NEWS NOTES FROM THE KENDRICK SCHOOLS

What The Students Are Doing This Week.

Miss Dick made a large snow man, cut from white paper, for the primary room. He is about five feet tall and has a black hat, pipe, buttons and features. He is hung from a string in the middle of the room.

Donald Carlson was promoted from the first to the second grade this week.

The primary room has two new pupils, they are Irene and Charley Thornton, from Leland.

Miss Dick's room have a new sand table project. It illustrates the "Henny Penny" story. The characters are made of clay and are: Chleken Little, Henny Penny, Turkey Lurkey, Ducky Lucky, Goosey Loosey, and Poxy Loxy. They also have another project of the "Five Pigs".

The 1 B's have finished reading their fourth book, which is a supplementary reader "The Story Hour Reader." The 1 A's have finished their third reader.

A tin soldier is now on the front board, made of bright colored x's. It is to illustrate the story of the "Brave Tin Soldier."

The first and second grade learned to sing "The Sunbonnet Babies," a new song.

The first grade is dramatizing the story of "The Billy Goat's Gruff".

Last Friday afternoon the primary room entertained the seventh and eighth grade room with some songs.

The second graders know their times tables up to the six's.

The following children from the fifth and sixth grade room have perfect attendance records for the last semester: Phyllis Cummings, Roy Long, Katherine Emery, Oscar Onstott, Nettie Mae McDowell, Elizabeth Carlson and Margaret Schulze have not been absent this term, but both girls have one tardy mark.

Mr. MacGregor will entertain his students in the seventh and eighth grades with their "Annual Feed" tonight. After this entertainment he will take them all to the show. They are all expecting a very good time.

The seventh and eighth grades took their state examinations this week. The seventh graders took only geography and physiology at these exams and the eighth graders took them all.

Last Tuesday, a meeting of the Athletic Association was held and officers were elected as follows: President, Claude Cook; Vice president, Margaret McDowell. As all the members of the high school were present, yell leaders were elected, and some yells were chosen. William Ingle was elected yell leader and Marjorie Davidson, assistant. Friday, a number of yells were written on the black board in the assembly, so the students will be familiar with them. The high school will be well prepared to "back up" the teams.

There was no general assembly last Friday, as the faculty was busy preparing the examinations.

The semester exams were given Monday and Tuesday of this week. Some very good grades were received. The highest grades were as follows: Ancient history, Helen Emmett; English IV, Hester Knepper, American history, Wilbur Corkill and Hester Knepper; Typing I, Pearl Johnson and Elbert Long; Typing III, Margaret McDowell; General Science, Walter Sparber; Latin, Hester Knepper; Chemistry, Raleigh Smith; Algebra, Leora Aiken; Geometry, Shirley Clem; English I, Leora Aiken; English II, Shirley Clem; French I, Walter Sparber and William Ingle; Vocation, Shirley Clem; Domestic Science, Mae Blevins.

This year, the high school is selling season tickets to the basketball games. They are: adults $1.50; students of the high school and 7th and 8th grade $1.00; other students 50c. This entitles the person to the four conference games, and nearly all of these will be double headers, being both girl's and boy's teams. One of these games

