

CO-EDUCATION IS UPHELD BY UPHAM

Students Today Know More About Selves And Life.

President A. H. Upham of the University of Idaho came to the defense of co-education in an answer to a recent article written by W. O. Cross, graduate of the University of Illinois this spring. Co-education, according to Dr. Upham, is a fine, wholesome system and he opposes Mr. Cross' remarks in regard to the matter. Dr. Upham's reply was written following a request from the Brooklyn Daily Eagle, Brooklyn, N. Y. for his opinion on Mr. Cross' remarks.

"My experience is that co-education is a fine, wholesome system and that any defects which may be ascribed to it are no more than would appear in the ordinary social relations of the sexes or indeed than did appear in many and older college communities in which there were separate colleges for men and for women comparatively near each other," Dr. Upham said in his reply. "All this ready talk regarding the extravagant and immoral practices of college life today appears to me highly exaggerated," he continued.

"Part of this talk no doubt represents the honest worries of a great many sincere people who have somehow forgotten the experiences and surroundings of their own youth. Much of it, I am sure, is given publicly because of the supposed news value which attaches itself to the pranks and indiscretions of college students. Some of it I feel reasonably sure is deliberately emphasized as propaganda for certain opinions bearing on the liquor question. There are more students in our colleges and universities today than ever before, and they know more about themselves and about life than young people at their own age did in previous generations; but as a student of literature, I find that ever so often in the past the public through essays and correspondence has given expression to this same idea that youth is not what it once was and must certainly be headed straight for perdition. May I call attention to the following question which might have been drawn by Mr. Cross himself, if he had been sufficiently charitable.

"It is strange to see the folly that possesses the young people of this age, and the liberties they take to themselves. I have the charity to believe they appear very much worse than they are. These sentences are drawn from a private letter written by Miss Dorothy Osborne to her sweetheart, Sir William Temple, February 12, 1654," Dr. Upham remarks.

"Last fall I had the opportunity of three months of travel and observation in western Europe, during which I took occasion to visit a number of the universities. There are such serious hard-working students in all those institutions. Incidentally there are just such students in all our American colleges and universities; but just as truly there is a very considerable number of young men in all the universities I visited who place a good time considerably above the love of learning, and seem to find plenty of facilities for enjoying themselves to the limit."

Clean-Up Next Tuesday

The town council in session last Tuesday evening decided to put into effect a fall clean-up day and the date was set for next Tuesday. Teams will be furnished to haul rubbish away from your premises providing it is put in sacks or boxes and placed in a convenient spot in the alley or near the curb along the street. The teams will start hauling early Tuesday morning. They will not make a return trip if you are not ready.

Files Suit Against Bank

John F. Brown filed suit in the district court at Moscow, Tuesday, against J. A. Harsh of Deary and the First State Bank of Bovill, for replevin to recover damages of $1835.87 and costs alleged to be due on property south of Deary. The damages asked represent machinery and farm equipment on the property.

TWELVE LADIES ARE ENTERED IN CONTEST

Keen Interest in Winning Hope Chest Prizes.

The "Hope Chest Contest," which is being put on by the Kendrick Gazette and the New Kendrick Theater, starting October 1, is progressing in a highly satisfactory manner. Young ladies from various parts of the community have entered the contest and are busily engaged in securing points to win one of the three prizes to be given away the night of December 25. Following is a list of those who have already been nominated in the contest:

Mrs. Walt Bensecoter, Am. Ridge
Mrs. Ed. Galloway, B. B. Ridge
Miss Clarice Leith, Kendrick Miss Bonnie Craig, Leland
Mrs. A. Behrens, Juliaetta Miss Henrietta Blum, Kendrick Miss Edna Southwick, Cavendish Miss Beulah Long, Kendrick Miss Amy Tupper, Agatha
Miss Nadine McCoy, Southwick
Mrs. Leland Houck, Juliaetta Miss Thelma Perryman, Kendrick Mrs. H. Galloway, L. B. Ridge

Details of the contest may be found in the big advertisement in this issue of the Gazette. There is still time for others to enter as nominations will be received either at the Gazette office or at the Theatre. Saturday night, October 23, is the date for closing nominations. At that time the standing of the contestants will be thrown on the screen and from then on, until the contest closes, the number of points turned in for each contestant will be published in the Gazette and shown at the Theatre each week.

