

JUST IDAHO

Comparison

By contrasts at times may we arrive at satisfactory conclusions. For example, California has 16 times as many motor vehicles as Idaho and 9 times as much population, also a much heavier tourist travel, but the California receipts from the gas tax is only about four times as much as that in this state—$8,500,000 to around $2,000,000 here for the year. That shows that we have a live population. A dead one does not move much.

Anyway you figure it, Idaho, with only half a million people, compares favorably in its activities. We have every reason to have the fullest faith in each other and the highest confidence in our state.

It has been so from the beginning. As one of the arid states, Idaho went to the front in reclamation. Its attitude, and the spirit of the people, were responsible to a considerable degree for the introduction of big capital for transportation and communication lines and for industrial development. It leaped to the forefront in agricultural production. It entered the auto age with a bang.

Now it is in the van as to aviation—plans not complete but outlined and being carried out as rapidly as possible. A number of Idaho towns have airports that are being rapidly improved. The one in Boise when enlarged and equipped as proposed, will compare favorably with any in the west and all other leading points in Idaho will shortly be on a par in that connection with the Capitol city. Every live town must be on the aviation map. When you range the spirit and progressiveness of Idaho—people alongside that of the population of any other state, not many are looking over their heads.

And Idaho has only got a good start. Remember this, the next few years will witness an advance here that will tear the moss from the backs of the heaviest bearers of cryptogamous growth we have in our midst.

The Bill

We paid $9.67 per capita last year for the operation and maintenance of the general departments of Idaho. The total revenues were $15.37 per capita. The difference was represented in the total spent for interest on bonds and permanent improvements, which does not count against our administrators because wiping out debt from which we had received benefits and increasing our assets. At that the $9.67 a head is plenty because it comes largely from real estate and invested capital, both of which are saddled with quite enough. We must find other sources of taxation, apparently, for we cannot go backward in improvements as a public institution any more than private or corporate concerns may do so without bringing about heavy losses. Our schools, our highways, etc., must be maintained. The bill will be greater as time goes on because the demand for betterments and for a higher degree of maintenance will continue with any progressive people. But two or three classes of property cannot justly be forced to eternally carry the whole load. There must be fresh names and new lists on the tax rolls. Something of the kind will undoubtedly be attempted by the next legislature, and if it shall not turn to outright Socialistic fallacies, and take from one pocket to fill another, but shall confine innovation to business-like practice that will relieve the ones now paying the big end of the bill, it will have produced a blessing. The other course would saddle a curse upon the state and furnish ultimate relief to none.—Guy Flenner.

The friends of Elbert Kuykendahl were glad to see him around town this week. He is now able, by the aid of crutches, to walk from his home to the business district. He is gaining strength rapidly after his long illness.

Cougar Attacks Woman

Mrs. Helen Hoffnagle, 27, who resides in a road construction camp between Emida and St. Maries, was so severely clawed by a cougar Monday night that nearly 20 stitches were necessary to close the gaping wounds in her left shoulder and breast.

The family lives in a tent house and their attention was attracted by the labored breathing of a tethered pet goat. Seizing a rifle Mrs. Hoffnagle advanced in the darkness only to be repulsed by the big cat. The woman backed away until she ran into a large stove in the yard. The cougar sprang upon her as she was attempting to use the rifle.

The husband seized another gun and went to his wife's aid. He fired one shot that had no effect, then administered first aid. Dr. D. E. Cornwall dressed the injured woman's wounds and she was taken home. According to Game Warden Hugh M. Wooster, cougars have been reported in the district, but this is the first instance known of one having attacked humans.

City Bot Water Pipe

The city council closed a deal the first of the week for 1548 feet of six inch water pipe to be used for new main from the reservoir to Main Street. This will replace the three inch main which is now used. The pipe was secured for 79 cents a foot. This low price was obtained because of the fact that the company is supplying nearly two carloads of pipe for Lewiston and a big saving in freight was made by having Kendrick's pipe come with this shipment.

The council plans to have the pipe installed either this fall or early next spring, depending on the condition of the ground for ditching.

Hear John Burns Preach

A large congregation assembled for both the morning and evening service at the Methodist church last Sunday to hear Rev. John S. Burns preach. Mr. Burns spent his boyhood days on the farm now owned by Rev. A. E. Janes. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Brighton, Colorado, which is near Denver. He preached two very fine sermons which were greatly appreciated by the congregation.

