One of the very unique window displays in the city, probably meant as a warning to Ford drivers who go above 50 miles an hour, is the "King Tut" display in the window of Tim Sullivan's garage. In a beautifully lined coffin reposes a skeleton, represented to be that of King Tut, made up entirely from Ford parts. And it looks like a real skeleton, too, with a headlight used for a skull, with all the bones, including fingers and toes, represented by some part of a Ford. Those who have stopped to gaze on the "remains," and they are many, express wonder that pieces of steel and iron could be made to resemble so closely a human skeleton. The architect was Tim Sullivan, himself. —Star-Mirror.

Julius Giese, one of the prosperous farmers of Fix Ridge, was a Genesee visitor Monday. Mr. Giese stated that he had a fine bean crop this year and that he received a good price for the same, in addition to the several hundred acres of grain raised by him.

Mr. Giese believes in diversified farming and says that he believes every farmer should have a few cows, pigs and chickens. He has about a hundred head of hogs at this time, some 27 or 28 cows and many dozens of chickens—all of which help to keep money in the "till."

He farms several hundred acres and has work the year around. —Genesee News.

Floyd Armstrong, two miles west of Deary, sustained a heavy property loss last Saturday afternoon when his barn and contents, three head of horses and 67 tons of baled hay were burned.

The origin of the fire seems to be shrouded in mystery. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were in Deary at the time, and none of the near neighbors were at home. Smoke from the conflagration was seen from a distance, but, this being the season when many farmers are burning slashings or straw it attracted only passing attention. A man at work on Jim Donelson's ranch, however, saw what was taking place and he hurried to David Peterson's house and telephoned the news to town.

It is stated that there was no insurance. —Deary Press.

Fred Illi, of Lake Bay, Wash., was a caller at this office last week and renewed his subscription. Mr. Illi is a brother of Albert Illi, on American Ridge, and has been visiting here since the latter part of July and working in the harvest fields. He sold his place here several years ago and went to Washington with the hope of bettering his health. He states that his health has been better this summer than for several years, and since he had to take back his land, he has decided to return to this country to make it his home. Mr. Illi states that he is very much pleased with the outlook in general here. He will leave shortly for Lake Bay to be with his family during the winter and will be ready to return here in the spring. —Troy News.

Ten thousand four year old pine trees have been planted at Camp George, which is near the Bungalow on the slopes of the Clearwater. At the Bungalow 2500 white pine trees are being planted and 1000 each of Douglas fir and tamarack. This is an experiment to reforest some of the burned over areas of the state.

Carvers Visit Friends Here

Mr. and Mrs. John Carver drove here from Myrtle Point, Oregon last week to look after business interests. They traded their ranch near Cavendish for property near Myrtle Point and while here finished up the transfer. They are conducting a confectionery store at Myrtle Point. Mr. Carver is also doing contract work in the woods and making good money. In selling their Potlatch ridge property they have transferred all of their business interests to their present location. However, the Gazette goes to them regularly which is a good indication that they are still interested in their friends here.

Potlatch Company Extending Roads

Building Standard Gauge Roads Into Timber

That the Potlatch Lumber company is spending thousands of dollars for railroad building at the door of Elk River into the extensive timber holdings is hardly realized, it is believed.

A trip was made over the railroad Tuesday, says a writer in the Elk River News, and it was astonishing to see the work now being carried on by the company. Two steam shovels, an Erie and an American, are at work on two sections of the road, following the east and west forks of Elk Creek. The farthest point of the road now reaches about 13 miles north and follows the west fork. The grades are not over seven per cent, and the track carries standard gauge. Aside from this road which is called the main line, several spurs or sidings are being built, tapping the rich white pine along the lines as they go. The company is constructing as much road as they possibly can this year, that they might have access to their timber during the next few years, without stopping to build roads as they go. Alfred Johnson is foreman of the railroad building and his knowledge of this work is proven by results he has obtained.

