NEWS FROM THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Clipped From Papers Published in Latah County.

Dr. Faust Leaving Deary

Dr. R. C. Faust and family will leave on August 5 for Eugene, Oregon, where they will make their future home. While Dr. Faust has been considering a change for some time, it was not until he advertised his property for sale that his intentions became generally known. He will give up general practice and specialize in obstetrics and pediatrics, or care of children, for which he is specially fitted and at which he has had splendid success.—Deary Press.

Soldiers Memorial Fund

Subscriptions in excess of $100,000 have been received by the Idaho Memorial association for the erection of a state memorial on the campus of the University of Idaho. Plans for securing the balance of the finances necessary are now under way, and actual construction of the Idaho Memorial will start within the not distant future. This information was made public by R. D. Leeper, president of the association, following a meeting of the board of directors at Moscow on July 6.

Preliminary plans and studies of the building as prepared by Architect David L. Lange were considered by the board. The plans contemplate a building approximately 110 by 220 feet, simple in design, and of the collegiate gothic type. The most prominent feature will be the memorial tower at the main entrance. This tower will contain the memorial tablets of Idaho's "Immortal 600" and the war records of all those who served in the Spanish-American and World Wars.—Troy News.

Contract for County Agent

A contract calling for the appointment of a county agricultural agent for Latah county, effective September 1, has been signed by county commissioners Elmer M. Paulson, G. F. Walker and John Cone in conference with W. L. Stevens, district extension agent, and E. J. Iddings, dean of the agricultural school representing the University of Idaho.

The contract calls for the usual cooperative agreement, namely that the agent is to represent the county, the college of agriculture at the University of Idaho and the United States department of agriculture. The contract is in conformity with that of other counties throughout the state and is for a period of two years.

No names were discussed for the prospective agent, but immediate steps will be taken by officers of the agricultural college to get in touch with available men of good farm background, satisfactory scientific training and experience in public work in the state. It is hoped to have the agent on the job in September or early in October, Dean Iddings said Tuesday afternoon.—Star-Mirror.

Road District Gets $1,150.00

Good Road District No. 2, near Juliaetta, which was formed last spring by a vote of the residents of the district, has been apportioned $1,150.00 by the Latah county commissioners in session Tuesday. This amount will put the district in fine shape to start road operations.

Some Cook!

Two negroes were discussing their wives' culinary abilities. "Man," boasted the first, "dat wife o'mine am so good dat when she makes co'n pone hit taste jes' like angel food!" The other: "You aint nevah of nothin'. When mah wife, Iodine, cooks up a passel o' beans Ah feels jes like goin' out and hurrin' me a job."—Ex.

Primary Election Tuesday

The republican primary election will be held in Kendrick precinct next Tuesday afternoon from 1 p. m. to 7 p. m. The place of election will be the city hall. It has not been stated whether there will be a democratic primary or not, but in all probability the democrats will not hold an election as there are no contests on the ticket.

DEMOCRATS AGREE UPON FULL TICKET

Men For Nearly All Latah County Offices.

Democratic leaders of Latah county at a meeting recently decided to campaign for a complete ticket in the primary elections August 3, and informally decided upon men whose names they would write into the ticket at the election to supplement those regularly nominated prior to closing of filings July 4, says the Star-Mirror.

Decision and publicity given to the list agreed upon at the caucus brought to light also that Jerome J. Day, nominated for state senator on the Democratic ticket, had withdrawn and has had his name removed from the Democratic ballot. In his place the caucus decided, G. P. Mix of Moscow is given the preference of leaders for the nomination.

Three regularly filed nominees are Judge J. H. Forney of Moscow for state representative, Grant Robbins of Moscow for sheriff and George O. Miller for commissioner from the second district.

Candidates agreed upon whose names will be written into the ballot are as follows:

Representative, Harry M. Driscoll; auditor, Homer Dinsmore; assessor, Robert Muhlitz; coronor, John J. Pickerd; Surveyor, Cecil Rayan; treasurer, June Cole; commissioners, first district, John Lienhard, third district, Thomas Christie.

No decision was reached on a candidate for probate judge nor for county superintendent of schools, according to information given by Democratic leaders of the county. The decision to place practically a complete ticket in the field at the primary was reached, a spokesman for the party said, because of insistent demands over the county that a full ticket be decided upon and the party fully represented in the general election, November 2.

