NEWS FROM THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Clipped From Papers Published in Latah County.

Wet Falls Good Crops

If there is anything to the theory that lots of water going into the soil during the fall and winter insures a bountiful crop the next season, then this country ought to have a record-breaking yield next year. The November rains have soaked the ground well down into the subsoil already, and the winter snows and spring freshets are yet to come.

There is undoubtedly a lot to this belief, for good crops have invariably followed wet falls and winters, or long winters with lots of snow. The water that goes into the ground in this section is stored in the clay subsoil. During the growing season it evaporates and supplies moisture to the roots of the growing crops. A very simple but none the less effective process.—Deary Press.

Dr. Faulkner Leaves

Dr. Faulkner informs us that he is leaving soon for Southern Pines, North Carolina. He is to enter the Pine Crest Manor hospital where he will specialize in electric therapy and x-ray work which is of particular interest to him. During Dr. Faulkner's two years of practice in Troy he has made many warm friends among the business men and his patients who will regret to hear that he is leaving, but wish him much success in his new location. Dr. C. A. Meyer has already taken over Dr. Faulkner's practice.—Troy News.

Commercial Club Meeting

A fairly large crowd attended the commercial club meeting last Tuesday evening. Among other matters brought up was the appointment of a standing committee to look after the fish and game situation in this locality. The new committee is composed of A. H. Daubenberg, E. A. Deobald and Frank Boyd.

The club unanimously passed a resolution asking that the deputy game warden for Latah county be appointed from this section of the county. As most of the game of the county is located in the southwestern corner, it is held here that much better supervision and a more rigid enforcement of game laws might be made if the headquarters of the game warden were here.

Other matters of importance to the welfare of the community were brought up and discussed after which the meeting adjourned.

Pemberton-Sackett

Miss Laura Pemberton, daughter of Mrs. Susan Pemberton of Kendrick was married last Saturday to Mr. Martin Sackett of Southwick. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Wolfe, Methodist minister, at his church in Lewiston, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. A wedding dinner was served immediately following the ceremony.

The bride is a popular young lady of Kendrick. For the past year she had a position with the Kendrick Store Co., and was a valued assistant at the store. She has lived in Kendrick for the greater part of her life and has a large circle of friends here. Mr. Sackett is a prosperous young farmer of the Southwick section. The young couple will make their home on the farm where the best wishes of their many friends follow them.

Choral Society Choir Sunday

The Kendrick Choral Society will form a union choir for the morning services at the Presbyterian church, Sunday, Dec. 19. The following Sunday the choir will sing at the Methodist church.

Hope Chest Contest

The relative standing of the candidates in the Hope Chest Contest remains unchanged, but with a week to go and the end of the contest coming Christmas night—who knows what changes may occur! The points have been coming in steadily and it is expected that the last few days of the contest will see coupons galore dropped into the ballot box. Some of the contestants and many of their friends have undoubtedly been holding back coupons to be used at the last minute for the final wind-up.

All subscriptions must be checked in not later than Friday, December 24 at 5 o'clock, in order to be counted on the contest. Coupons for Theatre tickets will be given until 10 o'clock Christmas night, after which the ballot box will be closed and the final count made. Announcement of the names of the judges of the contest will be made in next week's paper.

Following is the standing of the contestants:

Hall-Richardson Marriage

Mr. R. E. Richardson and Miss Olive Hall, both of the Juliaetta community, were married recently at Dayton, Wash., according to an announcement this week. The wedding took place at the Hotel Dayton, Rev. W. C. Gilmore of the Congregational church officiating. A few relatives and friends were present at the ceremony.

Mr. Richardson is a prosperous farmer of the Fix ridge section, where the bride and groom will make their home. The Gazette joins their many friends in wishing them a happy married life.

Council Bought Pipe Thawer

The town council purchased an electric pipe thawing outfit this week to be used on the local water system. It will be available for private use under the direction of Mr. Gardner, but a charge sufficient to cover any expense involved will be made.

At a largely attended meeting last night held at the Fraternal Temple, Canyon Chapter O. E. S. and Kendrick Lodge No. 26, A. F. & A. M., held a joint installation of officers. A splendid banquet, prepared by the Eastern Star Lodge, was served at 6:30, after which the installation took place. Following the installation ceremony dancing was enjoyed until midnight, music being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas.

