Ship Cattle to Spokane

The Erickson Bros., cattlemen shipped a carload of cattle from their Hog Meadow ranch to Spokane this week. The cattle were driven into Deary Monday and were in good condition. For a number of years the Ericksons have been raising cattle on the meadow, good summer range being available in the open hills. They have the only "resident" herd in this section of the country.

In the bunch of cattle sold this week was one shorthorn cow that weighed 1660 pounds. The cattle were purchased by D. F. Gentry, who drove them to Kendrick, where they were to be loaded for shipment.—Deary Press

Got a Drink, Anyway

A woman in a neighboring town, while on her way to the train, stopped at her husband's store and was told that he was in the barbershop. She had only a minute and she rushed to the shop, bent over a man whose face was covered with lather, kissed him on the mouth and charged him to write to her every day. Her husband happened to be in the last chair, and the astonished man she had kissed had never seen her before but she boarded the train without knowing the difference. As soon as the shaving was over, the man who was missed and the man who was kissed shook hands and walked out to a nearby saloon for a drink. ("Those were the good old days remarked the man who handed us this story.—Genesee News.

In 1923 there were 15,714 fatal automobile accidents in the United States. In all the world war only 36,926 American soldiers were killed in action. The highways, statistics show, are more dangerous than the battle front. This condition is due almost entirely to carelessness. If the traffic laws were obeyed and the rules for the operation of cars properly observed the death toll would be small. What seems to be needed in these perilous times is a fresh recognition of the value of a human life and the punishment of those who so willfully disregard the laws made for their observance. We do not need other laws, just live in obedience to the laws we have.—Troy News.

Approximately $20,000 is represented in the insurance claims, which have just been adjusted in connection with the death of Paul Komp and Dave Kienholz, who were killed November 27, in a cave-in in the clay pits of the Moscow Fire Brick & Clay Products company, near Joel, and the injury of Carlo Cherutti, which occurred at the same time. The brick company carried insurance with the Maryland Casualty company.

Under the policy, hospital bills are paid and funeral expenses up to $200 and monthly payments are made to the widows until the youngest child reaches the age of 18 years. In the case of the Komp and Kienholz families, each will receive approximately $8000, in monthly payments from the insurance company. There are small children in each family.

Cherutti, who was seriously injured, is improving rapidly and it is believed that he will entirely recover from the injuries.—Star-Mirror.

Fire Caused Slight Damage

One of the residences of Wm. Freytag, next door to the Julia Broeke home, caught fire on the inside yesterday morning. Sam Bolon was getting the place ready for occupancy and wall paper which was being torn from the walls, caught fire. The blaze was brought under control with a garden hose without very extensive damage to the property.

Poultry

Toe picking by baby chicks is a vice that may prove serious. During the first 60 hours in the brooder chicks are often a little hungry and start picking at each other's toes until bleeding results. Many crippled and dead chicks often result. Darkening the brooder house during the first few days is a satisfactory preventive. The immediate removal of injured chicks is also advisable.—R. T. Parkhurst

Livestock

Cattle in Idaho are generally fed in the open without shelter and a windbreak is desirable. In many sections wet and muddy is important that they be kept bedded with straw. There are a great many favorable locations with sand and gravel lots, however, and where this is not natural results so far indicate that it is practical to haul gravel for the purpose.—E. F. Rhinehurst

Agronomy

It is estimated that the annual weed bill of the American farmer is $18,000,000 bushels of wheat. The average percent of dockage in wheat sold on western markets is approximately 2 per cent. At this rate Idaho farmers hauled 10,000 tons of dockage to market in 1924. A serious loss, yet a rightful one and preventable, since a large part of this was due to weeds. When similar losses in the other small grains and other crops are added an idea is gained of the serious losses incurred.—H. W. Hurlbert

In the Home

The lack of plenty of running water in the house is indeed one of the great drawbacks to farm home life in Idaho, and there is probably less necessity for it than for any other disadvantage of equal seriousness. It is possible to have running water in the kitchen sink at a very small cost in money or labor. A bulletin describing several inexpensive systems is now being prepared and in the meantime information on the subject may be obtained at the college of agriculture.—M. R. Lewis

Sunday at Kite Home

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Kite gathered at the Kite home on American ridge last Sunday afternoon to spend the day. Mr. Kite met the Kendrick delegation at the foot of the grade with a big hobbsled and the ride to the top of the grade was a pleasing part of the day's festivities.