Road to Happiness

My son, remember you have to work. Whether you handle a pick or wheelbarrow, or set of books, dig ditches or edit a newspaper ring the auction bell or write funny things, you must work. Don't be afraid of killing yourself by overwork on the sunny side of 30. Men die sometimes, but it is because they quit at 6 p. m. and don't go home until 2 a. m. It's the intervals that kill, my son. The work gives you appetite for your meals; it lends solitude to your slumber; it gives you a perfect appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, but the country is not proud of them. It does not even know their names; it only speaks of them as "Oh So-and-Sos boys". Nobody likes them; the great busy world doesn't know they are here. So find out what you want to be and do. Take off your coat and make dust in the world. The busier you are, the less harm you are apt to get into, the sweeter will be your sleep; the brighter your holidays, and the better satisfied the whole world will be with you.—Exchange.

Bitten by Dog

George Finke, son of Rev. Finke of Southwick, was bitten by a dog, Wednesday, receiving severe lacerations to his upper lip, nose and below one eye. He was brought to Kendrick where Dr. Morehead dressed the injuries. It required five stitches to close the torn upper lip. There was no indication that the dog had rabies. He became cross while the boy was playing with him.

Funeral Service Held Friday

Funeral service for Walter M. McCrea, who died at Mullan, Idaho, August 5, was held at the Short chapel in Moscow last Friday morning at 10:30. Dr. Neil M. Jones, pastor of the Methodist church of Moscow conducted the service at the chapel and the Kendrick Masonic lodge officiated at the grave.

Interment was made in the Moscow cemetery beside the grave of his brother, Donald McCrea. The pallbearers were George P. Barnum, Clarence Fry, Wade Keene, John L. Woody, George Davidson and G. F. Walker.

Relatives present at the funeral were Mrs. McCrea and two sons, Donald and Walter; two brothers, Robert and Linn McCrea and a nephew, William McCrea of Coeur d'Alene, a niece, Mrs. B. E. Tardie of Clarkston; four of Mrs. McCrea's sisters, Mrs. Claud Stanton of Pierce, Idaho, Mrs. Harry Shaffer of Everett, Wash., Mrs. S. E. Marker of Coeur d'Alene, Mrs. Clyde Helm of Schofield, Honolulu; Mrs. McCrea's brother, James of Lewiston.

Juliaetta Melons First Class

A tourist passing through Juliaetta Saturday was asked to state the most interesting thing he observed while spending a few hours in our village. He said: "That can be told in four words, namely: Juliaetta watermelons are ripe." Continuing he said:

"The watermelons grown in Juliaetta approach nearer to the quality in flavor and sugar content than any melons I have found since I left the southern States."

While the quality of melons grown at Juliaetta this season will be fully up to the high standard of other years, the quantity to be offered will be considerably less than usual. The acreage planted this season is less than usual, and the extremely hot weather, which continued for a long period, prevented the melons from "setting" on the vines.

Death of Dr. Smith

Dr. Smith of Juliaetta passed away at his home yesterday morning at 5:30 after an illness covering some time. Funeral services will be held at the Brower-Wann chapel at Lewiston, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Dr. Smith is survived by his widow and one child. His mother was also at his bedside when death came. He was well known in the Lewiston country having practiced medicine at several towns in the surrounding territory during the past few years.

No Car Shortage

All railroads within the Inland Empire are prepared to handle the heavy grain and fruit crops which are being harvested this season, according to information from the railway offices.

"There has been no car shortage for four years and will be none this year for either the grain or fruit crops," said J. M. Doyle, Great Northern superintendent. "The grain crop will be about an average and the first shipments will probably be the largest we ever have handled. This is true of Wenatchee, Spokane, Colville, Okanogan, Snake river and all other districts."

Win Tennis Match

R. H. Ramey and J. G. Gardner went to Moscow last Sunday and played a match game of tennis with Mr. Farhenwald and Frank Candee, two of the best players in Moscow. The Moscow men took the first set 7-5 and Kendrick took the next two 7-5 and 6-1. A return match is expected here some time in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Peterson and children of Lewiston spent the week end at the home of Attorney and Mrs. Oppenborn. Mr. Peterson is auditor of the Camas Prairie railroad company

The State We Live In

"Every river has its individuality, its great silent interest, its influence over the people who live within sight of its waters." (Scott's "The Sowers.")

The Kootenai has its sources in the Canadian Rockies, and flowing through Northwestern Montana reaches the line of Boundary county, Idaho, near the town of Leonai. It has characteristics which distinguish it from any other stream in the United States, one of which is its marked variation in fall.

From its source to Bonners Ferry much of it is a rapid and violent stream, but from that point across the northern line and to the Canadian lakes it falls only 6 feet in 128 winding miles. The peculiarity of riverbed, combined with a narrow outlet at the Lakes, results in extremely high water in the spring freshets. The valley containing this almost stagnant stretch is wide and low and filled by the floods of past ages with a soil of great depth and fertility. Much of the flat is being reclaimed by dikes.

The highest water in the known history of the Kootenai was in June, 1894, when the stream rose some 35 feet and Canadian measurements show a discharge of 201,000 second feet. The volume of such a current is hard to comprehend.