Following is the list of elective officers of the Eastern Star: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Mary Adams; Patron, John L. Woody; Associate Matron, Mrs. Ruth Houck; Secretary, Mrs. Ruby McKeever; Treasurer, Mrs. T. O. Green; Conductress, Mrs. Anna Deobald, Associate Conductress, Mrs. Lola MacPherson.

Officers will be installed on the 5th of January at the conclusion of the business of the camp. Lunch will be served.

Community Christmas Tree

Next Friday evening, December 24, there will be a Christmas tree and program at the Methodist church. The Presbyterians and Methodists are going to hold a community tree and have decided to make it a "giving Christmas". Everyone who would like to help make Christmas a happy time at the Children's home at Lewiston, is requested to bring gifts, wrapped in white if possible, to the tree Christmas eve. Anything in the line of food or toys will be acceptable. Anyone from the country who will not be able to come in for the tree and program in the evening, may leave their gifts at Morgan's Grocery. Mr. Fix has kindly consented to take the gifts to Lewiston in one of the store trucks.

Everyone is invited to attend the tree and program.

Lewiston Has $10,000 Fire

The Morris building, one of Lewiston's finest business blocks, suffered fire damage Tuesday of $2,000. Occupants of ground-floor rooms suffered a loss of about $8,000 from water and smoke.

The fire was hard to fight, as it was between the ceiling and roof. Losses to the stores from water and smoke are estimated as follows: Leggett Mercantile company, dry goods, $7,000 to $8,000; Duthie Seed company, $500; Star Dray company, $200; Skaggs store, $200. All are covered by insurance.

Chicken

The minister and his bride were preparing to eat a bite at a luncheonette. They were busily engaged with the bill of fare when the waitress, who was a much calumniated and peroxidized young miss, came up to take their order. Suddenly the young minister looked up from the bill of fare, smiled sweetly at the waitress, and said: "How is the chicken today?" "Pretty good, kid," she retorted, "How are you?"—Ex.

BURGLARS ROBBED CARLSON HARDWARE

Got Away With Merchandise Valued at $1500.

For the second time within the past few weeks the Carlson Hardware Store has been burglarized. Last Sunday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock robbers entered the store through the side window at the back of the building, evidently forcing the window up by the use of a "jimmy".

The burglars centered their efforts in securing radio sets, taking six complete sets, including batteries, tubes, etc. They evidently took plenty of time for their work as burlap in the warehouse at the rear of the store was missing and had probably been used for wrapping the radio sets.

Six expensive guns and a quantity of ammunition were also taken, together with a large number of pocket knives, small tools and miscellaneous articles. Mr. Carlson stated that a conservative estimate of the amount stolen would reach between twelve and fifteen hundred dollars.

Mrs. Watts, who was staying with her mother, heard two cars pass the house, coming into town. A short time later she saw several men in the vicinity of the Kendrick State Bank using a flashlight. She hesitated to give the alarm, and then found that there was nothing out of the ordinary going on. Finally the two cars passed the house on their way out of town. She saw them plainly and says that one was a Ford and the other a large car.

After thinking the matter over she decided to call her husband and in turn Marshal Gardner was also notified. There was soon a volunteer posse on the scene of action. It was thought that the Kendrick State Bank had been entered but on examination there was nothing to substantiate this idea. The doors of the various store buildings were tried and all found locked. The men went home, thinking that it was a false alarm. The following morning about nine o'clock it was discovered that the rear window at the side of the Carlson Hardware was open and that entrance had been made there. The Latah sheriff's office was notified and Pat Malone, deputy sheriff, was sent down to take charge of the case.

Deputy Sheriff Erskine of Nez Perce county came up and took a number of finger prints, some of which are believed to be very good. The sheriff's office is working on several good leads and it is believed that there will be developments in the case in the near future. The general belief is held here that local talent is more or less mixed up in the job.

Land Bank Sold 9648 Acres

The Federal Land Bank of Spokane sold 54 farms totaling 9648 acres for $194,691 during November, according to George C. Jewett, president. This brings sales for the 12 months ended November 30 to about $1,500,000. "In my opinion, farm land prices in the Northwest have reached the bottom," said Mr. Jewett. "We are entering into a period of good movement of farm lands."

