Southwick School Notes

Our Annual Harvest Festival will be held at the Southwick school house, Saturday evening, October 16. This is a community affair and everyone is invited. Our exhibit, which took first prize at the Culdesac County Fair for four room schools, will be on display. A short program will furnish a small part of the entertainment and a real community feed will furnish a bigger part.

The Southwick high school now has a total enrollment of 32 and in spite of the fact that the bean harvest still hangs on, has a daily attendance of better than 25 and is offering full courses in all four grades of senior high school. Students are getting into the harness in dead earnest and results of daily recitations are proving very satisfactory.

Chorus and orchestra work are being instituted and a class in piano is already well advanced.

It is planned to give a number of entertainments during the year, among them, short plays and even musical dramatizations. The music department is a new innovation and is looked at with a great deal of pleasure and interest by school and community.

Athletics will occupy a prominent place in school life this year. Football, basket ball, base ball and track for the boys, and tennis, volley ball and basket ball for the girls.

We are delighted over our success at the County Fair last week. The judges conceded to us the first prize for general

Death of John Cox

John Cox, son of Mrs. Leah Bigham, died at the home of his mother here Tuesday of this week after a lingering illness caused by tuberculosis. Until the past few weeks he had been at the veterans hospital at Denver, Colorado, but as there was no hope for his recovery he was brought home to spend his few remaining days. He was a veteran of the World War, having served overseas.

John B. Cox was born in Wolf County, Kentucky, March 11, 1895. He was united in marriage to Miss Hildra Fredman, July 2, 1919. To this union two children were born.

Mr. Cox was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America. He became a member of the Methodist Church of Kendrick, October 3, 1926. He is survived by his wife, two sons, his mother, five brothers and one sister. Funeral services were held in Troy, Thursday, Rev. L. E. Taber, conducting the service. Interment was made in the Spencer cemetery.

Choral Society Organized

Local musical talent has assembled itself into a definite organization, to be known as the Wednesday Choral Society. The members are showing themselves to be enthusiastic and earnest in an endeavor to convert the result of musical effort into some definite good for the community.

On Wednesday, December 1st, the Choral Society will present an evening of entertainment. This will be the first public performance, and will consist of solos, duets, quartet numbers, two chorus numbers and a short play. The proceeds will be given to some good local cause.

The society at present is composed of Mrs. Hugh Stanton, Mrs. A. K. Carlson, Mrs. Harold Thomas, Miss Johnson, Miss Alberta Walker, Mrs. Wm. Watts, Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. O. E. MacPherson, Mrs. J. Gardner, Mrs. Roy Ramey, Mrs. Norris Walker, Mr. Ramey, Mr. McDowell, Mr. H. Gunther, Mr. George Anderson and Mr. Norris Walker. Mrs. Brown will accompany.

The women's quartet members are Mrs. Roy Ramey, Mrs. O. E. MacPherson, Mrs. J. Gardner, and Mrs. George Anderson.

Two special numbers, by individuals, will be given each Wednesday.

At the last meeting, held Oct. 13th, Mrs. Brown, inspired her audience with a rendition of one of Beethoven's Sonatas. It was followed by a piano duet, "The Charge of the Uhlons", by Mrs. H. Stanton and Mrs. Brown, played in a commendable manner.

The society will hold its next meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 20, at the home of Mrs. Brown. All members urged to be present.

Big Game November 6th

Plans are being made for the University of Idaho's annual Homecoming celebration Nov. 6, at which time it is expected that 10,000 visitors will be on the campus. The feature attraction of the day will be the football classic with Washington State college, the Vandals' oldest rival.

The football game will be the expression of an athletic rivalry between the two institutions—which are only nine miles apart—which has existed for more than 30 years of bitter competition. For many years the Washington Cougars carried home the bacon but in the last three games Idaho has been triumphant. The closeness of last year's score, 7 to 6, has intensified the rivalry between the teams and the students. The war cry of Cougar supporters is "Beat Idaho." This has not gone without a response from Idahoans and as a result one of the bitterest football classics of the long series probably will be played on November 6.

