

Death of L. A. Kerr.

Returning from Newport, Wash., Saturday evening, L. A. Kerr, Moscow real estate dealer and one of the four occupants of his enclosed car was killed when it left the road and turned over two miles west of Farmington, says The Star Mirror. Injuries on the head and chest either could have caused his death, while it is possible he received a broken neck, physicians who examined the body said.

Clark Butler, farmer residing northeast of Moscow, was seriously injured in the accident, suffering injuries to his shoulder and possibly internal injuries. W. E. Spray who also lives east of Moscow and Luella McKinney a niece of Mrs. Kerr were in the wrecked machine but escaped with only bruises and scratches.

Mr. Kerr, 52, was a member of the Veatch Realty firm of Moscow and had lived there three years. The accident happened near the C. A. Burke ranch, between Farmington and the Garfield-Spokane highway. According to the other occupants of the car, an approaching machine was met suddenly upon coming over a small hill near a sharp turn. In attempting to pass the machine and make the subsequent turn, Mr. Kerr, driving at a fast rate, swerved his machine and the car plunged into the ditch, when he attempted to return to the center of the road. The car rolled over several times and crashed through a fence.

Mr. Kerr had been to Newport early in the day and was delayed in returning. At Rockford, Miss McKinney was picked up to return to Moscow for a visit with the Kerr family. Because of the lateness of the hour, Mr. Kerr was said to have been driving at a good speed.

Three of the occupants were thrown clear of the car, Mr. Spray believing that he remained in the machine. Earl Renfrew of Potlatch was the first to reach the scene of the accident and summoned medical aid from Farmington. Mr. Kerr died, however, without regaining consciousness, before the physician arrived, and was taken to Colfax by Clarence Brunning acting coroner of Whitman county.

Mr. Butler also was taken to Colfax for medical attention and moved to his home at Moscow early Sunday morning.

Mr. Kerr is survived by his wife and five children. They are Mrs. Gertrude Thompson of Bend, Ore.; Mrs. Mary Fink, Miss Halley Kerr and Louis A. Kerr of Portland and a five-month old baby.

Before coming to Moscow, Mr. Kerr was engaged in the real estate business in Pullman for five years and prior to that was a practicing optician in Washington. He lived in Kendrick for many years while a young man. The funeral was held Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Short chapel. The Rev. Chas. E. Miller of the Methodist church officiated at the chapel, while the Moscow Elks had charge at the grave. Burial was in the Moscow cemetery.

Troy Country Excels

Can you name a single community anywhere in the northwest, or in the whole of Uncle Sam's domain, that can boast of as many natural resources as the Troy country has? You cannot—it does not exist. What are some of them?

Farming first—always: a soil and climate that favors agriculture. Grains, fruit, vegetables, seed crops. A dairy country that has no superior and few equals.

Fire clay, aluminum clay, pottery clay, gypsum, ocher, and other valuable earth deposits. Silver, lead, zinc, gold, copper, mica.

Lumbering, manufacturing and milling possibilities—they are all here.

Exaggeration is not necessary when describing the Troy country—it's a hard enough task to convince strangers of the plain truth about it.—Troy News.

First Load of Sawlogs

The first load of sawlogs for the new Lewiston mill were shipped to the mill Monday afternoon. The shipment consisted of 32 cars of white pine logs from the Clearwater forests, which were dumped into the pond from unloading docks in the presence of a number of officials of the company. The mill's rated capacity is 250,000 feet each 8 hour shift and the 32 car trainload consisted of 250,000 feet.

Spins Golden Fibers.

Golden fibers less than one-tenth as thick as a human hair are products of the University of Idaho laboratory.

Prof. Thomas M. Dahm, of the department of physics, who makes the gold-plated filaments for scientific use, at one time produced practically all that were used in the United States and, since the work is extremely delicate, competitors are still very few.

