Latah County News Paragraphs

Items of Interest Taken From Neighboring Papers

Juliaetta—At a joint conference held in Juliaetta Friday between the board of county commissioners and the board of village trustees, a contract was let to Campbell & Barr, of Lewiston, for macadamizing the road from the Latah-Nezperce county line, about two miles west of town, through Main street and to the bridge that spans the Little Potlatch east of Juliaetta. The street leading from Main street to the depot is also included in the contract. The contract price is $1.65 per yard. The road is to be 12 feet wide and the gravel is to be spread to a depth of four inches. Work is to begin March 1, and is to be completed by June 15 of this year.

It is understood that the Lewiston commercial club and the county commissioners of Nezperce county have agreed to extend the macadamized road from the Clearwater highway, at Arrow Junction, to the Latah-Nezperce county line, thus providing a gravel road from Kendrick to Lewiston with the exception of a short gap of road between Juliaetta and Kendrick. The filling of this gap will no doubt be arranged for in the near future.

A meeting will be held soon with the commissioners of the Clearwater highway district to try to arrange the funds with which to extend the Clearwater highway from Arrow Junction to the Latah-Nezperce county line.

It appears that the good roads movement has come to stay, and already splendid improvement in commercial conditions is manifest wherever good highways have been completed. And while the burden of taxation for financing these highways falls heaviest upon the owners of real property, yet the gasoline tax compels owners of cars to pay a part of this cost, also. And when a law is enacted providing for a heavy tax on trucks, graded by tonnage, the upkeep of roads and highways will be on a safer basis, as well as a more equitable one.—Star Mirror.

Charles Hawkins of Avon has purchased the Lester McGraw sawmill and is moving it to the S. M. Davis place, upon which there is a fine stand of virgin timber. This mill is complete with planer etc. Mr. Hawkins expects to occupy the site for ten or fifteen years, having several million feet of good timber available. He will give especial attention to the retail trade. While in town Monday Mr. Hawkins placed an order with the Press for printed office supplies.

Galloway-Larson

Last Sunday at noon Miss Marie Galloway and Mr. George Larson were quietly married at Cameron on the Lutheran parsonage, by Rev. E. A. Rein. Miss Edith Larson and Mr. John Galloway acted as maid of honor and best man respectively.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom motored to the bride's home on Bear ridge where a bridal dinner awaited them. After a short honeymoon trip to Lewiston they returned to Cameron to make their home on the Larson farm.

On Tuesday evening a number of their friends surprised them with a kitchen shower, which proved to be an enjoyable affair.

We all join in wishing the young couple a long and happy future.

Ole Lien of Bear ridge was a Moscow visitor last Saturday.

Mrs. Hattie M. Alexander

Hattie M. Alexander was born April 18th, 1852. Died February 12th, 1924. Age 71 years, 9 months and 24 days.

Mrs. Alexander was born near Marietta, Ohio. In early childhood her parents moved to Illinois where she grew to womanhood. After finishing her education she taught school there and also at McPherson, Kansas, later returning to Flora, Illinois and there was married to John P. Alexander in 1881. Five years later Mr. and Mrs. Alexander came west and located at Moscow, Idaho, where they resided for two years, during which time Mr. Alexander located a homestead on Cedar Creek ridge, to which they moved and continued to reside on the ridge until death called them hence. Mr. Alexander passed away two years ago.

Mrs. Alexander was a member of the United Presbyterian church. She was an earnest, consecrated christian and was always ready to do all she could in word and deed for the advancement of the cause of Christ.

She is survived by three sons and one daughter: Clyde of Winchester, Addison of Linden, Lewis of Crescent and Mrs. Mettie Stone of Lewiston; two neices, four nephews, seven grandchildren and a host of friends.

Her death marked the passing of another pioneer of whom but few are left who were the first settlers on the ridge.

It was thru her efforts along with a few others who were faithful, that the Sunday school was first organized on Cedar Creek ridge and she was a faithful worker in it until the day of her death.

