

JUST IDAHO

Mary's Little Lamb Still Here

The same kind of a lamb is cavorting in mountains and on farms of Idaho. It does not pretend to follow Mary or any one else to school but it does help keep the schools open by providing funds that are widely distributed among taxpayers; and that lamb is destined to be a greater factor, if we accept the prophecy of R. E. Shepherd, who always has his weather eye open for additional revenues for the farmers of Idaho. He figures that the consumption of lamb and mutton, too, in this country is due for a marked increase. It is now only 5.4 pounds per capita as against 28 per cent in Australia, 19 in the United Kingdom and so on, most nations higher than the United States. A palatable, healthful food, he is firm in his belief that it will come into constantly increased use, irrespective of price, which is and has been fairly high. He, therefore, advises the farmers to increase their lamb holdings.

We merely pass the thought along. It is not a difficult job to raise lambs in pasture and they bring such a fine income every farmer should be interested. Farming will become more profitable as variety and intensity are practiced. The lamb business, even in a small way, is an addition to variety that spells more ready cash.

Setting Athletic Example

We note that a notable athletic meeting is billed for Boise this month—the Union Pacific employees, engaged in various forms of sport. They have been at it some time in a series of elimination contests and the best teams will compete in the finals. Five hundred athletes are scheduled. The occasion will attract 15 bands to the capital and large crowds of fans. The contests will be keen, the crowds will be interesting and there ought to be enough music with 15 bands; but the final test of success, in our judgment, will be the extent to which popular sentiment may be aroused.

The citizenry that is the most capable is the one that physically sound. No amount of protruding foreheads towering above weak bodies can compensate for rugged bodies supporting even mediocre minds; but the fact is that the strong body is inseparable from the virile mentality.

Senator Borah does not ride horseback frequently only for the thrill of being carried around by a high-spirited animal, but because of the wonderful exercise. Men of affairs in all lines find they can all the better perform their duties if they keep physically fit.

We have a big crop of young people coming up who are deluged with mental exercises. They are forced into enough studies to cause the student of former days to shudder. If they are not properly equipped for physical exercising, and given opportunity for it, they will go to seed.

We trust the Union Pacific athletic meet will stimulate a wider concern for the physical side of our young people and that it will not be so difficult as it has been in the past to secure the means with which to provide them with stronger constitutions.

Lumber Propaganda

The lumber business of Idaho is suffering from several causes. Cement has taken a hard rap at it and now many lumber substitutes are appearing on the market in an effort to put the big tree down for the count. Employees of lumber companies have banded themselves into promotion organizations and are putting out propaganda in behalf of the industry that provides them bread and butter. They are urging us to "use more lumber and help Idaho's prosperity."

Lumbering leads in the list of Idaho manufactures. It provides large payrolls and absorbs immense quantities of foodstuffs and merchandise. It has a legitimate claim on the support of Idaho people. We suffer loss as it does. We hope the movement bears fruit. We ought to be concerned over it as we

Death of W. M. McCrea

This community was deeply shocked to learn of the death of Walter McCrea, which took place last Sunday evening at 7:30, following a major operation performed that morning at a Wallace hospital.

For many years Mr. McCrea conducted a hardware store here opening up a business with his brother, Donald, who died 15 years ago. From that time the business was conducted by Walter McCrea until about five years ago when he closed out and moved to Mullan, which was his home until his death. He was assistant book-keeper of one of the large mining companies there.

During his many years residence here Mr. McCrea was one of the most popular business men in town. He was liked and respected by everyone and was a man of the highest character. He was a genuinely fine gentleman and in his death the people of this community have lost a real friend.

Mr. McCrea is survived by his widow, two sons, Donald and Water, and three brothers.

Funeral services will be held this morning at the Short chapel in Moscow and interment will be made in the Moscow cemetery, where Mr. McCrea's brother, Donald, was buried. Dr. Neil M. Jones, Methodist minister of Moscow, will have charge of the service at the chapel. The Kendrick Masonic lodge will conduct the service at the grave. Mr. McCrea was a member of the local lodge for many years.