At six o'clock a sumptuous dinner was spread after which the evening was spent with games and other amusements. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Geo. Davidson, John Brocke, Leith, Daubenberg, E. T. Long, Ramey, Seeley, MacPherson, Carl Carlson, Edgar Long, the Misses Seeley and Hedeen.

We are taught that a year has 52 weeks and on that basis the subscription to the Gazette is $1.50 for 52 issues. Work County Prisoners

The Latah county commissioners, in session at Moscow this week, passed an order that will compel the county prisoners held in jail at Moscow, to work while serving their sentences. They may be worked on the roads, court house grounds and the poor farm. Last summer a number of prisoners volunteered to work at the poor farm rather than to lie idle in jail.

Too Many Tax Receipts

There is one place in the United States where a house could be built with each of its four corners in a different state—Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. If such a house were built the occupant could get out of bed in Utah, take his bath in Colorado, eat breakfast in Arizona and sun himself on his front porch in New Mexico. But he would need a private secretary to keep his tax receipts straight.

Geo. Jones of Southwick returned Wednesday on the night train from a visit with his wife and sons at Elk River. He also stopped in Spokane on the way home.

Guests of Juliaetta High School

Last Friday evening the Kendrick basket ball boys, coach and superintendent of schools were given a pleasant evening entertainment at Juliaetta, by the Juliaetta basket ball team, high school students and their superintendent and teachers.

A sumptuous banquet was served in the Methodist church. They were afterwards escorted to the high school building where three short plays were given by the students.

The plays were well staged, the actors showing good training and ability.

The banquet, music and plays were highly appreciated by the Kendrick guests and we wish to take this opportunity to thank the students, teachers and superintendent for the pleasant evening.—A guest.

Petition For Lower Rates

A petition asking a reduction in light and power rates was circulated in Kendrick this week. This petition is to be presented to the town council at their next regular meeting, which occurs on Tuesday, February 2. It requests the council to take up the local light and power rates with the state public utilities with a view of securing a lower rate here.

The Kendrick, Troy and Juliaetta power lines are owned by A. Wilmot, who buys his electric power from the Washington Water Power Co. on a "peak load" rate, his lines connecting with the Washington Water Power at Moscow. Mr. Wilmot in turn sells the power to the three towns, allowing special power and heating rates and a higher rate on lighting.

In view of lower rates granted two Latah county towns, Moscow and Genesee, the idea is held here that a lower rate should be given to consumers of light and power sold by Mr. Wilmot. The matter of circulating this petition has been talked of for a good many years, but no action has been taken until this week. It is probably well that the matter should be settled for all time, one way or the other, as there will be less dissatisfaction on the part of the public if the matter is threshed out.

The petition met with little opposition as all but one or two business houses in town signed, together with many individuals.

Kendrick has first class 24 hour light and power service. If a few adjustments might be made in the rates, there could be no room for complaint. Before any action is taken in the matter by the council, Mr. Wilmot will no doubt be given an opportunity to present his side of the question. He may be able to throw further light on the subject.

Surface Juliaetta Streets

E. M. Booth has the contract of surfacing the streets of Juliaetta with crushed rock. The contract calls for 1600 yards of fine rock which will be used for top coat on the streets that have already been surfaced with one course. The crusher is operating now on this contract and the work being carried on as rapidly as possible.

