

Frank Starr Has Disappeared

H. J. Starr of Linden was called to south Idaho, July 3, on account of the mysterious disappearance of his son, Frank, who has a ranch near Eagle, Idaho. The young man was last seen at a dance about the 27th of April. His neighbors thought that he had gone away to work and paid no attention to his absence until the last of June, when they found his stock in his grain fields. This, together with the duration of his absence, caused them to become alarmed. They notified his father who immediately left for his son's home.

Mr. Starr spent several days investigating but could learn nothing that would throw any light on his son's disappearance. His business affairs were apparently in good shape and no reason could be advanced to account for his absence. After the dance he had apparently gone home, as his good clothes were found in his house, neatly folded and put away. His car was gone, but this was later located at a garage, where he had left it on April 21 to be repaired. At the garage they stated that Frank had told them he was in a hurry for the car and wanted it not later than April 28, as he was going to north Idaho.

One of Frank's former neighbors wrote to Mr. Starr this week and said that several men had gone to the ranch Thursday of last week and had searched the premises. They rode over every foot of the ranch, drained the pond and tore up a straw stack from which the top had been torn, but found no clues that would assist them in solving the mystery.

Frank is a member of the Oddfellow lodge and his lodge brothers and neighbors, together with the county authorities, are doing everything they can to locate him. It is still felt that he may be away working, but the length of time of his absence is causing much uneasiness and his parents are badly worried.

Liberate Prisoners From Pen

Eight prisoners were liberated from the state penitentiary when the pardon board met last week. Among them was Paul R. Dempsey, former Ada county employe, who has served four years on a forgery conviction. Four of the eight were pardoned conditionally. Nineteen other prisoners who have been on parole a year or more received pardons and three who were on reprieve received their release. The pardon board consists of Governor H. C. Baldrige, Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state, and Frank L. Stephens, attorney general.

Bitten by Rattlesnake

Charles Bodenhouse had rather an unpleasant experience Wednesday afternoon. While he was mowing hay on his ranch the sickle bar became clogged. In removing the surplus accumulation he came in contact with a rattlesnake, which was caught under the sicklebar, and received a bit on one of the fingers of the right hand. He immediately came to Kendrick where Dr. Moorehead administered medical aid. He is reported to be getting along very well.

Proves It.

"We don't quite understand why a girl seeks a divorce because of non-support," says the Great Bend Tribune. "After she has demonstrated that she can make a living it is only natural for a man to adjust himself to the New Age." All of which just proves the males greater adaptability.

Storage Problem.

Old gentleman (seeing the small colored boy was having some trouble with the large melon he was trying to eat): "Too much melon, isn't it, Rastus?" Small Colored Boy: "No, suh, not enough niggah."—The Open Road.

Moscow Superintendent Resigns

Ph. Soulen, for six years superintendent of schools in Moscow and elected this spring to his seventh term, resigned at the July meeting of the school board of independent district No. 5 Monday night. The resignation was accepted "with regret" by the board and Fulton G. Gale, high school principal under Mr. Soulen for his entire tenure of office, named to succeed him as superintendent.

The resignation of Mr. Soulen was given the board, he said, because of a desire of a complete rest apart from his school work and the inharmonious attitude which has been present in the school board during the last year.

Mr. Gale, who was made principal of the high school at the same time that Mr. Soulen was elected superintendent, is in Seattle, but is expected home this week. Notice of his appointment to the superintendency was wired him Tuesday morning. —Star-Mirror.

Rochdale Pays Dividends

At the stockholders meeting of the Kendrick Rochdale Co., held yesterday at their offices here, the company paid 16 per cent interest on the stock. This is the third successive year the company has paid 16 per cent or a total of 48 per cent over the three year period.

Directors were elected as follows: K. D. Ingle, president; R. B. Parks, secretary; Geo. Davidson, auditor; Amos Moore, John Schwarz, Carl Hartung, Claus Eichner, Fred Mielke, A. F. Wegner, Joe Tschantz, William Watts continues as manager of the company.

