

Tax Statements Here Soon

Tax statements for 1927 will be mailed from the office of Mrs. Leola R. King, Latah county treasurer, the end of this week, with first collections ready to be received at the office the fourth Monday in November, November 28, says the Star-Mirror.

Total of approximately $675,000 is to be collected in taxes from Latah county for 1927, of which amount more than 60 per cent should be received at the end of the first half collection period, the fourth Monday in December. Past records show that from 60 to 65 per cent is collected during the first half and about 35 per cent during the second half which comes to an end the fourth Monday in June.

Members of the treasurer's office force are working on the statements at the present time for mailing. Forest protection charges amounting to more than $3,000 for this county have been added to the rolls this month, according to H. H. Hoagland, veteran deputy of the office.

Personal property tax statements, due in full at the end of the first collection period were mailed the first of the month by the office. A total of approximately $25,247.37 is to be collected. Under terms of the personal property law, all merchandise and stock owned by merchants who are renters and all stock and farm equipment owned by renting farmers is subject to the tax.

Recent legislative enactment calls for issuance of a warrant of restraint against the personal property so assessed, if not paid by the specified time. A very small amount of delinquency is recorded each year, Mr. Hoagland reports, however.

Moon Farming

Moon farming, according to the weather bureau, is "moonshine." It has absolutely no support from any scientific point of view. By "moon farming" is meant sowing or reaping, breeding or butchering, shingling or shearing, or any other farm activity supposed to be affected by the "dark" or the "light" of the moon, or any other phase of the moon. The chief things affecting the growth of crops at any stage are: temperature and moisture conditions of soil and air; composition of the adjacent atmosphere; kind and intensity of the light; presence or absence and severity of plant diseases; mechanical condition of the soil, loose or compact; fertility of the soil and the quantity of other vegetation, or weeds, present. Meteorologists can show that the moon has nothing to do with any of these conditions affecting crops. It has no influence on weather or soil.—Genesee News.

Swine Attract Attention

The squeals of 28 healthy registered brood sows, six months old, of the Chester White breed, attracted much attention on the streets of Troy last week, and secured for the U. S. Central Swine company, much free advertising. The sows were sold by the company's representative Mr. Rouse of Spokane, and Philip Strohm last fall, to farmers of this community and were being delivered Wednesday. Another load of 156 head were taken to Deary, while Avon was the distributing point for still another load.

The hogs are sold under contract which Mr. Strohm has declared to be very profitable to the farmers.

The sows at six months old are sold to the farmers for $95.00 with the agreement that the swine company buy back all females and one male pig born to them that will weigh 150 pounds at six months old. The largest lot sold included five sows, while a few who had ordered dropped out, being unable to handle them due to the loss of crop—Troy News.

Mrs. George Davidson was a Troy visitor the first of the week.

Idaho Leads in Beans

Indications for Idaho's bean crop are 1,604,000 bushels, while in 1926 there were 999,000 bushels harvested. Idaho's yield of 20 bushels to the acre is the highest reported for any state. Montana is second with 18 bushels, and California third with 16 bushels to the acre.

Bean production in New York, Michigan and Montana is larger than indicated a month ago, while production in Idaho, Colorado, New Mexico and California is smaller than the September 1 prospect.

Only three states produce more beans than Idaho namely, Michigan, California and Colorado, in the order named.—Golden Idaho.

Advertising Idaho

The first of a series of agricultural advertisements prepared by the state board of publicity appeared in approximately 40 newspapers in Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Florida, Alabama and Georgia. Similar agricultural advertising will appear in the classified columns of the Sunday editions of San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego newspapers.

Farm magazines covering Oregon, Washington, the western Canadian provinces and the middle western states will also be used to tell the story of Idaho's agricultural possibilities and resources.

Returns from the first advertisement are already being received. All inquiries are turned over to the secretary of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce who sends out Idaho literature and delivers the name of the inquirer to the secretaries of all local chambers of commerce in the state.

What Name For Highway

Suggested new names for Idaho's North and South highway numbering 1788 have been presented in the contest for which the Northern Idaho Chamber of Commerce is offering a prize of $100, it is announced by Victor Shawe, secretary of the state board of publicity, to whom the names have been sent.

These have been arranged alphabetically for the convenience of the judges who are Governor H. C. Baldrige, Dr. A. H. Upham, president of the University of Idaho, and R. E. Shepherd, president of the State Chamber of Commerce. As soon as Doctor Upham returns from Chicago where he is attending an educational conference, a decision will be announced by the judges.

