STATE COMMISSIONER TURNS DOWN PROJECT

Will Not Designate Arrow-Deary Road State Highway.

The committee from the Kendrick commercial club, in charge of the details concerning the proposed construction of grades on Bear ridge and American ridge, has been waiting a decision from the state commissioner of public works, relative to the designation of the Bear ridge project as a part of the state highway system. A letter was received the first of the week from Joe Wood, state commissioner, in which he has refused to make designation, on grounds that the state has insufficient funds for maintenance work. The decision has been pending for over a year, but is now definitely settled for a time at least. Under the present administration there is little chance for a favorable reconsideration of the question.

It is now proposed to call a bond election to raise funds for the construction of the two grades and other road improvement work. As no aid is forthcoming from the state, probably for a number of years, it is clearly demonstrated that if Kendrick highway district is to have better roads it is up to the people in the district to build them and pay for them. The matter will be brought up at a meeting of the commercial club the first of next week for decision.

The state commissioner mentions a proposed market road system law that might be brought up at the next meeting of the state legislature, but as the law is more or less mythical and there is no assurance of its passage, it is not considered worthy of much consideration here. There would be thousands of miles of road over the state that would come under the farm to market plan, so that other more influential centers would be improved long before the proposed Deary-Arrow road would be brought up for consideration. This section is lacking in "political pull" to get much of anything from the state department.

The proposed Arrow-Deary project has merit and is not a purely local welfare proposition. North and south traffic in the state would benefit greatly by the short cut, which would save from 30 to 40 miles over the present North and South highway route. It would also serve as a big saving in distance for east and west traffic from the nearest point on the Yellowstone trail to the coast, via Lewiston. These questions are not always decided on their merit.

Following is the letter from the state commissioner:

"I am very much interested in the improvement proposed as it is very apparent that such an improvement would be of great benefit as a market road in getting produce to shipping points as well as in affording improved highway facilities for North and South traffic through Latah, as well as Nez Perce County.

"A designation such as the one proposed would come under the department's recommendations for a market road system and, as you know, we feel that a market road system would materially assist the state in the marketing of the products.

"The department could not consistently designate this improvement as a state highway in that the state highway system as designated comprises a total distance of 4,222 miles with 1,538 as yet unimproved. However, I assure you we will be very glad to recommend that this improvement be included in the market road system in the event a market road law were enacted at the next session of the legislature.

"With the rapid expansion of motor transportation throughout the country the problem of improving the roads tributary and most important to the present state highway system is becoming more acute and it looks as though a market road is perhaps

Making Division in Business

The Kendrick Hardware Co. divided into separate concerns, starting the first of the year, according to an announcement made this week. The hardware and furniture stock will remain at the old location under the direction of Walter Thomas, while the implements, plumbing supplies, etc. will be handled by Harold Thomas.

Concerning this new arrangement Walter Thomas made the following statement:

"In dividing our stock, the hardware, furniture, etc. will be handled at the present location. The implements, repairs, machinery, etc. will be handled at the warehouse location along the railroad track. The two stocks will be handled as individual or separate businesses, carrying separate office systems and accounts and with different methods of extending credit.

The implement concern will be known as the Farm Equipment Co., with Harold Thomas in charge. The hardware, furniture, etc. will be known as the Kendrick Hardware Co. with Walter Thomas in charge.

"In making these arrangements we will be in position to offer larger and more diversified stocks, better service, better prices and to give more attention to detail."

Will Drive Logs in Clearwater

Lewiston Tribune: With some 20,000,000 feet of fine white pine logs ready to release into the North Fork of the Clearwater between Absahka and Big Island, the river forces of the Clearwater Timber company are awaiting a suitable condition of the river and favorable weather to start the pre-high water spring drive to the Lewiston mill.

Possibility of a late freeze-up and the present ice run in the river are holding back the drive at this time. There also is some work to be done on the crib piers in the forebay, which were washed away or dislodged during the ice jam early last month. The work in the forebay is expected to be started this week.