The filaments, blown from quartz fiber rods by an oxy-acetylene flame, and then gold-plated by an electric discharge in a partial vacuum, are used in galvanometers designed to test heart actions. The delicate fibers will detect currents, such as those produced by muscular contraction of the heart, which vary too rapidly to be measured by ordinary galvanometers.

Professor Dahm perfected a process for producing the fibers while he was a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin some years ago. Shortly after the war he was supplying practically the entire demand in the United States, he devoted most of his spare time to the work. Now he spends only an occasional few hours at it, supplying the "spider-web" fibers to the Mayo clinic of Rochester, Minn., and similar users.

The First Town

Even many old-timers in Idaho do not know that the first town to be started in Idaho was Slaterville.

It was founded in May, 1861, on the Clearwater river, 12 miles below the mouth of the North Fork.

Two months later Lewiston was organized and absorbed the first Idaho town. We quote the story as related by Historian Beall:

"In 1861 the first steamboat to ascend the Snake river was the Colonel Wright. They had orders to proceed up the Clearwater as far as possible and there establish a town adjacent to the mines.

"Indian Agent Cain made the trip, and Lawyer, the head chief of the Nez Perces, got on board at Lapwai and proceeded up the river as far as what is known as Big Eddy.

"In 'lining' above the eddy the cable broke and the boat drifted back.

"Captain Leonard White, commander of the boat, concluded to return, and two miles below Big Eddy the goods belonging to the steamship Slater were landed, so the place was called Slaterville." —Nez Perce Herald.

Survey Snake River Canyon

A reconnaissance survey of the Snake Canyon above Lewiston is under way by utilities engineers of Idaho and Washington to determine the feasibility of a railroad through there. The party is proceeding up the river from Lewiston by boat. At the same time other engineers are in conference in Portland making a study of traffic that would be affected by the proposed road. The Idaho utilities commission announces that the construction of the road would bring all north and south highway points just 184 miles closer together.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Randall and son of Peck spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene on Bear Ridge.

WHY WIDOWS ARE THE SPECIAL PREY OF CONFIDENCE MEN

By W. R. MOREHOUSE

Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

WOMEN are often easy victims for the high-pressure promoter. Widows are especially sought out by the confidence men. Even before their deceased husbands, protectors and counselors are buried the widows of high finance are waiting outside their doors. They know the defenseless widows will be easy prey. Many a woman today is penniless as a result of making poor investments. "Getting rich quick" for the widow without investment experience is in reality getting poor quick. Once a sharp promoter gets the confidence of a rich widow he has a "Bonanza" as he calls it. Eventually he gets the estate and the widow gets the experience. Widows with estates should be on guard every minute. They are marked persons, with promotion crooks hot on their trail. The best thing that every woman investor can do is to consult her banker before investing.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

Properly cut and set, crystals sparkle in realistic imitation of diamonds. The same is true in the field of finance. There is that which is fraudulent parading as the genuine. Don't buy investments simply because they sparkle. In the realm of wild-cat financing, fictitious credentials, testimonials, and references are employed to give setting and genuine appearance. Some are such rank imitations that they are easily recognized, but others defy detection except on the closest investigation by an expert. The only safe procedure is to investigate under competent advice.

Literally millions of dollars are lost to American savers annually as the outcome of buying into something—a fraudulent farm promotion, a business or a job that is nothing more or less than a set-up to catch suckers.

Often the savings of a lifetime are lost by buying unimproved farm lands with the understanding that the seller, or a service company promoted by him, will plant the farm to trees or vines, care for them, market the crop and turn the profits, which, it is promised, will be big over to the owner. But this dream never comes true. The so-called guaranteed big profits are never realized. If people would only stop long enough to consider all angles of an offer like that before investing they would see the folly of plunging blindly into such a proposition. Let them ask themselves only this one question: "If it is true that such big profits are to be made, why is the seller so eager to part with his property, even to the extent of making it easy for a new owner to farm it?" The answer is that the land is not worth the selling price, nor will the profits derived from it be anywhere near as large as promised.

