An Old One

A dear Methodist, obliged to remain in a certain town over Sunday, started out to attend service in one of the churches of his own faith; but losing his way, and seeing an open church door just across the street, he entered, not knowing to what creed the congregation held. As the service progressed, his religious emotions waxed warmer and warmer until finally he gave vent to them by shouting out: "Praise God!" Immediately one of the ushers tapped him on the shoulder and said: "You can't do that in this church, sir."

Considerate

"Why is it that confounded new maid never answers when we ring the bell?" "I don't think we'd better be too exacting at first, Horace. The girl tells me she used to be employed at a telephone exchange."

Hard times is when the collecting agencies are on your trail so close that you can't even buy a car.

An exchange says that a man usually gives his wife less than she asks for which is 50c more than she expected.

It is stated that in round numbers there were 30,000 people killed by autos last year and 858,000 injured. Judging from the way motorists are driving these days they are out to beat this record. They'll do it, too.

Up at Deary they had a baby clinic last week and those in charge, after careful examination, pronounced the babies of that community "above the average". Babies are above the average everywhere - ask any baby's mother if it isn't so.

A new fangled calendar that requires the insertion of a coin in a slot in a savings bank attached to change the date, is now on the market. Such a calendar would be useless in a newspaper office as it would soon be badly out of date.

We'll never forget the remarkable remark a colored preacher once made in his pulpit. He said: "Never disrespect a man because he am poor. Many a pair of patched britches covers a kind and honest heart." - Caldwell News.

Last summer the writer met a tourist in Yellowstone Park who had just returned from a 30 mile round trip which he made in order to fill his gas tank at a station where gas was selling 5c a gallon less than any place he could get it inside the park. The poor man thought he was saving money. Figuring from the generally accepted standard that it costs 10c per mile to run a car, this man spent $3.00 in order to "save" 50c. Once in a while somebody from this community drives 20 to 30 miles to a "cash and carry" store to "save" a few pennies on a box of groceries.

It's a pretty safe bet that the man who does his trading in the town where he does his banking, knows his stuff. Every property owner should have a personal interest in the up-building of his community. The better the town, which is the center of the community, the more valuable the property. This applies to farm or town property. One big business center where you have first class banking facilities, garage service, good stores, machinery repairs, good warehouses and grain markets, and all the other various lines of "service" that are included in an up-to-date town, is the ideal condition, and is worth fostering by the citizens of the community.

The Merchant Has a Snap

"Yes," remarked the country merchant to the newspaper man, "I certainly have a snap. The wholesale houses send me duns every month and draw on me at sight; but if I send a bill to a man he comes in swearing mad and quits trading at my store. While I am hard up for money, many of those who owe me are sending cash in advance to mail order houses. If I contribute money to any cause people say I am bidding for trade; if I don't they say I'm a hog. Every day I am expected to dig up for something that comes along, from a raffle ticket to a church fund, by the people who say I ought to because they do their trading here; but my friends, Skeers and Chawbuck, neither buy tickets nor help the church funds, and yet get cash in advance business; and if I were to circulate a subscription paper among the wholesale houses I trade with, I would get the laugh proper. If I sell a pair of pants I must treat the family to candy and cigars; if I buy a load of potatoes I must do the same. Customers who are able to pay hang onto their money, while I pay 10 percent at the bank to get ready cash. I have a big business during hard times and poor crops from people who are willing to trade with me providing I can duplicate catalog prices and wait until after harvest for my money. My scales weigh too heavy when I sell sugar and too light when I buy butter. I am a thief, a liar and a grafter. If I smile, I'm a soft-soapy hypocrite; if I don't smile, I am a grump. Yes, this certainly is a snap." Then he looked over $10,000 worth of book accounts, all good, and wondered how he could raise $350 to meet a sight draft tomorrow.—Ex.

GREAT SESQUI STADIUM OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA

The giant arena in the centre of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition site in Philadelphia was built in approximately 300 working days. It was completed in use a month before the opening of the big exposition which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. This photograph, made from the air, shows nearly 3,000 boys on the playing field, massed there for the dedicatory exercises on May 1 which formally opened the structure. In the stands are seated 10,000 persons watching the program. A group of 10,000 persons is a large crowd but they are only a "drop in the bucket" in the big Philadelphia stadium. The boys paraded onto the field to the accompaniment of fourteen bands and there went through their drills and athletic exercises for the benefit of city officials and parents.