It is the plan of the company to build a terminal 12 miles out. One shay will remain there at all times, and will be engaged in switching and making up trains. Other shays will transport the trains, which will consist of logs and cedar poles to the mill. The poles will be taken to the Cedar yards at Bovill. The distance to the terminal, and the work that will have to be done by the shays is so great that it would be impossible for the shays to make the run from town, do their own switching and make the return trip the same day.

The Potlatch Lumber company has at least twenty years' cut in the upper basin country, where this work is being carried on.

Farmers in Better Condition

The department of public investments report for the last month shows a better condition among the farmers of the state in their payment of loans and interest on loans. The farmers have paid $32,150 on loans in the past 30 days and the department has advanced only $207,73 for their aid. A total of loans to farmers of $34,400 has been approved during the same time, according to A. Hogensen, Acting Commissioner of Public Investments. These have been pending for some time.

The department has recently made a payment of $25,000 in purchase of school bonds for Kootenai county district No. 1, out of a total purchase of $200,000 bonds from that district. The department has invested out of the insurance fund for $40,000 worth of Liberty bonds at cost of $39,114.17, inclusive of accrued interest, and brokerage. The insurance fund must be invested in liquid and safe securities.

BUCKEYE MALE TRIO, LIKE MINSTRELS OF OLD, WILL "DOUBLE IN BRASS"

The Buckeye Trio is not only a fine singing organization, but is also a group of capable instrumentalists featuring brass work in their program. The members are George Chenot, artist on the trombone, saxophone; William T. Beek, who plays slide cornet and banjo, and Glended Craggs, master of the baritone horn. In the vocal work, first, second tenor, and baritone arrangements are given and very fine harmony effects are obtained. There are several costume changes during the program and some interesting novelty features which never fail to please.

YOU'RE LUCKY

At this season of the year, autumn, a resident of a small town or farm has to be rather lacking in imagination not to feel that he has a tremendous advantage over city folks.

About the only way a city man is aware of autumn (unless he drives into the country in his flivver) is that the days are less warm, that the half dozen trees he notices during a day have lost their leaves, and that his coal bin needs attention.

The city man may make more money, but he pays for it by being denied the beauties and wonders of close contact with nature. Autumn drives this truth home.

City life is rather a mechanical routine in an environment of smoke, foul air, cramped living quarters, nerve-stabbing noise, brick and concrete.

The farmer is in the very midst of nature, with her beauties and peaceful calm and health-giving powers. All these do not show up in his bank account, but, nevertheless, they are part of his real wealth. The resident of the small town is one step removed from the farm, cityward, but he at least has the open country at his very back door.

Even the glorious tang of autumn air reaches the city dweller only faintly. He does not know the thrill of crops harvested after long months of toil. Nor in any other way does he feel the true spirit of autumn, that spirit being in the culmination of the natural growth of plant life.

Sometimes many of us get tired of what is known as "the simple life." But along comes autumn and . . . well, the real place for men and women to live is close to the soil. And the closer to the soil, the closer to true happiness.

Parent-Teachers to Meet

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held at the school auditorium, Friday afternoon, November 2, at 3 o'clock. A short program has been arranged after which the time will be given over to a discussion of school problems. The association last year proved helpful to the school in many ways and the same spirit of cooperation again this year will be appreciated by the teachers as well as those interested in the welfare of the school. Remember the date is Friday of next week.

Delivery Car Runs Amuck

Alvin Watts, while driving N. B. Long & Sons light delivery car at the rear of the H. P. Hull residence, Wednesday, had quite a thrilling experience. He had delivered some grain at the Long barn and while attempting to turn the empty car around, the brake stuck as the car was headed down hill. The final windup was a nose dive executed by the car into Hull's rose garden. Devastation was the result. Both front wheels of the car were demolished, one wheel having but one spoke that was not broken. The flower bed also suffered considerable damage but Mr. Watts escaped without a scratch as he jumped before the car did.