Logging operations have been under way for more than a year along the North Fork, and some of the finest of the virgin white pine is to be found in the first drive that will be made to Lewiston this spring. Of the 20,000,000 feet of timber to be driven this spring, about one-half of the logs are of virgin pine and second growth, it is estimated. The virgin timber will average around 36 inches in diameter, with numerous four-foot logs in the lot. Most of the logs now being used at the mill are from one to two feet in diameter.

Although not all of the river improvement have been completed at this time, enough of the sheer wing booms have been made to insure a speedy and safe trip of the logs from the upper North Fork to Lewiston. The remainder of the river improvement probably will be completed during the summer.

The logs now cut and ready for the river drive are located at various places along the North Fork, ready for release into the river as soon as conditions are right. Many of the logs have been cut and sawed into lengths on ridges and chuted to holding grounds along the river.

Driving the river with sawlogs will be the last phase of operations to be initiated by the Clearwater Timber company.

Open Hotel with Chicken Dinner

The dining room of the Commercial Hotel will open Sunday, February 5, with a big chicken dinner. The hotel is now under new management, Rev. and Mrs. Taber having charge. Dinner will be served from 11 o'clock to 1 o'clock Sunday. A big crowd is expected as a number have already signified their intention of taking advantage of the opportunity. The dinner will be prepared by one of the best cooks in this section of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. Taber should be given the loyal support of the community to make the hotel a successful business venture. Any live town must have a good hotel and the more liberally the hotel is patronized the better opportunity it will have to serve the community.

The interior of the hotel building will be repainted and put in first class condition, so that it will be a comfortable and homelike place for the traveling public to stop. Give this business your hearty support.

License Deadline Extended

No attempt will be made to prosecute Latah county auto owners who have not purchased their 1928 auto licenses by February 1, Sheriff Charlie Summerfield declared Tuesday afternoon, in view of the "mix-up" in getting the new license system inaugurated in this county and in the state.

Difficulty in obtaining certificates of title, coupled with the large number of certificates returned for correction, has caused this action to be taken later in February.

It was at first announced that rigid enforcement of the Idaho auto code relative to procuring licenses before February 1 would be enforced. The new system is being put into effect in Idaho for the first time this year.

Death of John F. Ehlers

John Frederick Ehlers passed away at his home near Cameron last Sunday morning, at the age of 86 years. Death was due to old age and was hastened somewhat, owing to a slight injury several weeks ago.

In the death of Mr. Ehlers the Potlatch country loses another of its sturdy pioneers. Born in Germany, January 12, 1842, he came to this country at the age of 25 years, locating in Minnesota and later moving to Albany, Oregon. In 1883 he took up a homestead near Cameron, which was his home until death came.

Mr. Ehlers was a successful farmer and during his prime his farming operations were on a large scale. During his declining years his land interests were managed by his sons. During his residence in the Cameron community he was held in the highest regard by his neighbors and friends. He was a member of the Lutheran church and was respected for his fine character and strict integrity.

He is survived by four children, Herman, of Texas ridge; Mrs. Lena Henry, Mrs. Amos Spekker and George Ehlers, all of the Cameron community; a sister in Minnesota and nine grandchildren. Mr. Ehlers wife died in 1918.

Funeral services were held at the family home at one o'clock Wednesday and an hour later at the Cameron Lutheran church. Rev. E. A. Rein officiating. Interment was made in the Cameron cemetery.

You Teller

"I want to know," said the irate matron, "how much money my husband drew out of the bank last week."

"I can't give you that information, ma'am," answered the man in the cage.

"You're the paying teller, aren't you?"

"Yes, but I'm not the telling payer."—Exchange.

"Deacon Dubbs" to Southwick

The home talent play "Deacon Dubbs," given here last week to a packed house, will appear at Southwick tonight. The play is given under the auspices of the Methodist ladies aid of Kendrick. It made such a big hit here that a number of Southwick people extended the members of the cast an invitation to stage the play at Southwick.

The play is a comedy-drama, full of extremely clever situations and contains a laugh every minute. Those who saw the show here last week were enthusiastic in their praises for the manner in which it was given.