KENDRICK NEWS 20 YEARS AGO

Taken From Copy of Gazette Published in 1905

After several years of musical inactivity the rising generation has met the town's need and organized themselves into the Kendrick band. It was in December the boys decided upon the move and began practicing, but it is only of late that they have organized. They now have all the necessary officers and instructor from Lewiston, who gives two lessons per week. The city hall is the place of meeting. The members are: Ed Acheson, Kier Bibb, and Walter Thomas, cornets; Earl Plummer and Roy Durbin, altos; Frank Greene, tenor; Wm. Brown, baritone; John Terry, bass; Earl Hunter, snare drum. The officers are: John Terry, president; Wm. Brown, secretary, Frank Greene, treasurer; Geo. Barnum, Manager; Prof. Backstrosser, instructor.

Double Wedding Anniversary

The Carl L. Wegner home was the scene of a very lively party, Tuesday evening, given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Blum's twenty-seventh wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Wegner's tenth anniversary.

The main feature of the party was the widely known progressive "Caroom" game, there being five tables arranged in the different rooms. After playing until 11:30, the tallies were figured up and the consolation prizes given to Mrs. Herman Meyer and Erick Becker. When the first prizes were to be awarded it was found that the Messrs. Rein, Henry Brammer, Gustav Blum and A. H. Blum had tied for men's prize, so to determine the winners they played two more games and eliminated the losers, Rev. Rein and Mr. Brammer the first game and Mr. Blm the second game. The prize was given to Gustav Blum and lady's prize to Miss Henrietta Blum.

At midnight a delicious and sumptuous lunch was served consisting of sandwiches, pickles, doughnuts, coffee, cake and ice cream. After lunch pinochle was enjoyed by several of the guests while the rest amused themselves by "gossiping" and listening to the Edison.

At an early hour Wednesday morning, the guests departed congratulating the two couples and wishing them many more such happy days.

The guests were: Rev. and Mrs. Rein and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Blum and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyers and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brammer, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koepf, Mr. and Mrs. George Ehlers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Aug. O. Wegner and children, Herman and Walter Silflow, Erick Becker and Albert Brammer.

All bonds and stocks offered for sale in Idaho must be approved by the state department of finance. It is easy to check up on these salesmen. Don't let them "high pressure" you until you have had time to investigate. In most cases your banker can tell you whether the paper is worthless or not. It's the fast-working salesmen who sell the worthless paper.

Idaho needs its wealth and much more for its own development. Idaho money should be kept in Idaho to insure the prosperity of all.

Studes in English

Purity—Propriety—Precision—these three qualities of style go 'hand in hand' and are always found in the works of great writers and speakers. Purity requires that a word have a present, national standing; that is, it must be neither too old nor too new, and must be in general use in all sections of the country. Propriety of diction demands that a word convey the meaning intended to be conveyed. Precision requires the selection of words that cut off all extraneous ideas,—words that express just what is meant and no more.

No one can express clearly that which he imperfectly understands, because any vagueness of ideas is accompanied by obscurity of expression. But "clearness and copiousness of language tend directly to affluence and precision of thought."

If we would write well, we must think well: and thinking well is "thinking in pure, precise, clear, and melodious words." Command of a rich and varied stock of such words combined with the ability to select from that stock just such terms as we need on every occasion distinguishes the accomplished rhetorician from the half educated amateur author. A little diligent study given every day to words and their ways,—their similarities and differences,—will soon reward the student with a power of expression that will surprise him.

SYNONYMS

Difficultly, Obstacle, Impediment. A difficulty perplexes, while an obstacle retards us. We remove the one and surmount the other. Philip of Macedon found difficulty in governing the Athenians because of the nature of their dispositions; but the eloquence of Demosthenes was the greatest obstacle to his sinister designs. Impediments embarrass us and sometimes prove fatal unless removed. An impediment in his speech proved fatal to his success as an orator.

Occasion—Opportunity

An occasion is that which presents itself in the course of events; an opportunity denotes the fitness of time and place for the performing of an act. I had occasion to meet him frequently, but not an opportunity to speak to him on the subject of evolution. We embrace an opportunity, but act as the occasion may require.

An exchange remarks that the first loud speaker was made of a rib.

The question has been asked "Is the road building project in this district dead?" Just at the present time it is dead, but as soon as the weather is good in the spring it is going to come to life again. Engineer VanArsdol will run a preliminary survey on Bear ridge early in the spring, when the mud dries up and the warm weather comes. The Kendrick highway commissioners are making arrangements with him for this work.