Struck by Train

Miss Sadie Douhan of Kalispell, Mont., who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Watson of Troy, was struck by the passenger train last Friday and quite seriously injured. She was walking on the track near the Troy brick yard and it is believed that the whistle of the brick yard engine drowned the noise of the approaching train. She was struck by either the side of the pilot or the cylinder head of the engine. Her injuries consisted of a broken leg, between the knee and ankle, besides severe lacerations and bruises about the head and face. She was taken to Lewiston on the passenger, where she is recovering from her injuries at a hospital.

Deary Suffered Heavy Fire Loss

Most of the Business Section Entirely Consumed

Deary suffered a disastrous fire at about 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, when all the buildings on the west side of Main street with the exception of the Bank and the J. E. Anderson general merchandise store, were burned to the ground. The bank, being a brick building, checked the flames, but all other buildings burned were frame structures. The cause of the fire at such an hour in the morning is a mystery. When first discovered flames were issuing from the buildings in the middle of the block and spread both ways until all buildings except the two mentioned above were destroyed. With the very limited fire protection at hand and the additional handicap of having nothing but wooden buildings to work on, the fire fighters could make little or no headway and were helpless to stop the fast spreading blaze. It was simply allowed to burn itself out.

It is impossible to give an accurate estimate as to the value of property consumed but it is believed that the loss was very heavy, owing to the extremely high insurance rates in the town. Deary is about 17 years old and like most western towns started building up with frame structures. Because of the class of buildings and the insufficient fire protection the town was rated very high by insurance companies.

No ideas have yet been received as to how many of the business houses will rebuild. Following is a list of the buildings destroyed: Deary Hardware, estimated loss $12,000, insurance $6,000; Pool hall, estimated loss $1,500, insurance $1,000 on contents and building insured for $1,000; Deary Mercantile Co., loss heavy; L. O. Beyer vacant building; Postoffice and confectionery, I. O. O. F. Lodge hall and contents about half insured; Pierce store estimated loss $1500, insurance $1,000; Drug Store, Dr. Faust's office; the hotel across the street from the bank was damaged to the extent of approximately $500 and several other buildings on the east side of the street were scorched and had windows broken by the intense heat. Records of the Deary Highway District were saved.

Had Four Cows Poisoned

J. H. Dye, who recently moved to Moscow from the country, leasing a tract of land in the outskirts of town, near the university, had the misfortune to lose four head of valuable cows last Friday night, evidently from some form of poisoning, says the Star-Mirror. The cows, which Mr. Dye valued at about $125 each, were found dead Saturday morning. A veterinary was called and said the animals had evidently died from poisoning, but was unable to determine the nature of the poison. Mr. Dye had 16 head of cattle and so far none of the others have been affected.

Cox-Clark

Miss Nora Cox of Kendrick and Claus Clark of Juliaetta were quietly married at Moscow Wednesday afternoon of last week at the Methodist parsonage at Moscow, Rev. H. O. Perry officiating. They were accompanied by Miss Esther Clem and Frank Cox.

Miss Cox is a popular young lady of Kendrick and was a member of last year's junior class of the Kendrick high school. Mr. Clark is a son of Walter Clark, a prominent farmer of the Juliaetta section. He was the invincible catcher on Kendrick's crack baseball team last summer and is popular with the Potlatch ball fans. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will make their home in the Juliaetta community, where Mr. Clark has farming interests.

Manufacturing Shoe Grease

Kendrick now possesses a new manufacturing plant! Walker's Harness Shop is preparing an original composition of shoe grease in handy containers which will be put on the market in the near future. It is a preparation that has been used for some time in this locality and Norris says the demand has increased to such an extent that he will put it on the market in larger quantities. It is his own preparation and has proven very satisfactory.

There was a man who was so thin
He wouldn't go out alone,
For fear some great big hungry dog
Might take him for a bone.
One day when he was walking out
And got all out of breath,
He fell through a hole in the seat of his pants
And choked himself to death.