Basket Ball Benefit Show

A benefit picture show will be given at the New Kendrick Theatre, next Tuesday evening, October 19, for the benefit of the high school basket ball boys. The picture will be Richard Talmadge in "American Manners," also a good two reel comedy. Everybody should take this in and help the boys.

Dance Tonight at The Temple

Wegner Bros. orchestra is advertising a dance to take place tonight (Friday) at the Fraternal Temple. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

You cannot afford to miss the Rummage Sale, on October 22 and 23, in the Stanton Store building. Everything to eat and wear. Noon hour lunch, menu: hot vegetable soup, hot sandwiches, baked beans, pie and coffee. Given by the Methodist Ladies Aid.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE KENDRICK SCHOOLS

Good Attendance Shown in All Grades.

Halloween time is here in the primary room, for nearly all the decorations are up. Hanging from the center of the room is a large pumpkin Jack O'Lantern, from this, streamers of black and orange crepe paper are extended to all parts of the room. On the front black board, are "Spooky-looking" witches and pumpkins. The side board has an artistic looking fence with cats fighting on it. On the windows are owls, cats, bats, big pumpkins, little pumpkins, and middle sized pumpkins. Then, on the side wall are four huge pumpkins and owls; also Halloween pictures. On the closet door, there stands a large pumpkin man, about six feet tall. He is composed of orange crepe paper streamers, entwined into the form of a real person. His head is an orange sphere, with features painted in black.

The first and second graders are working on their play for Halloween.

The fifth and sixth grade room has been decorated with the children's art work, leaves and fruit baskets, to represent autumn.

Reviews and tests have been rather numerous in the room all week.

George Schulze returned to school, Tuesday, after being absent several days. He was hurt in a car accident, over a week ago.

Last Friday, the Freshmen presented an especially interesting program to the General Assembly. The talent was taken entirely from the Freshmen class, and the faculty. They deserve a great deal of credit for presenting such an interesting program. It was as follows:

- Bible Reading William Ingle
- Song Assembly
- Playette: "How the Story Grew"
- By Six Freshmen girls.....
- Vocal Solo "Remember"
- By Neva Ware
- Piano Solo Miss LaPine
- The new "Why Dance" by
- Loyd and Neva Ware.....
- Song, Assembly

Last Friday night, the sophomores entertained the high school at a party given to initiate the Freshmen. It was held in the Assembly, which was decorated in purple and gold, the class colors. During the initiation, the Freshmen were forced to eat limburger cheese, while blindfolded. While this was being performed, some of the Juniors found a quantity of green paper and chalk. Knowing this was also to be used in a manner not pleasing to the Freshman, these upper classmen quickly escaped from the room with it. Both it and the guilty parties were soon discovered. The crepe paper resumed its duty as a part of the program, and the naughty Juniors were severely chastised. The crepe paper made bows for the hair of the Freshmen girls, and the chalk added to the beauty of their complexions. After the initiation, refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, and pickles, daintily decorated with a long string of spaghetti, were served. Games were then played for a short time.

This was one of the most interesting and well-conducted parties the school has ever witnessed. Everyone had a very good time and the High School is exceedingly proud of their Sophomore class. Some of the Freshmen are inclined to believe that the "pep" of the Sophomores could have been spent along other lines. (Evidently limburger does not agree with their constitutions.)

Special credit is given to Mabel Taber and Margorita Gertje, who had charge of the refreshments and the program in general. Carl Sparber, took charge of the initiation in a very creditable manner, and all of the class helped in the decoration. A group of laws were given

Congressman French to Speak

The first political speech of the present campaign, to be held in Kendrick, will take place next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the New Kendrick Theater, when Congressman Burton L. French will talk on issues of the day. The services of Congressman French are in demand all over the state and the local central committee feels gratified that a date was secured for him at Kendrick. The general public is cordially invited to attend next Monday evening, October 18.

to the Freshmen to abide by for the rest of the month: Be honorable to all upper classmen. Let upper classmen go thru the door first. Walk up stairs; never run. Always say "Good Morning" to upper classmen, when arriving at school in the morning, and "Good-Bye" at night. Say "Yes, Ma'am" or "No, Sir" to upper classmen. Girls: wear two colors of stockings, if not the Sophomores will change them. Boys: Never wear necktie to school. All these rules must be abided by or violators will be punished severely.