Ladies Aid Sale Saturday

The Presbyterian ladies aid will hold an apron and cooked food sale in the former Stanton store room, Saturday starting at 10 o'clock. The Campfire Girls will also hold a candy sale in the same room and ask the general public to buy homemade Christmas candy from them. 51-1

Dance Tonight

There will be a dance at the Fraternal Temple, tonight, (Friday) by a six piece orchestra known as the Kendrick Synco-pators. Everybody cordially invited to attend.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE KENDRICK SCHOOLS

What The Students Are Doing This Week.

The children of the primary room have been making small rabbits from various and brightly colored yarn.

The primary room has prepared an exhibit for the Teachers meeting. The work of this year is on display. Free-hand drawings of "Jack and Jill" and "Humpty-Dumpty" are very well done by the little folks. An Indian project is hung on one wall; bright colored canoes, Indians, wigs and blankets are tacked upon a background of cheese cloth. A short distance away, small clowns, foxes, elephants and baskets of fruit are on display. Pigs, rabbits, Santa Clauses, and many other pictures are upon the opposite wall. The room, as a whole, is very attractive. There will also be poem-ship and spelling booklets on display, and the sand table constitutes an important part of the decoration.

The primary room bought a large lantern to be hung over the light. It is about 20 inches high, and 18 inches in diameter. It may be covered with crepe paper, according to the season. At present, it is decorated with three large Santa Clauses.

The General Assembly program of the high school last week, was given by the Juniors. The program consisted of two general songs, and a three act comedy, "The Royal Tragedy." The main characters were: King, William Holt; Queen, Margaret McDowell; Princess, Hester Knepper; Prince, Raleigh Smith.

The seventh and eighth grades attended the program.

Next Tuesday, both the girls' and boys' basketball teams will play the Deary high school team, at Deary. The Kendrick players have been practicing a great deal, and they expect a very good game. The girls' team is: Forwards, Margaret McDowell and Mae Freytag; guards, Lizzie Jones and Leora Aiken; centers, Marjorie Gertje and Mabel Taber; Subs, Josephine Wilken and Helen Emmett.

The boys' team is: Forwards, Claude Cook and Robert Damarell; centers, Roy Sparber and Elbert Long; guards, Gerald Ingle, Bernard Jones and Gustav Wegner.

Drive Proves Successful

Last week the drive for funds with which to repair and repaint the Presbyterian church, and manse, was made. The committee in charge met with most gratifying results and the amount needed for this work will be raised without any difficulty. There are still a few who have not responded but the committee feels sure they will do their part when the time comes. This drive demonstrated again the fact that Kendrick never turns down a worthy cause.

Twenty Years Ago

The Kendrick Rochdale Co. held their monthly meeting Saturday. The iron track has reached Vollmer, the new prairie town and the people of the reservation are celebrating the occasion as they should.

An exchange wonders what has become of the old fashioned editor who ran the world and let his paper take care of itself.

The Idaho County Free Press, published at Grangeville, blossomed out last week with a sixteen page Christmas edition. It was jammed full of snappy ads that will no doubt head many a Christmas shopper to that county seat town. The publisher, E. M. Olmstead, and his wife are spending the winter in California. During his absence, as the Press puts it, the "kids" are running the paper. They are doing a mighty good job of it.

Sinners

Three criminal trials are interesting the American people just now and each of them is connected with religion. The McPherson case in California, the Norris murder trial in Texas, and the Hall-Mills mystery in New Jersey. In each of these cases the state is trying to prove the weakness, perhaps the depravity, of some minister of the gospel. How fortunate it is that these three ministerial cases should come together. They furnish feeble minds with an alibi against organized religion. As a matter of fact, while preachers should be better than the rest of us, indeed and in truth they are more or less like the rest of us, sinners, as all are, in one way or another. This does not harm organized religion. For ever since the day of David, who had great gifts of statecraft, and great poetical talent and was indeed a servant of the Lord, men in high places have shown themselves to be only men. A great man is no different from his fellows. He has some little kink in one corner of his brain, which produces his unusual talent; which gives him his gift. But this little plus kink is the only difference between him and the rest of us. We are all of the common clay. Each has in his heart divine fire which makes him a child of God. But just because a man or a woman, aspires nobly and would help his fellows by preaching is no real reason to stand aghast when he falls. We are all poor miserable sinners. Only the Pharisee who went into the temple to pray is perfect, and Christ certainly put the tag on him good and right!—Emporia Gazette.