WHEN Chas. Gall, Primrose owner of Garner, Ia., said, "I would rather pay the price for a Primrose than to have any of the other makes, even though they were given to me," he spoke out of experience. Once you see and try the McCormick-Deering Primrose you'll probably feel the same way about it. You can't get around the fact that old-fashioned "rub" bearings are inadequate for the high-speed parts of a cream separator. Several years ago Primrose engineers discarded them and gave dairymen a separator running on friction-free ball bearings. The tremendous growth of Primrose popularity proves positively that dairymen appreciate this improved design.

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Polka and screenstar, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

Meeting the "Bull" Durham Smoker Face to Face

I am just making, as the Politician says, "A swing around the Circle," to see what was going on in "Real America." I had been in New York so long, I was getting a kind of a Subway "Slant" on things. I was becoming as narrow as a Metropolitan Newspaper Editorial Writer. My eyesight was getting so poor I couldn't see beyond the Hudson River, and my mind wouldn't function farther away than Albany, N. Y.

I knew that New York was "amusing the world," but I wanted to meet the fellow who was "feeding it." I am kinder oddly constituted. You can cut off my amusement, but if my food stops you are going to have an argument on your hands.

I, as Editor and Proprietor of the Bull's Eye, wanted to meet not only the readers, but the consumers of THIS Wonderful Product of OURS. (The American Tobacco Company and me.) Well, I wish you could see the type of Men they were, Big fine healthy upstanding He-Men. They were not the little Anemics that has to tap his Cigarette on the box before he can smoke it. They were our Producers of our Necessities of Life. When I saw the type of He-Men smoking "Bull" Durham, it almost made me cry, that I wasn't a smoker myself.

POULTRY

FARM FLOCK STILL ILLINOIS SIDE LINE

Although Illinois is one of the foremost states in value of poultry and poultry products, the business is still considered a side line on most farms of the state, according to John Vandervort, poultry extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois. Poultry is kept to utilize waste grain and furnish eggs and poultry for the family. Some profit is realized from the average farm flock, but the income is distributed in small amounts throughout the year. The farmer, therefore, often does not realize how profitable his flock is.

There is a great need for educational work to encourage farmers to adopt better management methods. To this end, the flock management is being stressed in the poultry extension work of the college. A definite project is being carried out for the three-fold purpose of: (1) encouraging better management methods for farm poultry flocks in Illinois, (2) encouraging the keeping of records as a basis for studying the efficiency of farm flock production, (3) developing leaders who will follow improved poultry practices, as far as practical, in order that their flocks may serve as demonstrations of profitable poultry management in their respective communities.

This flock management project is becoming more popular each year. Groups of co-operators in 40 counties started records at the beginning of 1925 and it is expected that similar records will be kept in nearly fifty counties in 1926. The record itself is of much value to the individual, but it is felt that more good will eventually be derived from the development of flock demonstration farms that will demonstrate better management practices to farmers in communities near these farms.

Seventy farm poultry records were completed in 1924. The average size flock on their farms was 183 birds, the average egg production was 112 eggs and the average profit was $1.24 a bird. The best one-third of the farm flocks showed an egg production of 128 eggs and a profit of $2.88 a hen while the poorer one-third of the flocks showed a production of 96 eggs and a loss of 21 cents a hen. These records bring out the fact that low egg production can be an important factor in causing low profit.

Better production can be brought about by the elimination of hens that have proven to be poor layers and pullets that do not give promise of paying their board, careful breeding from birds selected for egg production and by careful feeding and management.

Poultry is not profitable on many farms because of heavy losses caused by parasites and diseases. This problem is becoming more and more serious throughout the state and a need for work along these lines has been felt. As a result, a poultry sanitation program has been outlined and started in a few counties this year in co-operation with the farm advisers of these counties and the animal pathology division of the college.

Dust Wallows Essential for Health of Chickens

A dust bath is as essential for the health of chickens as a water bath is for humans. By its use fowls are able to rid themselves of many lice, as well as to remove the scales and scurf from the skin.

Large, deep dust boxes are essential in the laying pens. They should be deep enough to hold about six inches of dusting material. They are usually placed in the corner of the pen, in the sunshine, and elevated so that the litter from the floor will not be thrown into them.