Buying into the fox business, the poultry business, the dairy business or any kind of business is risky unless you deal with reliable persons or firms whose word is as good as gold. Watch the seller who is insistent in forcing a sale upon you. Look at his proposition from every angle. Just because he makes glowing promises is no assurance that he is not the world's champion exaggerator. Extravagant and exaggerated claims are the earmarks of the fake investment. If you want to go into farming or buy into a business, investigate before you invest. Write to the National Better Business Bureau, New York, or consult your local banker. If they are without information on your proposed investment, wait until they can get the facts and report to you. They have no interest at stake except to forestall crooked games.

Farmers Busy With Harvest

Farmers in the Potlatch country started harvesting the first of the week in some of the early fall wheat and the hot weather this week is ripening the grain rapidly. By the first of next week grain harvest will be in full blast. A number of farmers are binding their grain this week and combines are expected to start the first of the week, providing warm, dry weather continues.

A very heavy crop of hay has been put up this season and the weather since the first of the month has been ideal for curing this crop. Many growers are expecting a heavy second cutting of alfalfa as it already has a fine start.

Beans are looking exceptionally promising. Nearly all growers secured an even stand and the warm weather has produced a rapid growth. Early planted beans are beginning to bloom and "set on", so that with ordinary good weather from now on, a bumper crop may be expected. Growers say that a shower would be beneficial in the near future, about the time the beans are in full bloom, as too much hot weather causes the blossoms to fall off and cuts the yield.

Let Contract for Jail.

The Latah county commissioners let a contract for the construction of a new jail, while in session at Moscow last week. The cost of the jail building, exclusive of equipment, will be $24,961. The Colonial Building Co. of Spokane was the successful bidder for the general construction work. The cost of the jail will be taken from the general fund and no bonds or indebtedness will fall upon the county on account of the new building as funds are on hand to defray the expense of the project.

Idaho Products Dinner Menu.

Roast young Idaho turkey, done to a golden brown and just juicy enough.

Of course that would not make a Thanksgiving dinner by itself but it goes a long way toward starting a menu for an Idaho products dinner.

To stimulate interest in such a menu the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce announces cash prizes for the three best dinner arrangements sent in. The contest is open to all people who live in Idaho. For the best menu for a Thanksgiving dinner using Idaho products the State Chamber will pay $5.00. The second best will win $3.00 and the third prize is $2.00.

The term "Idaho Products" means products grown in Idaho and available on local markets.

All entries should be addressed to the "Menu Contest, State Chamber of Commerce, Boise Idaho," and must be postmarked not later than October 31, 1927.

If prepared dishes are included in the menu the recipes will be included. The judge will assume that to arrange a well-balanced meal such things as spices, seasoning, beverages, etc. must be used even though these are not produced in the state.

Aiken-Crocker

Miss Leora Aiken and George Crocker were quietly married at Grangeville Thursday of last week. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Knox in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, relatives of the groom. Their marriage was a surprise to their friends and relatives here. After the wedding the bride and groom went to Lewiston where they will reside for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dammarell and family drove to Lewiston Sunday afternoon for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Roos.

Game Preserve Near Moscow

The first game preserve in Latah county was ordered established by R. E. Thomas, state game warden, last Friday. The game preserve will comprise an area of approximately 2,000 acres located 3 miles southeast of Moscow. No hunting of any description will be allowed on the preserve. It will be used for the propagation and protection of game birds, principally pheasants.

Trying to Control Weeds.

Experiments in weed control are being carried out by L. B. Taylor, Latah county agent, cooperatively with approximately 10 farmers in scattered sections of the county. The work has been started and various noxious weeds are being treated with several chemical exterminators, in some cases several solutions being used comparatively and in others only one type of chemical being tried.

Weeds upon which the experiments are being made are the morning glory, Canadian thistle, Russian knapweed and hoary crest.

