Very Successful Entertainment

The concert and home talent play, given by the Kendrick Choral Society last Tuesday evening, was a very enjoyable affair. Music consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers was very good and highly appreciated.

The farce comedy entitled "The Old Maids' Club" was one of the best home talent productions seen here for many years. It brought forth a continuous gale of laughter from start to finish.

The weather was most unfavorable for the occasion and altho the audience was not as large as it would have been with better weather conditions, it was a very appreciative one. The Choral Society is to be congratulated upon the success of the entertainment.

Ladies Aid Silver Tea

Mrs. E. H. Dammarell entertained the Methodist Ladies Aid and a few guests at a very enjoyable silver tea Thursday of last week. The Presbyterian Junior Class held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ramey. There were fourteen members present. The meeting was conducted by their president Roy Long, and the evening was spent working on their two scrap books, which when completed will be sent to the Children's Home at Lewiston. They also took up the study of "Child Life of All Nations." They took an imaginary trip to Japan and studied the race in full. The last half hour was spent in lively games. Next meeting they will go to Alaska and study the life of the Eskimos.

Entertain Okoke Club

Saturday night the Okoke Club was most pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Daubenberg, at a two-course bridge supper, served at six-thirty. A clever method of finding partners for supper was that of using the names of prominent men and women, each guest selecting a slip directing him to his place at the table.

The supper tables were centered with bowls of jonquils and acacia and with gleaming silver and snowy linens presented a very attractive and spring-like appearance. After supper the guests played bridge for several hours. The final scores showed high honors for Mrs. Ramey and Mr. A. K. Carlson, the consolation, a clever parody of Kipling's "If", going to Mr. R. D. Newton.

Birthday Party

The birthdays of Mr. Kite and Mr. Will Turner were celebrated at Mr. Kite's home last Wednesday. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Herb Millard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nye and family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Millard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kite and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kite and families of Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fleschman and son of Leland, George Skull, Dale and Delbert Turner. This host of about thirty-three relatives came with baskets filled with the most delicious food and they gathered around the dinner table, which was fairly groaning under its weight, to partake of this bountiful supply of good things to eat.

The day was spent as most days are spent when a crowd of relatives get together—just by talking and laughing and having a good time. In the evening a few neighbors and friends were invited in and they wound up the happy day with music and old fashioned dances.

Missionary Class Party

The members of the newly organized Missionary Class of the Methodist Sunday school gave a party last Wednesday evening at the W. J. Cochran home. They invited the younger married people who do not attend any other Sunday school in town. The purpose of the party was to get more people interested in this new class and in the Sunday school in general. Interesting games superintended by Mr. Metcalf furnished ample entertainment for the evening. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening's entertainment.

Injury Was Fatal

Loss of a limb in a sawmill accident at Howard, Kansas, last Friday proved fatal for David Nigh, who died in a hospital there Sunday noon. Mr. Nigh was standing on a saw carriage and slipped, falling into the saw. His right leg was cut off just below the knee. Altho he was rushed to Wichita for treatment all efforts to save his life proved in vain. His wife and father were at his bedside. The Howard American Legion Post, of which he was a member, participated at the funeral. Mr. Nigh is a cousin of Amos Nigh of this place.

High Water Damages

Owing to the excessive rains of late the streams have been swollen to high, mad, rushing waters. The Potlatch overflowed its low bank and crept up until it reached the front gate at the Ray Harris home just out of town.

The Little Potlatch swept out the bridge just above the Gregory place about a mile and a half above town, also washing out a large portion of the fill and road by the bridge on the highway, but by changing the water's channel, the road was saved from further damage.

Big Horse Sale March 5th

Two carloads of fine Montana horses will be shipped here next Tuesday and sold at public auction on Saturday March 5. The shipment consists of 42 head, ranging in weight from 1100 to 1700 pounds. They are young work horses and most of them well broke. Their ages are from 3 to 7 years and Mr. Holbrook states they are in good condition for spring work.

Mr. Holbrook shipped a carload here last spring and they brought good prices. Young horses are scarce in this locality and there is apparently a good demand for big stuff.