There is no limit to the territory. Any contestant may secure subscriptions to the Gazette wherever the opportunity presents. The main thing is to pile up as many points as soon as possible to get an equal start with the rest as there will undoubtedly be growing interest as the weeks go by. Get your friends to use their theatre coupons for you as they will play an important part in the final results.

Get a good start to win.

NEWS FROM THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Clipped From Papers Published in Latah County.

The home of John Sturman was destroyed Tuesday night shortly after dark by fire which started in the roof, presumably from the chimney. Mr. Sturman, who was there alone, had cooked his supper and was at the barn when his attention was attracted by the strange behavior of his dog, which howled and seemed to want to tell him something. The dog grabbed him by the leg and evidently tried to pull him toward the house, and then ran to the stair door. Opening the door, Mr. Sturman found that the upper part of the house was on fire. Seeing that he could not cope with the fire alone he called for help, and in a few minutes neighbors came and succeeded in saving nearly all the contents, the property destroyed consisting mostly of clothing.—Deary Press.

A. F. Shirley, traveling freight and passenger agent for the N. P. railway was in Troy between trains Tuesday. He reports the rush of the passenger traffic over for this season, but freight shipments lively. 150 cars of sheep have gone from the Lewiston district to the Chicago market.—Troy News.

Infant to Be African Explorer

When W. H. Hoover of the Smithsonian Institution goes to Mount Brukkaros in the heart of Africa, to make solar observations for the National Geographic Society and the Smithsonian, he will take with him his motherless sixteen-months-old daughter, Betty Jean, shown above with her father.

Epworth League Party

Last Friday night an Epworth League party was held in the basement of the Methodist church. All young people of Senior League age were invited and a goodly number attended. A short business meeting was held, after which games were played. The following officers were elected at the business meeting: First vice-president, Robert Dammarell; second vice-president, Ethel Cummings; third vice-president, Lois Johnson, and fourth vice-president, Mabel Taber; secretary, Hester Knepper; treasurer, Margaret Gertje, pianist, Mable Taber.

Refreshments of cake and cocoa were served. Everyone had a very enjoyable time. The young folks plan on having a very "peppy" league, and everyone who is of senior league age is invited to join.

There is also a Junior League for those under twelve years of age.

Alfalfa Seed Crop Estimates

Boise—Idaho will harvest 4,200,000 pounds of alfalfa seed from 20,000 acres, it was predicted in a report issued by Julius H. Jacobson, agricultural statistician for Idaho.

The 1925 crop was 3,840,000 pounds from 16,000 acres.

Acres yields have been low this year, the report says, because of the hot, dry season. Seed did not "set" well and many fields were cut for hay. Approximately two-thirds of this year's production will be of the Grimm variety and will be harvested in Bingham, Twin Falls, Gooding and Oneida counties.

Red clover will yield 3,552,000 pounds this year from 16,000 acres. Last year's production was 3,300,000 pounds from 11,000 acres. Hot weather damaged this crop just as it did the alfalfa.

Although acres yields are low this year for both clover and alfalfa, this drawback will be offset by high quality and good prices, the report says. Especially is this true of red clover which crop is short in the United States and Idaho prices have already been as high as 32 cents per pound for No. 1 seed.

Was Prepared

When the man of the house came home from church he was prepared for the usual box barrage of questions. But he forestalled them. He sailed in, related the chapter and the verse from which the parson took his text, told what it was the choir sang and how, said that the preacher's wife was wearing her regular Sunday dress and not the other one. His wife was so dumbfounded she forgot to jaw him for failing to empty the garbage pail—and thus he scored a peaceful day and 100 per cent. All husbands should try the recipe.—Ex.

Raised 1,000 Sacks of Beans

Oral Craig, who rents over 700 acres of land between Cameron and Leland, has the largest crop of beans of any farmer in the Potlatch country this season. He has over 1,000 sacks as his share of the crop. His brother, Claud, who has heretofore been the "bean king of the Potlatch," had a larger acreage this year than Oral but lost a big percentage of his crop on account of the heavy frost. It is up to Oral to wear the laurel crown this season.