The Kendrick Commercial Club failed to hold its regular monthly meeting in January. Let's all get behind the club—but not too far behind. It can do some big things in the way of backing the road building program that has been outlined for this section.

Anyone in the market for a radio set can't go very far wrong if he buys one from Kendrick dealers. There are nearly a dozen different makes handled by Kendrick business houses. The radio is not a fad—it is here to stay and the time is coming very soon when there will be but few homes without a radio set.

Concerning Idaho Schools

In an address delivered at the city hall in Caldwell, Tuesday, J. Scott Hall branded the so-called "Idaho educational system" as no system at all. Without delving into the subject or taking issue with the gentlemen we call to mind that the recent thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Idaho State Teachers' Association, held at Boise, at which there were approximately 700 teachers assembled, unanimously passed a resolution that "the system is no longer an experiment, but has demonstrated beyond question its usefulness and advantages." The resolution further said: "It is our judgement that to abolish it or in any way cripple its functioning would work irreparable injury to education in this state."

Thus, persons who are familiar with the subject may choose between the judgement of Mr. Hall and that of 700 teachers in convention assembled. It is well to bear in mind, however, that the fact that Mr. Hall is in a minority is not conclusive evidence that he is wrong. It is, nevertheless, a strong indication to that effect.—Caldwell News.

Annual Tractor Short Course

The annual two weeks tractor short course will be held this year from February 1 to 13. Announcements of the course indicate that it will be similar to the curriculum of previous years except that the character of instruction now is somewhat more elaborate. Seven tractors, five of them new models loaned by the manufacturers, will be used and representatives of tractor companies will be present during the second week to give field demonstrations. An oil company representative also will attend. Instruction through illustrated lectures, demonstrations, and laboratory work will be given on the construction, repair, and operation of the various tractors and tractor engines. Several tractors will be dismantled and examined under skilled supervision. Two days will be devoted to the automobile.

Such work as soldering, babbitting, brazing, case hardening and the use of taps and dies will be taken up. Several emphasis is to be laid on valve timing and ignition systems.

Further information may be secured from the department of Agricultural Engineering, University of Idaho, Moscow.

Oil From Crank Case of Automobile Is Valuable

Oil from the crank case of the automobile or tractor is too valuable to discard, according to the agricultural engineering department of the New Jersey State College of Agriculture. The waste oil may be used for lubricating almost all farm machines. As the oil is used in the crank case it becomes diluted with fuel oil that escapes past the piston, and it may collect a certain amount of fine metal particles and pieces of carbon. It is then necessary to remove it from the engine, but if it is allowed to stand in an open metal container much of the fuel oil evaporates and the solid material settles to the bottom. In this way the lubricating qualities of the oil are restored except that it usually remains too thin for engine use. It is excellent oil for farm machines, or wherever a squirt can is used.

If the top oil is poured off, a heavy residue remains. This may be put into a convenient container and applied with an old paint brush to the scouring surfaces of the field implements.

Any lubricating oil may be used to some extent for insect control. A small amount applied to the surface of ponds or pools of water will prevent mosquito breeding.

The HALOWAT

A New Radio Set Just Arrived.

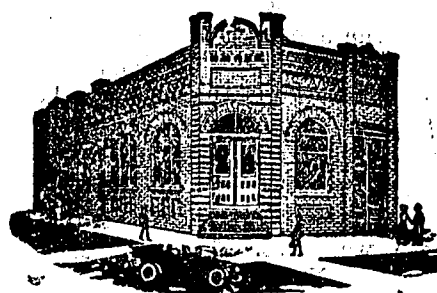

Manufactured in The West to Meet Western Conditions.

As its name implies, the Halowat TR-5 is a five tube tuned radio set embodying the usual three dial control. The circuit, however, presents a radical departure in design from any receiver now on the market. It is a well known fact that the average modern receiver is somewhat critical in adjustment on the shorter wave lengths, usually quite satisfactory on medium waves, and somewhat weak and lacking in "kick" on the longer waves. This difficulty has been completely overcome by a special circuit controlled by a three-position switch located on the right of the panel, which allows maximum possible efficiency with perfect control of tuning over the entire band of broadcasting wave-lengths.

