JUST IDAHO

By Guy Flenner

A Glance Behind and a Hope

We are looking backward on irrigation projects now more than forward. The governmental policy turns against new undertakings for the most part at least until those under way have been completed, ample water has been provided for going concerns and the fear of overproduction has vanished.

This glance is cleared by a finely illustrated booklet just received giving details of the trip of Secretary of the Interior Work and party to Idaho in 1925, winding up an inspection of western irrigation projects.

We are reminded of the long campaign to put over the financing of the American Falls reservoir project and of the wonderful celebration in the old townsite, now the bed of an artificial lake, on July 13, 1925, when upwards of 20,000 people crowded the town of 1200 normal population to join in an enthusiastic dedication of the dam and to give further evidence of their faith in the future of irrigated Idaho.

The completion of that dam was the culmination of the long deferred and highest hope of the great Snake river valley—the aorta of physical south Idaho, as the mines and timber belts are of the north.

There is an active demand, and a real requirement, for additional water storage facilities. It will be met in time. Many Idahoans, no doubt, will look forward to it with as little optimism as they did 25 years ago when the picture of today's reclamation was flashed. There are some, however, who have the acute vision and the unbounded confidence. These will keep pounding away as they have in the past—many of them in the humble walks of life, others of influence and with sufficient of this world's goods as to render them immune from the effects of success or failure of such enterprises—groups seeking neither notoriety or credit, but patiently loyal to reclamation and to their state, and, as a rule, those least benefitted personally.

They have been effective because persistent and consistent and they seek no higher reward than consciousness of a duty done and the evidence of a greater Idaho in part from their efforts.

With relation to the further development of all our great resources, what may not be the results when a similar spirit is evidenced?

Here's To Our Health

Some places may be the best to die in, but Idaho is one of the best places in this country in which to live.

The state has the lowest death rate in the nation—7.1 per thousand.

California, boastful of climate, has among the highest percentages, nearly double that of Idaho. We do not state this invidiously, but merely as a fact.

A gratifying consideration is that Idaho's death rate has somewhat decreased in the last decade. Year-round this state's climate cannot be bested anywhere.

The Bidding of Biddy

Pren Moore, Idaho's chief henologist, knows his eggs. So does Biddy. She produced fifty million of them in Idaho during 1928, with a net return of more than a million dollars, according to Moore.

Mrs. Hen is still bidding for favor. Of her Idaho product, more than 300 carloads were shipped last year, mostly to New York, besides unrecorded truck loads, to Spokane, etc. She has proven her value along with Mrs. Cow and has again demonstrated the wisdom of compact shipments as against bulky commodities.

No reasonable freight rate, for example, would make shipment of hay profitable, but both the producer and the carrier can make money through condensed

Dairying Increasing in Idaho

Out of every dollar paid by consumers of butter manufactured by one cooperative creamery in Idaho 89 cents are returned to producers of butter fat, members of the association. This is believed to be a world's record. Costs of marketing, freight charges, overhead and general outlay for manufacture all amount to only 11 cents. Starting operations less than five years ago, this creamery, by December 31, will have manufactured in excess of 3,000,000 pounds of butter in 1928. Other similar institutions in Idaho, all organized since 1921, have done almost equally as well.

Dairying in Idaho has worn the fabled seven-league boots in recent years if one may judge by the tremendous strides the industry has made. In 1921 the state shipped a total of 159 cars of milk products, eggs and poultry. In 1927 the movement was 1410 cars. The present year will show even greater figures, for from January 1 to November 1, 1928, the loading aggregated 1199 cars.

In 1921 only 49 cars of butter were shipped. For 1927 the movement was 547 cars. There were 85 cars of cheese shipped in 1921 compared with 421 cars in 1927. 13 cars of eggs in 1921 and 219 in 1927, 12 cars of poultry in 1921 and 196 cars in 1927. No industrial development in Idaho in recent years has been as marked as that of dairying and its allied industries and none has been more profitable to those engaged as producers in the industry.

The prediction made some years ago by J. L. Kraft of the Kraft Cheese Company that Idaho would eventually take rank among the foremost dairy states of the Union is being rapidly fulfilled. Mr. Kraft made this prophecy when he headed a party of distinguished experts brought to Idaho by Governor D. W. Davis in 1921. His fellow specialists agreed with him.