Hog Calling Contests

A few months ago this country was devoting much of its spare time in staging Charlestown contests. Then interest centered on swimming the English channel, and now "hog-calling contests" are sweeping the country. Hog-calling has developed into a real art. Most everybody who has been on a farm has called hogs, but it has now developed that there is a technique that, when acquired, brings the hogs on the run.

Suggestions have come from various parts of the country, and each supposed to be the original and authentic call. Here they are: Indiana, Western Kentucky: "P-o-o-o-g-i-e! P-o-o-o-g-i-e! P-o-o-o-g-i-e!" Middle West: "Whoo-ee! Whoo-ee! Whoo-ee!" East Texas: "O Pig O! Pig O! Pig O!" Delaware: "Who-e-e-e-e!" Glasgow, Ky.: "Soo-e-e-e-e! Soo-e-e-e-e! Soo-e-e-e-e!" Fred Patzel, champion hog caller of Nebraska, whose call can be heard for two miles away, says it's "Poooo-ew-olig!" Patzel also says: "You've got to have appeal, as well as power, in your voice. You've got to convince the hogs you've got something for them."

C. C. Blackburn, who learned to call hogs in North Calina, where "hogs is razorbacks" and run wild in the woods, gets results in Idaho with the following: "P-i-g! P-i-g! P-i-g!" Starting with a rising reflection and ending with a deep bass note. He has to be careful not to be too convincing or his hogs cripple themselves charging into the pigpen trough. He is "getting up in years" so can't be heard now from a distance of more than a mile and a half.

An old story that always listens good: Said one colored man to another colored man: "I can't understand why you can train your mule, and I can't train my mule." Said the other colored man: "In ordah to train a mule, a man has to know more than the mule knows."

Ralston Butterfield of Moscow

Ben Davis, who carries the mail from Kendrick to Southwick, bought a new Chevrolet truck the first of the week to use on his stage route.

Heavy Loser On Beans

Perhaps the heaviest loser on the bean crop in this section of the country is Cornelius Sweeney. Mr. Sweeney had 80 acres of which he got about 35 acres shocked before the heavy rains and freeze came, but he said he did not think he would be able to save many of those in the shock.—Genesee News.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE KENDRICK SCHOOLS

Good Attendance Shown in All Grades.

The General Assembly was conducted by the sophomores. The program was as follows: Talk by Mr. McCracken; General song, "America"; Song by Glee Club, "Hustle and Grin"; Vocal solo by Mabel Taber; General song, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp."

Last Friday Mr. Lynch gave four short tests. They were in English IV, American history, Ancient history and General Science. Anyone not being able to answer the questions in a way proving that they had studied their lesson was required to hand in two or three pages of "make-up" work on each lesson. This had to be finished before the pupil left the school.

The Latin class has been reviewing their first section of work. Latin is considered a very interesting subject, and the pupils enjoy working on it.

Four new students; Wilbur Corkill, a senior; Roy Sparber and Walter Sparber, sophomores; and Arthur Foster, a Freshman, were enrolled in the high school this week.

The six weeks examinations are being given this week, in nearly all of the subjects.

The Girl's Glee Club has changed their night of practice from Tuesdays and Thursdays to Mondays and Wednesdays, at 3:40. The Girl's Basket Ball practice has been changed to Tuesdays and Thursdays, at 7:30.

The first and second graders are making extensive preparations for their Halloween entertainment. The primary room has orange curtains in the windows, so as to match the color scheme in the rest of the room. Also, this week, there have been added two new black board borders, which are very clever.

The first and second graders are making large fruit baskets for another blackboard border.

Ten clever new reading charts were made by the teacher in the primary room. Very pretty pictures were used in connection with these charts. The children were very interested, and learned to read them in a short time.

JOKES

Lloyd: "Why does water boil?"

Elbert: "Oh, I guess it's crazy with the heat."

In General Science, the other day, Mr. Lynch asked Billy Ingle why a train slowed up before it reached the station. "So it could stop," Billy absent-mindedly replied.