G. P. Anderson of the Farmers Bank will clerk the sale. N. H. Morss, auctioneer.

Sleep, Baby, Sleep

A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which a sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper which carries the sleeper while he sleeps runs. Therefore, while the sleeper sleeps in the sleeper the sleeper carries the sleeper in the sleeper over the sleeper under the sleeper until the sleeper which carries the sleeper jumps off the sleeper and wakes the sleeper in the sleeper and there is no longer any sleeper sleeping in the sleeper on the sleeper.—Ex.

NEWS FROM THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Clipped From Papers Published in Latah County.

The Highway Problem

The use of heavy trucks on the highways of the county and state and the damage these vehicles do to the highways, form a problem that seems to be hard to solve. If methods of surfacing are devised to stand up under the traffic of the heaviest trucks being used, then, road men say, still heavier ones are put on and the damage continues.

Some states have graduated license for heavy trucks which works fairly well. The license is so high that not many will pay it, hence the heavy trucks in operation are comparatively few.

The highways are supposed to be free to all who wish to use them—they are public property. But they are costing a great deal of money, and in the interest of the public they should be protected. Idaho has a bonded indebtedness, for her highways alone of over ten million dollars. If the damage to our roads from heavy traffic should in ten years amount to 50 per cent, there is half of the investment gone, or half a million a year added to the original investment to repair damage done by heavy trucks.—Deary Press.

Business Changes Hands

A deal has just been consummated whereby the Olson Motor Co. has disposed of its stock and business excepting the car sales to Carl S. Olson and Edwin Johanson. Olson and Johanson will continue the repair business and the sale of parts and accessories in the same buildings that have been occupied by the Olson Motor Co. This company, during the year that it has been in business in Troy, has made many friends for itself and the two parties now taking over the business are well and favorably known to Troy people, having been with the Olson Motor Co. Carl Olson of the retiring firm will remain at least through the summer to continue the car sales.—Troy News.

Highway Now Patrolled

That every effort will be made to protect the highways is evidenced by the fact that the road between Lewiston and Potlatch is being patrolled by the sheriffs and their deputies in the two counties—Nez Perce and Latah—and those having loads heavier than 5,000 pounds (including vehicle) will be called upon to explain why they are disobeying the orders of the highway authorities.

Several of the larger trucks have been weighed up and found to contain nearly double the amount allowed on the highways and it is hoped that heavy fines will be imposed as a result. The heavy trucks from Lewiston and Spokane are the principal offenders and they should be made pay heavily for the privilege.—Genesee News.

Smut Control Campaign Needed

Copper carbonate dust was used generally throughout Idaho on fall wheat and its use in treatment of spring wheat is being strongly urged. Judging from the report on smutty wheat passing thru the Ogden Grain Exchange office there is great need for an extensive campaign for control of stinking smut. In 1922, 12½ per cent of the wheat inspected at Ogden—about 5,000 carloads—graded smutty. In 1924 45 per cent of the Hard Red winter, 16 per cent of the Dicklow and Early Baart, and 11½ per cent of the Marquis from the Upper Snake river valley, graded smutty.

The average discount per bushel was seven cents, making a total loss of $750,000.—Star-Mirror.

Jack Taylor of Juliaetta was a Kendrick visitor last Tuesday.

A Farmers' Institution

Mr. Farmer, do you do business through the bank? If not, why don't you? There was a time when the bank was considered beneficial only to the capitalist. The present day sees it of equal benefit to all and a necessity for the practical farmer. There are farmers who have not yet learned the convenience, safety and profit that a bank account affords, but those now using it are accepted at once as up-to-date, thrifty and business-like. Not alone as a safe and convenient place to leave his money, but as an ever ready resort in case of necessity of financial assistance does the average farmer view his bank. This bank is especially interested in the affairs of the farmer and it ever looks to their conveniences and necessities.

Bankers can trace many of their frozen assets to the men who junked their old cars and borrowed money to buy new ones.

A good friend is the fellow who will defend you in your absence when other people are saying mean things about you.