Kendrick Gazette

Ralph B. Knepper, Publisher

Entered as second-class matter 1892 at Kendrick, Idaho, under the Act of Congress of March, 1879. Subscription $1.50 a year.

We know of one particular case where a family living near Kendrick drives to a neighboring city to buy their groceries. They believe they are saving a few pennies on their purchases. The grocer in the larger town knows they are "out-of-town customers," so no doubt gives them a number of concessions of prices to get their business. These same people depend upon Kendrick and Kendrick merchants for the disposal of most of their produce and get better prices here than they could get at the nearby town, even tho it is a larger place. We might all of us profitably reflect upon the condition that would exist here if all of the people of the community were to do the same thing. It goes without saying, there would be no town here. It would be heartless to ask any stores to sell groceries at a smaller margin of profit than sold by the three Kendrick grocery stocks. If they buy produce and pay as good or better prices than are paid by neighboring towns, they have a right to expect a return of the favor. They deserve your patronage.

It has been suggested that the fire protection for residences in the lower part of town might be greatly improved if two lengths of fire hose were put on a reel and the reel placed in a large box at some convenient point along the street. A wrench could be kept in the box. The idea was prompted by the recent fire at Deary, which showed the results from insufficient fire protection. It is claimed that if a hose located as suggested above had been available when Leslie Robert's residence caught fire from a burning woodshed, there would have been little if any damage to the house and contents.

Another important matter concerning fire protection in Kendrick is an efficient fire alarm. This question has been discussed by the city fathers many times but no action taken that has brought results. A fire alarm even at considerable expense, will pay for itself many times during a period of years, in the amount of property saved from destruction by fire. A fire equipment without an alarm is not efficient by any means. Kendrick has a splendid water supply and sufficient pressure to answer any demands for fire use. A fire alarm means quick action and quick action at a fire means saving many dollars worth of property.

POULTRY

Place Roosts Low When Above Dropping Boards
 When roosts are not placed above dropping boards they should be made low. Even when there is a dropping platform under the roosts, there are a number of good reasons for keeping the whole arrangement as low as possible.
 The heavier fowls cannot fly, and even those of the lighter breeds injure the bottoms of their feet in jumping from high perches. The larger hens show their dislike of the high perch when getting off in the morning, if at no other time.
 It is not unusual for a heavy fowl to spend several minutes in making up her mind to take the jump, making several false attempts to jump before finally doing so. Large male birds also often suffer internal injuries in this way. This shows that the fowl regards it as a serious matter. The number of heavy fowls that get their feet bruised in this way is large and it often leads to "bumble foot." There really is not a single good point to recommend the high roost.

When dropping boards are used they should be as low as possible to permit of easy cleansing. In some cases they can well slope down almost to the floor on one side, in which case it is possible to have the roosts low and handy for both fowls and caretaker.
 One good authority says: "Dropping boards should be made of matched lumber, and should be 20 inches wide for one roost, and three feet for two roosts, the first being placed eight to ten inches from the wall." This is so that vermin cannot leave the roost and spread all over the house.

Increasing Demand for Fowls of Heavy Breeds
 There is a shortage of good poultry throughout the country, and this is especially so in heavy breeds, for which an increasing demand has been noticed. The good old Plymouth Rock still keeps on in popular favor, Rhode Island Reds coming fast, due to a wonderful specialty club, and backed by a lot of good breeders. White Wyandottes are coming fast, the leading breeders being unable to fill orders, and the Buff Orpingtons also coming steady, with the prospects of gaining unusual strength next winter in the East. The ever-popular, so-called egg machine, the White Leghorn, still holds its own, especially in the zones where a premium is paid for a white-shelled egg. One breed that will come stronger is the Ancona. Its field, so far, has been in the West and on the coast, but its merits are becoming known in the East and South, and it will soon take a strong hold. Laying a white-shelled egg of good size, hardy as the White Leghorn, good sized, a good grower, it should take its place among the leaders of egg producers in this zone.