The different classes in the high school were organized, and officers and colors are as follows:

Junior Class: President, Margaret McDowell; Vice President, Donald Broeke; Secretary and Treasurer, Shirley Clem; Class colors, Rose and Gray.

The Seniors have not elected any officers, as yet.

Since Donald Candler and Charles Cox have entered the Seventh Grade, there is but one unoccupied seat in the room. Their report for the month ending October 1st follows: Total attendance, 33; Average daily attendance 30.8, Average daily absence 45, Average number belonging 31.2, Percent of attendance 98.5, Tardy 15. The tardy marks were made by the following pupils: Bill Wilmot 5; Paul Schulze 4; Blanche Aiken 3; Arnold Humphrey 2; Ethel Eaton 1.

The school board gave them a new dictionary this year. They have also a new encyclopedia, "The World Book" of ten volumes. It cost $57.50. The school board allows them $20.00 and they are planning to pay the rest. They find it very helpful. It is constantly in use. They say that they don't see how they got along without it.

The Seventh graders are very busy, often remaining after school. Doesn't that indicate that they are very interested?

Highway Work Moves Faster

Bad weather of last month interfered considerably with the progress of road work on the state highway west of Deary. At the present time surfacing has been completed to a point between the crusher and the Dave Peterson corner, and since the weather has changed for the better the work is proceeding more steadily. More or less trouble with the crusher has also caused some delay.

When the trucks come in from work in the evening they have been bringing crushed rock and dumping it on the streets. Several loads have been spread over Third Avenue on the boggy strip between the Bank and the Deary Mercantile Company's store. This has always been one of the worst pieces of street in the village on account of water coming so close to the top of the ground in several places. Even in the dry season heavy loads have been known to break through the crust over these spots. Several tons of boulders have been dumped into these places each spring and fall during the past ten years, but the rocks seem to sink to the middle of the earth. A good, deep rock surface would prevent further trouble here. Much of the grain crop goes to the warehouses over this street.—Deary Press.

Now, Wouldn't You?

Somehow, we believe that we would rather be a small-town business man than a clerk in a large city driven out of bed in the early hours of the morning by an alarm clock, spending his leisure time hanging onto a strap in a street car or bumping over the rough pavement in a flivver to and from work and punching in and out each morning and evening on a time clock. But maybe the glad welcome of the warm sun, the hearty words of cheer from friends and neighbors don't mean so much to everyone.—Genesee News.

Latah County Agent

The appointment of L. B. Taylor as agricultural agent for Latah county, was made public by E. J. Iddings, director of the extension department of the university, and Latah county commissioners. The appointment was made several weeks ago by the commissioners and Dean Iddings, and has been ratified by President A. H. Upham of the university and the university board of regents.

Mr. Taylor will take up his work October 15, coming to Moscow from Boise, where he is to judge at the Boise Corn Palace and Dairy show, Oct. 13.

The new county agent, the first Latah has had for two years, has had an unusually varied experience that influenced his selection from a list of six applicants. He has been student field instructor for the veteran's bureau, extension agent, club agent and practical farmer. He graduated from the University of Idaho in 1919.

He comes to Latah county from Bannock county, where for the last two years he has been in charge of club work and livestock projects. For two years prior he was field instructor for the veteran's bureau. The first three years after graduation he spent on his diversified farm near Buhl.

After he becomes located in his Latah county office, it is expected that he will at once begin assembling orders for pyrolytic, government stump-blowing powder, and to organize other projects.—Star-Mirror.