Parlor Story (Dental)

An old farmer in Scotland once went to have a troublesome tooth extracted. Said the dentist, after looking at the offending molar:

"It's a very ugly one. I would advise you to have it out by the painless system. It is only a shilling extra.

He showed the farmer the apparatus for administering gas, remarking that it would cause him to fall asleep for a minute, and before he awoke the tooth would be out. After a slight resistance the Scot consented, proceeding to open his purse.

"Oh, never mind paying just now," said the dentist kindly.

"Hoots," answered the cautious old Scotchman, "I wasna thinkin' o' that: but if I gaen tae sleep I thoct I wad like tae coont ma siller first."—Ex.

Band Making Good Progress

Band Master Walter Thomas stated this week that the rehearsal held last Monday evening was the best since the band organized. He has the beginners band up to the point now that the experienced musicians are needed to fill in. From now on renewed interest will be felt and the rehearsals will be a pleasure. Mr. Thomas says that he will put on an indoor concert some time this winter.

Kendrick School Notes

Geneva Kite has been dropped from the first grade, as the Kite family has moved to Julietta.

The second grade has written stories of the Pilgrims and the first Thanksgiving. Both the first and second grades have cut and colored, Pilgrims, Indians, canoes, wigwams, log houses, etc., to put in the sand table, which represents, this week, "The Landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock." The primary children learned thru our superintendent, who has visited it, that Plymouth Rock, is about the size of a large dining-table.

The primary boys and girls were delightfully surprised last Wednesday afternoon by having a birthday party after recess. The occasion was little Ethel Fraser's birthday and Mrs. Fraser sent her birthday cake to school for a treat to her and all the other children. It was very prettily decorated and held six candles, all ablaze as the children marched in at recess. The work table was decorated with a Thanksgiving table cloth and napkins. Ethel cut the cake and the first grade girls helped pass it. After a few games and songs the children went home declaring the party a decided success.

The seventh and eighth grades have just finished their six weeks examinations. They are well satisfied with their grades.

The eighth grade plans to take up Idaho history, soon after Thanksgiving, in place of reading.

The seventh and eighth grades have elected Burneda Cummings as news reporter for the next six weeks.

The high school carnival for which the pupils of the school have made such elaborate preparation will be held all afternoon and evening, Friday, December 2. Everyone is invited to patronize the affair and an interesting time is guaranteed to all.

A lunch will be served between five and seven p. m., and you are invited to eat with them. The students will be glad to have parents allow their children to eat supper at the school that day.

A special comedy entertainment including four plays and stunts is scheduled for the children at three o'clock and for their elders at eight. Admission will be ten and twenty-five cents.

Side-shows by the various classes will be open all the evening. There will be fortune-telling, games of skill and chance, novelty sales and amusements of all kinds. Get your confetti, noise-makers etc. at the sale table.

Ice cream, candy, hot-dogs and other eatables to be sold by the young people.

In fact a grand and glorious hilarious and delirious time is planned. Let yourself go for once and become young again. Everything will be "wide-open."

Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the high school athletics. There will be no admittance at the door but come prepared to spend.

The high school students have been taking their "sexter" examinations this week. As the papers have not yet been corrected, the students are anxiously awaiting their grades.

There was no school here Thursday and Friday because of the Thanksgiving vacation.

The Caesar class has completed a series of tests given the last two weeks.

Completed Southwick Gym

George Barnum returned from Southwick this week having completed his contract to construct the gymnasium at that place. The building was finished Tuesday of this week.

John Johnson and Everett Fraser returned last Friday from a hunting trip to the Selway country. They packed in 15 miles beyond the end of the road and report game plentiful in that locality.

Idaho's Great Potato Crop

The Idaho potato crop promises a production of 22,218,000 bushels. This is based on a condition of 92 per cent of normal, indicating an acre yield of 193 bushels on the 115,000 acres planted in 1927.

The United States potato crop is estimated at 400 million bushels, or 11 million less than on August 1. This compares with 356 million bushels harvested in 1926 and a past five-year average of 394 million bushels. Prospects in Maine declined 5 1/2 million bushels during August, due to serious blight damage. In Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, drought, and, in some sections, frost, damaged prospects to the extent of 13 million bushels. Michigan alone shows a reduction of 22 per cent, or 7 million bushels, since August 1.

A Polite Boy

A bright-eyed little English lad saluted the occupants of a passing motor car so politely that they stopped and gave him sixpence. "Do you salute all the strangers that pass?" the lady with the party inquired. "No ma'am, only motorists," the boy stammered, fingering his sixpence nervously. "Father says I must be polite to them 'cause motor cars bring him trade." The lady seemed disappointed. "What is your father's trade, my little man? Does he repair motor cars?" "No ma'am was the reply. "Father's an undertaker."—Ex.