TWELFTH NIGHT

CHRISTMAS ends in England on the fifth of January, old Christmas Day, or Twelfth Night, with a great party for the little folks, which is the occasion for the cutting of the special "Twelfth Night cake," thus winding up the season; and if you have not tasted at least twelve samples of Christmas pudding during the twelve days between new and old Christmas—well, you are out of luck.

"THIS," said the quiet voice of the young minister to his waiting audience, "might be called 'A Christmas Meditation.' We shall try to give you merely a reverent impression of the spirit of the season. A bit of carol singing . . . some lighted candles . . . a reading from the Bible and one tableau."
There was a soft rustle of expectation throughout the church. The lights snapped off. All was dark and still.
Like the slow uprising of a far wind came the sweet, subdued voices of a hidden choir. The beautiful notes floated over the heads of the people like a benediction.

Noiselessly candle after candle sprang into flame at the windows, each taper lighted by the hand of a small boy. Then the screens about the stage under the pulpit were removed. And there was the dear and treasured scene so loved and so cherished at this season.
The manger . . . Mary bending over it . . . Joseph standing near by. A soft glow from the rude cradle suffused the faces about it. Mary all in spotless white . . . Joseph bearded and dressed in blue, with a scarlet mantle over his shoulders, a striped headress and a broad sash about his waist.
The music glid softly into "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night." From the front of the church came a tall figure with a crook. A shepherd from the hills, who knelt in front of the manger and then stood near. Then another and another, rough men with kindly, awkward manners. Two little fellows followed, their eyes round with awe.
Again the music changed. "We Three Kings of the Orient Are." A thrill passed through the church. The strange notes of this music ushered in an impressive figure who advanced toward the manger with royal dignity. His dress gleamed richly. He carried a gift high in both hands.
Then came the second king, also bearing costly presents. Then a third, who knelt with bowed head in front of the stable scene.
The tableau took on a deeper and more tender significance.
The young minister read the Christmas story from the Bible. His voice was low and clear, keeping in perfect tune with the surroundings. When he had finished, soft music drifted down from the choir-loft. "Oh, Little Town of Bethlehem."
The notes seemed to caress the entire place. A hush of reverence enveloped everyone.
Silently from the side of the church near the altar came a procession of white-robed children, each bearing a lighted taper. They arranged themselves in a sort of frame about the manger scene, standing one above the other on the two flights of stairs leading up into the pulpit. This was the final impression.
The transcendent glow from the manger . . . Mary bending over it, lost in rapt adoration . . . Joseph at her elbow . . . the shepherds . . . the wise men . . . and the frame of lighted candles.
Then the screens were again set up. The church flooded with light. The minister dismissed the people with a short prayer and benediction.
A simple service, as he said, but one which left an unforgettable impression of the true reverence and spirit of Christmas on all who attended.

The Old Toymaker

"MRS. JONES has been makin' pies," observed Ruth. "Mince pies?" replied her sister.
"No, Jones pies," answered Ruth. "It was promising for somebody, for Keturah Jones never made pies without making one over. The batch might be mince, apple or pumpkin, but there was always an extra pie for good nature and good luck.
This time it was a Christmas pie and destined for the old toy maker. It was his only chance of holiday toy.