Imagine a ball of water, over 70 feet in diameter, rolling down a street between six-story buildings; would just about fit. Picture a string of such balls passing by, one every second, moving 48 miles per hour.

Such a flood would fill the American Falls reservoir, the largest artificially impounded lake in the world, to its fullest capacity, in less than 5 days.

The Upper Kootenai and its tributary are typical western trout streams; the big slow-flowing stretch contains few food fishes except the sturgeon, a sluggish and repulsive bottom-feeder frequently weighing as much as 300 pounds.

Long reaches of the Kootenai are navigable for steamers of considerable size. The stream leaves Idaho at the state's narrowest point and proceeds through the Kootenai and Arrow Lakes in Canada to the Columbia.

It is a river to be amazed at, and to be proud of.—Byron Defenbach.

A Splendid Wheat Yield

Genesee News: One of the best yields reported thus far for this season was on the Edgar Evans farm, down on the rim. Mr. Evans threshed 100 acres of Riddit wheat, getting 4,700 bushels from the 100. Some of the grain had been cut earlier for hay—making the yield 47 bushels to the acre, good and strong. It graded No. 1. A record that beats the one just hung up, by Roy Evans, who threshed 140 acres Moss-Ida wheat that yielded 7,200 bushels, or a little better than 51½ bushels per acre and which graded No. 1.

Other wheat is coming in at the elevators but not enough has been threshed to date to get a line-up on the yield.

Very little smut has been encountered thus far—not enough to make any difference in the grade of any wheat received up to this time.

Held Fast Wrestling Match

The wrestling match held last Tuesday evening at the local theatre between Mervin Barackman and Bill Mielke, was a fast exhibition. Mr. Barackman is said to be the former middleweight champion of the middle west, while Bill Mielke is a local man who Kendrick fans think is away above the ordinary amateur wrestler.

Barackman had a standing offer of 60 per cent of the gate receipts for any man who could stay with him 45 minutes. He took the first fall in 32 minutes. Mielke took the second fall in four minutes with a toe hold. Barackman says that Mielke is one of the best men he has met in this part of the country.

A finish match will be held here Wednesday, August 29.

Mrs. Herres Entertains

Mrs. L. J. Herres entertained at a prettily appointed one o'clock luncheon, Monday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. R. D. Newton, formerly of Kendrick, but now of Cheney, Wash. Mrs. Newton was the house guest of Mrs. A. K. Carlson from Friday to Tuesday. Mrs. Herres served a delicious "Dutch" luncheon, after which talley cards, carrying out the same idea, were passed and the guests played bridge for the afternoon, with highest honors going to Mrs. MacPherson and consolation to Mrs. Newton. The honor prize was a set of Dutch bowls while the recipient of the consolation was given a can of Old Dutch Cleanser to "brighten up."

The honor guest was given a blue and white linen unch cloth, as guest prize. Those enjoying the luncheon and the pleasant afternoon at bridge were: Mesdames. Boyd, N. E. Walker, H. Thomas, Carroll, MacPherson, McKeever, W. Thomas, Emery, Watts, Leith, Newton, Knepper, Carlson, Gardner, Ramey and Herres.

Tree Is Bloomin' Again

Troy News: Her is a peculiar story about a pear tree growing in N. R. Shepherd's orchard. This tree bloomed at the usual time in the spring, and set on a small crop of pears which are now nearing maturity. Some two months ago it bloomed again, and from these blooms set on an abundant crop, which have made a fine growth and will have time to ripen before frost catches them. Now that tree is blooming. The only way we can explain this tree's behavior is that John Rausch has a lot of ever bearing strawberries growing in this orchard, and the tree has acquired the habit of continuous blooming from them.

Uncle Knew Everything

A little boy from Canada who had never seen a negro was riding with his uncle in New York when he saw a colored lady. "Why does the woman black her face?" he asked his uncle. "That's her natural color," said the uncle. "Is she black like that all over?" "Yes," said the uncle. "Gee, uncle," said the lad admiringly, "you know everything, don't you."

Fireproof Barns to Cut Immense Farm Fire Loss

Savings of thousands of dollars in buildings and valuable cattle herds destroyed every year in the United States by disastrous fires may be accomplished in a few years by means of the fireproof barn, described in the Farm and Fireside Magazine.

"Ancestral barns that can be passed on from father to son and on to the next generation" are likely as a result of successful construction of such a fireproof barn at the Iowa State college experiment station, says the magazine.

"If this type of barn proves as successful as it now appears to be it will be possible to do this thing at an expense not exceeding the cost of frame construction by more than 25 to 50 per cent," it continues.

