Entered at the post office at Kendrick as second class mail matter.

Since the first of the year we have become firmly convinced that if we had any idea of starting up in the moonshining business our seat of operations would be as far from Latah county as possible.

We have come to the conclusion that there are still some people in this part of the country who are so far behind the times that they think a barber shop is a place for men only.

It is reported that the postal department sells 12 million stamped envelopes a day, a large proportion of them printed. Why should the Government retail printed envelopes in competition to established print shops all over the country? If this is good business then why not go a step farther and have the government install retail stores where merchandise is sold below cost and charge the deficit up to the taxpayers?

We have heard farmers say that they could not afford to raise their own garden stuff, milk cows, or keep a flock of chickens—that their time in the field was too valuable to waste in the smaller farming operations. We have in mind one farmer on Potlatch ridge whose experience is contrary to this oft repeated idea. He farms 80 acres of land, keeps a nice flock of laying hens, raises a big flock of turkeys every year; milks a few cows, raises beans, wheat clover seed. He is prospering and always has money in the bank. There is no occupation quite so independent as that of the farmer when he has a farm that is not so large but that he can take care of it himself. Smaller farms and diversified farming would increase the prosperity in the Potlatch.

Arthur Brisbane: In the World war John Lennroths back was broken, both of his legs were mangled but he is not discouraged. He has just undergone his 88th surgical operation. With both legs off, he manages an automobile, especially constructed, drove alone from California to Walla Walla, Wash., on his way to operation No. 88. That is a tribute to a brave man's courage, the fact that he still lives is a tribute to surgical skill, science. In the old days, before surgeons understood germs, infection, the chances against living thru 88 operations would have been one in millions.

The hotel situation in Kendrick is a problem that occupied most of the session of the commercial club Tuesday night. There are two good hotel buildings here but both are sadly in need of repair. They are owned by non-residents who have little or no interest in the town. The buildings have been leased for many years with no allowance made for upkeep. One building, the old Kendrick Hotel, is empty except for the corner room which was formerly used for a lobby and is now occupied by the pool room. This building is owned by a Spokane man who will neither lease nor sell at a reasonable figure. The other building has been leased by Mrs. McDowell but it is in such need of repairs that it will be closed unless the owner can be induced to put it in better condition. A few years ago when times were no better than they are now, two hotels were able to eke out an existence here. There should be enough business to make one properly conducted hotel pay a reasonable profit. It doesn't stand to reason that a hotel will be patronized if there is a leaky roof over all of the rooms.

Rapid progress is being made with the spring work in the Potlatch. The splendid weather during this month has been a great boon to the farmers. Some have finished their plowing and seeding and are now working their bean ground to get it in a good state of cultivation before planting time.

We are in receipt of a valuable bulletin from the Department of Agriculture on "Effect of Garlic on the Flavor and Odor of Milk." To those who use garlic for stock food this pamphlet should be of inestimable value.

After all, yourself is the only person you can by no possibility get away from in this life and, maybe, in another. It is worth a little pains and money to do good to him.—Kipling.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

When a man knows that it is the neighbor's dog that barks all night long, the neighbor's chickens that dig up the garden, the neighbor's wife's extravagance that makes his own wife extravagant, the neighbors car that is finer than his own, the neighbor's job that is better than his, the neighbor's homely brats that are always marring the countenances of his own darlings—I ask you, can he be expected to love his neighbor as himself?—Ex.