It is hard to realize that a general election is to be held next month, November 2. There is probably less interest in the coming election in this locality than has been evidenced at any time in past years. There is no live issue of sufficient importance to arouse the interest of the general public.

The outcome of the world's series was highly satisfactory to most everybody in Kendrick as the Cardinals had plenty of fans pulling for them last Sunday. Tom Blevins was one of the few rank Yank rooters, but he didn't pull quite hard enough to get results.

Surprise Party

A Georgia farmer brought some produce to the city and sold it. Thought he, "I will surprise my wife." He bought a suit of clothes, a hat and a pair of shoes, and put them under the back seat. On his way home he stopped at the river, took off all his old clothes and threw them in, and then went into the stream for a bath. Then he looked under the seat for his new outfit of clothes to put on. They were gone. Finally he got into the wagon and said, "Giddap, Maude—we'll surprise her anyhow."—Ex.

Plant Breeders Making Crops More Profitable

The improvement of farm crops and the discovery of better methods of crop production are essential to progress in farming.

Wisconsin agronomists were among the first to work on crop improvement and a long list of successful pure-bred varieties stands to their credit. The Wisconsin pedigreed barley, our first pure-bred grain, was produced by selecting superior plants from many thousands grown together for comparison in breeding plots.

After several years of testing the different selections, the best were multiplied and distributed to pedigreed seed growers, and through them to the farmers. The success of this work is shown by the fact that almost all the barley now grown in our state is of the pedigree strain, and our seed growers each year send thousands of bushels to other states.—E. D. Holden, Wisconsin.

Brood Sow Ration

A good standard ration for brood sows is ½ pound of middlings or ground oats, ½ pound of bran, and ½ pound of tankage per day per head. Besides this feed them from one to two pounds of corn for each hundred pounds of live weight, depending upon the condition of the sows. The amount may be decreased to one pound if the sows are too fat, or increased to two pounds or slightly over if they are too thin. It is well to have the sows in good flesh but not fat.

Drink With Sticks

An ancestor to the straw through which we sip our sodas has been discovered in East Africa, says Popular Science Monthly. Yak trees there have cavities in their trunks in which rain water collects. The navy church flag is in the shape of a pennant and is a blue cross on a white field. There are flags of three sizes, the smallest of which is 6 feet long and 2 feet wide. Removable Cylinder, Enclosed Crankcase, n'Everything

McCormick-Deering Engines are very popular and they're extremely hard to get this season, but we have some in stock now and can take care of your order on short notice. We are mighty glad to recommend them, as they surely are good outfits. Designed with a view toward extra years of satisfactory service, and built to make every feature count.

Removable cylinder, enclosed crankcase, high-tension magneto, simple fuel mixer, replaceable bearings and other parts, and FULL POWER in every size, are some of the reasons why these engines are so hard to get. Farmers and others have long since learned that it pays to tie up with McCormick-Deering when an engine is needed, just as it does when any of the other fifty and more lines of machines are required. We're ready to serve you; let us know what you need.

Schoolgirl Finds Big Barberry Bush
Method of Preventing the Spread of Stem Rust.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Rural school teachers in many districts of the north central grain-growing states are instructing their botany and nature study classes in the principles involved in the government's campaign against the common barberry bush, says F. E. Kempton, in charge of barberry eradication, United States Department of Agriculture. By instructing the pupils in a practical method of preventing the spread of stem rust to small grains, these teachers have not only aroused interest in the scientific study of plant life, but have materially aided in a project conducted for the benefit of agriculture.
Barberry material and literature recently displayed in a school in La Salle county, Ill., so fascinated one ten-year-old girl that she immediately became interested. The next day, while passing through a wooded area, she found a common barberry bush growing on the bank of a creek in an almost inaccessible spot at least a mile from the nearest road. It was a bush 12 feet high and moderately infected with rust. There also were a number of seedlings close by.

The county had been surveyed in 1923 to locate all common barberry bushes and a resurvey had been made in 1924. In all probability this bush still would be undiscovered had this girl not become interested in the common barberry and its method of spreading rust to the grain fields.
Rust spores carried by the wind from common barberry bushes have been known to infect distant grain fields.