Threshing in Full Blast

Threshing is now in full blast in this section. In addition to the regular old style threshing machines there are five combines that are handling considerable acreage on American and Potlatch ridges. Although there is a big crop to harvest, the threshing season will in all probability be comparatively short on account of the extra machines in this territory.

Trucks are hauling the grain from some of the machines as fast as it is being threshed, so that at night when the machine stops the grain is in the elevator or warehouses at Kendrick. The trucks are proving a big time-saver to the farmers.

World Won't End Soon

The Earth we live on is middle-aged, says Dr. Moulton, famous astronomer. His calculations show it may reasonably be expected to live for fully a thousand million more years, having to date used only two-thirds of its allotted span. Dr. Moulton declares in a theory which has attracted world wide attention that new planets are formed from the debris of aged planets. The earth, he says, is the offspring of one of these "dead" worlds, its age, he computes at a little more than 2,000 million years. Within the year astronomers discover that in interstellar space hundreds of suns exist, many of them immensely larger than our own. The Lord never runs out of material.

Sugar, Peddlers and Printing

This is a time of the year when we should be most alert in guarding our Idaho industries according to Norman B. Adkison, Secretary-Manager of the Idaho Home Industries Association. This is the canning season and more sugar is used in the summer than in the remainder of the year. This sugar should be IDAHO BEET SUGAR. Dealers will handle it if there is a demand. Food chemists, the best cooks and all diet experts have proved that beet sugar is identical with cane sugar in all uses. To prefer cane sugar is an absurd superstition similar to the old-fashioned prejudice against tomatoes. Using beet sugar encourages and supports Idaho beet growers and insures better prices for their product. Beet sugar is slightly cheaper in price and identical in quality. Why not use beet sugar?

This is also a good time to renew your allegiance to the home merchant—the man who makes your schools, churches, clubs, an many civic institutions possible. The road is full of cars with peddlers from without the state, taking out Idaho's capital and prosperity with orders from Idaho consumers and a few of Idaho's retailers. Our consumers should buy from the local merchant who guarantees his goods. The retailer, in turn, should buy from the Idaho distributor. The home merchant is partner with you in the prosperity of your town and state. Try the home merchant first.

The printing salesman from outside Idaho is also taking out much of Idaho's wealth, in spite of the fact that the local printer is the best and most consistent booster for the home town. This is the time of year for the merchant to study his printing needs for the year and to give the printer some business during slack months. Advertising in the home newspaper will also counteract the mail order catalogs and the peddlers.

Consumers, retailers, manufacturers and distributors should cooperate for the prosperity of the state.

Should Represent County

There is some talk from various quarters to the effect that a big fight is in store at the next session of the legislature to move the agricultural department of the state university to South Idaho. If it develops that such a crisis faces Latah county and Idaho, then the people who have the interests of the state institutions at heart, will be glad to have a few good scrappers in the legislature from North Idaho who can carry on and hold the university intact at Moscow. One of the outstanding figures among present candidates for representatives of this county is A. H. OverSmith. He is one of the cleverest politicians in North Idaho and has exceptional ability as an organizer. He has represented this county before with marked success and should do so again.

Took Him In

A very religious man ran a clothing store. He always told the clerks to do nothing that was not warranted by the Bible. One day he learned that a clerk had charged a customer $3 for a $1.50 suit of underclothing, took him to task. "Can you think of a Bible quotation," he said, "that would warrant such conduct?" The clerk said he could and quoted this: "Behold he was a stranger and I took him in."—Ex.

Bride (over the telephone to hubby): "Oh, honey, can't you come home right away? I've mixed the wires in some way. The radio is getting covered with white frost, and the ice-box is singing 'Way Out in Kansas.'"—Ex.

47 Bushels to The Acre

Frank Bencotter of American ridge secured a good yield of red smutless wheat. On a 75 acre field he averaged 47 bushels to the acre. The wheat was true to name and was entirely free from smut.

