An exchange says: "Drive carefully—death is so permanent."

No Cause to Worry

A farmer not far from Kendrick worries because he isn't getting ahead fast enough. His wife looks at things differently. She says "We own our farm, eat three square meals a day, have fairly good clothes, and don't owe anyone a cent. We pay cash for everything we buy, so buy nothing that we can't pay for."

How many people in town are as well fixed? Most town folks make enough each week to pay living expenses if nothing happens and couldn't pull through 30 days without using their credit—nothing saved up for a rainy day.

The Cost of Loafers

One of the greatest items of expense in the present-day system of government is the slacker, the lazy loafer who produces nothing and thus shirks his share of bearing the public burden. The schools are crowded with children of parents who do not pay one cent of taxes. The jails are filled with idle criminals who thus force the thrifty taxpayers to pay their board and keep. And it is this class of hand-to-mouth shiftless individuals who are always crying against men of property. These parasites of the body politic are the pests of the civilization of today. Never in the history of the world have men of means been so liberal, never have they done so many good deeds with their dollars as they are doing today. Great foundations are established to fight disease, to promote civic welfare, to maintain institutions for the unfortunate and to give children the advantage of an education. And, while the workers and savers are making these noble sacrifices for humanity, the lazy, indolent, trifling loafers sit in the shade or mount store boxes and rail against the oppression of capital. Of all the assessments that bear interest on the willing workers, the "won't-workers" are the worst. A lazy man travels so slowly that poverty is sure to overtake him, which is only another way of saying that failure is generally the fault of the indolent. If everyone was busy and thrifty doing his share to earn and save, the jails and the great army of police would cease to be a tremendous item of expense; the almshouses and their evermounting bills could be withdrawn from the expense side of the ledger. If all the money now wasted in caring for the lazy loafers could be put to work in useful channels, what an easy place in which to live this old world would be.—Selected.

Human Values

A large insurance company has been compiling figures to show the actual economic value of human beings. The figures show that in a family having an income of $2,500, it will cost the parents $7,238 to bring a child into the world and raise it to the age of eighteen. Indeed, the actual cost to the community as a whole is even more, for allowance must be made for human wastage. To raise 88,264 children to age eighteen, it is necessary that the community pay for the birth and partial rearing of 100,000. Besides, there is the interest on investment. This brings the total to $10,047 for each eighteen-year-old child. Even then nothing has been figured for the value of time devoted to children by mothers.

Now, then, having invested $10,047 in a child, what is the economic return to be? According to the insurance company's figures, average earnings of an individual at eighteen are $963. At that age life expectancy is 46.6 years. His estimated future earnings above expenses are $28,654.—Selected

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brown, Sept. 23, an 8 pound daughter.

"Sinners in Heaven" at New Kendrick Tonight

The picture at the New Kendrick Theater, tonight and Saturday, is entirely different from anything you have seen in a long time. The title is "Sinners in Heaven" a story of a man and a woman, who were shipwrecked on a lonely island. He was a woman hater and she was a tender, lovable little beauty, who was just worshipped a big strong man who would take her in his arms and protect her from all harm. What happened?

Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix have the leading roles and are supported by six other well-known players. This is a treat for movie fans. A picture you should not miss. Regular prices.—Adv.

Removable Cylinder, Enclosed Crankcase, n'Everything

McCormick-Deering Engines are very popular and they're extremely hard to get this season, but we have some in stock now and can take care of your order on short notice. We are mighty glad to recommend them, as they surely are good outfits. Designed with a view toward extra years of satisfactory service, and built to make every feature count.

Removable cylinder, enclosed crankcase, high-tension magneto, simple fuel mixer, replaceable bearings and other parts, and FULL POWER in every size, are some of the reasons why these engines are so hard to get. Farmers and others have long since learned that it pays to tie up with McCormick-Deering when an engine is needed, just as it does when any of the other fifty and more lines of machines are required. We're ready to serve you; let us know what you need.

FEW BUFFALO HERDS ROAM THE PRAIRIES

Last of Phillips' Bunch Lives in South Dakota.