Some exceptionally good music was given at the Methodist church last Sunday evening by the Carrack brothers and Mrs. E. H. Emery. It consisted of vocal solos, duets and hand saw playing. One of the Carrack brothers makes startling good music on a common hand saw with a violin bow.

Nominate Highway Commissioner

G. F. Walker has been nominated to succeed himself as highway commissioner. A petition liberally signed was circulated in Kendrick this week to place Mr. Walker's name on the ballot at the election December 5th. He is the only member on the board whose term expires. He has served this district since its organization and the fact that he is thoroughly familiar with every detail concerning his office makes him a valuable man for the position. The other two members of the Board, Mr. Wm. Cox and Mr. Ole Lien have also served the district since its formation some 8 to 10 years ago. Kendrick is apparently well satisfied with the present personnel of the board.

Idaho Motor Vehicle Laws

Now is the time to prepare for the new motor vehicle laws which go into effect January 1, 1928, and Fred E. Lukens, commissioner of law enforcement, is urging all owners, in the interest of saving during the rush for new licenses, to equip themselves with the information they need.

Most important of all is the certificate of title and antitheft law. No car owner may be granted a 1928 license until he has been granted a certificate of title and he must prove his title to his car by bill of sale, conditional sale contract or other recognized means. Liens and other encumbrances against the car must be listed and when the application is presented in proper form and approved a certificate of title, which is equivalent to a deed, will be issued.

Every automobile owner in the state will receive within the next two or three weeks an application blank and when it is properly filled out it should be presented to the local county assessor together with proof of ownership.

The title law is to protect the car owner against theft and to prevent the resale of stolen cars to Idahoans and a certificate, when issued is good for the life of the car so long as the car does not change hands. In the event of a transfer the certificate is endorsed by the original owner and the new owner with his endorsed certificate makes application for a new certificate in his name.

He Did

An immigrant was making his way across the wild west in search of a man to whom he had a letter of introduction. He came across a cowboy sitting by the side of the track, asked if he could tell him where to find the man for whom he was looking. "Does Big Joe live near here?" said the immigrant. "Nope," said the cowboy. "Well, where can I find his neighbor, Long Sam?" "I'm Long Sam," said the cowboy. "But they told me," said the immigrant, "that Big Joe lived within gunshot of you." "That's right," said the cowboy, he did.—Ex.

Gun Smuggler Arrested

When Moscow residents saw the name of John B. Mannerstam, now of California, in the newspapers two months ago as linked with an alleged arms' smuggling scheme, they recognized it as that of a former Moscow resident.

Sunday there was other news of Mr. Mannerstam, reputed 'man behind the gun' of alleged gun running conspiracies of international ramifications, ending a state and federal search for him Saturday afternoon when he surrendered to an Oakland suburban chief of police. He was accused in a state warrant of a felony for possession of machine guns.

He declared he would demand return of $60,000 worth of arms, high explosives and war equipment seized at his home, on the grounds that he possessed them lawfully as a dealer in firearms.

Local people declare that Mannerstam lived in Moscow for about two years, leaving about four or five years ago.

"He was a 'man of mystery' as far as anyone here knew," said a businessman who knew Mannerstam perhaps as well as anybody. "He lived on South Washington street, and apparently had no visible means of support. He supposedly managed the Pacific Sales company, incorporated. Much of his time he spent away from the city. He had a family of six or seven children."—Star-Mirror.

Radio Wave Lengths

Henry A. Bellows of the federal radio commission, warned the members of the National Electrical Manufacturers association that the radio industry is on perilous ground. Nearly 80 per cent of the broadcasting stations now operating in the country are owned by individuals having no direct interest in any form of the electrical manufacturing or selling activity.

The Washington Post states that not more than ten stations in the country are able to show an even break between revenue gain from the sale of time and operating expense, and it adds that those who broadcast must secure and retain the good will of the public or their plans will be doomed as a failure.

In the reallocation of wave lengths only a small minority of stations were allotted rights in the preferred bands. The rest of the stations are dissatisfied, although most of them will go ahead juzzing up the air and prosecuting legal battles that may eventually result in a scientific resign of broadcasting system.

Four-Cylinder Democracy

Here is a good joke on us Americans, or on one American, at any rate. Two New Yorkers visiting London were gazing with outspoken criticism on the plain, unpretentious exterior of the Prime Minister's official residence in Downing Street. "What a home for a Prime Minister," one of them exclaimed.