To Furnish Forest Trees

Almost a half million young forest trees will be distributed from the University of Idaho's nurseries during the coming year, according to reports received at Spokane from F. G. Miller, dean of the Idaho school of forestry. These trees will go to farmers of the state interested in the development of farm forestry and farm woodlots. At the average rate of woodlot planting, the trees to be distributed this year will plant 350 acres of farm woodlots.

During the year just closed, only about 150,000 trees were distributed, while in 1926 the total was 90,000. Of the half million trees this year approximately 400,000 will be black locust, with 30,000 various species of conifers and 30,000 various types of ornamental trees.

In keeping with the provisions of the federal act the university not only furnishes the trees, but also gives the farmers proper instructions.

The man who would hide behind a woman's skirts these days is needlessly alarmed. No one would pick on a little fellow like that, sneers an exchange.

One of our exchanges tells about the recovery of a man who was recently afflicted with an almost fatal case of nervous breakdown. His physicians advised him to spend his time in absolute solitude and quietness, so he spent all of his time loafing in stores and other business houses which did not advertise. The only noise he ever heard in those places was spiders spinning their webs and an occasional thump against the wall or ceiling by bats and chipmunks. Within a few weeks he was well as ever and able to go to work again.—Fruitland Banner.

Scientists now tell us that there is a "murder gland" located somewhere in the neck of human beings and the state of its development controls, to a more or less degree, the tendency to commit murder. While the gland theory is something new, an effective cure has been in vogue for many years—the electric chair or a noose.

The main topic of conversation here yesterday was "ground hog day". After serious reflection we have come to the conclusion that the groundhog theory is applesauce. But it was rather a strange coincidence that we had sausage for dinner yesterday.

Too Many Dogs

The Genesee News has been complaining on several occasions because there are too many dogs in that thriving little city. We'll bet the publisher of the News a good cigar that Kendrick now has more dogs than Genesee. They are becoming so plentiful here that they are beginning to run in flocks like sheep. Kendrick, like Genesee, is not enforcing the dog ordinance and as a result the canine population of the town is increasing by leaps and bounds.

Letter From The Hulls

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 23.
My last letter was written at Kansas City. We caught cold there and upon arriving at Denver we both developed bad cases of flu. We stopped there ten days and were attended by Dr. Patton, formerly of Kendrick. Arriving at Salt Lake City we were met at the train by Mrs. Flo, who took us to her home where we spent the day with her mother, Mrs. G. W. H. Smith, widow of a former pastor of the Kendrick Presbyterian church. Over the mountains from Salt Lake we became very weak, the high altitude affecting us and making it difficult for us to breathe. On arriving at Long Beach we were met by Mr. and Mrs. George Carlson and taken to their residence. They had secured apartments for us where we settled the next day. I had a relapse from the flu and the doctor kept me in bed for over a week. By the way, it costs to be ill in California—five dollars for the first visit and three thereafter and no prescription filled for less than $1.50.
Henry Wessels, formerly of Kendrick, took us out to his home to spend an evening. Their place is located just at the foot of Signal Hill and the thousands of lights from the top of the oil derricks present a grand sight.

While we were there Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckwith came in and we passed a delightful evening going over old times.

We have had several visits with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. White, Vivian and Roger. Mr. White is in very poor health.

What I started out to do was to tell you how they make cities in California. Last week we drove over with Mr. and Mrs. James Emmett to El Clemente, the city started about six months ago by Ole Hanson of Seattle. It is about 26 miles from Los Angeles and about the same distance from Long Beach. Here Mr. Hanson bought three thousand acres along the ocean front, where he set out to build a Spanish village. He had the city platted, streets and sidewalks put in, water brought from the mountain just back of the site, pipes laid in every street, sewers constructed, a large school house and playground constructed, a community church, Spanish hotel, 160 acre golf course, community building, pier out in the ocean for pleasure and fishing—all these deeded to the city so there will be no bonded indebtedness. This required a great deal of labor and he employed only those with families to work on the project. Thus dwellings had to be built to take care of them and stores built for merchants to feed and cloth them.

In Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena and several other cities, women are employed with stands at the busiest corners to hand out literature and ask the tourists to take a free ride to see the city. From two hundred to a thousand take the ride every day. On arriving there all are furnished with a substantial luncheon in the cafe and then a lecturer tells them what has been done and what they expect to accomplish, after which they are escorted over the place. The streets are not laid out in squares, but in semi-circles so that every residence faces the ocean. The lots were priced at from $1200 to $25,000. As long as they can prevail upon tourists to visit the place it is bound to grow and lots increase in value. We wish you all could enjoy this nice, bright sunshine and ocean breeze with us. With kindest regards to all.

GET RID OF ALL BOARDER COWS

Get rid of the boarder cows and make the good ones produce more milk is the advice of Prof. H. A. Hopper at the State College of Agriculture to New York state dairymen. The milk situation is largely in the hands of Empire state producers, he says, and if they take a few steps to insure plenty of milk during the next few weeks, the usual shortage period, they can do much to meet the demands of the New York market.

To increase milk production, dairymen should feed their cows more, especially more protein; they should dispose of boarders and give their feed to the good cows; stable the cows when the weather is cold or rainy; be sure the cows get plenty of water, and take good care of cows that will freshen soon.

Cows that are on short pasture should have green fodder. Good second growth in meadows may be pastured if the cows are managed carefully. They should have a feeding of dry hay before they are turned into the meadow, and the grass, of course, should be dry, for they may bloat if they eat wet green grass.

To increase the protein cows get, they may be fed a mixture of 200 pounds corn or hominy, 100 barley, 300 wheat bran, 200 cottonseed meal, 100 linseed oil meal, and 100 pounds gluten feed. Dairymen who have peas, oats and barley may mix 1,200 pounds of the ground mixture with 400 cottonseed meal, 200 gluten feed, and 200 oil meal.

Cows that will freshen soon should be in good condition; grain fed to them is well invested, Professor Hopper says.

Nothing helps more nor is a better investment than a good supply of drinking water for cows. Milk is mostly water, but cows can't make milk without it. Buckets in the barn quickly pay for themselves.

HATCHABILITY OF EGG INCREASED

Feeding and housing are the most important factors affecting hatchability of eggs but they are by no means the only ones, according to G. T. Klein, poultry specialist at the Kansas State Agricultural college. Hens or pullets that have been in long production do not give as high hatchability as birds that are increasing in production. The most desirable pullet breeders are those that have been hatched early and that have taken a rest period for a week or more.

Alternating the male birds in breeding pens is often very conducive to better fertility. The poultry specialist advises from 15 to 20 females to one male in the light breeds and eight to ten females in the heavier breeds. During cold weather it is best to gather eggs frequently. Temperature variations that occur in a heated room where the eggs may be kept are very injurious and in many cases the only reason for a poor hatch. A constant temperature of approximately 40 degrees Fahrenheit should be maintained.

Klein says it is not necessary to turn eggs while they are being held for hatching if they are placed in an egg case with the small end down. Hatchability decreases rapidly after the eggs have been kept ten days. Washing is injurious because it removes the "bloom" and causes a rapid evaporation during incubation. It will pay to candle the eggs before setting. Breeding up a flock is not a difficult matter, maintains Mr. Klein. A small breeding pen of the choicest hens should be kept each year to supply cockerels for the general flock. These hens should be the best producers in the flock and those conforming most closely to standard type and color.

Baldwin Combine Harvester
ANOTHER GREAT REVELATION FOR THE FARMER

A combine harvester which is not so expensive but that every farmer can now enjoy the pleasure of owning one by himself and thresh when ever he pleases.

W. F. Behrens, the Cletrac dealer of Kendrick, Idaho, has taken the agency of the Baldwin Harvester in Nez Perce, Latah and Clearwater counties.

MR. FARMER, LISTEN TO THIS!