Fleshman to Coast League

Glenn Fleshman, whose mound work for the Nez Perce base ball team this season was largely responsible for its winning the championship in the Central Idaho League, and likewise for its carrying off the honors in the end-of-the-season tournament at Winchester, has been tendered and accepted a tryout with the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast League. He is to report for work there next March. This is an honor appreciated by all the fans of this district, and his local admirers hope and believe he will measure up to the standard required of him, and help make history in the national sport. —Nez Perce Herald.

Commercial Club Next Tuesday

On account of the fact that so many members of the club were out of town last Tuesday, the meeting scheduled for that date was postponed and will be held next Tuesday, July 19. Important business will be transacted and election of officers held. A big attendance is desired.

Big Potato Crop in Idaho.

Reaching a new high point of potato production this year Idaho will harvest the largest potato crop in its history. Estimates place the production between 25,000 and 30,000 carloads. Acreages all over the state have increased greatly this year and with irrigation conditions ideal farmers are expecting a record-breaking crop.

Idaho's largest potato district lies in the valley of the mighty Snake River from Yellowstone Park to Twin Falls. The Boise valley around Nampa and Caldwell is famous for early potatoes.

The Idaho potato has established and is holding an enviable national reputation for quality. It has been featured at many national functions and many great men of the country have banqueted when Idaho potatoes were named on the menu.

Through the courtesy of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce the annual banquet of the United States Chamber of Commerce this year was supplied with Idaho potatoes. News dispatches went ticking over the tire country recently when governor "Al" Smith of New York received a package of "Uncut Idaho Gems." The package contained fancy Idaho potatoes whose names are "Netted Gems", and were the compliments of the State Chamber of Commerce. National news photographers were right on the scene when Senator William E. Borah of Idaho showed the chef of Washington's most exclusive hotel, The Mayflower, how to prepare Idaho potatoes for the Territorial Day banquet held there.

The first airmail plane to take off from the municipal airport of Boise carried a package of Idaho potatoes for President Coolidge, the gift of the American Legion.

Juliaetta Ships Cherries

The first carload of Bing and Lambert cherries of the season was shipped from Juliaetta last week, and the carload brought $2,449.05. Another carload went out from there on Tuesday evening of this week. The bulk of the cherries shipped this season are from points along the Clearwater valley to the packing house in Juliaetta where a crew of expert packers is employed. Statement is made that the cherries this season are the largest and finest ever seen there. There will be one or two more carloads shipped.

Quite Enuf.

"Your check to the grocer came back with 'No Funds' on it," a husband out at Protection told his wife one evening when he got home from work. "Why, that's funny," the wife replied, "I saw an ad in the paper yesterday which said that the bank had a surplus of over $3,000,000." —Ex.

Start on Steunenberg Memorial

BOISE—Work on the foundation of the statue of ex-governor Frank Steunenberg has started in the park in front of the capitol. According to plan, the statue is to be unveiled on Armistice day, or in case of incompletion then, on July 4, 1928.

Governor Steunenberg was assassinated in 1905 by miners whose enmity he had incurred in the persistence of his duty in the Coeur d'Alene riots, and the statue is to stand as a rebuke against lawlessness and disorder and is to perpetuate the memory of the man who stood for law and order and duty.

It is to rest on a broad, low, almost circular base of rose marble, upon which and surrounding the statue will be marble benches for the public.

The statue was designed by Gilbert Riswold, sculpture of the $250,000 Mormon battalion monument in front of the capitol in Salt Lake. F. C. Hummel, architect, is the Boise advisor.

Death of Mrs. LeBaron

Mrs. Roy LeBaron of Cavendish passed away at the Orofino hospital Wednesday, July 6, a brief service being held last Thursday in Orofino, with Father Carey in charge. The body was taken to Spokane for burial.

Mrs. LeBaron was formerly Miss Molly Keane and spent her girlhood in Genesee, later going to Spokane where she taught in the public school for a number of years. She was married July 8, 1919 in Spokane and since that time had lived at Cavendish.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Marshall, also by her mother and brother.