Ft. Pierre, S. D.—In a gulley on the Missouri river's western bank a few hundred buffalo nestle lazily where once roamed thousands of their kin. They represent the remainder of the old Scotty Phillips herd, once the largest buffalo herd in captivity and the source of almost all the buffalo to be seen in American parks and preserves.

Phillips, an Indian trader and a rancher of a generation ago, was the first to take practical recognition of the fact that the buffalo was dying out. He established a herd of the shaggy beasts on his ranch here, and with his half-breed wife cared for the animals until the herd numbered many thousands and was virtually the only buffalo herd, wild or tame, in the United States.

Since the death of Phillips some years ago the herd has been largely dispersed, and parks and reserves in a dozen states have established herds of their own by acquiring animals from the ranch here. Circuses and carnivals also have been good customers.

The Phillips herd now numbers less than 2,000, but each fall the ranch is the scene of a big buffalo hunt, in which sportsmen from throughout the country participate.

Pioneers of western South Dakota recall many interesting tales about buffalo hunts of bygone days. The most famous was at Buffalo Gap, S. D., so-called because there, at a pass through a mountain chain, the buffalo would congregate at the migrating season, sometimes to the number of 800,000.

The buffalo hunter's greatest peril lay in the danger of being unhorsed in the path of a buffalo stampede. The animals, running forward, would never swerve from a straight line. Occasionally the buffalo would charge a hunter, but the animals are easily outridden if a path of escape is clear.

Likelihood that the buffalo ever will become extinct has virtually passed. A hardy animal, the buffalo will live and flourish in captivity. He is difficult to transport by train, however, and most of the shipments of buffalo from the Phillips ranch have been made on passenger train schedule, longer trips proving fatal to many of the beasts.

Cleopatra, the Charmer, Ate Garlic and Onions

London.—British food experts who have been making a special study of the history of salads say the tomato is the single new ingredient modern times have contributed to salad making.

The pharaohs—even the beautiful Cleopatra—ate onions in large quantities in their salads, and used garlic and other high-scented ingredients. Confucius ate cucumbers and the ancient Chinese used mustard, water-cress and nasturtium leaves and flowers in mixing their elaborate salads, which often contained hard-boiled eggs.

Ancient Persia also was very fond of salads, and used lettuce and radishes much as they are used in modern salad making. Sour wine, not unlike modern vinegar, was used on lettuce by the Persians four thousand years ago.

Cat With Wings Caught by Washington Rancher

Yakima, Wash.—Bats, owls and goblins, beware! The capture of a cat with wings has excited people at Wapato, where Arthur Kingray, rancher, is exhibiting the creature. Except for the wings it looks like any cat, weighing about twenty-five pounds. On the back are four rows of thick flesh and loose skin, which when extended possess a modified form of wings a foot wide.

The cat has full control of this flappy skin, and when running stretches it out to help in speed and to expedite leaps to fences and porches. Usually the appendages are folded tightly to the body.

PORTO RICAN SWAMPS OF VAST AREA FOUND

Ten Thousand Acres That Could Be Redeemed.

New York.—The discovery below sea level of a 10,000-acre swamp in Porto Rico is described by H. A. Gleason, curator of the New York Botanical Garden, who has just completed a survey of the plant life of the island in co-operation with the insular government.

This swamp, now hopeless, could, if redeemed, produce cane worth millions, according to Doctor Gleason, who said that the Porto Ricans, like the Hollanders, may be forced to use dikes, pumps and windmills to reclaim large waste areas.

"Some vegetational features of Porto Rico which probably have no counterpart in the Western Hemisphere were revealed in our explorations," said Doctor Gleason.

"The big swamp lies along the north shore of the City of Arceibo. It is nearly surrounded by some of the most fertile cane fields in Porto Rico. As it is now, it merely stands a vast expanse of cat-tails and sedges, populated by mosquitoes, frogs and water-birds.

Geological Progress Traced.
"The history of this swamp shows how geological processes may have an effect upon plant life. At some prehistoric time it was dry land sloping gently down to the north shore. Along that north shore a great ridge of sand was piled up by the wind and in the course of time gradually consolidated into rock.