She will be greatly missed in the home, community and church, but we would not call her back because we feel that she could say with the Apostle of old: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the Righteous Judge shall give me at that day, and not to me only but to all them also that love His appearing."—II Timothy 4: 7, 8. We will miss her cheerful smile and her words of encouragement that she had for all.

Services were held in the Gold Hill church at Linden, Idaho, and were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Pressnal, and she was laid to rest by the side of her husband in the Gold Hill cemetery, February 15, 1924.

Commercial Club Held Meeting

Good Attendance and Much Interest Shown

The Commercial Club met at the hotel last Tuesday evening with a large number present and an interesting and profitable meeting resulted.

The first order of business taken up was the election of a manager for the baseball team. R. H. Ramey was unanimously elected. He has had many years of experience as a baseball player and also as manager of ball teams and his election will no doubt prove to be a happy selection. Mr. Ramey stated at the meeting that he would need the financial support of the business houses to give the team a good start. Baseball suits will have to be purchased and other incidental expenses cared for.

Twenty members of the club signed up for the name plates for their automobiles, the word "Kendrick" to be printed on the plates as a booster for the town.

The Club unanimously endorsed the McNary-Haugen bill and the officers were authorized to wire representatives at Washington to use their influence for the passage of the bill.

The matter of severing the southwest corner of Latah county and having that territory annexed to Nez Perce county was suggested and met with considerable favor. A committee was appointed by the chairman to investigate the feasibility of the idea.

Other matters were discussed generally and adjournment was then taken. The next meeting will be the second Tuesday of March.

Biggest Egg in the World

One of Norris Walker's hens laid the biggest egg in the world one day this week. It measures 8 inches the long way and 6 3/4 inches the short way. It was hauled to the Gazette office in a two ton truck. The hen that laid this egg was certainly an optimist.

Miss Evelyn Hanson was a Moscow visitor Thursday afternoon.

Every road drag in the Potlatch country ought to be busy these days. Dragging dirt roads at the proper time in the spring saves road work later on in the season and also allows for better drainage during the spring rains. Money spent for dragging is a wise investment.

There are more road building projects in the Potlatch country at the present time than at any other time in the past. It won't be long until there will be good roads on all of the ridges tributary to Kendrick.

Death of Dr. Rothwell

Dr. W. A. Rothwell, who practiced medicine in the Kendrick territory for the past 34 years, died at the Deaconess hospital in Spokane at 9:30 o'clock, Wednesday morning, February 20, 1924. Death was caused by a complication of diseases which resulted in a general physical breakdown. During his illness in Spokane he had the best of medical attention but he gradually failed until death came.

In accordance with the wish, expressed in his will, the body was cremated Thursday and the ashes sent to Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, for burial.

Dr. Rothwell was born in Ontario, Canada, and although he made the United States his home for the greater part of his life, he never became a citizen of this country. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Emory, of Spokane, a brother at Swans Lake, Manitoba; a sister in Toronto and one in Ottawa, Ontario.

Few men have led a more unselfish life of service than did Dr. Rothwell. During his many years of practice here he answered calls for his assistance regardless of the financial standing of his patients. In the early days his territory reached as far back as Pierce City, which place he visited on horseback on numerous occasions.

Many are the stories that might be told of long night rides over the worst possible roads, which he took to visit the sick in families whose circumstances were such that no financial recompense might ever be expected. The Doctor had accounts for professional calls, scattered for a radius of 20 miles or more, which if collected, would represent a considerable fortune. Rather than present a bill for professional service, he would go to the bank and borrow money when needed.

His skill as a physician was widely recognized so that his life in Kendrick represented thirty-four extremely busy years, full of service to the entire community. A kind heart, a willing spirit, a brilliant mind and devotion to his profession—such was the life of this good country doctor.