Build Road Near Deary

A contract was awarded this week for the grading of three fourths mile and surfacing of a four mile sector in the Deary highway district on the Moscow-Bovill highway, it is announced at the district highway office.

The project was participated in by the Deary highway district, the village of Deary and the state, being awarded to F. R. Hewett, of Spokane, at a price of $18,162.40. The sector is located just west of the village of Deary and finishes the highway through the Deary highway district to the Troy district line. The project will be completed by September 1.

Hatch Five Thousand Pheasants

Five thousand Chinese pheasants have been hatched at the Lapwai state game farm this spring, says a report to R. E. Thomas, state game warden. Over 400 of the young birds have already been liberated. The farm has also produced 142 Hungarian partridges all of which are living. Quail, considered hard to propagate in captivity have been hatched and all are living.

Rhode Island Red Club

The eighth district of the Rhode Island Red Club, embracing Rhode Island Red breeders in Idaho, California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington, will hold its annual meet in Moscow in connection with the Panhandle Poultry association show. The dates tentatively set for the show are December 12, 13 and 14, 1927. The club meet will be a special feature of the Panhandle show and has been made possible by financial assistance given the association by the Moscow chamber of commerce and the Idaho Department of Agriculture.

The Panhandle Poultry association's 13th annual show in December is held regularly in Moscow. Members of the organization are North Idaho men interested in furthering poultry production and standards.

Two cups will be given to the best exhibits of the "Red" club members in Single Comb and Rose Comb Classes. The Idaho branch of the club also will offer a cup for the best display by one of its members.

Other prizes of the exhibition are a president's cup, donated by Mr. Parkhurst, who is president of the Panhandle association; a copy of "American Standard of Perfection" by the State Poultry Breeders association; and other special prizes including shape and color specials in Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, and Single Comb White Leghorns, and other varieties.

Efforts are being made to obtain silver cup show for Idaho for Moscow this year. The exact date for the December show will be set when judges have been procured, but it is believed that those announced will be selected.

Officers of the Eighth District Rhode Island Red club are Tom Johansen, Rainier, Oregon, president; W. K. Whitaker, secretary. Other members of the board are C. W. Robinson, Seattle, and W. J. Jackson, San Francisco.

Officers of the Panhandle association are Ray T. Parkhurst, president; Ed Cruver, vice president; L. B. Taylor, secretary; Harry Whittier, treasurer, and Ardie Gustafson, assistant secretary, all of Moscow, Idaho.

Will Hold Big Land Sale.

In response to state-wide demands, Idaho's land board has ordered large acreages of state lands appraised preparatory to offering them for sale this summer. Grazing, dry farm choice and semi-irrigated tracts will be offered at reasonable prices. It is probable that state lands in the Jerome district, now under American Falls reservoir, will be offered for sale this summer.

July 19 the state will sell 10,000 acres of state land in the Gem district. The sale will be held at Homedale by I. H. Nash, State Commissioner. This land now has water under pumping but with the completion of the Owyhee project it will be under gravity flow. The state land department will supply information desired on these sales.

He stuttered, Too.

Three strangers were in the Pullman smoker, when one of them turned to another and asked: "H-how f-far is it t-to P-P-Pjttsburg?" The man addressed made no reply, but got up and left the car. The stutterer turned to the third man who gave him the desired information. A few moments after the third man met the one who had left the car and said: "See here, why did you go out without answering when that man asked you a civil question?" "D-D-Do you think I w-w-wanted to g-g-g-get m-my head knocked off?" was the answer.—Ex.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carlson of Juliaetta visited at the Carl Carlson home yesterday.

Says Bean Prospects Good.

The bean districts of the Lewiston region promise to produce 75 per cent of a normal crop, according to what A. F. Shirley, Northern Pacific traffic agent was able to glean from farmers and dealers on a trip this week over the Potlatch, Kendrick, Troy and Genesee sections, says the Tribune. This means that the productin will be 9,000,000 pounds.