for, while he could whittle out boats, carve dogs that could almost bark and cats that seemed afraid of them, and make doll houses, he could not cook, and he lived alone.
He was an old man, queer but kindly. His old house seemed to be falling down, or at least it was leaning that way, but yet it sheltered the toy shop bravely and tried to feel as young as ever because it had seen old Hans stand on his head just to show how young he was. On the way to him with the pie the children wondered if he would sing for them again as he had done the last time they watched him at his work. It was the song about the miller's dog that they wanted, but they found him working on a toy horse, and when they noticed that there was something wrong about the horse they forgot about the dog. "You haven't got that right, Mr. Hans," said Ruth; "you shouldn't put a necklace of sleigh bells around his stomach." "Well, well," said the old man, "I'll have to see about that; but perhaps I was thinking about something to eat when I put the bells in the wrong place." "Well, here it is," said Ruth, uncovering the pie, "and we wish you a Merry Christmas." "Sure," said Mr. Hans, "sure it will be merry, and you shall be merry, too," and he took down a bundle as he put the pie upon the shelf.
It was a very interesting bundle, but the children suddenly remembered the song and forgot the bundle. This was the song:
The miller's big dog lay on the mill floor,
And Bango was his name, oh,
A wondering what he lay there for,
And why he was so lame, oh,
B-a-n-g-o-o
O Bango was his name.
The miller he said if the dog was dead,
Why, that would be the end, oh;
But since he only lame instead,
Old Hans would soon him mend, oh,
B-a-n-g-o-o
O Bango was his name.
The special fun of it was when they spelled the dog's name around the circle, each singer taking one letter, and then all joining in on the last line.
Then the children forgot the song and remembered the bundle. It was well wrapped, for they took off paper after paper, like peeling an onion, until they came to the girl doll that could call for mother and the boy doll that could play on a mouth organ. Then, with both the presents going, they also went, leaving a pleasant smile on the old man's face and all the toys looking happily at each other.
Mrs. Jones welcomed the travelers back with a taste of her cooking for themselves, and was as happy as all good Christmas cooks are. She said, "You can't make chocolate almonds out of horse chestnuts, but those youngsters surely did put in their thumbs and pull out plums."