The HALOWAT type TR-5 receiver is built by a Western manufacturer to meet Western conditions. As many radio fans from the East will acknowledge, satisfactory radio reception in the West presents a very different problem where distances between stations are measured in 500 to 1000-mile spans rather than 100 miles or so, as in the congested districts in the East.

WALLEABLE

Don't Wildcat

Boise, Idaho—Commissioner E. W. Porter of the state department of finance recently issued a warning against the investing of Idaho money in worthless stocks. The advice is timely for Idaho's period of prosperity is already bringing the high pressure salesmen of worthless paper with his "suckers" for the bank records show hundreds of thousands of dollars sent out of the state for worthless stock during the period of inflation during the war. Imaginary oil wells, California eucalyptus, South America rubber and Florida swamps and a thousand other visions drained Idaho of money that should have been spent in making prosperity permanent—in building Idaho's taxable wealth.

Someone has said: "If the salesman wants to sell you a 'good' proposition—in most instances it is 'Good' to 'Sell.'" With one prosperous year back of us in Idaho and with good prospects ahead of us we may be certain that efforts will be renewed to "make suckers" of more people in Idaho this year. The roads during the summer are crowded with salesmen, not only the outside peddler, competing with our business men who pay taxes, but the "get-rich-quick" slick "guy" who sees "easy money" out in the "sticks" as he calls it and then laughs at us for being easy "suckers."

The community gave a surprise shower of household necessities on Mr. Jess Thornton and family who lately had the extreme misfortune to lose everything by fire. The whole community sympathizes deeply with them and as usual when the sympathy is genuine they showed it in the right way. Many household things were given which will help toward setting up housekeeping again. They have the best wishes of this whole community.

SOMETHING ABOUT SAUCE

A French sauce is a thing of supreme moment; the fish or meat with which it is served makes a dish of surpassing delicacy. No chef who smokes or indulges in alcoholic drinks can ever attain a high position as chef, for one must keep a sensitive sense of taste. There are few who equal the French in the making of sauces. The preparation of sauces is an art and the science of flavor combination is only discovered by the cook who has a proper respect for the importance of good cooking. A simple sauce is often like a simple gown—most expensive. It takes time to collect ingredients, blend and prepare a sauce.

A sauce is a fluid, thick or thin, flavored or seasoned in various ways with all sorts of herbs, aromatics and extracts. The thickening usually consists of starch in some form, either flour, cornstarch, arrow root, prepared as a roux, which may be cooked in butter. For a brown roux the flour is browned. Egg yolks are used for thickening.

The liquid for sauce may be stock, milk, cream or butter; or, in cold sauce, oil. The vegetable flavors are onions, leeks, garlic, peppers, green, red and hot; carrots, turnip, celery and mushrooms. Zest is often added from the grated rind of oranges or lemons.

The herbs and aromatics commonly used are thyme, marjoram, bay leaves, parsley, mint and chervil. The bones for stock are preferably veal bones, crushed and roasted. Fish bones and heads are used for stock for fish sauces.

The basic sauce prepared with flour or starch, buttermilk or stock is called the white sauce. The brown sauce is prepared by browning the flour. There are various preparations which are an aid in seasoning and also add color—kitchen bouquet, Worcestershire, and tabasco, choy sauces and various powders such as chili and curry are commonly found in most cuisines.

The object of all sauces is to serve a savory fluid which will enhance the appearance and savor of the dish with which it is to be eaten.

Carrying Pregnant Ewes Through Winter Season

Success in carrying the pregnant ewe through the winter to lambing time depends on proper feed and care. The ewe should have a well-balanced ration, which will keep her gaining in weight without becoming fat. The best feeds for this purpose, according to expert feeders, are clover or alfalfa hay, corn silage and a little oats and corn if needed. Corn fodder, straw and other cheap roughages can be used to lower the cost of the ration, but will not do alone.