"Yes," said the other, who had caught sight of a small two-seater standing at the curb, "and look at that car, will you? Why in li'ol New York a second-hand store clerk would be ashamed to own a flivver like that."

At this moment a well-dressed man emerged from the official residence, entered the car and drove off.

"Say, who was that guy?" the last speaker asked a passing policeman.

"Mr. A. B. Oughton, the Hammerican Ambassador, sir," answered the bobby politely.—Ex.

Kendrick needs a good city hall. The present old building is a make-shift and is not by any means a credit to the town. It would make a fairly decent garage in which to store the street sprinkler but it is a cold, cheerless place for council meetings, band rehearsals and public meetings.

At this time the town needs a good, substantial building that can be made attractive and comfortable. It should contain a main hall for band rehearsals and meetings of a public nature. A small room for the council chamber. A dining room for commercial club meetings. United effort on the part of the city council would bring about the realization of this plan in a very short time.

In all towns that continue to grow the city council must find it possible to look back over the year just past and see some substantial improvement that has been made thru its efforts. The commercial club must see in the past year some important project that concerns the welfare of the community, either completed or well on its way to completion. A town that has this policy in vogue will make progress in spite of any handicap.

We have learned by experience that a boy in the fourth grade with a good teacher, begins to realize for the first time that his parents don't know everything. At home during the noon hour when he shoots a series of rapid-fire questions concerning some of the fine points of geography, and gets in return some extremely evasive answers, his suspicions crystallize into certainty. By the time he finishes high school he comes to the conclusion that his parents don't know anything.

Judges are prone to place the blame on the parents for the disreputable conduct of youth these days. In many cases they are no doubt to blame, but not in every case, by any means. The judges might go farther and tell us who is to blame for the parents.

The old saying "an apple a day keep the doctor away," may be true, but there is an easier way than that, if you practice it a while—don't pay him.

Personal Liberty

Former Chief Justice Frank Doster has an article in the November issue of "Plain Talk" on the subject, "The Prohibition Craze." The article is an argument against the present prohibition law as an infringement of personal liberty. Judge Doster takes the ground that a man can commit only two kinds of wrongs: One to himself; the other, to someone else, that society has no right to punish a man for doing an act, the direct consequences of which fall only on himself. This is the view of his subject that was taken by Wm. von Humbolt, John Stuart Mill, Herbert Spencer, and other great writers of the past. Under the conditions of modern life, the trouble is to distinguish wrongs that are purely personal from those that affect others. In the days of John Stuart Mill, a man could exercise his personal right of getting drunk and driving on the highway without danger of infringing the rights of others, but that could not happen now. The modern view of this subject was taken by Prof. Thomas H. Huxley, who took the ground that no limit whatever can be laid down as to the extent to which under some circumstances the action of the government may be rightfully carried. This also appears to have been the view held by the poet Tennyson when he coined the phrase, "The individual withers and the world is more and more." Some of the requirements of the present prohibitory law may be unreasonable and undesirable from the standpoint of real temperance, but the right of society under the conditions of modern life to pass such a law can hardly be questioned.—Selected.

Rarely

does a person give up a checking account. You may accumulate wealth, or you may be busily engaged making both ends meet, but once you have a checking account you rarely give it up.

The convenience, pride and the satisfaction of making all payments by check explain why this method is so popular.

Pretty Smooth

"Yes, Willie," a man said to his little son, "you kept your promise to run all the errands without growling last month, so I'm going to keep my promise and reward you." The man took out a $5 gold piece and a silver dollar. "Now, Willie boy," he said, "for he was a great bluffer, 'which of these nice coins will you have?' 'I won't be selfish, papa,' said Willie, who was a chip off the old block, 'I'll take the little one.' But his father slipped the gold piece back into his pocket. 'For not being selfish,' he said, 'I'm going to give you the big one.'"—Exchange.

Causes of Most Early Deaths in Live Stock

The causes of most early deaths in live stock fall into two general classes:

1. Those capable of considerable reduction, chiefly through eradication of diseases among the mature stock, proper hygiene, sanitary isolation, and medical treatment. In this class are tuberculosis, acute respiratory diseases, certain acute contagious diseases, and some diseases caused by animal parasites.
2. Those capable of very great reduction through proper feeding, care, and sanitation, such as acute digestive diseases, gorter troubles, prematurity (if not extreme), and many forms of animal parasitism.

Besides the two important classes mentioned there are some other conditions, such as malformation, extreme feebleness or extreme prematurity, and certain accidents during birth. These conditions are little influenced by treatment, but represent a very small proportion of total loss.