Make Sewer Extension

The city council has finished a 200 foot extension at the mouth of the sewer, which empties into Potlatch creek. The change in the channel of the creek made the construction of the extension necessary. The extension is buried at some points eight or ten feet under the creek bed and at the lower end is embedded in a big block of concrete. It is believed that it will withstand any reasonable high water period.

Held Democratic Primary

Kendrick precinct held a democratic primary election at the office of H. P. Hull, last Tuesday. Judges and clerks were H. P. Hull, C. G. Compton, Mrs. Jack Barnes and Mrs. Edgar Long. Eleven ballots were cast. H. P. Hull was elected precinct committeeman and delegate to the county convention. There were no contests on the ticket.

When the south put up an appeal on cotton, urging everyone in the nation to "buy a bale." A lot of Idaho folks did so. Whenever we see this business begin to dwindle we will witness a backward movement. It could not be otherwise with 300 lumber mills in the state, 18,000 employees and an annual payroll of $22,000,000.

Vote

The American Legion is performing a splendid service in calling public attention to the dereliction of citizens in the exercise of the franchise. It is rather disconcerting to read that so many millions of people in this country fail to go to the polls. That is among the high duties of citizenship. If it shall not be performed, democracy will soon tumble into a form of government controlled by a minority.

As governmental problems become more complex the necessity of voters expressing themselves becomes more imperative. Important subjects are involved in these elections, vital principles. In Idaho we have several proposed amendments to the constitution, having in view what all the people want but for which so comparatively few have expressed themselves in the ballot booth in the past—greater efficiency in public service. Results cannot be obtained by merely talking and adopting resolutions. The only effective instrumentality is the ballot box. Every Idahoan should measure up to his full duty as a citizen by using it.—Guy Flenner.

Juliaetta News

Mr. and Mrs. Janes spent Sunday at Washuckna. Mrs. Janes went to visit her mother who is almost ninety years old. She was recently operated on for cancer.

Mrs. Amanda Alexander and son, Ward, Mrs. Eben Adams and son, Keith, and Miss Stump motored to Moscow, Friday. Mrs. Alexander and son returned to Juliaetta but Mrs. Adams, Keith and Miss Stump went to Wallace.

Mrs. M. Nutt went to Lewiston this week to have her tonsils removed. Miss Crystal Otteson went to Lewiston Saturday and brought her home. Mrs. Amanda Alexander and Mrs. S. Gruell accompanied Miss Otteson to Lewiston.

Harold Gruell and Bernard Snyder spent the week end with home folks. They are working at Spangle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walsh and children spent the week end at Spokane.

Lucille Gruell was a passenger to Moscow, Friday.

Amos Nigh and daughter have the measles. A number of our citizens have had them.

Rev. McKee of Walla Walla spoke Sunday night at the Methodist church. He has just returned from the World's Sunday school convention held at Los Angeles, and gave a most interesting talk regarding the convention. On account of the convention being held in America it was only courtesy to the foreign delegates to be given prominent parts on the program, and strange as it may seem only one of the foreign speakers, an old Chinaman, needed an interpreter. They spoke splendid English Mr. McKee stated. A Negro girl from the heart of Africa gave a splendid talk that was a surprise and a delight to the audience of eight thousand people.

A choir of from one thousand to thirteen hundred people furnished splendid music.

Mrs. Crutchfield and Mrs. Welsh leave Tuesday for Yakima.

Mrs. Buchanan, (Grandma Buchanan as we like to call her), left Saturday for Seattle to visit her daughter.

Mrs. Everett Custer and Cecil Gruell were passengers to Spokane, Tuesday morning. Cecil went to have the cast removed from his limb.