"Then the land began to sink, the ridge of rock was brought down to the level of the ocean, and the waves pounding away at it for thousands of years finally broke gaps in the rock and let the ocean through.

"As a result of this sinking of the land the present swamp is at or even below sea level. Now it is a considerable distance from the end of the swamp to the ocean. Plenty of fresh water finds its way into the swamp, but the salt tides come in only at one end, so that there is a gradual decrease in the saltiness of the swamp water from its outlet inland.

"So we have at the end of it nearest the ocean the salt-loving mangroves. Beyond them are several hundred acres of achrosticum ferns and several thousands of acres of cat-tails and sedges.

Believes Shore Line Sinks.
"There has been much speculation as to whether the shore line of Porto Rico is rising, stationary or sinking. The present plant life of the swamp seems to give a little evidence in answer to the question. If the shore line were rising the swamp would be getting dryer and less salty and the cat-tails would be moving down toward the outlet. But at present the ferns seem to be moving up into the cat-tails, indicating that the swamp is actually getting saltier and therefore that the shore line is still sinking.

"This, of course, does not imply any immediate catastrophe for the island, as the actual rate of submergence is probably so slow that any important effect would require thousands of years for its consummation.

"The south shore of Porto Rico differs greatly from the north shore in its rainfall. While the latter has 60 to 80 inches every year, the south shore has only half that much, and the climate there is characterized by long periods of drought. A heavy forest growth is impossible."

Captures Wolf Fish

Vancouver, B. C.—An unusually large and ferocious-looking wolf fish, captured at Seymour Inlet, is attracting much attention in a local store window. The fish is more than five feet long and has two rows of long, sharp teeth in its jaws. In appearance it suits the description of some of the fabled sea serpents of other days.

Origin of "Tennessee"

The word "Tennessee" is said to be a corruption of an Indian word which is usually written "tenasse," which means "river of the big bend," according to some authorities, and "a curved spoon," according to others. The name "Tennessee" was applied to the region while it was still a part of North Carolina.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Milk Standards Are Set Right

Promulgated for Guidance of Officials in Enforcing Pure Food Act.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The secretary of agriculture has promulgated, for the guidance of officials in the enforcement of the federal food and drugs act, revised and amended definitions and standards for milk and its products adopted by the food standard committee. This committee is composed of three representatives each of the Association of American Dairy, Food and Drug Officials, of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists, and of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The revised standards and definitions include milk, pasteurized milk, homogenized milk, skimmed milk, buttermilk, goat's milk, evaporated milk, sweetened condensed milk, evaporated skimmed milk, sweetened condensed skimmed milk, dried milk and dried skimmed milk. The text of the standards and definitions recommended by the committee is as follows:

Text of Standards.

1. Milk.—Milk is the whole, fresh, clean, lacteal secretion obtained by the complete milking of one or more healthy cows, properly fed and kept, excluding that obtained within fifteen days before and five days after calving, or such longer period as may be necessary to render the milk practically colostrum free.
2. Pasteurized Milk.—Pasteurized milk is milk that has been subjected to a temperature not lower than 145 degrees Fahrenheit for not less than thirty minutes, after which it is promptly cooled to 50 degrees Fahrenheit, or lower.
3. Homogenized Milk.—Homogenized milk is milk that has been mechanically treated in such a manner as to alter its physical properties with particular reference to the condition and appearance of the fat globules.
4. Skimmed Milk.—Skimmed milk is milk from which substantially all of the milk fat has been removed.
5. Buttermilk.—Buttermilk is the product that remains when fat is removed from milk or cream, sweet or sour, in the process of churning. It contains not less than eight and five-tenths per cent (8.5%) of milk solids not fat.
6. Goat's Milk, Ewe's Milk, Etc.—Goat's milk, ewe's milk, etc., are the fresh, clean lacteal secretions, free from colostrum, obtained by the complete milking of healthy animals other than cows, properly fed and kept, and conform in name to the species of animal from which they are obtained.
7. Evaporated Milk.—Evaporated milk is the product resulting from the evaporating of a considerable portion of the water from milk, or from milk with adjustment, if necessary, of the ratio of fat to nonfat solids by the addition or by the abstraction of cream. It contains not less than seven and eight-tenths per cent (7.8%) of milk fat, nor less than twenty-five and five-tenths per cent (25.5%) of total solids; provided, however, that the sum of the percentages of milk fat and total milk solids be not less than thirty-three and seven-tenths (33.7%).