The new type of barn is called a masonry arch barn, which, as the name reveals, is made entirely of masonry and with the upper story in the form of an arch. It is built of tile with reinforced concrete floors and reinforced concrete ribs in the roof. Since it is made entirely of masonry there will be no expense in keeping it painted with the exception of the windows and door frames. Made of construction material that is noncombustible this building would retard a fire to such an extent as to prevent destruction and it would also enable live stock in it to be removed safely."

Alfalfa Quite Popular Roughage for Dairy Cow

There are many roughages that might be used in furnishing dairy cattle with the necessary bulky food. Since roughage is usually the least expensive part of the ration, large amounts should be fed as is consistent with good results.

Roughages vary in numbers depending upon the geographic location of the particular dairymen. Each sector has its own roughages which it uses to good advantage.

Alfalfa hay has become one of the most popular roughages and is the best hay for dairy cattle because it is very nutritious, contains more mineral matter and protein than any other hay, is palatable and serves as a laxative. This particular hay is excellent when fed in the green state, but does not stand pasturing. As for silage, it is very good providing it is allowed to wilt before putting it into the silo. Alfalfa should not be made into silage if the weather condition permits making it into hay and other crops can be used for the silo.

Installation Plan Old

The system of purchasing on the installment plan can be traced back to antiquity. Crassus, a contemporary of Julius Caesar, is said to have made a fortune by building houses outside of Rome and selling them on the installment plan. The present system is known to have existed a century ago. It was during the last decade that tremendous expansion in sales and industries in installment buying occurred.

Butter and Ash Wood

In some parts of Britain, to make sure that the butter will not be bewitched, it is usual to make the churn-staff of ash, and for the same reason herd-boys use an ash-stick for driving cattle. In like manner the Cornish peasant, in dread of the evil eye twines an ash-twig round his cow's horns.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF THE KENDRICK HIGHWAY DISTRICT.

Financial statement and comment, of auditors report of July 1, 1928, by Byron Defenbach & Sons, for Kendrick highway district.

"The financial condition of your district is in excellent shape. Much credit is due your board for the way your district affairs have been handled since the organization of the district. You have recently centralized the management of your highway district and instead of having overseers in each road district this work is being done by your secretary. We believe this will prove a big saving to your district as all your equipment will be in charge of one man instead of scattered over the district and handled by several overseers. Your board should be commended very highly for the economical and businesslike way you have handled the district affairs.

We recommend you do as much of your road work as you can by the "Pay as you go plan", so that your financial affairs can be kept in the same excellent condition they are now in."

The Cleanest Fuel

Slender copper wires bring this fuel into your home. From their outlets comes the heat which bakes your bread, broils the meats and fries other foods. From their outlets comes the power which operates your refrigerators to preserve foods and freeze delicacies. From their outlets comes the energy which illuminates the entire house and puts the glow in the radio tubes.

Wires bring this comforting agent into your home. After it is used there are no ashes, no residue, no soot or smoke. Electricity is the cleanest fuel.

Easy to transport, easy to measure and easy to use, Electricity is the wonder of modern civilization. Yet it is within the means of all -- its cost is negligible compared to other costs of living.

Calcium Arsenate Is Efficient for Bugs

One of Best Poisons to Eradicate's Potato Beetle.

Calcium arsenate, familiarly known as an efficient poison for the control of the cotton boll weevil, is also one of the best poisons for the common potato bug or Colorado potato beetle. "Calcium arsenate is the cheapest poison that potato growers can use at the present time for the control of the Colorado potato beetle," says O. H.

Brannon, extension entomologist at the North Carolina State college.

"Those who grow potatoes know that this insect can completely destroy the plants in a short while if no control measure is used. Calcium arsenate may be used either as a dust or as a spray and is absolutely effective if properly applied."

In using the material as a dust, Mr. Brannon advises that the potato plants be covered well. The amount to use will depend on the size of the plants and the material may be applied satisfactorily if the regular cotton dusters are used. There is little danger of burning the foliage, but too much poison should not be used for the sake of economy. Recent tests show that good control is secured by this method of poisoning. However, it should be kept in mind that the arsenate is not a control for plant diseases but for insects alone.

If desired, a spray may be made by using two pounds of the calcium arsenate to 50 gallons of water. For the grower with only a small acreage, a spray may be prepared by using ten tablespoonfuls to three gallons of water.

In any event, the applications of either dust or spray should be started as soon as the beetles appear in numbers and should be continued just as often as the beetles become numerous.

Progressive Village

Llanuwchllyn claims that it is the most up-to-date village in Wales, for it is run entirely by electricity. Every cottage is provided with electric light, cookers and labor-saving devices. The power station is a wooden hut on the mountainside.

Married Men Know

Scientists claim that a woman's brain will retain impressions made upon it longer than a man's. Every married man will agree with him, and if there are any who doubt the statement just do something which she believes you should not do and count the number of years it will be before she ceases to mention the fact.—Arlington (Ore.) Bulletin.