Farmers Lose Big Money From Poor Egg Methods
 Bad eggs are not the result of accident; they are examples of neglect, slovenly management, and shiftlessness. It is just as easy to produce and market good-quality eggs as it is to offend consumers with stale, fertile eggs. Farmers lose approximately $50,000,000 a year from bad methods of producing and handling eggs. One-third of this loss is preventable, because it is due to partial hatching of fertile eggs which have been allowed to become warm enough to begin to incubate.

 The rooster makes the egg fertile while the fertilized egg produces the blood ring which is the partial development of the chick. The rooster does not increase egg production; he merely fertilizes the germ of the egg, and hence he should be allowed to run with the flock only during the hatching season. After the hatching season is over the male birds should be confined, killed, or sold.

Poultry Notes
 The wise poultryman knows that the early bird catches the best profits.
 The greatest enemy of disease is cleanliness and freedom from drafts and dampness.
 The Anconas are good layers and are classed along with the Leghorns in egg production.
 Sunflowers make good shade and the seeds will be mighty valuable in the autumn for the molting hens.
 No one grain alone will keep the turkeys in good condition unless they have the run of the barn and can pick up other food therein.
 A well-developed, vigorous, young tom usually proves a good breeder, but females less than a year old should never be bred from.
 Enough eggs are wasted through careless handling every year to make fifty men millionaires. Fresh, clean, well-packed eggs bring special profits.
 Feeds for newly-hatched geese and ducks should contain a large per cent of greens from the start. No feed should be given for the first twenty-four hours after hatching.

Cut Bone Necessary to Provide Balanced Ration
 One pound of cut bone for a dozen hens every day is just about right. On farms the cost for bones should be little or nothing, yet some folks think it does not pay to procure a bone cutter. This is a mistake. Bone cutters are now cheaper than many ordinary garden tools and are strong, durable and efficient. The cost of the cutter is an investment soon returned by the increased number of eggs laid. It is almost indispensable in providing fowls with a balanced ration. The regular use of bone also effects a great saving in the quantity of grain feeds necessary for the flock.

Chickens Self-Feeders When Given Free Range
 Chickens will "pick up" a good part of their living from waste that otherwise would never become of any value. They will feed themselves, to an extent, from grass, weeds, insects and crumbs, and small scraps, that if not eaten by chickens, would not become of food value to man. They will eat the eggs and larvae from which come various destructive insects, particularly orchard pests. In some orchards where chickens range, the brown-tail moth has almost disappeared, while nearby orchards, where chickens do not run, are damaged by the pest.

Guinea Fowl Does Well With Little Attention
 Guinea fowl might well be bred in the United States more extensively, either along with other poultry or in larger numbers by themselves. The varieties have been improved in recent years and there is reason to believe that the improvement will continue and breeding them will become an increasingly important branch of the poultry industry. The birds do well on comparatively little food in addition to what they will gather if allowed to range.

Mrs. Ernest Bolon arrived the first of the week from Lewiston to visit relatives here.

Wm. Meyer returned Monday evening from a trip to his homestead in the Three Bear country. He saw two deer in the woods not far from the homestead, but didn't have a gun with him.

Mrs. R. H. Raney left Tuesday morning for Spokane to visit for a few days with friends.

George E. Knepper, father of the editor, closed a deal this week for the purchase of the Bird 8 acre tract, located a quarter of a mile from Kendrick on Potlatch creek. The new owner expects to make some extensive improvements in the property and will make his home there with his daughter, May.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Hanson drove to Lewiston Sunday afternoon.

R. F. Bigham went to the J. B. Helpman ranch Monday to do some "water witching". Bob is said to be a genuine water witch. He said Monday that he struck one hidden vein of water on Mr. Helpman's place that was so strong it broke the willow stick in his hand. We advise caution in drilling a well over such a powerful vein as it will probably result in a gusher.

At the S. H. Knepper sale near Moscow last Friday grade Jersey cows sold as high as $150. One four months old calf sold for $26.