The Other Kind

There was a dear li'l pink baby on the train and the elderly man evidenced much interest and stopped to peek-aboo at it. "A fine youngster," said he to the young mother. I hope you will bring him up to be an upright and conscientious man." "Yes," smiled the fond mother, "but I'm afraid it is going to be a bit difficult, as—" "Oh, nonsense," continued the adviser; "as the twig is bent so is the tree inclined." "I know it," agreed the mother; "but this twig is bent on being a girl, and we are inclined to let it go at that."—Ex.

THAT COUNTY PRINTING

An article appearing in the "Forum" of the Daily Star-Mirror and written by Brown M. Schick, until recently a member of the Moscow Publishing Co., throws rather a pessimistic light upon the conditions under which the legal publications are being handled in Latah county. If his surmises are correct, the Gazette, official paper of the county, is losing money at a rapid rate.

Mr. Schick states that in visiting a number of newspaper offices in Washington he finds that the price paid for public printing "is usually from three to five times the price now being paid for the publication of commissioners' proceedings and other county advertising in Latah county, which is, if I remember right, two cents per line, a sum which would not cover a legitimate price for composition, and which absolutely eliminates what should be a source of reasonable profit to some newspaper in the county, and at the same time cheapens the newspaper business in the eyes of the public, while benefiting no one."

The above statement is in error, at least to the extent of the price being paid, which is 2½ cents per line instead of 2 cents. Maybe the ½ cent represents the profit, which was otherwise lacking.

The Gazette realizes the fact that 2½ cents a line is a low price, but has no complaints to offer. On the other hand, the line would be an exorbitant price and might almost be classified as a graft. In making the price of 2½ cents, when bidding for the county printing, the Gazette was only a fraction of a cent lower than two other Latah county papers, showing that there are others in the publishing game who are willing to "cheapen the newspaper business in the eyes of the public."

Mr. Schick goes on to state that the average Latah county taxpayer would prefer to see a price paid that would allow a margin of profit to the official paper. We don't believe the average taxpayer is worrying in the least whether the Gazette is making a profit or not. That end of the deal is for the Gazette to worry about—and the Gazette isn't worrying.

Prior to the time the Gazette was made the official paper, the county was paying 4½ cents a line for legal publications, nearly twice as much as at this time. If the present board of commissioners can drive that kind of a bargain and save the county that much money, well and good. The county has been looking for just that kind of a board for a long time.

There is one reason why you should vote for G. F. Walker for commissioner of the third district—because there is no reason why you shouldn't.

After the splendid record that Charlie Summerfield has made during his term of office it would be suicide to anyone's self respect to vote against him at the coming primary election. Kendrick is going to show the rest of the world that it is back of prohibition enforcement by giving Charlie a better vote than he got last election, and that's going some.

Political Expediency

The fact that in Canyon county nearly all aspirants for public office are on the Progressive ticket reminds one of a story related of an astute Irish politician. It was during the time when the organization known as the Klan was strong in some sections of the country that Pat received a letter from a brother which read: "The K. K. K's are runnin' this town and it looks like their going to make it so we can't live here. Come home and help us fight 'em." Being trained in political expediencies, Pat replied: "Dear Brother: I'm comin' home, all right, but if that night-shirt brigade is as strong as ye say it is I'm sure not goin' to fight it. I'm goin' to jine it."—Caldwell News.

When I am dead, you'll find it hard, said he, To ever find another man like me.

What makes you think, as I suppose you do, I'd ever want another man like you?—Caldwell News.

English Girls Learning Oaths at Ma's Knee

London.—Bad language of the modern mother is responsible for a great deal of loose speech among school girls, Miss Mary Morison, principal of the Francis Holland School for Girls, told the annual conference of the Headmistresses' association here.

"For years we have made allowance for father's strong language," Miss Morison asserted, "but now mother is nearly as bad. This is all a part of the so-called greater freedom."

Miss Morison said that at certain unpleasant but witty plays in London it was shocking to notice that the audience was more amused by the swearing than by the real witticisms.

Mussolini Begged for Job 15 Years Ago

Bergamo.—Mussolini, only fifteen years ago, was in such straits of poverty that he wandered the streets of Lausanne, Switzerland, stopping persons who seemed to be Italians, asking them if they would not give him enough work to allow him to earn a meal.

This sidelight on the premier's early life was furnished by Pietro Nava, a stone mason. He wrote Mussolini, asking if he remembered who he was. An answer said: "I remember mighty well."