Chemicals with which the experiments are being pruned are sodium chlorate, Weedox, K. M. G., Atlas M. P. and carbon bisulphide.

"The weed situation in Latah county is bad, though probably no worse than other counties of this section of the state," said Mr. Taylor discussing the problem. "The problem is one difficult to handle, and we intend carrying out these experiments to find the most desirable and most economical method of killing noxious weeds in the county.

In one or two cases, a whole farm has fallen prey to morning glory. The land practically is not worth giving away. In another instance, Canadian thistle has ruined more than 100 acres and the weeds are to be found in almost every section of the county, along the roads and in well-kept city lawns." —Star Mirror.

To Surface More State Highway

Bids will be opened in Boise soon for the surfacing of 21.26 miles of the North and South Highway from Woodland, thru New Meadows to Roud Valley. The work will cost about $100,000.

The Western Construction Co. has a contract to grade 2.206 miles of the Sawtooth Park highway north of Challis for $21,175.

William Hoops of Mount Pleasant, Utah, has a contract to surface 21.33 miles of the Lost River highway from Arco to the Bingham county line for $51,669.

Following a recent conference with J. D. Wood, commissioner of public works, J. A. Taylor, chairman of the Bonneville county commissioners was assured that the construction would start as soon as a bridge over the Snake River at Idaho Falls. A Permit must first be obtained from the war department.

Nezperce Wins Tournament.

Nezperce took the baseball championship of the Valley and Central Idaho leagues by winning the deciding game played last Sunday against Uniontown-Colton. The game was played at Winchester and was featured by four home runs for Nezperce and a total of 17 hits for the champions, piling up a score of 15 to 3. Fleshman for Nezperce relieved Case in the third inning and allowed but one run during the remainder of the game.

Surfacing Arrow Road

The work of surfacing the link between Arrow Junction and Spalding is now under way and is expected to be completed some time next month. This will give Kendrick and Juliaetta a surfaced road all the way to Lewiston. The mile of grading in this project will soon be finished.

Found Body Near Park

The bones and clothing of a man were found near Park, Idaho, last Monday. Coroner Shaw of Clearwater county was called for an investigation and telephoned complete description of the clothing and body to Sheriff Summerfield of this county, thinking the body might be that of R. C. Klenewo, the Gennessee hunter who disappeared near Harvard last fall.

The father of R. C. Klenewo, after hearing a description of the body and clothing, stated that he did not believe it to be the body of his lost son, although the clothing, in some respects, tallied with that worn by his son. The body was found 25 miles from the place where Klenewo was supposed to have been lost.

It was estimated by the coroner that the man whose body was found might have been dead eight months or a year. Bones were scattered over a space of several hundred yards, where animals had dragged them.

A blazer worn by the dead man was the same color as that worn by Klenewo. The dead man also had low army shoes, a tan shirt and had a silver filling in the lower jaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, relatives of young Klenewo, passed thru Kendrick yesterday morning on their way to Park to ascertain whether the body might be that of Klenewo. Mr. Wilson was inclined to doubt that it was. He said that Klenewo wore high top hunting shoes when last seen and those with the body were low army shoes.

Gypsum Increases Yield

Test plots of non-irrigated alfalfa on Cames Prairie, near Winchester, conducted by G. R. McDole of the University of Idaho agronomy department show that treatment of soil with gypsum brings an increase of 50 per cent in the total alfalfa yield.

Tests were made on university farms near Winchester. Test plots of alfalfa, seeded years ago, plots side by side showed average yield 50 percent greater on the gypsum-treated land.

Gypsum was applied at the rate of 200 pounds per acre. It is not necessary Mr. McDole declares, that the land be treated each year, results of the tests showing that it remains in the soil for several years, without decreased effectiveness.

Gypsum can be purchased in quantity delivered for approximately $20 per ton. Applied 200 pounds per acre, the cost is $2 per acre, a small cost compared with returns.