At this meeting the work of the past year will be reviewed and plans made for improving and extending this work during the coming season. Project leaders and officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

In a statement calling the meeting, president Erick Oller, of Moscow, said: "The Latah County farm bureau has done much constructive work in the past and there is even greater work ahead of it. There never was a time when there was greater need for close cooperation among farmers, and the Latah County farm bureau is doing its part to further the interests of the farmers of Latah County. All farmers can join in our work and are invited and urged to attend our annual meeting regardless of whether they are or are not members of the farm bureau."

Farmers to Mees at Moscow

Mix and Prof. H. P. Dale who have just returned from Washington, D. C., where they represented the wheat growers of Idaho before senate committees, President Coolidge, and various boards and commissions.

Mr. Mix and Prof. Dale were sent to Washington early in January by farmers and business men of Idaho and have worked tirelessly to secure the passage of legislation that will bring relief to the wheat grower. These men will explain bills that are now before congress, paying special attention to the McNary-Haugen bill, which would put into action the export commission plan, and will show what progress has been made and what remains to be done by the people of this section.

Everyone interested in farmers' problems is invited to attend. The meeting will be called promptly at 1:00 p. m.

WASHINGTON

Liberty unsheathed his sword, necessity stained, victory returned it. If he had paused here history might have doubted what station to assign him—whether at the head of her citizens or her soldiers, her heroes or her patriots. But the last glorious act crowns his career, and banishes all hesitation.

Who, like Washington, after having emancipated a hemisphere, resigned its crown, and preferred the retirement of domestic life to the adoration of a land he might almost be said to have created?

How shall we rank thee upon Glory's page
Thou more than soldier and just less than sage?
All thou hast been reflects
less fame on thee,
Far less than all thou has forborne to be.

Poultry Mating

According to Professor Parkhurst, University poultryman, the successful mating of poultry depends upon a number of factors. For example, the proportion of males to females depends upon the activity of the flock, season, condition and whether the birds are penned or on range. When both old males and females are to be used, fewer females should be mated to a male. In large flocks, more females can be mated to one male than in small flocks. During February and March, it is necessary to mate fewer females to a male than in April, May, or June. On the average, with the small active breeds, one male to twenty-five females on range and one male to fifteen females when penned is the rule. With the heavier breeds one male to fifteen females on range and one male to eight or ten females when penned is about right.

With domesticated varieties of turkeys, it is safe to mate as many as fifteen hens to a good, vigorous, young tom. In the wild varieties, eight hens with one male is the limit. If a flock of 25 to 30 hens are to be mated, the use of two toms is desirable. Allow the toms to alternate days, as this will prevent fighting, which often results in injury, or death. Three toms are usually sufficient for a flock of 40 to 50 hens, if alternated each day or half day. Laying usually begins a week or ten days after the turkey hen has first mated. A single mating is all that is necessary to fertilize the eggs in a litter.

In mating ducks, a smaller number of drakes can be used later than in the beginning of the mating season. The proportion of drakes and ducks to use will vary from 1 to 5 to 1 to 8 with the different methods of management and weather conditions. A good average is one drake to seven ducks. Flocks matings may be made with ducks, as the drakes do not fight seriously. It is the usual practice to avoid inbreeding by securing drakes from some other flock each year.

Geese should be mated several months prior to the breeding season to secure the best results. Goose matings are not changed from year to year, unless the results are unsatisfactory. A gander may be mated with from one to four geese. However, pair or trio matings usually give the best results. Three to five year old geese are usually best for breeding purposes.

Suppose that the use of a new implement this spring would save you $100.00.

How much will you lose by not buying that implement this spring? How much will this implement really cost you if you wait until next year to buy it?

It will really cost you the market price plus the One Hundred Dollars lost by not having this implement in use this coming season.

Waiting to buy such an implement would be just as poor economy as waiting until next year to put out a crop, in hopes of getting lower priced seed.

Good implements are the best friends that a farmer can have. They are profit makers—not profit takers. Year in and year out, good implements enable you to make the best of conditions as they come.

Don't go into the race for farming profits this year crippled by worn-out implements.