Since that time, in conjunction with the agricultural extension department of the University of Idaho, and the state department of agriculture the Union Pacific System has operated special dairy trains throughout the territory it serves in southern Idaho. These trains have carried examples of every breed of high class dairy animals, so that first hand demonstrations of their value could be given. They have also carried experts from state institutions to give the interested public the fullest possible information as to the industry.

The results, as shown by the statistics covering shipments, have far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of those who pioneered this march towards prosperity for Idaho. That the business of dairying, with its collateral industries of poultry and eggs, will continue to expand is not doubted by those familiar with its inception a few years ago and its progress between 1921 and 1928.

To Honor The Tabers

A delightful watch party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Emery, Monday evening, when a few friends got together to spend the evening with Rev. and Mrs. Taber, who are visiting here from Othello, Wash. Games, music, jolly conversation and readings, along with delicious refreshments made the evening pass all too quickly. The party broke up with all wishing the Tabers a happy and successful New Year.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. Taber, Rev. and Mrs. Franklin and family, Prof. and Mrs. Beardsley, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Foster, Mr. H. B. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Emery and family.

Idaho dairy and poultry products are always in demand. Wise men on the farm are giving them more and more thought. They are of the class that always has money and credit.

Death of Sam Bowers

Sam Bowers, well known thruout the Potlatch section, passed away last Friday, December 28, at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. O. C. Aiken. He had been failing in health for some time and due to his advanced age, little hope was held out for his recovery.

Mr. Bowers was born near Quebec, Canada, March 31, 1842. He came to this country in 1854, locating in New York. From there he came west by ox team as far as Montana, in 1861. Two years later he was married at Missoula to Josephine Bolon. In 1877 they moved to Oregon and in 1881 to Washington. In 1895 they came to Bear ridge where they engaged in farming for a number of years.

Mr. Bowers is survived by five daughters. Four sons preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held in the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Lester Taber having charge of the service. Burial was made in the Kendrick cemetery with the local Oddfellow lodge officiating. Mr. Bowers had been a member of this order for 50 years.

Entertains Bridge Club

Mrs. L. J. Herres most delightfully entertained the Afternoon Bridge Club at a Christmas party, Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30.

The Herres home was tastefully decorated with Christmas emblems, a beautiful tree and softly shaded lights, in the holiday colors. The dainty refreshments served by Mrs. Herres and daughter, Eleanor, also carried out the color scheme.

After the close of the bridge playing the hostess announced that the scores were not to be totaled and every guest was presented with an attractive gift from the Christmas tree.

The club members present were Mesdames, Carlson, Carroll, MacPherson, Leith, Helpman, Boyd, H. Thomas and Herres. Guests of the club were: Mesdames, McKeever, Morehead, Watts and Knepper.

Peterson-Mathison

Alvin Mathison and Miss Frances W. Peterson of Deary were married December 26 at Moscow. They were given a charivari at the home of the bride's parents, Sunday evening, and everyone was given a nice treat.

Mrs. Mathison is a sister of Mrs. Joe Clemenhagen and is well known here.

They will make their home in Deary, where the groom is employed by the Potlatch Lumber company.

Mrs. Ladora Seeley Passes

Mrs. Ladora Seeley, pioneer resident of the Central Ferry region and a former resident of the Teakean community, passed away last Saturday. Funeral services were held at the Brower-Wann chapel in Lewiston, Monday at one o'clock. The service was in charge of the Rev. H. N. Dukes of the Congregational church. Interment was made in the Normal Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Seeley formerly resided near Teakean at the home of her son, E. K. Grayson. She was well known in that section.

Hog Thieves Busy

Farmers were warned to be on the lookout for hog thieves who are believed to be operating in this section with trucks. Some time ago stock thieves with trucks were reported to be operating in eastern Oregon. It is possible that some of them have come to Idaho as Sunday night the hog lot of M. Grandquist, well known farmer of the Tenon county, was entered and one of his best hogs killed and dressed in the lot. From tracks left by the truck it was learned that the animal had been loaded into the truck or removal from the property.