"Neva," Miss LaPine questioned, "Why does a steel ship float?" "What a foolish question," she answered, "Because steel is lighter than water, of course."

"What shall I put for an answer to this question: 'Where does water come from?'" Carl inquired.

"Oh, say a watermelon," replied Thelma, "It sounds logical."

We know a good one on the Seniors, this week. Raleigh Smith, one of their class, replied in answer to a question of Mr. Lynch, regarding essays: "Oh, I 'writ' one of them once."

Mr. McCracken: "Have any of you ever tried to think in Latin?"

General Chorus: "No."
Mr. McCracken: "You should practice on it. Try it some time."

Josephine: "I'm afraid I might get mixed up and think something I don't want to think about."

SURFACE NEEDED SPALDING TO ARROW

Complaints Being Made Relative to Delayed Improvements.

Rumblings of the past several weeks relative to the prolonged delay in the matter of completing the grade and surfacing the Lewis and Clark highway between a point west of the Spalding bridge and Arrow Junction have developed into pronounced complaints with the approach of winter. It is a three-cornered affair as far as the complaints are concerned, the Lewiston business people being more pronounced, but their expressions are echoed by the people of Juliaetta and Kendrick and the residents of the Clearwater highway district.

The residents of the Clearwater highway district are modest in their complaints because their finances are in bad shape and they have not been able to furnish their part of the money for the road improvement.

The people of Juliaetta and Kendrick feel they have a right to complain because they were assured that if they would secure an improved highway with a macadam surface from Kendrick to the Latah-Nez Perce county line above Arrow Junction, that the Lewiston people and the Clearwater highway district would secure the improvement of the road from the county line to a connection with the macadam highway west of the Spalding bridge. The people of Juliaetta and Kendrick secured their part of the improvement, the road from Arrow Junction to the county line has been graded and surfaced but there is a stretch of nearly four miles from Arrow Junction to a point west of the Spalding bridge that is just the same as it has been for several years and winter is approaching.

The responsibility for the delay rests between the state highway department, the federal bureau of public roads and the government bureau in charge of the allocation of money for the construction of state highways through Indian lands where such lands are held in trust by the Indian department.

Before the Lewiston highway district entered into the matter of constructing the Arrow Junction-Latah county link, a definite agreement was reached with the state highway department that the road between the Spalding bridge and Arrow Junction should be completed and surfaced and the Lewiston highway district put up the money for the Clearwater highway district's part of this expense. This was many months ago and since that time inquiries have brought only the information that the matter of the improvement is being tossed about between the state and the two federal departments, with no one willing to assume the responsibility for the delay.

There is something over a half-mile of grading on the west end of the project but from a point near the Spalding railroad bridge to Arrow Junction the grade was completed to federal specifications several years ago, but no surfacing was installed. Lewiston business men favored the use of the Lewiston highway district money in the Clearwater highway district as a business proposition in that the plan as proposed was to bring a new and prosperous region into close commercial contact with Lewiston by means of a surfaced highway.

The commissioners of the Lewiston highway district had a definite understanding with the state highway department as to the completion of the road west from Arrow Junction before they voted the finances for the building of the road from Arrow Junction to the Latah county line and now the Lewiston business men and the commissioners of the Lewiston highway district feel they have been left holding the sack and are beginning to ask some very embarrassing questions that may be difficult for someone to answer.—Tribune.

A Los Angeles woman proposes to fight another woman a fist-fight to the finish for the man of their choice. The fight might be worth seeing, but we never saw a man yet that was worth fighting over.

William Allen White says no newspaper man is worth much until he has had a physical encounter or two. A woman tried to horsewhip him once and an old man broke a cane over his head and shoulders. But that wasn't the worst of it. The next day citizens of Emporia took up a collection to buy the old man another cane, bigger and stronger than ever.

The two outstanding figures in public life today are Babe Ruth and Gene Tunney.

A Kendrick citizen recently bought tickets for a trip east, getting them in Spokane, as he figured he could buy cheaper in the city. The price of the tickets from Spokane east was the same as from Kendrick east, so he was "out" the fare from Kendrick to Spokane and return, as he bought round-trip tickets at Spokane. It even pays to buy railroad tickets in the old home town.