Normally the bean crop in central Idaho, including the prairie and Peck sections and the country tributary to Troy, Kendrick, Juliaetta and Genesee, produce 12,000,000 pounds and this is usually worth half a million dollars. With the prices of at least four cents indicated for this year the district will gross about $300,000 from this crop alone.

These figures are based upon the assumption that the bean crop will mature and be harvested under normal conditions. A repetition of the wet harvest of last year, of course, would greatly reduce the tonnage.

Because of the experience of last fall many farmers did not plant beans this year, and many of them were put in the ground so late that it was not believed they would do good. But the warm weather of the past two weeks has brought them out wonderfully and if the remainder of the season is normal, the yield will be good.

First Northwest Print Shop

The Idaho Editorial Association is making plans to erect a suitable memorial on the spot at Spalding where Henry Spalding set up the first printing press ever brought to the Northwest. This was in 1836, and strange as it may seem, the press was brot to Spalding from the Hawaiian islands, where it had been in use by missionaries to the people of those islands. Spalding used the press to print a translation of the Gospel of Mathew into the Nez Perce language. His idea was to print the full New Testament, but the one book is all that he completed, although he printed many other pamphlets and tracts in the Indian tongue. Some of these books of Mathew are still in existence and are very highly prized by the Indians who own them and regard them as priceless.

The press itself, an old George Washington hand machine like Benjamin Franklin used in his day, is still in existence, having a place in the Oregon state historical society rooms at Salem.

The form of the memorial which the Idaho editors will erect has not yet been selected, but the ceremony in connection with its dedication will be made a northwestern affair with the chief executives and prominent men of the region all invited to participate.

Henry Spalding also gave the Nez Perces their first lessons in farming and even before the time of the Civil war the Indians were capable of raising much of their own food in their little gardens. During the gold rush to Pierce City they sold garden truck to the miners, for which they received fabulous prices. Spalding did a wonderful work among the Nez Perces as did also the McBeth sisters, who followed him.—Kamiah Progress.

Assistant Poultry Husbandman.

Mr. Frank E. Moore has been appointed assistant poultry husbandman of the Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station to assist Professor R. T. Parkhurst, who is in charge of the Poultry Department. Mr. Moore is a graduate of the North Dakota Agricultural College, having majored in poultry there under Professor O. A. Barton. Mr. Moore's work will be principally in research in the fields of poultry nutrition, breeding and incubation.

He will take up his duties in Moscow on July 1.

Breathing Room for Hens

It is estimated that 75 per cent of the people who keep poultry crowd too many birds into their poultry houses. Egg production is thus disregarded and proper development of younger birds is prevented. Whenever any disease breaks out in the flock, overcrowding helps spread the disease more rapidly. Cull the birds so that the flock will fit the house. If you don't do it, nature may when the house is crowded—and you can't sell the dead birds.

Dry Mash for Hens

Have the dry mash before the poultry flock all the time. Feed the scratch or hard grain in a litter morning and night, giving just what they will clean up. Feed the greens at noon. If you have time, and it will pay you well, it is well to feed once a day a good, moist or fermented mash, but never feed all they want of it; give just what they will clean up in 15 minutes. If they have all they want, they will fill up on it, neglect the dry mash and get fat.

EVERY YEAR McCormick-Deering Tractors stand stronger with local farmers. Men who have used International Harvester tractors—for months or for years—are steadfast friends of McCormick-Deering farm power. They will recommend McCormick-Deering when you come to buy. Other men, who risked using cheaper, lighter tractors, found themselves underpowered. They fell short of reaching full production with the least possible labor and in the shortest possible time. After this experience they were ready for new and better power. There are many like these, too, who will recommend McCormick-Deering when you make your power investment.

A Leoti boy returned from college to meet a friend on the main street of the town on his first wander thru the business district. After a few minutes conversation the talk naturally turned to young ladies. "By the way, speaking of last summer, you're not still engaged to that girl, are you? the young man asked. "Oh, no. No more," the friend replied.
"Lucky for you, old man," the first fellow half sighed. "How did you get out of it?" "Oh, I married her."—Wichita Eagle.