A negro's idea of the most useful animal is the chicken, because "you can eat them before they is born and after they is dead."

M. B. McConnell stated this week that as a result of the announcement in last week's Gazette he had numerous inquiries for milk cows, showing that this community is anxious to go in for dairying. The earload shipment of cows to be received next month is creating considerable interest and there is every probability there will be sufficient demand to warrant more than one earload in the near future.

The foot ball enthusiasts who went from here to see Idaho take W. S. C. down the line 14 to 0, said it was a thrilling game from start to finish. A crowd of approximately 10,000 people attended the game from all over the Inland Empire.

A meeting of the Clearwater District A. F. & A. M. of Idaho was held here last night at the Fraternal Temple with a good attendance. The Third Degree was put on by past masters from Kendrick lodge, Lewiston furnishing the candidate. A nice lunch was served by N. Brocke.

A large barn on the C. L.

Williamson place near Princeton, containing 100 tons of timothy hay, was totally destroyed by fire last week. The loss was estimated at $4500 with no insurance.

The rummage sale which started yesterday under the auspices of the Methodist church, is attracting considerable attention. The ladies served lunch at the noon hour and sold out in short order. The sale will continue the balance of the week.

A. N. Rognstad of Bear ridge received delivery this week of a new Oldsmobile car, the latest model. The sale was made by A. Frost of Lewiston.

Frank Bencoter of American ridge returned yesterday afternoon from a visit at Lewiston and Clarkston.

Dave Gentry returned Thursday from a business trip to Spokane.

Friends of the Pickering family received a card this week from them written at Anatone, their new home. They state they are doing nicely there and like it very much.

Mrs. J. L. Harris of Southwick was transacting business in Kendrick, Thursday and attended the Methodist ladies aid dinner at noon. She will spend the winter with her son, Gordon, in Lewiston.

Someone from the Bovill country sent a young curlew to Otis Gentry, Thursday, to have it stuffed. The bird is a species of snipe, only larger than the average snipe. It is becoming quite rare in Idaho, though 15 or 20 years ago it was common, especially in the Nez Perce prairie country.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bird arrived last week to make the transfer of their ranch near Kendrick to the new owner. Mrs. Bird expects to spend the winter in California.

The friends of Mrs. Cecil Emmett will be glad to learn that her condition is improving and that it is believed she will soon entirely recover from her illness.

It is reported that Al McKee has traded all of his Latah county holdings in on a big stock ranch in Montana. Mr. McKee is an experienced stockman and has been on a deal for the Montana property for some time. The transaction involves a large amount of valuable real estate.

Mrs. W. J. Winters returned to Spalding Thursday after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Southwick, at Southwick.

To date no bids have been opened for the Cedar Creek road project. Figures for the estimated cost are still not available but are expected every day by the commissioners.

The steamer J. N. Teal, operated by the Union Pacific railroad, commenced operation recently on about two months of grain hauling according to word received from Lewiston. The steamer will load at points on the south side of the Snake river and will haul to points on the railroad along the north side. The Gazette sent out a number of subscription statements last week and an early response on the part of some has been the result. Those who are still in the red may get right by firing a check to this office by Western Union, U. S. Mail—but not by radio—we have no receiving set, thank goodness. Money orders are all right too and even cash is all right if you don't try to pay in German marks. The main thing is to send it in.

George Davidson left Tuesday for the Loehsa country above Lowell. He drove as far as Lowell in his car and there will be met by Fred Crocker and the trip continued to the upper Clearwater country by pack train, where the big game holds forth. These mighty hunters will no doubt return with necklaces of bear claws and their pockets full of elk teeth.

Sandy Clay Loams Best for Growing Raspberry

The red and purple raspberry varieties, such as the Cuthbert and Lowdon, seem to grow best on sandy clay loams, while the black caps, of which the Gregg is perhaps the leading variety, are planted by experienced growers on rich clay loams, but neither the red nor the black are over particular and will do well on any well drained fertile loams.