All Dairy Cows Relish Change of Their Feeds
"The dairy cow likes a varied diet," says R. H. Hulce, animal husbandman at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.
"Cows fed over a long period on such a concentrate mixture as corn meal and cottonseed meal will ultimately refuse their food entirely and will gradually lose in flesh and vigor until the ration is changed.
"Just as most people welcome summer with its supply of fresh food from the orchard and garden, so does the dairy cow welcome green pastures as a change from the winter's dry fodder," continues Hulce.

He emphasizes the importance of palatability of food. If feeds are not palatable, variety of the ration is doubly necessary.
"Using a combination of feeds in the ration insures the supply of most all the elements, a cow needs for maintenance and production. Monotony of diet and a narrow ration react to make the dairy animal produce at the minimum, and in time cause losses in body weight," declares Hulce.
"In feeding for heavy production and advanced registry records, variety of the ration is an important factor in their success.
"In the same way, average production may be increased by catering to the appetite of the cow in furnishing all the different feeds practicable to feed for profitable returns," concludes Hulce.

Standardization of Eggs
A better standardization of eggs produced in and shipped from Missouri will result from an agreement completed between the federal bureau of agricultural economics and the Missouri state marketing bureau for federal-state inspection service on butter, cream and eggs. The Missouri Farmers' association and the state marketing bureau already have an arrangement for the inspection of eggs for the association. The association will bear a part of the expense.

United Central America
In 1823 the five Central American states were united into a national federation, which subsequently adopted a constitution modeled after that of the United States. The federation was partially ended by 1833, practically dissolved in 1839, and completely dissolved in 1847.

Poultry Notes

It is the mash feed that makes the high egg production.

Cull the flock and increase the profits from the laying hens later.

A suitable mash, fed throughout the summer, balances the grain ration and keeps the chicks growing without any setbacks.

It may seem cruel, but actually it's kindness to refrain from feeding chicks for the first 48 hours after hatching.

The calcium which is needed for egg-shell building can usually be best furnished with oyster shell, says the Nebraska experiment station.

Some form of animal protein such as meat scrap, tankage, dried skim milk, or buttermilk or semi-solid buttermilk is essential as part of the ration for the laying hen.

Good Poultry Business

to Cull Out Nonlayers

Just as a good business proposition, those hens that are not laying at this time of the year should be culled out of the flock and sold. They have probably finished their year's work and will eat expensive feed and use valuable house room the rest of the year. The poor-laying hen at this time of the year is lazy, overfat, probably beginning to molt, and has bright yellow coloring left in her legs and beak if she is of the yellow-skinned breeds. On the other hand, the good layer is always active, looks healthy, will not molt until late in the fall, and has put the yellow from her skin into the yolks of all the eggs she has laid. Any flock owner can cull hens by these indications. If he does not have confidence in his ability to do a good job of culling he can shut his culls up for a few days and see if they lay any eggs.

Good House for Geese

In order to make a success of goose raising the house should be on the ground. A building up off the ground would be much too dry. The goose house does not need to be expensive, ordinary rough lumber which is battened on the outside would be quite suitable. Earth should be thrown in to the house so as to make the floor at least six inches—or, better, one foot—above the level of the ground outside. The eggs should be collected as soon as laid.

The Creative Imagination

A little French girl of four came running to her mother one day trembling with fright. Mother, surprised, inquired the cause of her consternation. "I was telling myself a story I was making up," explained the child, "and there were wolves in it—and I got scared."—Boston Transcript.

RUPTURE

EXPERT HERE
F. H. Seeley of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted expert will personally be at the Lewis-Clark hotel, and will remain in Lewiston, Wednesday only, October 20. Mr. Seeley says:

"The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects—immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations,) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. CAUTION—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.

N. B.—Every statement in this notice has been verified before the Federal and State Courts.—F. H. SEELEY.