Will Give Concert Soon

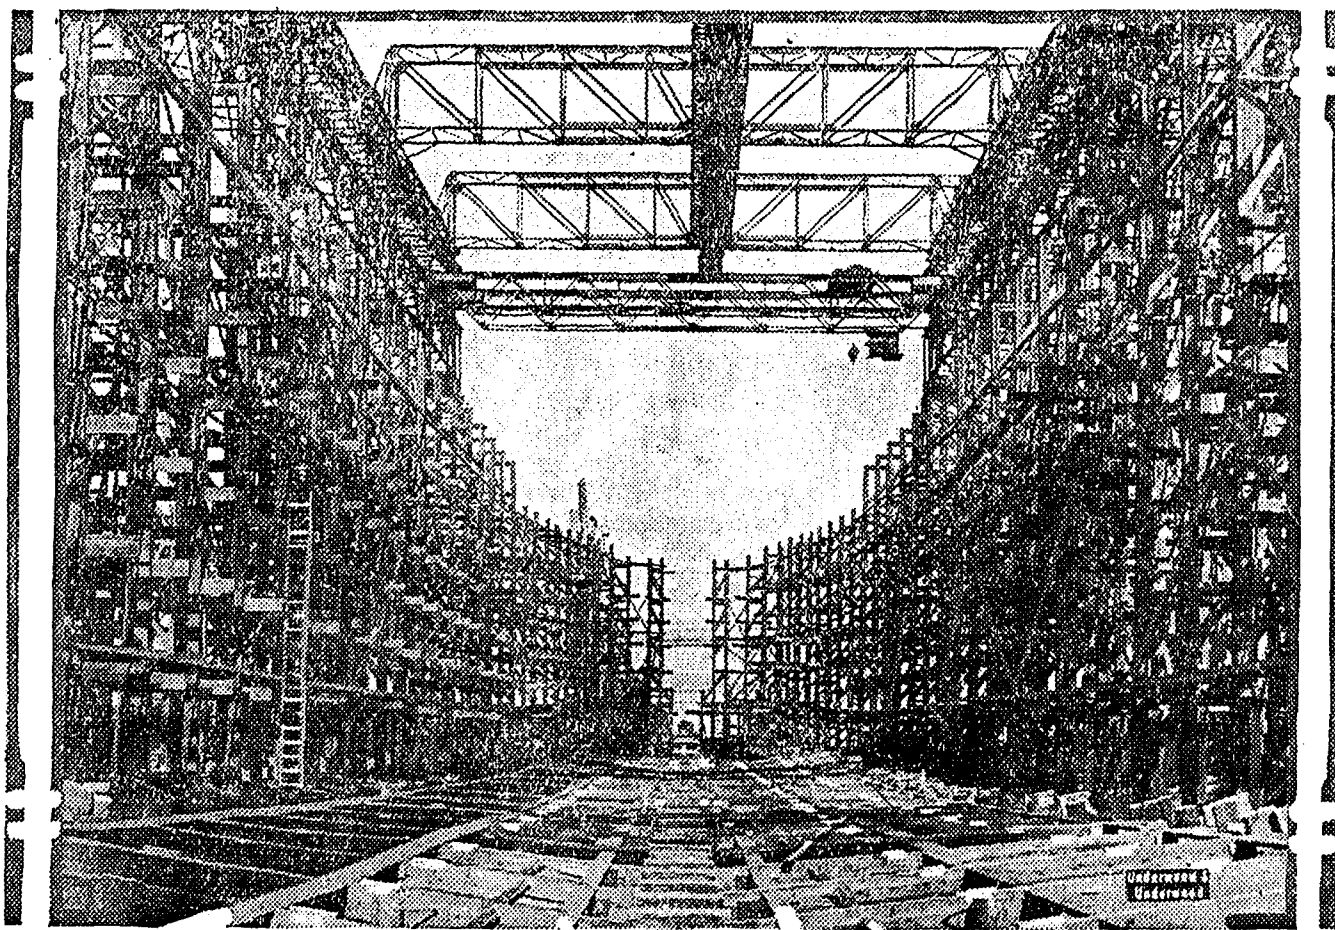

The Kendrick Choral Society is planning to give a concert February 22. Some time in the early spring an operetta will be given. Music has already been secured and the parts are now being assigned. Rev. Rein of Cameron was present at the rehearsal last Wednesday evening. He has a splendid bass voice and will be a decided addition to the organization.

Perfect Gentlemen

Kenneth rushed in from play with hair ruffled, clothes soiled, and hands dirty, and seated himself at the table. "What would you say if I should come to the table looking as you do?" inquired his mother. Kenneth surveyed his well groomed mother thoughtfully, then replied: "I think I'd be too polite to say anything."—Exchange.

was played last Wednesday with Troy, but it was not a double header.

Uncle Sam Is Building a New Naval Cruiser

A new cruiser, the first since the Washington naval conference, is being built for the American navy at the Brooklyn navy yard. It will be called the Pensacola. The photograph shows the framework ready for the laying of the keel, which has just taken place.