Crossing a bridge in Lausanne one morning in 1911, Signora Nava was stopped by a starved-looking young man who timidly asked whether she was Italian. When she responded affirmatively, the young man, none other than Mussolini, pleaded for work.

LATAH COUNTY

Primary Election, August 3, 1926.

In the cracks of brood coops, and in other places. At night when the fowls and chicks go to roost the mites come out of their hiding places, crawl onto the birds, and suck the blood from their bodies. The irritation and loss of blood causes mature fowls to become pale in comb and wattles and poor in flesh; sitting hens may desert their nests and spoil their eggs, if they do not die on the nests, and chickens become weak and droopy and in many instances die from the attacks.

Since poultry mites hide away in cracks and crevices during the day, the first thing that should be done to get rid of them is to give the poultry houses, roosts, nests, etc., a good cleaning. After the cleaning, spray thoroughly with kerosene, crude oil, or some effective coal-tar preparation, making sure that the spray reaches all the cracks and crevices and every other place where the mites might be hiding. This coal-tar preparation is most effective and lasts longest. It can be purchased locally with full directions for mixing and use. It is necessary to spray thoroughly and often, especially during warm weather, if the mites are to be kept from annoying the fowls.

TOULOUSE IS LARGEST GOOSE

Adult Gander Weighs 25 Pounds and Fowls Can Be Raised in Small Numbers on Farms.

The Toulouse and the Embden are the most popular breeds of geese in this country. The Toulouse is the largest breed, the adult gander weighing 25 pounds and the goose 20 pounds. Geese can be raised in small numbers successfully and at a profit on many farms where there is low, rough pasture land containing a natural supply of water.

They need a house only during cold or stormy weather, when an open shed should be provided.

Large boxes, barrels, or shelters are provided as nests for geese, or they are allowed to make nests on the floor of the house.

Feed a mash in the morning of equal parts by weight of corn meal, bran, and middlings, or low-grade flour, with 10 per cent of beef scrap, and give whole or cracked corn at night.

Goslings should be fed a mash of two parts shorts and one part corn meal by weight, changing at the end of three weeks to equal parts shorts and corn meal, with five per cent each of beef scrap and grit.

A fattening ration may be made of a mash of one part shorts and two parts corn meal by weight, with five per cent of beef scrap, which is fed in the morning, while corn is fed at night.

The period of incubation of goose eggs varies from 28 to 30 days. The first eggs usually are set under hens, while the last eggs which the goose lays may be hatched either under hens or under the goose if she becomes broody.

POULTRY NOTES

Culling the flock reduces the cost price of eggs and meat.

Chicks that are overfed or undernourished are, alike, unprofitable.

The demand for capons is growing every year and there is always a market for them.

POULTRY REMEDY FOR POULTRY MITES

Blood Sucking Parasites Live Entirely on Blood of Fowl—Coal-Tar Products Effective.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Of all parasites affecting poultry, ordinary poultry mites are probably the most troublesome and destructive unless kept under control, says the United States Department of Agriculture. Unlike the lice, poultry mites are bloodsucking parasites and live entirely on the blood of the fowl. They are very small and when not filled with blood are gray in color and are called gray mites. However, when they have been on the body of the fowl and filled themselves with blood they look red and are called red mites. They do not stay on the fowl's body all the time, like lice, but during the day hide away in cracks and crevices, behind boards that are near the roosts.

Advantages of Motor Trucks in Corn Belt

The experience of other farmers who have owned motortrucks is the best guide in determining if one will prove profitable on a farm and if so what size will prove most profitable, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin 1314, "Motortrucks on Corn Belt Farms," by H. R. Tolley and L. M. Church of the division of agricultural engineering, is just off the press and gives data based on the experience of over 500 grain and live-stock farmers located in the Corn Belt who have owned motortrucks for more than two years. From these men there has been collected information on size of truck used, cost of operation, amount of hauling done and the advantages and disadvantages of owning a truck. The bulletin is intended for use primarily in the section where the data were collected but will be of interest to farmers in other sections. Copies may be obtained upon application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

San Jose Scale Pest

Attracting Attention

The San Jose scale is attracting increasing attention in Rhode Island, Ohio, Georgia, Indiana, Illinois, Idaho, Texas and New Mexico. The lime-sulphur spray, according to reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture, is not proving as satisfactory as formerly, probably on account of less thorough applications. Well-sprayed orchards, however, have some infestation. In Illinois a large percentage of unsprayed scale was found alive, in some localities as much as 60 to 80 per cent. Some states are recommending lubricating-oil sprays as developed by the bureau of entomology.