Weather And The Moon

The United States weather bureau declares the moon has nothing to do with the weather and that there is no such thing as a wet and dry moon. There are many local weather prophets who will receive this statement with contempt. Their theory is that when the moon hangs as it pouring out something it's a wet one. Others just as seriously contend that if both points are up, so you can hang your powder horn on a point of the moon it is a good plan to stay indoors because it will rain. But it's a fact that during certain periods of the month a 'wet moon' hangs over the Sahara Desert and it doesn't bring rain there.

Admiration

I admire those who accomplish fame, fortune, along honest lines. About seven-tenths of us are poor creatures, shiftless. Why should we not admire the supermen who work with a purpose, and accomplish something? It is pleasant for me to realize that we are a great nation. I can not recall that I have had anything to do with it. Why then should I abuse those who have? The hard workers who have perfected the radio, the telephone, telegraph, automobile, railroad, have greatly obligated me. On a recent summer evening I was sitting on a porch, and a radio next door brot to me a really enjoyable musical performance. It was as free as the air out of which it came. Many men have worked hard to accomplish this wonder, and I am obliged to them; and to all hard workers who bless the world in other ways. Why should I invent or repeat mean stories about them? Their weakness is of no comfort or use to me. Their strength is. I shall encourage all hard workers, that they may further oblige me.—Selected.

Lazy Girls

There are just as many worthless girls as there are worthless boys. Just as many girls lie around the house and refuse to help mother as boys loaf the streets and let father do the work. The lazy girl sleeps just as late in the morning as the lazy boy. A lazy girl is no worse and no better than a lazy boy. The lazy boy puts his defects on parade more than a worthless girl, for he will be found loafing about the lunch counters, barber shops and billiard halls. The worthless girls have a way of hiding their meanness. But you will notice that when it comes to fishing in the matrimonial pool, the worthless boy lands about as many fish as the worthless girl. The lazy, worthless loafer appears to have no trouble in landing a fine black bass, while the patient, hard working and worthy fellow beside him gets nothing but a crawdad. So that's why you find so many black bass and crawdads hooked up together. Lots of men would be rich and happy if it were not for their wives, while other men would be in the poor house or starve to death if they didn't have jewels for partners. Its the old thing of ratio—six worthless girls to six worthless boys as unchanging as time.—Ex.

Co-Operation Plus

Secretary Jardine is right in emphasizing the need of co-operation in American agriculture. More than any other one thing co-operative marketing will help the American farmer to get a just price for his product. And the government must encourage co-operation. But co-operation is not enuf. The farmer must also have a readjustment of his railway rates; he must have a revision of the tariff as it affects the things he exclusively buys and sells, and the American farmer must have flexible emergency credit when the need comes. These form a full farm program. Co-operation in marketing is the first important step. But it will not take the American farmer the whole distance that he must go, if he holds his own with industry, which is enjoying special privileges under government. Industry has a foolish notion that these privileges are natural Heaven-sent rights. The farm problem is a world problem. It has been created by the conversion of civilization from an age of individualism into an era of commercial socialism. Agriculture still is individualistic. It must co-operate, must socialize, must get aboard the current of the times. This is not all the farmers job. Industry and commerce must edge over a little, cut down a few profits, and give the farmer his place in the sun. He has much to do to bring him up to the new pace of the new world—but not everything. We must all help.—William Allen White.

First "L" Line

The first successful elevated railway line in the world was opened to traffic in New York 48 years ago. This was the Sixth Avenue line, part of which, the extension to Fifty-eighth street, was recently torn down. Later in the same year the Third Avenue line was opened. An attempt had been made ten years previously to construct an elevated railway.

Laying House Should Be Cleaned Before Autumn

The laying house should be thoroughly cleaned before the pullets are put in it. A common method is to remove all the interior fixtures and clean thoroughly by sweeping down the walls and removing all the litter and dirt from the floor. Prepare a good disinfectant by adding 5 parts of some good standard stock dip, to 95 parts of water, and with the use of a force pump saturate the interior of the building with this disinfectant. The same method should be used for cleaning the interior equipment. After a day's exposure to the sunlight for thorough drying, the poultry house fixtures may be put in place. Spread clean sand over the floor and cover it with 3 to 4 inches of bright clean straw. This will put the house in condition for the early maturing pullets which should go in the next week.