The material used for dusting should be fine, light and dry. If it is to kill lice it must be fine enough to fill the breathing pores of these parasites. Sandy loam mixed with road dust makes a fairly good dusting material. Sifted coal ashes will help in making it finer.

If no provision has been made for securing dusting material before winter, it will usually be necessary to depend upon loam which can be dug up and dried and mixed with one-third sifted coal ashes.

Rear Admiral H. O. Stickney, retired, who has been appointed by Secretaries Hoover and Kellogg as Federal Commissioner to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition commemorating the 150th anniversary of American Independence and which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1. Most farming machinery goes to the scrap heap after it has been used only 80 to 100 days, while railroads use a locomotive 25 years or more.

The high price of posts makes the catalpa groves more valuable than ever anticipated. And it is surprising how rapidly the small catalpa trees grow into post size.

FOLLOWS EMANCIPATOR

Milton R. Moskow, twelve-year-old San Francisco schoolboy who since the age of five has patterned his life after that of Abraham Lincoln, aspires to occupy the White House some day as his hero did. He has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Under the plan of the American Youth Award and the American Teacher Award, each state will select a boy and a girl and a woman teacher who best represent American ideals, and they will be given trips to Philadelphia and to Washington, where they will receive medals from President Coolidge.

DAIRY FACTS

START DAIRYING IN SPRING BEST

When the grass turns green in the spring, farmers usually think more about live stock and, as a rule, most beginners in dairying start their new business during the early spring months, and there is very little doubt that the appearance of grass is an incentive to this line of thought and action, concluded J. P. LaMaster, chief of the dairy division at Clemson college.

A great majority of milk cows in the state freshen during the spring, which helps to produce interest in dairying at this season of the year, because when a surplus of milk is produced the farmer usually looks around for a market for this product. He soon realizes that with one to three cows he cannot expect any very great return, and therefore decides to add three or four more cows to his herd. In this way he grows into the dairy business, which is undoubtedly the very best policy. However, there are many reasons why it is best to have the dairy cows freshen in the fall, and for the same reason it is usually the best policy to start a new dairy business at that season of the year.

With the spring pastures there usually come certain noxious weeds, such as wild onions and bitter weed, which produce bad flavors and odors in the milk of cows which graze them. As yet no satisfactory method has been determined to eliminate these objectionable flavors from milk after it is drawn from the cow. The only way the farmer can control these flavors is to either destroy the weeds in the pasture or remove the cows from pastures infested with these weeds at least three hours before milking time. Sometimes green rye and oats pasture produce these bad flavors and odors in the milk. This can be controlled by the same procedure as outlined above.

Grain Mixtures Useful for Feeding the Calves

Bran and cracked corn make very good calf feed and whenever possible they should form the basis of the grain mixture. Ground oats are likewise good but, because they are usually high in price as compared with other farm grains, their use is not general.

Corn has a desirable effect on calves and to a certain extent replaces the butterfat removed from the milk. Many tests prove cracked more desirable than when finely ground. By the time a calf is two weeks old it will start nibbling grain if given a chance and at one month will eat half a pound a day. In case a mixture of feeds is desired there are several good ones.

1. Three parts cracked corn and one part wheat bran.
  2. Three parts cracked corn, one part wheat bran and one part ground oats.
  3. Three parts cracked corn, one part wheat bran, one part ground oats and one part oilmeal.
  4. Five parts cracked corn, one part ground oats and one part blood meal.
- Feed grain dry in troughs immediately after the calves have finished drinking their milk. Calves three months old will eat about three pounds of grain a day.

Give a hog a chance at the cafeteria system of picking his own food and he will show more sense than many men would under the same conditions. A hog will choose enough of each of the foods offered so that he has a balanced ration.

The End

Barrister (at Shoreditch County court, after a long speech by a woman)—It is true, then, that there is an end to all things. London Tit-Bits.

Dairy Hints

Alfalfa hay and corn silage together supply ideal roughage.

When bran is $20 per ton, oilmeal is worth about $57 per ton as a source of protein.

Systematic feeding results in higher milk production and at the same time cuts the feed bill.

A cow cannot eat enough hay and silage to produce her maximum of milk, hence the necessity of feeding concentrates.