In Idaho there is very heavy infestation of the scale along the shores of the Snake river and on islands in the river. Fruit orchards adjoining are repeatedly reinfested. At Emmett and Parma apple orchards are infested, even in the best-cared-for orchards. In Boise the pest occurs on currants, pear, cherry, apple and rose.

NEW TURK CAPITAL GROWING RAPIDLY

Former Mud Settlement Now Thriving City.

Angora, Turkey.—From a miserable mud settlement with 10,000 persons, Angora has grown in the last few years to a city of 80,000. More than 150 stone and brick houses have been built within the last six months.

The new Turkish capital is growing with the rapidity of a first-class American mining town. A new post office and parliament building of stone and concrete have just been completed. The latter is equipped with furniture and decorations taken from the former sultan's palaces at Constantinople.

New buildings also are in course of erection for the Department of Justice and for the ministry of education. A new national museum and a modern hotel are being finished. Plans are under way for the erection of an opera house to seat 3,000 persons. Two high schools of modern construction have just been dedicated, one for boys and one for girls.

Thirty miles of new macadamized roads have been laid in the city and suburbs. The malaria-infested swamps around the city have been drained, soddied and planted with trees. The city now has its own electric plant, a tile factory, two saw mills, a flour mill and a large bakery.

On the other hand, the city still suffers from lack of water supply and a sewerage system. Exposed to all four winds, the city is subject to sand and windstorms which in summer make life almost unbearable. There are no theaters, restaurants or other places of amusement. There is virtually no social life.

British Child Must Go Without Circus

London.—England is a circusless land. The small boys of John Bull's island have no opportunity with the advent of the spring to feed the elephant and watch the beautiful spangled ladies dance about on prancing horses in sawdust rings.

And London had the first permanent circus in the modern world. Phillip Astley built it about 120 years ago just across the Westminster bridge from the parliament buildings. It became so famous it found its way into many of Dickens' books and continued to be one of London's favorite places of amusement until it was sold in 1893.

Street fairs employ many performers who work in the open air and have small tented menageries, but they are nothing compared to the old-time circus which the English enjoyed.

Women Plan Tax Strike While Crickets Remain

London.—The cricket on the hearth quickly loses all its poetry when too many invade cellars, pantries and most everywhere else, in the opinion of residents of Monarch road, Northampton. The women of the neighborhood have held several meetings and have threatened to refuse to pay taxes until the pests have been ousted.

A few crickets in the house on a summer evening are an omen of good luck, say the women, but when they come in droves, get in the curtains, under the linoleum and make their homes in every little opening, that is a sure sign that luck is going a little too far.

The borough engineer and the town medical officers have sought ways to get rid of the insects, but thus far without success.

U. S. Weather Bureau to Fight Forest Fires

Washington.—A special fire weather warning service, to be conducted by the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the forest service of that department and various state and private agencies and associations, has been organized.

An appropriation of about $20,000 has been made available beginning July 1, 1926, and will be administered by the weather bureau.

In addition, travel expense within the various forests will be borne by the co-operating associations. About three-fourths of the fund will be used in the Western states, where the problem of forest-fire protection is most serious.

Just "Thanks"

Milwaukee, Wis.—A hotel maid received a hurried "thanks" here for returning a package containing $2,000 to a hotel guest who had left the money in a room, after leaving.

Woman Fasts in Glass Coffin for 23 Days

Brussels.—Mme. Henry of Chirlerol became fired with the ambition to break the monopoly which men seemed to have set up in fasting and decided to "demonstrate that women can endure sufferings and privations just as well as men." She was shut up April 3, in a kind of glass coffin, which she did not leave for 23 days. When released two physicians examined her and found that she had lost 17 1/2 pounds in weight. She had consumed two and a fifth gallons of water during the period.

Notice To All Electors of Latah County

Please take notice that the registration laws of Idaho have changed so that the 24th day of July, this year, will be your last day to register for the primary election, and if you do not register on or before that day you will not get to vote at the primary election.