Mrs. M. Nutt and daughter Crystal, delightfully entertained a few of their friends Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Chas. Talbot of Potlatch, who is here visiting. A delightful two-course luncheon was spread picnic style on the lawn. Some of the ladies had their fancy work but most of them just visited and enjoyed themselves. Those present were, Mesdames Jones, Cochran, Alexander, Larkin, Talbot, Biddison, Custer, Green, Baune, Houck, Cox, Buchanan, Vanhorn, S. Gruell and Miss Green.

Frank Neal, who has been visiting home folks, went to Potlatch, Tuesday.

Death of W. J. Hoffman

William J. Hoffman, a former resident of this section, passed away at a Lewiston hospital last Sunday morning, death being due to complications incident to old age. He was about 69 years of age and was born in Germany. He first came to Lewiston in 1890 and worked for many years for C. T. Stranahan in north Lewiston.

Mr. Hoffman was better known in this section as "Potlatch Billy". He wrote poetry and was quite a student of English literature. He was a gentleman of fine character and well liked in this section because of his friendly, cheerful disposition.

Rev. Burns Here Sunday

Rev. John S. Burns of Brighton, Colorado, will preach in the Methodist church at a union service Sunday morning at 11 a. m. Rev. Burns was raised in this community and his many friends here will be glad to hear him preach. He is pastor of the first Presbyterian church of Brighton.

The State We Live In

Nowhere in the world, in territory of equal size, is there to be found a more distinctive and interesting group of streams than that formed by the varied rivers that weave their winding ways across the state we live in.

The site of the great temple in Salt Lake City was once 850 feet under water, the valley in which a quarter of a million people now live was then a vast inland sea. Its fresh waters found a shallow outlet over what is now the head of Cache Valley, flowing thence through the Portneuf to the stream later known as the "Lewis River," now the Snake. Rainfall decreased as the ages swept by, the surface of the lake fell below its outlet, its waters became salt and its Molluscan life died out.

There remain to the Snake two principal living sources, one in Idaho, the other in the Yellowstone Park, the latter flowing through Jackson Lake and out of Jackson's Hole through a terrific gash in the Teton Range. These branches unite near the town of Lorenzo at an altitude of 4,800 feet.

The greatest length of the Snake is just under 1,000 miles, four-fifths being in, or on the borders of Idaho. It separates us from Oregon for 100 miles, and from Washington for 30 miles.

From the junction of the two branches to where it leaves the state at Lewiston it falls 4,100 feet, including several abrupt drops. The greatest of these drops is Shoshone Falls, near the city of Twin Falls, which forms one of the most impressive cataracts in the world. A stream over 900 feet wide falls 210 feet, 46 feet farther than Niagara.

Snake River has storage dams at four points, Jackson Lake, Henry's Lake, American Falls, Minidoka. The American Falls dam creates the largest artificial reservoir in the world.

The normal flow of Snake River below Lewiston is about 70,000 cubic feet per second, or 70,000 "second feet." It is navigable for flatbottom steamers up to Lewiston and for smaller power-boats to the mouth of the Grande Ronde, a total of 140 miles. Its outlet at Pasco, Washington, is 340 feet above sea level.

Such is the crooked Snake, with its tail in the Teton, its sinuous curves in Idaho, and its mouth at Pasco.—Byron Deffenbach.

Died From Burns

Tribune: Encircled by a grass fire near wheat fields west of Clarkston Tuesday afternoon, Floyd Derrick, 35, was so severely burned that all clothes were burned off his body and he died later in the evening, about 8:30 o'clock, at St. Joseph's hospital.

Working in a draw alone while the others were fighting the fire in that vicinity, it was not noticed that Mr. Derrick was working alone until he was completely surrounded and it was too late to assist in rescuing him. Derrick had volunteered with others in helping to quell a fire that broke out along the road from a cigarette that had been carelessly tossed aside into the dry grass. The headed flame was noticed at 4 o'clock.