Genesee News Official Paper

At the meeting of Latah county commissioners at Moscow this week the Genesee News was given the contract for publishing the commissioners proceedings and is now the official paper of Latah County. The News put in a bid of 2 1/4 cents a line, which was lower than any other bid received. The papers submitting bids were the Troy News, the Idaho Post, Genesee News and Kendrick Gazette.

The Genesee News has a splendid equipment and can handle the legal publications as well as any paper in the county. The publisher, P. C. McCreary, is a live newspaper man and will give the county perfectly efficient service. The Gazette is glad to extend congratulations.

During the two years the Gazette has been the official paper it has endeavored to give the county the same service it could get anywhere. There hasn't been a single complaint from the court house family during this time. The Gazette wishes to extend its appreciation, particularly to the board of county commissioners, for the splendid treatment it has received and for the fair and impartial spirit that has existed during its term as official paper.

Return From California

A. Wilmot and his housekeeper, Miss Ecklund, returned yesterday afternoon from California. Mr. Wilmot expects to have a hearing before the public utilities commission in regard to adjusting rates, in the near future.

He states that the weather in California has not been up to specifications this winter. At one time he passed a "snow man" between Los Angeles and Long Beach and there has been considerable rainy and cloudy weather there.

Billy Wilmot is in school in San Diego. He has a paper route there and cleans up $15 a month, starting the day at 4:30 a.m. Herman Schupfer is working for a telephone company at Long Beach.

Interesting Hunting Story

There is an interesting story in the January issue of Outdoor Life entitled "In the Peace River Game Fields". It gives a thrilling account of a moose hunt in that big game country. Frank Brown, who is now visiting here at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Monuce, was a member of the party. He has a "dude ranch" in the Alberta country. The party consisted of Dr. P. G. Howes and Dr. C. J. Miller of Ord, Nebraska, Frank Brown and two Cree Indian guides. Besides getting their moose, two grizzlies were shot by Dr. Miller.

Band Reorganized

At a well attended meeting of former band members, held at the city hall last Monday evening, the matter of reorganizing the band was brought up for discussion. The sentiment was highly in favor of getting the band together again for regular rehearsals. The following officers were elected: Ed Taylor, president and E. H. Emery, secretary-treasurer. It was voted to meet every Monday evening at the city hall for rehearsals and a committee was also appointed to take up the matter of securing a leader.

The Kendrick band was originally organized by Walter Thomas, who is now living in Spokane. He is an exceptionally talented band instructor and under his leadership, within a period of one year, he produced a band that was said to be a credit to a town 10 times the size of Kendrick. Most of the original members of this band are still here and they still have their instruments. It is now a question of securing a leader. Last year Harold Thomas directed the band but does not care to undertake the position again this year.

This is Kendrick's year to celebrate July 4th. The band would be a big asset for the celebration.

Banks in Good Condition

A recent publication of the total deposits of the Bank of Juliaetta, Kendrick State Bank and Farmers Bank of Kendrick, shows there is some money left in this locality even if the bean crop last fall didn't amount to much. These three banks are in the heart of the Potlatch country and their condition reflects the financial standing of the community to a large extent. Their combined deposits total $640,637.70. This is a mighty good showing for the middle of winter.

NEWS FROM THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Country is Prosperous

Hard times in the Upper Potlatch country? The December bank statements don't indicate anything favoring of hard times. On the contrary, they show the country to be in a pretty prosperous condition. Deposits in the Latah County State Bank of Deary, on December 31 were $177,790.10, and in the First State Bank, Bovill, on the same date were $198,686.94—making a grand total of $376,476.04 deposits in the two banks serving this territory.

The combined resources of the two banks reach nearly half a million dollars.

When one considers that we have untold wealth yet to be developed here, one wonders just how rich the country is—or could be made.—Deary Press.

Wool Worries

How to make women's skirts longer or at least to make them longer and wool, will be one of the weighty subjects to be considered at the Annual convention at Weiser. The scanty garments of the women has dealt the wool industry a hard blow, it is said.