Condensed Milk.

8. Sweetened Condensed Milk.—Sweetened condensed milk is the product resulting from the evaporation of a considerable portion of the water from the whole, fresh, clean, lacteal secretion obtained by the complete milking of one or more healthy cows, properly fed and kept, excluding that obtained within fifteen days before and ten days after calving, to which sugar (sucrose) has been added. It contains not less than twenty-eight per cent (28%) of total milk solids, and not less than eight per cent (8%) of milk fat.
9. Evaporated Skimmed Milk.—Evaporated skimmed milk is the product resulting from the evaporation of a considerable portion of the water from skimmed milk, and contains not less than twenty per cent (20%) of milk solids.
10. Sweetened Condensed Skimmed Milk.—Sweetened condensed skimmed milk is the product resulting from the evaporation of a considerable portion of the water from skimmed milk to which sugar (sucrose) has been added. It contains not less than twenty-four per cent (24%) of milk solids.
11. Dried Milk.—Dried milk is the product resulting from the removal of water from milk, and contains not less than twenty-six per cent (26%) of milk fat, and not more than five per cent (5%) of moisture.
12. Dried Skimmed Milk.—Dried skim milk is the product resulting from the removal of water from skimmed milk, and contains not more than five per cent (5%) of moisture.

Leave Foal in Barn

It is a better plan to leave the foal at the barn when the mare goes to work in the field, rather than allowing the foal to follow the mare. Both will soon become accustomed to the separation and less trouble results from this method. If possible, the mare should be brought back to allow the foal to suckle once during the forenoon, and again during the afternoon for two or three weeks. By leaving the foal at the barn there is less interference with field work, less risk of injury, and the foal usually grows faster.

Praise Became Reproach
The word "Hun" was a term of reproach given to the Germans by their enemies from the beginning of the World war. It seems to have first been associated by William II with his army as a term of praise. He used it in an address to his troops about to sail for China from Bremerhaven, July 27, 1900. For many years the German Socialists used the word "Hun" in attacking the militarists in that country.

New England Claims Peony
No flower is associated more closely with New England than the peony, partly because it grows unusually well there, but more particularly for the reason that many of the finest varieties have been originated in that section. For years Boston was the peony center of the entire country, and even yet stands close to the top, although several sections in the West are coming to the front.

GLEANINGS

Mr and Mrs. Gus Lucken returned from Spokane last Monday, where they were recently married.

Paul Manly brought a head of cauliflower to the Gazette office this week that would do credit to an expert truck gardner. It was grown on his place on Cedar Creek ridge.

Mrs. Wm. T. Sealey left last Saturday for Ontario, Oregon, where she will make her home with her parents. She made the trip there in her Buick car, Clay Albright driving the car for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flaig and two children and Egnaz Flaig drove down from St. Maries last Saturday night to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDowell until Sunday evening.

Vera and Velma Ameling, who are sophomores at the University of Idaho, spent the week end with their mother, Mrs. Liddia Ameling.

Rev. A. Jentges of Colton, Wash, was in Kendrick the first of the week on business. He has taken Rev. B. J. Carey's place in the Catholic church at Thorn Creek and Kendrick, the district having been divided so that Rev. Carey is now located at Orofino and has the Southwick church in his territory.

Emulus Brown went to Moscow, Wednesday, where he has employment.

Mrs. Melvin Morley and two children went to Weippe, Wednesday on the afternoon train, to spend several months. Mr. Morley is driving a truck for the state highway department.

Mrs. Jennie Plummer enjoyed a visit last week with her three daughters, who spent the week here with her. Mrs. Ethel Coffee and two children came from Portland, Mrs. Muriel Stead and two children from LaCrosse, Wash., and Mrs. Bernardine Berg and baby from Couer d'Alene.