Removable Cylinder, Enclosed Crankcase, n'Everything

McCormick-Deering Engines are very popular and they're extremely hard to get this season, but we have some in stock now and can take care of your order on short notice. We are mighty glad to recommend them, as they surely are good outfits. Designed with a view toward extra years of satisfactory service, and built to make every feature count.

Removable cylinder, enclosed crankcase, high-tension magneto, simple fuel mixer, replaceable bearings and other parts, and FULL POWER in every size, are some of the reasons why these engines are so hard to get. Farmers and others have long since learned that it pays to tie up with McCormick-Deering when an engine is needed, just as it does when any of the other fifty and more lines of machines are required. We're ready to serve you; let us know what you need.

Kansas wheat fields. For instance, there's the case of Irwin Brownlee, a young farmer near Zenith, west of here a few miles.
He started in at daybreak one morning with a 50-horsepower tractor and a combine cutting a 20-foot swath. Hooked on behind were plows. As the wheat was cut and threshed the ground behind the harvester was immediately plowed. When night came Brownlee had cut, threshed and put in the bin 100 acres of wheat—some 3,000 bushels in all —and his land was plowed again.
All in one day's work. And he and two men did it.

POULTRY FACTS

GEESE THRIVE ON YOUNG VEGETATION

The most perplexing season of the year for the rationing of geese seems to be the late summer and fall, particularly if the season is a dry one.
Geese are primarily grazing fowls and the growing stock, especially, requires a constant supply of young and tender vegetation upon which to forage. Therefore, unless such is provided, they will cease to thrive, and frequently a large percentage are lost, writes Oscar Grow in the National Poultry Journal. During the latter part of a hot dry summer the grass becomes tough and fibrous, even though it may still appear green, and then it not only lacks nourishment, but becomes indigestible as well, thus resulting in malnutrition and sometimes stoppage of the bowels, which, in turn, is more likely than not to prove fatal.

It is very important, therefore, to supplement the pasturage with other rationals at such times. The younger goslings may be permitted to forage in the corn fields, where it will be found they greatly relish many of the weeds and grasses growing therein, in addition to the lower leaves and

"suckers" developing upon the corn stalks. The older geese may be given access to second-growth clover, when available, or, better still, to a field of rape or similar crops, sown for this purpose. Such resources are equally suitable for the growing flock and should be provided for in event they are liable to be required.

A critical period in the rearing of goslings is ushered in about the time of the first frost. Something resulting from the action of the frost upon the grass apparently causes goose septicemia or goose cholera. At least both have a habit of appearing at about the same time. Septicemia is very fatal and often a large percentage of the flock is lost before there is any indication of infection. Many individuals apparently in good health at evening time are dead the next morning, while others may linger for several hours or even days before succumbing.

Good Summer Care of the Chicken Flock

Summer eggs are more than fresh air and sunshine. Mash containing protein, and pasture, shade and water are important factors of summer management of the laying flock.

A large mash consumption is necessary for the maximum number of eggs.
It pays to induce the laying hens to eat as much mash as possible. One way is to reduce the amount of grain fed by feeding it only in the evening.
This will keep the hens hungry and eating mash.

Be sure there is space enough at the hoppers at any time the hens want to eat or they will start to forage for themselves. One foot of hopper space for every five hens is recommended for maximum consumption.

Keep suggesting mash to the flock by placing the hoppers where the chickens congregate during the day. If the poultry house is stuffy during the day the hens will leave it and the hoppers for the orchard shade.

Our Film Exports

Washington.—The United States exported 218,188,874 linear feet of positive motion-picture films, more than 40,000 miles, valued at $6,534,202, during the year ended June 30. For the same period there was a slight decrease in the export of negatives.

Mosquito Has New Foe

New York.—Paris green, so fatal to the potato bug, is now being used to kill off the larvae of the malaria mosquito, according to a report of the Rockefeller foundation. Breeding areas are sprinkled with a dust of which paris green is a small part.