Give ewes the run of the fields whenever weather permits and see that they take exercise daily even when the weather is bad. Scattering the rough feeds over the lots or pasture is a good way to induce exercise. Salt and fresh, clean water, preferably with the chills taken off, should be supplied regularly.

Live Stock Notes

Never punish a horse for something he cannot help.

Neglect of proper ventilation is very common where hogs are confined.

Experimental work has shown that ground soy beans fed in self-feeders alone with corn and a simple mineral mixture made of ten parts acid phosphate, ten parts wood ashes and one part salt make a good mineral mixture for swine.

A horse weighing 1,200 pounds will consume from 30 to 50 pounds of water a day.

Deadline February 1

The department of law enforcement announces that less than 20,000 motor vehicles have been licensed for the year 1926. It is apparent, therefore, that there is going to be the last minute rush for licenses at the assessor's office in the state, to license the remaining 60,000 cars.

During the last two years there has been much discussion throughout the state as to when licenses must be obtained. Prior to 1924 it had been the practice of the department of law enforcement to set a deadline as late as March 15 or March 1, beyond which date old licenses could not be used. This practice, however, was contrary to the law which definitely fixed January 1 as the date for renewal. Owing to the discussion which resulted from this department requiring, in 1924, that licenses be obtained by January 1st, the last session of the legislature fixed February 1st as the date on which renewals should be made in future years.

There has been some misunderstanding on this question because the 1925 legislature fixed March 15 as the date for renewal for that year, in order to give the people advantage of the reduced fees. However as the law was finally enacted, on February 1 was definitely fixed as the last day for renewal.

When asked the question as to what would be the policy of the department in extending the time beyond February 1st this, F. A. Jeeter, secretary of state, and commissioner of law enforcement, said, "The legislature after full consideration has fixed February 1 as the deadline. This department cannot extend the time and it is the duty of all sheriffs and police officers in the state to see that the law is enforced. The legislature has spoken and in view of this fact it will certainly not be with the consent of this department if people drive their cars after February 1 with a 1925 license. The penalty for such violation is arrest and it is the duty of all law enforcement officials to make such arrests without a warrant."

Much Loss of Fertility Elements of Manures

Agriculture sustains a very heavy annual loss in fertility because of the careless manner in which most barnyard manure is handled. Manure that is allowed to lie in the barnyard through the spring months and sometimes through most of the summer season loses fully one-half of its fertility elements. This should not be permitted, for if there is one thing our soils need it is more plant food and more organic matter.

For 28 years the Ohio experiment station has been carrying on a test with a view of securing data on the loss of fertility in farm manures that are left exposed to weather conditions. In this test eight tons of manure were applied direct from the stables to one-year-old sod ground once in four-year rotations during the month of January. The manure was then plowed under in the spring for corn. In another series of tests an equal weight of manure was taken from the stables at the same time, but was not spread on the fields at hauling time. On the contrary it was allowed to lie flat in piles until April and then applied to the land and plowed under at the same time that the manure scattered in January was turned under. Now, the average increase in the value of crops in favor of applying fresh manure in January was $3.40 per acre per year during the 28-year period referred to. This test has, therefore, clearly shown that it does make a difference how manure is handled.

Don't Be Fooled By FAKE Silk Stocking Tests

When you go to a circus or a carnival you are prepared for fakirs and keep on the lookout for "skin games" and "grafts" of one kind or another. If you spend your money on any of the fake chances you find there, you do so just for the fun of it, and with your eyes open.

But when the suave door-to-door silk stocking agent sits down in your living room and puts his samples through some rough and tumble tests, you may marvel and believe that if his delicate samples will stand such hard usage, he must have a superior product.

Unfortunately most of the tests used by the peddler are fakes used for the purpose of getting your attention. Don't fall for them. They mean nothing. The cheapest silk hosiery on the market will withstand the nail file test if one knows how to handle his file. Laugh at the peddler when he pulls that stunt on you. Let him know that you know he is faking.

The nail file test, the pull test, the hanging-over-the-door test