It is estimated that if each consumer took 10 ounces more of wool, the mills could run at full capacity instead of only 75 per cent, as now. Well, the other 10 ounces would be quite comfortable some of these chilly days.—Troy News.

There Are Other Places, Too

Los Angeles and Hollywood are not the only places that remind one of Denmark, and where it is necessary to wear a clothespin on one's nose. Little old Spokane has taken her place in the limelight along this line and the stench is said to be something awful.

If the present shakeup by county officials now going on in that city does not get results, it would seem fitting to call our "Dr." Uncle Samuel into consultation and perhaps help perform an operation—for there is a canker there that needs cutting out.—Genesee News.

Ask Assessor to Handle Plates

Emmett J. Gemmill, Latah county assessor, is asked to issue Idaho automobile license plates from Moscow through his department, in a resolution adopted Thursday afternoon by the newly organized Association of Commissioners of Latah County Highway Districts.

The organization was formed at a meeting of commissioners of the county called together by the Moscow chamber of commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. The request for issuance of license plates here came in the form of a resolution.

Latah county at present is the only county in Idaho in which automobile owners are not given plates direct from the court house. Mr. Gemmill maintaining that state law provides they must be issued from the secretary of state's office at Boise—Star-Mirror.

Let a Man Learn

Let a man learn to look for the permanent in the mutable and fleeting; let him learn to hear the disappearance of things he was wont to reverence, without losing his reverence; let him learn that he is here, not to work, but to be worked upon; and that, the abyss open under abyss, and opinion displaces opinion, all are at last contained in the eternal cause. "If my bark sink, 't is to another sea."—Emerson.

Two more dogs were poisoned in Kendrick this week. They belonged to the Wm. Freytag family.

Governor Fills Two Vacancies

Appointments by the governor for the offices of commissioner of public works and commissioner of agriculture for Idaho, were made last Saturday. The vacancy in the former office was caused by the resignation of William J. Hall. This position was filled by the appointment of Joe D. Woods of Boise, who has been connected with the state highway department since 1914.

The office of commissioner of agriculture, formerly held by A. W. B. Kjosness, was filled by the appointment of John E. Welch of Jerome, Idaho. He is a graduate of the Utah agricultural college class of 1911 and has had a number of years experience in Idaho extension work.

Troy Wins From Kendrick

The Troy high school basketball team won from Kendrick last Wednesday evening at the local gym by a score of 15 to 13. It was a hard fought battle from start to finish, neither team having much of a lead at any stage of the game. A good sized crowd was present as this was the opening conference game of the season for the locals.

The Troy boys lead by about two points nearly all through the game. They have a light team but are fast. Kendrick's team showed that the boys have not yet learned the value of team work but the next game will no doubt show progress along this line. Sparber, Kendrick's center led in the scoring with 12 points out of the 13 points. Todd, Troy center was high man for the visitors with 8 points.

Following is the lineup and scoring:

Troy	Pos.	Kendrick
Haverberg	F.	E. Long
Dalberg(5)	F.	Cook
Todd(8)	C	(12)Sparber
Christie	G	Jones
Strom	G	(1)Ingle

Refs: Troy, Donaldson (2) for Dalberg; Spencer for Christie.

Repairing Presbyterian Church

Work is progressing on repairing the Presbyterian church. I. N. Harris has been painting the interior woodwork and repairing one of the smaller rooms. The old paper is being torn from the walls and ceiling of the main church room preparatory to cal-cimining. The walls and ceiling are plastered so it was thought best to give them a coat of cal-cimine rather than to paper them. I. N. Harris has had charge of this work.

E. W. Lutz of Lewiston attended the annual directors' meeting of the Kendrick State Bank last Tuesday morning.

"Haberdasher"
"Hapertas" occurs in a very old manuscript as meaning a sort of cloth, and it has also been suggested that our haberdashery may have come from this. But the probable truth is that the cloth was named after the haberdasher who sold it, and not the haberdasher after the cloth.