Christmas Candles

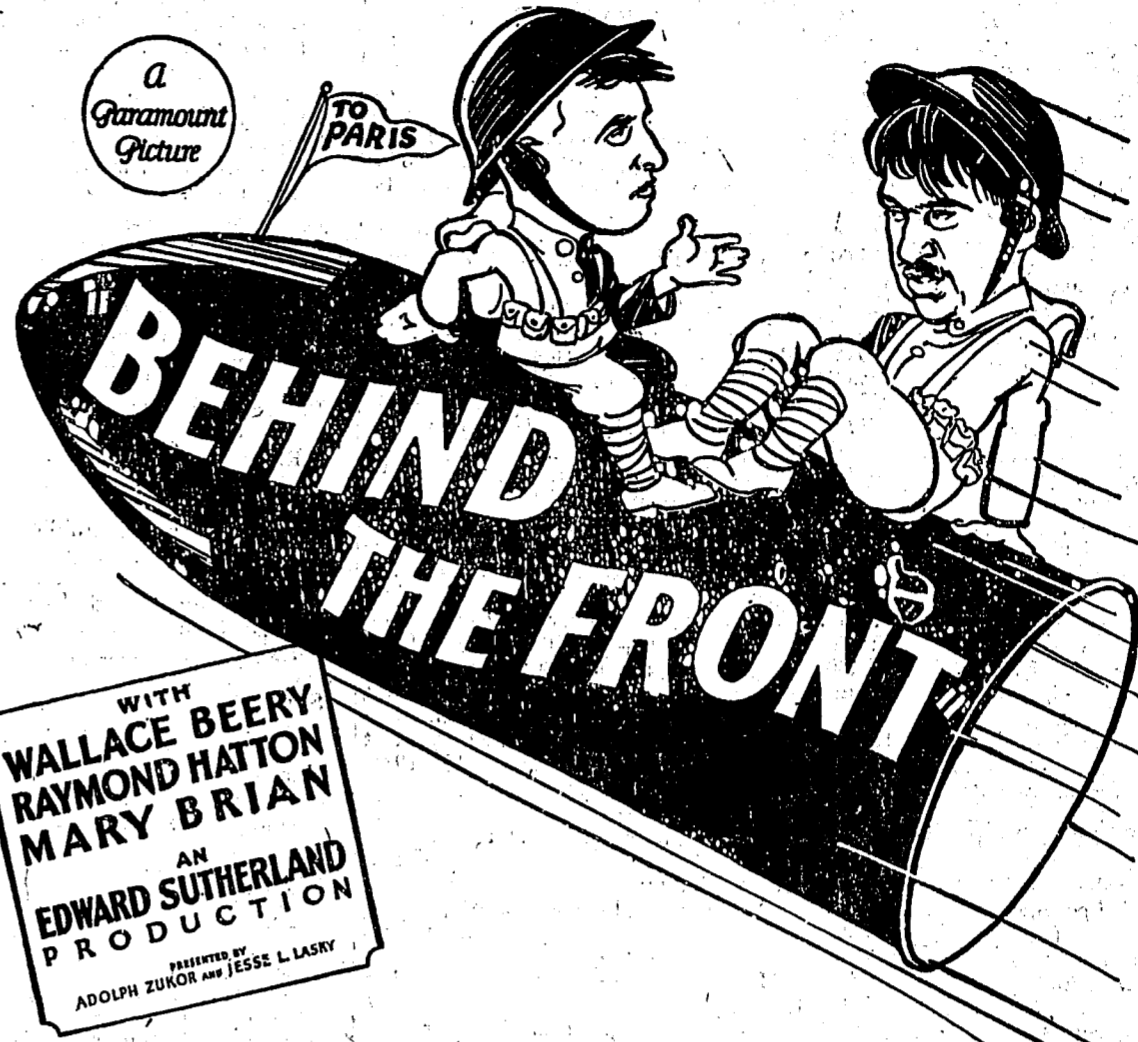

THE candle is the true symbol of Christmas. Its flickering taper shining on the sill of the city house or the country cottage sends out the message of "peace on earth" quite as much as the chime of Christmas bells. No Christmas tree is complete until the candles, whether of wax or of electric lights, have been fastened to its boughs.
A charming elderly lady of my acquaintance gives each child in the neighborhood every year a "Twelfth Night" candle. This is a very large cathedral candle, which is to be lighted on Christmas eve and placed on the windowsill set in a wreath of holly and so placed that its flame burns at the center of a Christmas wreath hanging in the window. It is then kept burning every evening until the eve of Twelfth Night, January fifth. The Twelfth Night eve, the unburned portion of the candle and all the Christmas greens are placed in the open fireplace and consumed, thus ending the Christmas season.

The significance of this pretty rite is as follows: The candle is symbolic of the star which the wise men saw in the East, and it is kept shining through the twelve days during which the wise men were following the star on their journey to the manger where the young child lay.
Children especially love this beautiful custom of having a lighted candle represent the Christmas star, and in some of the homes where the Twelfth Night candle is kept burning, each child cares for the candle for an evening, all taking turns. The candle is lighted, the wreath lowered to en-

The Greatest Comedy Drama in Years
You may have seen lots of comedy dramas but none of them can hold a candle to this one. "Behind The Front" is the best comedy in years. It has everything you can wish for in a motion picture. One of the big New York papers says: "Behind The Front" is a knockout. If you haven't seen it you haven't saw anything."

ALSO The Grand Canyon

One of the most beautiful scenic films that has ever been put on the screen. It is all in natural colors.

ALSO "Court Plaster"

Here is a two-reel comedy that will make the grouchyest man on earth smile. You just can't help laughing.

Hope Chest Contest Ends Christmas Night

Understanding

A man does not receive the statements that "two and two are four," and that "the pure in heart shall see God" on the same terms. The one can be proved to him with four grains of corn. He can never arrive at belief in the other till he realizes in the intimate persuasion of his whole being.—James Russell Lowell

Standard Gauge

The standard gauge in Europe is not the same as in the United States and Canada—4 feet 8½ inches. But it is in Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Hungary, Italy, Switzerland, Sweden, European Turkey, and some other places. Russia favors five feet; Spain and Portugal 5 feet 6 inches.

circle its flame, and when the child goes to bed it is his duty to blow the candle out. A Twelfth Night candle, with hand-printed instructions as to how to burn it, makes a simple but significant Christmas gift, either for children or their elders.

Hurry, Santa

"Do you expect Santa Claus to be very good to you this Christmas?"
"He only has one more pay day before Christmas, so I can't say."

Spirit Church Bells

In olden times it was believed that at Christmas the sound of church bells could be heard wherever a church had stood, though no trace remain.

Slight Misunderstanding

"Made a hole in one today," said the golfer on arriving home from the links. "More darling," murmured his tired wife, thinking he meant something else.—Boston Transcript.