HARRY A. THATCHER,
County Auditor. 29-2

Tree Springs From Wall of Large Office Building

Lexington, Ky.—Growing out of a crevice between bare rock and bricks on the eighth floor of the First and City National bank building here is a young tree, whose strange existence and growth are puzzling Lexington horticulturalists.

The plant, which is about a foot and a half in height, is rooted in the crotch of a window ledge on the west side of the building and can be distinctly seen from the sidewalk. The species of the plant is not known definitely, but some experts describe it as a "paradise tree." This baby tree is but three years old and is steadily growing, putting out fresh leaves every spring. Water is occasionally poured on the plant, but it seems to draw its nutrition from the hard surface to which it is rooted.

Only 7, but Flees From Orphan Refuge 18 Times

St. Paul, Minn.—Seven-year-old Angelo Romagne's attempt to beat his own record of seventeen escapes from orphan asylums ended recently as all the others—in capture. His eighteenth attempt to gain the open road was made here, after the first seventeen tries for liberty had been unsuccessful in a Minneapolis asylum, where he was living until a week ago. The lad had only experienced a little more than an hour's freedom when he was overtaken in a pharmacy as he was about to celebrate his new-found independence in the purchase of an ice cream cone and a bag of peanuts.

A Radio Recipe

A bride asked her husband to copy off a radio recipe she wanted. He did his best, but got two stitons at once, one of which was broadcasting the morning exercises and the other the recipe. This is what he took down: "Hands on hips, place one cup of flour on the shoulders, raise knees and depress toes and mix thoroughly in one-half cup of milk, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, lower the legs and mash 2 hard-boiled eggs in a sieve. Exhale, breathe naturally and sift into a bowl. Attention! Lie flat on the floor and roll the white of an egg backward and forward until it comes to a boil. In ten minutes remove from the fire and rub smartly with a rough towel. Breathe naturally, dress in warm flannels and serve with fish soup."—Ex.

BIG CONFERENCE TO STUDY CANCER

Experts of America and Europe Plan Meeting.

New York.—One hundred of the foremost cancer experts of America and Europe are planning to meet in the United States in order to come to an agreement on what the world really knows about cancer. The international meeting, which is to be held at Lake Mohonk, New York, September 20 to 24, is under the auspices of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

The conferees will include about twenty of the most eminent surgeons, radiologists and research workers of England, France, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland.

The meeting is expected to have far-reaching results in showing the public that there is a great deal of dependable knowledge upon which science is agreed about cancer control. This definite knowledge is not to be confused with the many reports of theories and pieces of cancer research that may represent important progress, but that are not yet established as usable facts. In taking account of the known facts about cancer control, the doctors will discuss the latest information on surgery, use of radium and X-rays, hospitalization, public education and the importance of early diagnosis.

formation on surgery, use of radium and X-rays, hospitalization, public education and the importance of early diagnosis.

"Nothing less than the utmost authority and the most reliable opinion will suffice to meet the pessimistic attitude of many people who think that cancer is incurable, hereditary and infectious," the American Society for the Control of Cancer announced in stating the purposes of the meeting.

"The strongest argument possible must be presented to convince the man in the street, who, thinking that no two doctors agree upon anything relating to cancer, is inclined to listen to the claims of quacks who hold out a prospect of cure until the disease is too far advanced to make skillful help of any use.

"The truth is that there are many things which physicians and surgeons can agree upon with reference to cancer, and if these agreements can be expressed in simple, concise and graphic language the results will be of incalculable value. They will be helpful not only in America but throughout the world."

When you buy John Deere implements you are sure of prompt repair service throughout their long life

See What's Inside—

The length of service your engine will give you depends upon its working parts. We are proud of this neat, compact engine—that's why we show you "what's inside."

John Deere Type E Gasoline Engine

Notice, first of all, that simple splash oiling system. Every important working part is enclosed in the dust-proof housing and operates in a bath of clean oil. Oiling begins the instant you start the engine and stops when the engine is stopped. There's no oil wasted in this engine as it has no sight-feed oilers to open and close—no grease cups to fill and turn down.

Note the sturdy construction of its working parts—each part is designed to do its work steadily and stand up under severe conditions.

There are a great many real quality points in this engine that we want to show you. Come in and see us the next time you are in town.