Council Met Last Tuesday

The town council met last Tuesday evening in regular monthly session with Chairman Walker, Trustees Deobald, Damarelland Schupfer present. On account of illness Trustee Raby was absent.

The matter of increasing the fire and building limits in Kendrick was discussed and action will probably be taken at the next regular meeting. It is recommended by the Idaho Surveying and Rating Bureau that the entire town be taken into the fire and building limits. If this action is taken, it will become necessary to secure a permit from the fire and building committee of the local council, before erecting a building of any description.

A communication was received from Miss Linda Hamley of Spokane in which she offered to sell her residence property for the sum of $100. The building is located east of Silvie Cook's residence and is considered a dangerous fire hazard as it is in a bad state of repair. The board passed a motion accepting the offer. As soon as the deal is completed the material in the building will be offered for sale, providing the building is torn down within a specified time.

Other routine business was disposed of after which the meeting adjourned.

He Was Silenced

A certain citizen of North Dakota, blind to the advantages of prohibition, has frequently had articles in some of the newspapers of the state, in which he dilated on the wonderful prosperity of Canada under government control, and bewailed the ruin that had come to North Dakota farmers as the result of the dry law. He always signed himself the owner of 20,000 acres of North Dakota land.

It happened that the president of the state Woman's Christian Temperance Union and her husband own a section of land in government-controlled Alberta. This well known white ribboner in answering, in a North Dakota paper, one of the gentleman's articles discrediting prohibition offered to trade with him, acre for acre, the land in Canada she and her husband owned for his North Dakota property.

Here was a chance for the enthusiast for the Canadian system to take advantage of the prosperity (?) that follows in its wake and exchange his property in poor prohibition-ridden (?) North Dakota for the same amount in Alberta. Did he accept the offer? Needless to say he did not. After that he refrained from making any contributions to the press derogatory to prohibition! He was effectively silenced.—The Union Signal.

Death of Sam Kingsbury

Samuel Kingsbury, age 35, passed away at his home near Gifford at an early hour Monday morning, death being due to flu-pneumonia. He had been engaged in farming in that region for the past ten years and prior to that time farmed on American ridge. He is well known in this locality. He is survived by his widow and four children.

Trifling Encumbrance

Mrs. Mack: "I'm bothered with a little wart that I'd like to have removed."

Dr. Williams: "The divorce lawyer is at the second door to your left."—Kitty Kat.

A Correction

A newspaper man published in his paper, "Half the city council are idiots." Threatened with a libel suit, he consulted a lawyer who advised him to retract, so he published in his paper the next day this retraction: "Half the city council are not idiots."—Ex.

Mrs. Dave Gentry has gone to Missouri for an extended visit with relatives.

Death of Mrs. Mitcham

Mrs. J. I. Mitcham, who for many years resided near Kendrick, passed away at Newport, Wash., after an illness covering a period of two years. Death was due to cancer and bronchial asthma. She had been cared for at the Newport hospital, where her husband was also quite ill with influenza.

Funeral services were held at Newport on Wednesday morning, January 2, at 10 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitcham were well known in this locality. Mr. Mitcham carried the mail out of Kendrick on Route No. 1 for nearly 20 years. He and his wife moved from here about 8 years ago to Tiger, Wash., where they bought a ranch. J. I. is a veteran of the Civil War and is getting pretty well up in years.

Julietta Citizen Passes

August Hain passed away at his home near Julietta last Saturday noon, at the age of 85 years. He had been afflicted with Bright's disease for some time and about 10 days prior to his death he contracted influenza. His weakened condition, together with his advanced age, could not survive the attack of influenza.

Mr. Hain was born in Germany. In 1868 he and his wife immigrated to the United States, first settling at Salem, Oregon. There they remained until they moved to Julietta twenty years ago, in 1908. They have since resided there.

Mr. Hain was an expert vineyardist, and for many years he kept a small vineyard in the lower Julietta, and from the sale of grapes and garden truck the Hains made a good living.

Mr. and Mrs. Hain had no children. Mrs. Hain, who survives her late husband, is sick and with influenza.

Mr. Hain's body was taken to Pomeroy, Washington, for burial. Rev. Otto G. Ehlen, having charge of the service.

Tax the Loafer.