An Alabama man has quit bee keeping because he can't keep them sober. He says they have found a moonshiner's layout and persist in visiting the dump on which the mash is thrown, with the same result that comes to humans who imbibe—they do not attend to business and are not reliable.—Lewiston, Banner.

Tuesday morning as ye ed walked over to the linotype with some copy that had been written with the scissors, there was a stink bug perched on the point of the copy hook. Now what do you suppose that signified? The copy was perfectly respectable because we clipped it from the Deary and Genesee papers. We don't know whether a stink bug is a bird of bad omen or not, but anyhow it is our first experience with one on the point of our copy hook. We're glad we don't believe in signs.

"Nature," explained the philosopher, "always tries to make compensation. For instance, if one eye is lost the sight of the other becomes stronger, and if a person grows deaf in one ear the hearing of the other ear becomes more acute."
"Faith," said Pat, "and I believe you're right, for I've noticed that when a man has one leg shorter the other is always longer."—Tacoma New Herald.

An Old One

This is an old one. "Even as you and I"—A fool there was and he saved his rocks, even as you and I; but he took them out of the old strong box when a salesman called with some wildcat stocks, and the fool was stripped down to his socks, even as you and I.

There is no use for the wool growers associations to try to wish longer skirts on the ladies. It is hopeless for the hairpin manufacturers to try to persuade them to quit bobbed hair. The comfort of the present styles will not readily be abandoned and it is a known fact as old as time itself, that when the ladies get their heads together, even if they are bobbed, there is no use to try to talk them out of it.

Manure Contains Needed Food for Various Crops

Manure contains valuable plant food, in the ratio of about one pound of phosphoric for each two pounds of either nitrogen or potash. Manure can be utilized most economically by those crops which are heavy feeders on nitrogen and potash, such as corn, potatoes and beets, rather than on the small grains, which require more phosphorus. On most soils phosphorus is the first limiting factor. If enough manure were used on a crop to supply all the phosphorus removed, the chances are that much of the nitrogen and potash would be wasted, because of the greater ability of the soil to supply these two elements. Therefore one of the best ways to make manure go farther is to reinforce it with acid phosphate.

Tight Floor Simplifies Sanitation of Henhouse

A tight concrete or board floor is a big aid in maintaining a sanitary henhouse, poultrymen of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois point out. A dirt floor cannot be cleaned satisfactorily, and furthermore in case of a disease infection or worm infestation, there is little chance to get rid of the trouble. Concrete is permanent, rat proof, easy to clean and dry, if properly put in. The house should be located so that natural drainage is possible. In addition, at least six inches of some porous material such as cinders or gravel should be used as a sub-base.

JULIAETTA COMMUNITY NEWS

Including Activities of the Local School

A Good Record

Mrs. E. Buchanan received a letter from her son, Tim and family, who left Monday morning for their home in Klamath Falls, Oregon, stating that they arrived home Tuesday evening. They covered the distance of about 600 miles in two days. This seems to be a remarkable car record considering weather and bad condition of the roads at this time of the year.

Community Dinner

The annual church cleaning day of the Methodist church was held last Thursday. The people interested in the church and others, took well filled baskets and went to the church, where hard work and fun went hand in hand in giving the church a through going over. About sixty persons, including school children, whose parents were there, ate dinner in the basement that day. It was heard said by many that they wished the church needed cleaning a little oftener.

Girl's Club Meeting

Mr. Taylor and Miss Johansen of Moscow, met with the girls and some of the mothers, Tuesday afternoon in the Oddfellows hall. Miss Johansen has charge of the extension work in the ten northern counties of the state. She gave a very interesting talk on the work being carried on by other clubs and of a program arranged for the short course at Moscow this year. Miss Johansen also helped the girls plan and outline their work for the coming year.

Mr. Taylor awarded the girls for their past club work, by giving them pins, either third or fourth year, to which they were entitled.

After the business had been dispensed with a social hour followed, during which a delicious luncheon was served.

Miss Johansen will meet with the girls again in March and will give them a lesson in basketry.