It has been wisely said that if you are going to think all day today about the bad luck of yesterday tomorrow will be a bad day too.

It is claimed that the young ladies of today wear just as many clothes as did their grandmothers, the only difference being that they do not wear them all at the same time.

If human beings followed the businesslike policy of bees by killing the drones, the undertaker would be busy for several days in Kendrick.

PAY THE DOCTOR

A good many people seem to have the idea that a doctor never needs money. His fee is the last item on the list of bills to be paid. This theory is practiced to such an extent that a doctor's collections, or rather lack of collections, are a serious drawback to his profession. In this locality where the doctor has to travel over roads that are positively a nightmare even in the daytime, there should be more than a promise or an expression of appreciation for his services at the end of his trip. Forcing a car over roads where the mud is hub deep or worse, means a garage bill of some sort for nearly every call. The doctor is doing his share when he endures the hardship of bucking these Potlatch roads in order to care for your sick folks. Your part of the bargain is to see that he is paid so that he doesn't have to stand the expense of paying your bills from his own pocket.

According to a recent dispatch from New York, Henry Ford made the statement that the McNary-Haugen bill is the most asinine piece of legislation ever to be tried out on a nation. He also goes on to say "If inventions now available are put to use the farmer can cut down his work to virtually nothing. He could live in town, drive out in a cheap car do his farming and return each night to a habitable, modern home. Machinery and science instead of legislation and livestock are needed to cure agricultural ills."

Ford's views on farming may have as much practical merit as his peace peddling propaganda had during the war. He will have a hard time to convince an experienced farmer that he can produce and harvest a crop, keep up fences, fertilize the ground and look after other details on the farm in from 15 to 10 days time. And yet he claims he will demonstrate his contentions this season.

It is more than probable that many of the radical ideas which he advances are for the purpose of advertising, in the hope that he can continue to clutter up the highways with more of his little animated namesakes.

With mud roads all over the Potlatch it must be almost as lonesome in the country as it is in town these days. Mud roads keep the farmers at home during the season when they have plenty of time to come to town, do their hauling and look after their business affairs. Why should people have such an ingrown horror of going in debt for building roads? They go in debt for any other business transaction without hesitating, providing it will tend to increase the efficiency of the business. And yet there is nothing the business men in Kendrick or the farmers in the surrounding country need more than they need good roads. They would prove mutually beneficial and economical in the long run. Bonding for roads simply means going in debt for a small fraction of the value of your property and paying the indebtedness on the installment plan—the same method business men and farmers use to handle their own transactions

The increase in the gasoline tax from three cents to four cents a gallon hasn't caused the slightest disturbance in this locality. You can tax most anything pertaining to an automobile and nobody grumbles, but put a tax of four cents a pound on butter or two cents a pound on sugar and there would be a riot. People would pay a tax of ten cents a gallon on gas and not make much fuss about it.

Some Pointed Wit

An Irish sheriff had to serve a writ on a clever young widow, and, on coming to her residence, said very politely:

"Madame, I have an attachment for you."

"You have?" said she, blushing. "Then I may tell you that your affections are reciprocated."

It was the sheriff's turn to blush, and he explained.

"You don't understand me, madame. You must proceed to court."

"Well, I know it's the year after leap year," she replied, "but I'd rather you did the courting yourself."

"Madame," he said sternly, "this is no time for fooling. The justice is waiting."

"The justice? Well, I suppose I must go, but it's all so sudden, and besides, I'd much prefer to have a priest do it," was her final answer.—Ex.

grade in the near future.

The third grade are completing their "Free and Treadwell Reader", this week.

The children are trying to earn their "Silver and Gold Buttons," for penmanship. They are in hopes of earning their "Palmer Method Buttons" also, before the close of this school year.

The sixth grades have composed a play on the making of the first flag. These plays were in three acts and were completed Wednesday. Some of them were very original and interesting.

Mr. McCracken gave the following sentence to the Latin class for translation: "They fight with both their feet and their hands". One student substituted "in" for "and". We think it would be rather a peculiar battle.