Theoretically, the perfect tax would be a tax on inaction. The proper man to tax would be the loafer, not the worker; idle land, not used land; inactive capital, not active capital; lack of enterprise, not enterprise. Such a tax would not be practical, but it would be a just tax. Our present taxes are based on an opposite theory. We tax thrift, action, capital, enterprise. We levy taxes in proportion to ability to pay, which means that the harder a man works the more we tax him; the more thrifty he becomes, the more we soak him; the more efficient he grows, the more we knock him down. If a man saves his money and buys a house, he is taxed; if he wastes his money in extravagant living, he is not taxed. None of our taxes encourage production by the simple process of discouraging idleness, shiftlessness, inefficiency. The devil himself could not do a neater job of hobbling the race.—Wisconsin Journal.

Okokes Entertained

The members of the okoke club were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Knepper, last Monday evening, at a bridge supper. Miss Adria Woods of Albion, Wash., who was visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Morehead, was a guest of the club. After the supper hour bridge was enjoyed until the advent of the New Year.

Kendrick Wins and Loses

The Troy town team came down to Kendrick Thursday evening last week and were defeated in a game of basket ball by the Kendrick town team, the final score being 16 to 13. The following evening the locals went to Troy and were defeated by the Trojans by a score of 19 to 17. Both games were fast and close enough to be very interesting.

THE STATE WE LIVE IN

By Byron Defenbach

The State We Live In

Much of the present soil of Idaho is underlaid with strata of lava anciently poured out of great fissures, the successive layers in some places totaling several thousand feet in thickness. Sometimes a flood of this fiery mineral paint would cool enough to permit a little soil to gather before the Great Artist spread on another coat. The liquid flowed deepest into the valley and frequently filled up river channels. Thus it dammed the ancient Snake below Weiser, and lakes resulted reaching to the foot of the Tetons on our eastern border.

Several processes combined to dry these lakes up. There were slow uplifts, streams deposited sediments, dust fell, while the Snake carried off the overflow, running over or beside its ancient channel and gradually cutting thru the lava dam down to its present tremendous depth below Huntington.

Salmon River dug a similar gorge. Between the rivers and near their confluence there remained a huge uplifted ridge over 9,000 feet high. Smaller streams and glaciers cut this ridge into a series of rugged peaks now known as

The Seven Devils

This district lies in Adams and Idaho counties and constitutes perhaps the most rugged mountain section in the United States. The roughness of the country is shown by the courses of smaller streams. Wildhorse and Crooked Creeks run close and parallel to each other for over 10 miles, but in exactly opposite directions. Several creeks flow into the Snake pointing up stream at sharp angles and with terrific fall.

These mountains are an extension of the Sawtooth and like them are full of lakes; their streams abound with trout. Black Lake is conceded to be one of the most beautiful glacial basins in the world. It flows thru Rapid River into the Little Salmon at the old town of Pollock, on the North and South highway just south of Riggins. From this place the tourists can see three of the Devils almost over his head, up the valley of the rushing brook. The range is again visible from the highway between Grangeville and Cottonwood, this time over 50 miles away. The writer has never been able to locate them from any more northern point.

The Seven Devils with their surrounding canyons are among Idaho's greatest scenic marvels; they deserve a high position in any list of the world's wonderplaces. Just when the peaks were first given their singularly appropriate name does not seem to be recorded. There is very little written matter descriptive of them; the writer is indebted to the 1920 report of Doctor Laney and Professor Livingston of our own university; it is the best description available.

The first recorded visit of white men to this section was in the fall of 1811, when Donald McKenzie with ten men went over and thru the Seven Devils from the present location of Huntington to that of Lewiston, suffering incredible hardships.

Bridge Club Entertained

Mrs. George Leith entertained the Afternoon Bridge Club at her home last Wednesday afternoon. Three tables were arranged for bridge, several hours being enjoyed at this fascinating game. High score was won by Mrs. L. J. Herres. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

BEFORE CIVIL WAR

Liechtenstein Prince on the Throne 70 Years.

Washington. — Little Liechtenstein
hails Good Prince Johann II as he attains the seventieth year of his reign.
If he lives two years more he will equal the phenomenal record of Louis XIV of France.