Surprise Party

A crowd of neighbors walked in and surprised Mrs. L. Huntsberger last Saturday evening. The Huntsberger family was ready to leave for the East. The neighbors gathered to show them a good time before their departure. It would be needless to say that everyone thoroughly enjoyed himself, when there was plenty to eat and all kinds of violin and organ music, together with various other activities. The crowd departed wishing them a jolly trip but also wishing them "God speed" in returning to their midst.

Shot Tagged Duck

Jack Heacox of Juliaetta shot a Mallard duck Thursday of last week that had been tagged by the United States Biological Survey. An aluminum band on the duck's leg said to notify the department at Washington, D. C., and gave the number 456426 on the band. Marking the ducks is a part of the plan of the department to ascertain the flight of migratory birds and the course which they take in going from summer to winter quarters.

BEN FRANKLIN RATED FERTILITY ABOVE MONEY IN THE BANK

Back in the days when Benjamin Franklin trod the streets of Philadelphia, many gems of Franklin wisdom went out of that city and into the copy of books of forthcoming generations. One of Franklin's best was, "The best investment is a deposit of fertility in the soil bank—surest and pays the best." True in that day of virgin soils, and truer by far today!

Since Dr. Franklin made that farsighted observation the boundaries of American agriculture have been pushed west, south, and north in our nation. New soils have been made old soils. The preservation of soil fertility has become a problem of vital importance to agriculture.

Thousands of experiments have been made. Many commercial fertilizers have been developed. But in most sections the old reliable barnyard manure remains the outstanding fertility restorer. Always considered a by-product of livestock production, in these days of highly intensive farming it assumes a role of first importance. No farmer can afford to waste its life-giving fertility.

Common sense says that every forkful should be put on the fields. The McCormick-Deering Manure Spreader makes this a comparatively easy task. Loads can be lifted easily over the low sides of the McCormick-Deering, after which the light-draft spreader carries the manure to the fields and spreads it uniformly and finely over the ground. Some pull their spreaders with their Farmall tractors. Others use horses or regular tractors. In any event, the work they do is of the most profitable kind.

If you are not now taking advantage of the McCormick-Deering Manure Spreader, we suggest that you talk to us about one for immediate use.

Mash Feed Is Important for Production of Eggs

"A large mash consumption is necessary for the maximum number of eggs," says R. E. Cray, extension specialist in poultry at the Ohio State university. Therefore, it will pay to induce the hens to eat as much mash as possible. One suggestion that Mr.
Cray makes is that the grain be fed only in the evening, which will cause the hens to eat more of the mash than they otherwise would.

Plenty of space at the mash hoppers is also recommended as another means of bringing about larger consumption of mash. Timid hens will be crowded away if the space around the hoppers is small. One foot of hopper space is suggested for every five hens.

If the mash is moistened with milk occasionally, the hens will appreciate the variety and will eat large quantities.

Late Molters Best Layers

In culling a flock, it is first necessary that something be known about the kind and regularity of the feed, the housing conditions and the care the birds have received. It is well known that improper feed, housing or care can easily throw a flock into an early molt. The time that a hen goes through her molt will be a good indication of her ability as an egg producer. Those that molt late in the fall are usually the best layers.

Poultry Hints

Dirty eggs cost the farmers millions of dollars a year.

Turkeys of good breeding—that is, pure-bred stock—are always in good demand for breeding.

Even when ducks and geese have a sand run it is well to put about 1 per cent in the mash once a day.

Do not keep longer the old hens which have ceased to lay and have gone into a molt. With very few exceptions, they are not high producers.

The late hatched chicks neither add to your average egg production nor increase the vitality of the flock.

For profitable and effective poultry production the feeder should never fill the trough with more feed than will be consumed before the next feeding period.

Ground chaff and wheat screenings is heavy feed, and care must be taken not to feed too much of it.
Pound for pound, it will take the place of most other grains.

In order to succeed with turkeys it is necessary to start with strong, vigorous birds.

The best turkeys for breeding are those two years old or older, as a turkey is never at her best until that age.

For a flock that is kept penned up, this is an excellent egg-making feed to give two or three times a week:
chopped or ground alfalfa steamed until soft, and mixed with cornmeal, wheat middlings and bran.