FOWLS PAY WELL FOR RIGHT CARE

With profits increasing from poultry.
It will pay to take good care of the producing hens this summer.

"It is poor economy to neglect the hens during the rush of summer work," says A. G. Oliver, poultry extension specialist for the North Carolina State college. "When the hens are neglected, profits are reduced.
Less grain is needed under range conditions but plenty of mash should be supplied in the hoppers. Under average farm conditions where the hens have free range and production is decreasing, less of the scratch grain and more of the mash should be fed. This will force the birds to eat more mash and thereby stimulate egg production.
Mash consumption must be encouraged to get high egg production. The mash is composed of whole grains finely ground and is more easily digested."

Mr. Oliver suggests that the hens be given equal parts of cracked corn, wheat and oats by weight as a scratch grain. If wheat is not available, one-third corn and two-thirds oats should be fed. For the average farm flock a mash made of equal parts of wheat bran, wheat middlings, corn meal, ground oats and fish meal is good and this should be kept before the hens.
In a dry place, at all times.

Feeding is one of the most important factors in securing eggs from the farm flock during summer. The hens may be kept laying and molting delayed by either increasing the amount of mash fed or by increasing the protein without increasing the amount of mash. If a flock of birds can be selected which does not stop laying until October or November, the chicks from these eggs will have a marked effect on the egg production of next season's flock, states Mr. Oliver.
Early molters, on the other hand, will produce early molting chicks which work short hours and eat as much as the heavy producers.

Root Stock Can Be Propagated

Most Fruits Do Not Reproduce Profitable Varieties From Seed.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Although the ordinary fruit tree is an "assembled article" in which the part under ground is generally grown from seed and the part above ground is the result of grafting a bud on the seedling root stock, horticulturists in the past have continued their improvement efforts to the part of the tree above ground. Recently, however, the United States Department of Agricultural has undertaken to bring about further improvement by developing a method of producing better root stocks, or underground parts on which to graft or bud the desired varieties.

Vegetative Propagation. It is well known by nurserymen and orchardists that most fruits do not reproduce varieties from seed; that budding or some other form of vegetative propagation must therefore be used to multiply a given variety. It is not so well recognized, however, that seedling root stocks also vary in their hereditary make-up. The practice of producing most root stocks from seed is probably responsible for much of the irregularity in their performance and the ultimate failure of many orchard trees.

Guy E. Yerkes, horticulturist in the bureau of plant industry of the department, has conducted enough tests to show that some root stocks can be propagated by means of root cuttings and in this way faithfully reproduce the mother root system. The mother trees selected have shown exceptional vigor and indications of resistance to insects and diseases. The vegetative propagations from these mother trees are being tested to determine their ability for the varieties worked on them and their adaptability to a wide range of conditions by planting in orchards.

Rapid Propagation. Several apple, cherry, and plum selections already made are showing superiority over seedling stocks in the nursery. By propagating them vegetatively—by means of cuttings or layers rather than by seed—the characteristics of the mother plant are assured in the progeny. Inexpensive and rapid propagation of the selected and proved individuals is an important problem. Much of the difficulty experienced at first in that connection has been overcome and methods have been developed which promise commercial application of this means of improving the underground part of fruit trees. Several years' tests under orchard conditions will be necessary to bring out the qualities of these selected stocks before introducing them.

Start Chicks Right by Feeding Them Properly

For the first 60 hours of a chick's life, perhaps the best thing that can be done is to provide a warm, dark place with plenty of ventilation. When the chicks are hatched they retain a large portion of the yolk in their bodies in an unabsorbed form. Nature provides this for food during the first three days of the chick's life. If the chicks are given food immediately, a large portion of this yolk will not be absorbed and thus cause trouble later. If chicks are left where it is light, they will be restless and will pick at droppings, which is apt to spread disease. If the chicks are kept quiet they will absorb the yolk and the digestive tract will finish its development, thereby preparing it for the first food, which should come at from 60 to 70 hours after hatching.