Wheat in the direction of the E. M. Grim ranch was threatened by the spreading flame. Through the efforts of score of men the fire was put out before it reached the wheat. Several acres of stubble of the J. W. Foster and E. M. Grim ranches were burned.

Oppenborns to Kendrick

Lewiston Banner: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Oppenborn and little son have moved to Kendrick, where Mr. Oppenborn will practice law. Coming to Lewiston a year ago, Mr. Oppenborn has rapidly regained his health and is now entirely recovered. He was from North Dakota, and had many years of successful practice there before his health failed. Mr. Oppenborn made many friends during his stay in Lewiston.

Kendrick Precinct Primary Vote

At the republican primary in Kendrick there were 130 votes cast. It was a quiet election with less than the usual interest shown. Charley Summerfield for sheriff led the ticket with 113 votes to his opponent's 13. Following is the vote in detail:

State Senator: Chris A. Hagan, 91. State Representative: A. H. Oversmith, 69; J. A. Harsh, 65. County Commissioner, First District: John Cone, 72; Elmer W. Travis, 21. ## County Returns Incomplete

Incomplete returns in the republican primary race in Latah county, still leave two offices in doubt. With five small precincts still to be heard from the vote is very close between Paulson and Nordby for commissioner of the second district, the latter leading by about 20 votes. For assessor the race is close between Taylor and Ramstedt but unofficial reports figure Taylor to win.

In the first district Cone won over Travis 1021 to 843 with no likelihood that the missing precincts will alter the lead.

In the third district Woody leads according to incomplete returns 817 to 518 for Gemmill and 381 for Walker.

The race for sheriff was a one-sided affair, Summerfield leading Robbins 1321 to 860.

Mrs. King won by a wide margin, returns giving her 1281 to 445 for Miss Dahl.

There were no contests for other offices on the ticket.

The vote over the county was exceedingly light and is estimated at less than half of normal.

Nez Perce County Officers

Following are the figures of the republican primary vote in Nez Perce county with 9 small precincts not listed. It is stated that the missing precincts will not materially change the standing of the various candidates.

Republican Contest—State Senator: M. B. Mikkelsen, 615; O. C. Fodrea, 376; C. A. Hastings, 265. State Representative: Jesse Hoffman, 750; Alex. Kasberg, 665; W. M. Chandler, 484. Attorney: Fred J. Democratic Contest—Sheriff: E. Code, 298; Graves Glenn, 244.

Mrs. Hugh Thompson was taken to a Spokane hospital the first of the week for treatment.

Trip Thru Clearwater Timber

M. Helton, a former resident of Potlatch ridge, now living at Pierce City, writes an interesting account of a trip he made thru the Clearwater timber country.

"I left Pierce July 20, stopping several days with friends near C. T. P. A. Headquarters. From there I walked to the Clearwater Timber Co. Headquarters, took the logging train and with a number of other passengers, rode on the hurricane deck of the tender of Engine No. 91. We headed for Camp 9 on Alder creek, that being as far as the train was going after a load of logs. A few of us continued on foot to Camp 10, which is located on Beaver creek. The elevation there is 3420 feet and it is the terminal of the wagon road. About sixty men were working on the railroad right-of-way. I noticed the men had good quarters in a large bunk house kept in a sanitary condition by an old man who seemed to take an interest in having the rooms kept clean. The table in the dining room was loaded down with plenty of appetizing food and every luxury found in most good hotel dining rooms.

"In and around camp 10 the estimate of saw timber is placed at about 120,000,000 feet, consisting mostly of white pine, some red fir and white fir, spruce and cedar. From this camp trails lead to Brown lookout station and other lookouts.