To get the best out of a herd of capable cows requires careful feeding management.

The milk of average cows tests between 4 and 5 per cent butterfat, that of Holsteins from 3 to 4 per cent, and that of Guernseys and Jerseys from 5 to 6 per cent.

A businesslike dairyman is one who first sees that the cows which he is milking are of the high-producing type. The poor producers must be weeded out.

FROM PALETTE TO MORTAR BOARD

Young women artists turn from their jars of color and paint brushes to assist plasterers in setting ornaments in place atop huge pylons which adorn the main entrances to the Palace of Agriculture and Food Products, of the vast exhibition buildings which form a part of the great Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition being staged in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Climbing ladders and walking along rickety scaffolds is nothing new to these young ladies, but each time they do it they get a thrill.

a cover crop. When legumes are used for this, nitrogen also is added to the soil. If the ground is poor, commercial fertilizer may be applied just after working the soil next spring.

Cooling Very Essential for All Dairy Products

Cooling is essential in either winter or summer. Too many dairymen follow the practice of leaving cans of milk in the barn during the winter months. Such milk will accumulate odors from the barn and the animal heat in the milk will allow the bacteria to grow so that the milk will not meet the high standard of milk which is given proper attention. The man who is producing cream should also give attention to cooling. Practically every producer should be able to sell sweet cream during the winter months if he gives his product reasonable attention. The mere fact that cream is better in the winter than summer is proof of the fact that cooling is one of the greatest essentials in the proper handling of dairy products.

AMERICAN YOUTH CANDIDATE

Miss Helen F. Dodge of Pennsylvania, holder of a Carnegie medal for heroism, has been nominated as a candidate for the American Youth Award established by the directors of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which is to be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 in celebration of 150 years of American Independence. Miss Dodge, the daughter of George H. Dodge of 5944 Walton Avenue, Philadelphia, jumped into the Toms River at Ocean Gate, N. J., fully dressed, and, while having use of only one arm, saved the life of a drowning girl.

Liberal Application of Manure Best for Garden

Soil must be much richer for successful gardening than for general farming. Liberal application of manure therefore will be beneficial. Stable manure should be applied broadcast at the rate of 40 tons an acre. When the garden is plowed in the fall the manure is more nearly incorporated in the soil, the land can be worked earlier in the spring, the plowing is done and operations may start just as soon as spring opens. The manure adds plant food and organic matter to the soil and thus improves both its chemical and mechanical condition.

When manure is not available, organic matter may be added to the soil by growing and turning under Deer have been seen in various localities in the Potlatch recently. They have been in the fields on Amerietn ridge, Potlatch, Cedar creek and Bear ridges. During the closed season it isn't uncommon to see deer in the Potlatch canyons.

The Cow And The Croaker
(By Guy Fleener)

The Gloom Gallopers do not get so much encouragement as they did once upon a time, but they are persistent-cusses. They are out now with a wail that the dairy industry is about to be overdone!

Increasing production of the better cow, increase in the number of such animals, are bound to do it, they croak. There will be more milk than the human race can consume; butter will be a drug on the market!

These pessimistic predictions, as usual, fail wholly to take into consideration elemental facts.

One is that human race is growing faster than the dairy industry. If in the next two generations the dairy industry catches up with it, the industry will become vastly more important than it is today. Webster disposed of all such arguments as these prophets of woe assemble in his stand for enlargement of the nation's producing areas.

Without any increase in population milk and butter are coming naturally into larger use. Consideration of health is one cause. Doctors recommend them. There is an increasing consumption of cheese. Still this country is far behind international standards of consumption—and importing cheese. Everything points to marked increase in demand for the goods of Mrs. Cow. Greater efficiency in dairying is another element along the line of increased profits with heavier production. Idaho is a natural dairy state. Many states are not. The cow has stabilized farming here, and the more cows of the better grades the more money Idaho will make in this rapidly growing national market. It shortly will not only be a case of selling cream and butter by this state, but of selling dairy cattle. We will become a rival of Wisconsin, which in 1925 sold nearly 58,000 head to outside buyers.

Wisconsin had over 2,000,000 cows and heifers over two years old the first of this year, an increase of 40,000 for the year. In five years the increase there has been 9 per cent, despite sales of 232,800 head during that period. Overproduction of croakers is far more to be feared than overproduction of cows.