Johann was crowned prince of Liechtenstein the year Queen Victoria was proclaimed empress of India and Minnesota was admitted to the Union.
The Dred Scott decision was a fresh political issue. Abraham Lincoln was still a lawyer in Springfield, Ill.

Little Change in 70 Years.
"Seventy years that have seen the transformation of the world have witnessed relatively little change in the principality of Liechtenstein, tucked away between Switzerland and Austria in a mountain valley near the source of the Rhine," says a bulletin from the Washington (D. C.) headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The standing army of 80 men hurried off in 1866 to the Austro-Prussian war, but got to the front too late to fight. An army that can't find a battle ought to hunt other work.
Prince Johann decided. He ordered his infantry to turn in their equipment. The muskets and leather helmets of the late Liechtenstein army can be seen today in the royal chateau museum. Demobilization was probably the prince's first important reform.

"Of course electricity has come to Liechtenstein. The Rhine rushing along the national border gives up its energy to light the towns, operate telephones and run the elevator which has been built into the massive walls of the ancient Burg Vaduz fortress-palace. Prince Johann at eighty-four finds an elevator useful.

"When weekly movies first flickered
at Vaduz, all Liechtenstein rocked with the news. The coming of a spinning mill to the capital and of a cotton weaving factory to Triesen could be considered equivalent to the rise of steel at Pittsburgh and of automobiles at Detroit. Yet dairying with mild-eyed Swiss cattle remains the basic industry. Liechtensteiners are farmers even unto many generations.

"Prince Johann crossing from one side of his tower room to the other can look upon most of his Graustark-ian domain. Sixty-two square miles is Liechtenstein; eight square miles less than the District of Columbia. The comparison does not complete the picture. Washington's miles are reasonably square; Liechtenstein's tend toward cubes. A dozen peaks in this miniature kingdom tower more than a mile in the sky. Liechtenstein is five miles wide, twenty miles long and one mile high.

Chateau Towers Over Capitol.
"The royal chateau caps a crag above Vaduz, the capital, much like Monticello commands a hill above Charlottesville, Va. A single misstep and Prince Johann would tumble in upon his government! The Regierung, or capitol building, stands directly under the precipice which the chateau surmounts.

"It is truly said that no visitor can remain a stranger within the gates of neighborly Liechtenstein. 'Spot' is the password of greeting offered without introduction. The village barber knows the nationality, business and marital state of every one who stays overnight. An American who visited the principality tells that while watching the weekly movie at the inn he distinctly heard a voice in the dark say, 'He has had a hot bath at the hotel every night since he came.'

"Absentee monarchy best describes Liechtenstein's government. Prince Johann rules his 11,000 subjects from Vienna most of the year. The system works well. Trust of his people has been repayed with affection and obedience. By wiping out the public debt and keeping the Liechtenstein budget down to $7 per person, he merits the generous honor of the title Johann
the Good.

"Liechtenstein is today the only German state which is still a monarchy."

Sawdust Saving Worth Millions of Dollars

New York.—By making thinner saws, which will save as little as one-sixteenth of an inch in the width of cuts made in wood, an annual waste of sawdust amounting to more than $50,000,000 may be saved for the American lumber industry.

This report was made recently to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers by a special research committee on saws and knives.

Efficient standardization of saws,
the committee said, might accomplish the saving. The annual waste in sawlogs was estimated at $30,000,000 with an additional sawdust waste of $30, 000,000 in manufacture of logs into boards. A "doubtful" saving of $4, 000,000 in power with thinner saws was estimated, bringing the grand total of value of sawdust waste that might be avoided to $67,000,000.

Entomologists' Value

Revealed by Institute

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The absent-minded professor who scampers after elusive butterflies and bugs with a net contributes much to the benefit of humanity.

Carnegie Institute of Technology
here has more than 1,500,000 specimens of bugs, beetles, etc., and of sciacs point out that study of myriad insects, gathered from near and far,
reveals which is beneficial to mankind, and discloses how to rid infested places of harmful insects.