Gypsum should be applied in the fall of the year for best results.

Julietta Ships Five Carloads

Five carloads of cherries have been shipped from Julietta this season. The cherries are of extra fine quality and prices for Bings and Lamberts average about 17c. Last year a total of 19 carloads were shipped. Early frosts cut down the yield this season to a marked degree. The Julietta Cherry Growers Association will finish packing this week.

Ketndrick 12, Troy 0

George Barnum's wildcats shut-out Troy last Sunday on the Troy diamond, the game ending 12 to 0. Battery for Kendrick was Sparber and Ed Carlson.

Ed Howe: I like to pay my debts promptly; not for a noble reason, but because I hear dead-beats abused so much. For 50 years and more I have heard collectors growl viciously at deadbeats; so I like to pay promptly. I not only clean up every debt I owe at the end of the month, but when possible, I prefer to pay cash as I go. No ones credit is actually as good as his money. I know hundreds of men who are being injured because collectors "talk" about them. Most of these men finally pay in full. If a man intends to finally pay his bills it is extremely foolish to be slow about it.

An Obvious Fact.

Just before school closed one teacher was questioning a little boy to whom she had been trying all winter to teach grammar. "I be gone," she said. "That's wrong isn't it?" "Yes, ma'am" said the little boy promptly. "Why is it wrong?" "Because you ain't went yet."

Misleading

Any road to success which isn't the straight, and narrow path isn't really a road to success.

Ventilators Should Be

Regulated in Incubator

In hatching eggs in incubators it is frequently difficult to provide enough fresh air or give proper ventilation to the incubator and at the same time to keep the eggs from losing too much moisture.

The poultry department at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., says the ventilators should be kept closed during the first ten days of incubation, because the chick inside the egg requires very little oxygen. After the tenth day the chick needs more oxygen and the amount increases gradually until the need is largest during the last three days.

After the tenth day of incubation the ventilators may be opened more and more until they are wide open at the eighteenth day. The moisture pans should not be allowed to get dry at any time.

Eggs should lose about 15 per cent of their original weight, and not more, during the three weeks of incubation. If they lose more moisture than this it is impossible to replace it. Sprinkling the eggs with warm water several times daily during the last three days is often recommended, but while this can do no harm, it can do little good.

Narragansett Turkeys

The Narragansett turkeys are almost the same weight as the Bourbon Red turkey or about six pounds lighter than the Bronze. They are similar to the Bronze in habits. They are good rangers and dress out nicely. In color they are somewhat lighter than the Bronze. They are not as popular a breed as the Bronze, White Holland or Bourbon Red, and as a result it will be more difficult to get new stock of this breed than of any of the other breeds mentioned.

Charcoal for Turkeys

Powdered charcoal in the feed is an aid to digestion. Indigestion in turkeys is caused by irregular feeding as often as by wrong feeding. The turkey is a creature of habit; it likes the meals that are given to come at regular intervals. In the wild state it feeds often and little, working up its appetite by its own activities. If it gets the habit of irregular feeding, it is restless and either "goes past its feed," as an Irish friend used to say, or overeats.

Tractor Power---for All Work!

EVERY YEAR McCormick-Deering Tractors stand stronger with local farmers. The name McCormick-Deering has become the symbol of reliable power farming because it stands for carefully built, practical, many-sided, long-lived farm power—and the kind of service cooperation we are able to offer our customers.

Men who have used International Harvester tractors—for months or for years—are steadfast friends of McCormick-Deering farm power. They will recommend McCormick-Deering when you come to buy. Other men, who risked using cheaper, lighter tractors, found themselves underpowered. They fell short of reaching full production with the least possible labor and in the shortest possible time. After this experience they were ready for new and better power. There are many like these, too, who will recommend McCormick-Deering when you make your power investment.