Asa Cook of Juliaetta was in Kendrick the first of the week.

He stated that the cold snap last week ruined 6 acres of fine tomatoes on his place. The tomato season was at its peak when the frost ruined the crop. It was unfortunate that the loss of the crop came this season as the demand was particularly good on account of the prevalence of tomato blight in many sections of the country.

John Roberts returned to his home in Spokane, Monday, after looking after business interests in this locality for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Daubenberg were Lewiston visitors last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barton of Moscow were Kendrick visitors Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas arrived last Sunday night from Spokane to visit relatives here for several days.

Dr. Geo. W. McKeever was in Genesee on business last Sunday.

N. R. Shepherd, auctioneer of Troy, was looking after business affairs in Kendrick last Monday afternoon.

W. D. McGregor was in Moscow last Saturday looking after his town property there.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Watts and two sons drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byard Davidson near Colton, last Sunday, where they spent the day.

T. H. Sturdevant received delivery of a new Reo Speed Wagon this week, which he will use in making delivery of gasoline to his customers in the surrounding country.

Ed Taylor of Juliaetta was a Kendrick visitor last Monday. He expects to leave some time next week for Arizona where he has a position with a mining company.

Prof. Lynch drove to Kellogg last Saturday where he spent the week end with his mother, who was quite ill.

C. T. Lewis, who for a number of years has been manufacturing an extra fine grade of sorgum, stated this week that the heavy freezing weather last week had practically ruined his entire crop of sorgum cane. He had a fine crop and with a week more of good weather would have had it harvested. He expects to continue in the business next year.

Al McKee of Lapwai was transacting business in Kendrick last Tuesday.

Dean Wright of Agatha was in Kendrick on business Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Miss Edith Dammarell, who is teaching the primary grades in the Kamiah schools, spent the week end in Kendrick with home folks.

The Gazette expects to have a Juliaetta news column, beginning next week, and hopes to serve that locality in every way possible, since the paper there has been discontinued for some time. Any news items from that section will be very gladly received by the Gazette.

Rush Chamberlain, who is on sick leave from the navy, visited his father here last week.

Attorney Otto Burns of Lewiston was transacting business in Kendrick yesterday afternoon.

Miss Evelyn Hanson of Troy was visiting friends in Kendrick last Friday.

Dr. J. T. Moser and John L. Woody left Tuesday for the Selway country on their annual elk hunt. They drove by auto as far as the end of the road and will take pack horses from there and go two days travel by pack train.

Eben Adams of Juliaetta is keeping books for the Potlatch Consolidated Electric Co. He began work in his new position the first of the week. Mr. Adams has had many years experience in book work and executive business. Herman Schupfer, local electrician for the company, expects to leave for California about Nov. 1. His brother, Otto, will do the electrical work for the three towns which the company is now serving—Juliaetta, Kendrick and Troy.

Mrs. L. J. Herres and daughter, Eleanor, drove to Lewiston and return last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Herres accompanied them here to spend the week end.

Walter Housley and daughter, Evelyn, were Spokane visitors this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Huffman were Moscow visitors yesterday morning.

Once upon a time a Kentuckian attended a Republican banquet in New York as a guest of a prominent politician there. The toastmaster called upon the gentleman from Kentucky to ask the invocation. There was no response and the chairman then changed his request to "ask grace." "I heard you the first time, but I must refuse," replied the Kentuckian, "I don't want God to know I am here."—Ex.

Intoxicated party, after feeling his way carefully all around a huge concrete lamp post: "Migosh, I'm all walled in."—Ex.

Substances in Grindstones

Grindstones are usually made of a siliceous sandstone, in which the grains are sharp and there is little cement to bind them together. Artificial grindstones of very uniform and perfect texture are made from emery. Grindstones are now also made of carborundum.

Law's Slow Process

A fortune of $150,000 which has been lying in chancery in England for almost a century, has just been divided between two brothers and a sister. It was in 1830 that this money passed into the care of chancery. Attorneys had previously been made to recover it, but it is only now that a claim has been established.