A combine which costs about $1400 F. O. B. Kendrick, 10-foot cut mounted on wheels, pulled with small tractor or six horses, cuts about 20 acres per day only requires two men to run machine, is driven by Henry Ford's famous model T. motor, equipped with governor. Combine has no canvas to wear out, no drapers to bother with, no cylinder teeth to crack your grain, will thresh beans or anything that needs threshing. This machine has not one plain bearing on it. Every bearing is either roller or ball bearing, all self aligning. All steel sacker or Bulk, tractor hitch or horse hitch, brakes—everything complete.

Folks, listen! The time came where the small stationary thresher took the place of the large expensive ones, and the time is here where the small combine will take the place of the large ones. Pay down your threshing bill and next pay a little more and the next year pay the balance. Can you beat that price and terms? Enjoy having a machine of your own and thresh when you are ready.

The toothless cylinder, the latest invention, rubs the grain out of the cylinder and can be set close for wet grain. A wet bundle of wheat will thresh out clean. The wheat going into the sack looks like seed wheat.

No changing from wheat to beans, simply drive up the windrow and it picks up the beans threshes them and either leaves the straw in bunches or spreads it the full ten feet of cut.

I am not going to tell any more just now but wait till about the middle of February and I will have one in Kendrick. See for yourself and let the combine speak for itself. We will have a certain day advertised when you will see the machine. We will arrange to have some bundles of wheat and beans to thresh that day.

The prairie type will work well on a 15 per cent and for steeper land the self leveling machine is used. This machine is new here but has been used several years in the east and has proved to be one of the best combines on the market. One was used at Deary last year which caused great excitement there.

Highway in Bad Shape

Genesee News: It is a fact that the North and South highway is in very poor condition and everyone knows that it is badly in need of gravel and re-vamping in general. This condition is not due to any fault of Couvier Ehlen, who is in charge of the maintenance work of this section of the highway, but simply because the state has failed to furnish the necessary gravel for keeping the road even in fair condition. Just whether this is economy or not is a mooted question, since it is intimated that the state intends to do considerable highway work during the coming season.

Much money is to be expended for rebuilding, oiling and new highways during this year and it is to be hoped that the state will give us enough gravel to at least fill up the holes, whether we get any of the oil or not. However, since it has been intimated that the Lewiston hill is to be practically rebuilt and oiled, it is more than likely we will get enough to make the highway fit for travel.

The Lewiston hill is in very good condition at this time and the Genesee section of the highway has always been the best part of the highway in this or any other section of the country, but when a road just naturally wears out—it is like any thing else, it is gone, and that is what ails this section of the highway at this time.

After a road is once built it would seem the better part of judgement and economy to keep it in good condition for travel in place of allowing it to deteriorate to a point where it will practically have to be rebuilt.

Here's hoping we get enough money out of the state jackpot to at least put our section of the highway in condition for travel without being jolted out of the seat.

Cougars on Bear Ridge

N. E. Ware stated Wednesday that two cougars had been prowling around on Bear ridge for over a week. One big cat had been treed in Pine creek canyon by dogs from a nearby farm. While no one has seen the animals their tracks are plainly visible in the deep snow through the timbered sections. It is believed that one cougar is in Pine creek canyon while the other's tracks were found leading into Bear creek canyon. People in the upper Bear creek section were notified by phone to watch for the animal.

Yesterday morning C. G. Compton took his dogs on the ridge to hunt for the big cats.

Idaho Onion Industry Crippled

Western onion growers will have no opportunity to present their plea for increased tariff on onions at a hearing somewhere west of the Rocky Mountains, it has been announced, but there is a possibility of a representative being sent to Washington, D. C., to represent Idaho growers at the hearing there in February.

The onion industry all over the country is practically crippled because Spain finds it is possible, under the present tariff, to ship onions across the ocean cheaper than United States growers can sell them.

NO MORE CREDIT

Advice given the Pacific Northwest Hardware and Implement Association by President Atkinson, is sound and applicable to any line of business.

"Watch your credit and get your money" said Mr. Atkinson. "Credit is business, and business is getting the money for what you sell."

Watching credits is the foundation principle of successful merchandising. Bad credits benefit, no one, not even the creditors to whom the losing credit is extended.

Therefore, No more credit unless you kick through for your present account.