POULTRY

HIGH MORTALITY LOWERS PROFITS

High mortality and low egg production go hand in hand in the farm poultry flock and if the death rate of hens is high the results from the flock will be only mediocre, regardless of how well the hens are bred and fed, says
H. H. Alp, poultry extension specialist of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

"Records which 234 farm flock owners kept in co-operation with the college show a mortality rate of 12 per cent annually. If this rate is figured for the entire state there would be an approximate loss of 3,000,000 birds annually.

"A 12 per cent mortality on first thought may not seem very high, but it must be remembered that along with a mortality as high as this there goes a general low production throughout the flock. It is not so much the loss of a bird dying that counts as the loss caused by low production through sickness.

"While the causes for mortality may vary to a certain extent, the chief and main causes will be the lack of sanitation and personal attention. Very little credit for the mortality being no higher than 12 per cent can be given to improved conditions in and around poultry houses. Conditions probably have not improved a great deal with regard to sanitation. Diseases have, increased and have given more trouble every year. The chief factor in protecting the flock is one of preventive measures.

"Hen mortality is spread fairly well over the whole year. The spring months quite often show an increased death rate due to increased production, especially so where the birds are forced for production. There is a certain mortality that might be termed normal mortality. This is where death results from causes beyond the control of the operator and is not due to a disease and should cause no worry.

The bulk of the mortality, though, can be influenced by the personal ability of the operator. The determining factor with mortality is health and vigor and health and vigor come only from good stock, sanitation and feeding.

"All that is necessary to say as a warning to poultrymen in regard to hen mortality is to remember that vigor can be defined as a hen's ability to live and thrive under ordinary conditions and it is essential to have this factor exhibited in selecting layers and breeders.

"Poultry drugs and medicines should not be trusted to keep the flock free from mortality. Prevention and sanitation should be practiced instead and an abundance of common sense used in handling the flock."

Mikkelson Grain Buys Elevator.

A deal was closed the first of the month whereby the Mikkelson Grain company, operators of elevators and warehouses in various parts of this section of the country, took over the Mark P. Miller Milling company's elevator and warehouse in Genesee.

The new owners, according to Clyde Mannering, local manager are installing considerable new machinery and are giving the plan a thorough overhauling preparatory to handling a portion of this fall's large grain crop.

The Miller elevator was formerly owned and operated by the late C. E. Wood and is one of the oldest institutions in the town.—Genesee News.

Open U. of I. Gym Bids.

Lowest bids for the construction of the Idaho memorial armory-gymnasium, opened Saturday afternoon, totaled approximately $370,000 says The Star Mirror. No contracts were let and after bids were opened and recorded, officers of the Idaho Memorial association and the university administration went into consultation with the announcement that probably it would be impossible to select contractors at this time but that several might be called into consultation.

C. M. Conley, Pullman, who holds the contract for the construction of Washington State college gymnasium at Pullman, was low on the general contract with an offer of $327,316. Other bids ranged from $347,279 to $364,500.

Funds for the gymnasium total $300,000, and it is probable that either plans and specifications have to be revised again or contractors low on their respective proposals called into conference and an effort made to cut items from the plans to bring the total figure within the available funds.

Some Boss

Occasionally you find a male who is boss of the house, but he isn't five years old yet.

Keeping Pullets and Hens

Winter egg production is largely obtained from the pullets that are well grown, properly fed, and carry a surplus of flesh. Old hens that have produced eggs for one laying near normally rest during the winter and start laying in February and March. It is advisable to keep a flock consisting of two-thirds pullets and one-third hens. The pullets should be forced for winter egg production through the liberal mash feed. The old hens should be allowed to rest.

Time to Watch Rodents

It is often a large amount of trouble to shut up the little chicks at this season of the year but if the job is neglected there is apt to be a heavy loss. Rats, skunks, coons, weasels, mink and other animals are having their young to feed at this time of the year and chicken makes a favorite dish for them. This is also a good time of year to try and kill off rodents of all kinds. In many cases the young will be found in the nests and they can be easily killed.