"From Camp 10 I took the trail for the noted Bertha Hill lookout. Around the base of this hill is a fine body of large white pine, mostly large, tall trees. They are magnificent in stature. The trail leads up and along the sunny side of the hill to the station at the top. The upper part or crown of the hill has been burnt off some years ago and the underbrush has covered it. Many huckleberry patches are found on the plateau at the crest of the hill. The tower or lookout is 35 or 40 feet high, allowing a clear view of surrounding country. From this point you can trace the Clearwater and Orogrande rivers by the high, gray stone covered hills along the winding canyons. The elevation is 6,500 feet.

"Henry Wait is in charge of this station with four men under him. They have a bunk house, warehouse and cookhouse located about 300 feet below the crest, where a clear, cold spring flows out of the hill. They have a spring house with deep trough inside to keep their supplies during the warm weather.

"I left on another trail that leads down to Camp 7, which is 5 1/2 miles. A mile and a half beyond this is Camp 6. There are about 50 men at Camp 7 and 100 at Camp 6.

"From Camp 6 I took the upper deck of the engine that headed a train of cars loaded with logs, back to headquarters. I arrived at 6:30 at headquarters on Reeds creek, returning to Pierce 12 miles south. It will pay anyone who enjoys beautiful scenery and the wonders of God's handiwork to take this trip thru the mountains."

Teachers for Next Year

The local board of trustees has completed its list of teachers for the coming school year and it is believed that a very good year is in prospect. An extra teacher was added to high school so that there will be four to handle the various departments. This will allow additional subjects to be added and give a splendid four-years' accredited course.

C. M. Beardsley of Quincy, Wash., has been elected superintendent. He has had wide experience in school work and school management. He will be assisted in high school by Wm. Jarvis, principal; Miss Edna Ledbetter and Mrs. Wm. Jarvis.

The grades will be in charge of Miss Mary Weaver, seventh and eighth; Miss Namie Weaver, fifth and sixth; Miss Grace Dille of Rupert, Idaho, third and fourth; Mrs. Ralph Knepper, primary.

School will start in the Kendrick district Monday, September 10th.

Letter From Arizona

Bisbee, Arizona, July 29, 1928
I take this opportunity to greet all of our old friends and neighbors. Time certainly flies, because it will soon be four years since we left Crescent.

This time of the year I recall as harvest time, while everyone is busy over there, however there is no harvest here at this time of the year. Our rainy season has just begun, although most of the farming is done by irrigation, and where there are no means for irrigation the farmer is out of luck, because it is too expensive to have the water pumped from wells.

Bisbee is situated seven miles from the Mexican border. Bisbee is a mining town and produces mainly copper, some gold, silver, zinc and lead. If you ever see Bisbee you will never forget it because it is different. We are surrounded by barren mountains. They are desolate looking except during the rainy season when they become green and look wonderful.

My opinion of Arizona is that it is wonderful, especially in the evening, the air very clear, and the stars seem so much closer. The all-year-round climate cannot be compared. From health's standpoint Arizona is a state where any one can gain if he meets the other requirements for health.

Arizona has some of the most scenic places in the United States. Anyone planning on a long trip wouldn't be sorry if he came to Arizona. Arizona is not wild west or home of the cowboy, it is a very modern state.

Everything is quiet now in Bisbee, probably due to the presidential election drawing near. Hurrah for Hoover!
Hoping all is well there in Idaho.

Mrs. J. E. Long; Box 65,
Warren, Arizona.

May Improve Water System

At the last meeting of the town council, held last Tuesday evening, the matter of having six inch main from the reservoir to Main street, was discussed. At the present time there is only a 3-inch main to supply the town with fire protection. Insurance rates would be lowered substantially if the larger main were installed. If the cost is not too great, the work may be started this fall, as there is believed to be sufficient money in the water fund to bear cost of construction.

Threshing is well under way in this section and the farmers are getting some pleasant surprises in the matter of grain yields. Fall wheat on the W. A. Keeney place went nearly 25 bushels. Some fields of fall wheat on the extreme lower end of the ridges, look like 30 bushels or better.—Troy News.