Air Treatment for Inflating Udders

Simple Method for Preventing Milk Fever.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Though most dairymen are familiar with the successful air treatment for inflating udders of dairy cows to prevent fatal consequence from milk fever, a simple method for preventing the disease is not so well known. This malady chiefly affects well-nourished, fleshy, heavy-milking cows and generally follows closely the act of calving.

A preventive treatment suggested by the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, consists in allowing a susceptible cow to retain in the udder for 24 hours after calving all the milk except the small quantity required by the calf. The milk should be taken if possible from each quarter. Disten-tion of the udder by the retained milk naturally follows, as in the air treatment, and acts as a preventive against milk fever. In the Island of Jersey and at the Biltmore farm, North Carolina, where this practice is common, the number of milk-fever cases has greatly decreased.

Sanitary conditions also should be looked after, such as a supply of pure air and clean stabling, with plenty of clear, cool water and laxative feeds, such as grasses and roots. The method described is a means of prevention, not a cure.

In cases where the disease has already developed the most practical method of treatment is to inject sterile atmospheric air into the udder in order to distend it artificially. The treatment is best performed by means of milk-fever apparatus made especially for the purpose.

Horse Is Paid Tribute in New Motion Picture

The horse is paid tribute by the United States Department of Agriculture in a new educational motion picture, "The Horse and Man." The film acknowledges the service which the horse has rendered the human race throughout the ages, recalls some of the important roles he has played in the drama of American history, and directs attention to his economic importance in modern industrial life.

In spite of the fact that gasoline has driven the horse-drawn turnout from our boulevards, and the belief which exists among most city dwellers that the horse is doomed to follow the dodo, there are still more than 15,000,000 horses providing power for American farms. The popularity of polo, the bridge path, the race track, and the chase is widespread and is increasing.

Indian ponies, cow horses, cavalry mounts, race horses, high steppers, truck horses and bucking bronchos, share honors in "The Horse and Man." The film is one reel in length.
Copies may be borrowed for short periods, or may be purchased at the laboratory cost. A complete list of the department's films, with information on the method of distributing them, is given in Miscellaneous Circular 27-M, which may be obtained on application to the department at Washington, D. C.

How to Thin Fruit

The best way to get the fruit thinned properly is to take your boys or the hired men out to the orchard, show them how to do the job and then go back to the house. It is awfully hard for the owner to take off all of the fruit that ought to come off and to continue to do so until the task is finished. If you stay on the job, there is great danger that you will change your mind and leave more fruit on the trees than they can possibly mature properly.

Keep Calf Off Pasture

Keep the young calf off pasture until it is three months of age. Fresh grass is too laxative in nature and when added to a milk diet, scours often result. Feed limited amounts of alfalfa hay or prairie hay but liberally of grain to the young calf. Whole oats or cracked corn and bran or equal parts of the three grains make good calf feeds. Limit milk feeding to one gallon or less at a feed.

Farm Hints

Lightning rods on your buildings are a good investment.

A dairy cow must have all the fresh clean water she wants.

Can the culls—that's all boarder hens are good for, anyhow.

Poultry culling is easy to learn, takes little time and pays big dividends.

Bare land is abhorrent to Mother Nature. Better let her raise trees on it for you. White pines are good to set.

The man who succeeds welcomes the small opportunity and turns it into what is afterwards known as "a streak of luck."

Destruction of weeds on ground being prepared for wheat will pay big dividends. Weeds grow rapidly and use large amounts of water and plan: ood needed for wheat.

TONIGHT And SATURDAY HOOT GIBSON The CALGARY STAMPEDE

The world's greatest western show on the screen!

Injuns and cowboys—Roman races and bronco busters rope spinners and bull-doggers—trick riders and trick ropers—crashing wagons and foaming horses lashed like mad by demonic drivers—wild cows, wild steers, wild riding by the world's wildest westerns—the two biggest movies of the year all combined in one great picture—Hoot Gibson in a rip-snortin' drama enacted amid the actual scenes of the Calgary Stampede at Calgary, Alberta, Canada.
