steel rods is cast, in a length great enough to reach diagonally from the base of the last line post to a point near the top of the corner post, where it fits into a notch provided for it. The strain which comes on the corner post is then transmitted to the base of the line post which is in turn supported by the earth so that it will not break off. Some wires extending from the top of the line post to the base of the corner post and twisted up tightly serve the double purpose of further supporting the line post and of preventing the brace har from being dislodged.

Cocklebur Serious Weed Pest in Many Sections

in certain sections the cocklebur is a serious weed pest. Its competition with cultivated crops and its objectionable burs make the cocklebur very undesirable. It is comparatively easy to eradicate if proper attention is given to its control. Although an annual plant, a field infested with the cockleburs must be watched for two or three years if the burs are to be killed out, due to the fact that normally only one of the two seeds in each bur will sprout the first season, the other holding over until the sec ond season.

POULTRY POINTS

Good chicks can come only from good parent stock.

Many chicks are handicapped at the start by poor breeding and hatching.

A foot of feeding space for each six hens is about right when it comes to feed hoppers.

You do not need to change your breed so much as you need to change the males of your breeds. Get new ones from other and better flocks of the same breed.