Pittsburgh is the home of four outstanding figures in the entomological world. Dr. W. J. Holland, director emeritus of Carnegie museum has a personal collection of specimens gathered from the four corners of the earth. Dr. Hugo Kahl, a native of Sweden, presides over the museum's collection. Associated with him are two others—H. G. Klages and B. Krautwurm, both well-known entomologists.

Ancient Gothic Ruins

Reveal Old Metropolis

Bactchisarai, Crimea.—Far-
stretching ruins of a great city of unknown origin have been discovered in the valley of Eskit-Kermen in the very heart of the Crimean peninsula.

The ruins are said to extend more than two miles, and consist of high fortress walls, hundreds of homes hewed out of rocks and six great cave temples, embellished with ancient frescoes. Russian archeologists said the ruins were once the capital of the Goth's kingdom, known in history as the city of Teodora, founded during the reign of Justinian the Great.

3 Belted Kingfishers Seen at Grand Canyon

Grand Canyon, Ariz.—The Grand Canyon National park recently received a visit from three belted kingfishers, a species that previously was unknown among the bird life of the park. The three birds were observed by park employees along the Bright Angel creek on the north rim of the canyon. Their occurrence in this region indicates that they followed the torturous path of the Colorado river through a semiarid region where it must have been a difficult matter for even their sharp eyes to perceive food in the muddy waters.
Bright Angel creek with its clear water, trout and native minnows afforded an excellent resting place for these traveling avian fishermen.

Seek to Grow Fruits, Gardens in Labrador

Amherst, Mass.—Prof. F. C.
Sears, head of the botany
department of Massachusetts Agricultural college, who spent the summer in Labrador, investigating the possibilities of increasing the production of food plants, recently told of his observations concerning the agricultural problems of the country. The trip was made at the invitation of Sir Wilfred T.
Grenfell, who is particularly anxious to introduce fruits and a greater variety of vegetables.

As a result of Professor Sears visit, plans are being made to send fruit trees, bushes, vine-and vegetable seeds to be grown and tested in Labrador. One of the miniature "experiment stations" will be located on Doctor
Grenfell's private grounds at St Anthony.

PIPE STEMS FROM DISTILLED COAL

Synthetic Products to Be Made in New Plant.

New York.—Raw materials for synthetic pipe stems, umbrella handles or cue balls, and for synthetic anti-knock gasoline are to be manufactured at a Pennsylvania steel mill. Synthetic furniture is predicted as a future development.

The announcement revealing this large-scale entry of a steel business into the by-products field comes from Cokesville, Pa., where the Lukens Steel company has ordered a large, low-temperature coal distillation plant, the first to be installed by an American steel mill.

This kind of coal distillation is new in the United States. One of its outstanding differences from other coal processes is that it produces about two and a half times the amount of tars from which synthetic resins are made.

Chemistry has created a new series of articles of daily use from these resins. They include brilliantly colored pencils and pens, tiling for bathrooms, brightly colored tops and stoppers for all sorts of tubes and bottles, a large variety of radio parts and scores of electrical insulations for automobiles.

Dr. Walter Runge of the International Coal Carbonization company, which is installing the distillation plant, says it does not require an extravagant imagination to picture the manufacture of furniture, wallcovering and ornamental building material from coal tar.

Prediction that coal tars would provide materials for making outer walls of buildings in rainbow colors was made before the international conference on bituminous coal in Pittsburgh in November.

The gasoline made as a by-product from the low-temperature distillation of coal is said to contain 60 per cent more anti-knock qualities than that from other processes. It is sold for mixing with some petroleum gasolines.

The Lukens plant, for which ground will be broken early in 1929, will be built to distill 500 tons of bituminous coal daily.

Girl Earns $600 to Pay for Course in Year

Fremont, Neb. — Nineteen-year-old Josephine M. Schaefer took an airplane ride during a Fourth of July celebration at Humphrey two years ago. That settled the career question for her. She would be a pilot.

Her father, Joseph Schaefer of Norfork, didn't take so kindly to the idea. Josephine determined upon earning her own money to pay the tuition at a flying school. But jobs for young women were scarce.

The girl came to Fremont, tried several jobs and finally found she could make and save more money as a waitress. She worked twelve hours a day, every day until she had saved $600. With it she paid for a 50-hour course.

Josephine now is finding out that an ambitious aviation enthusiast spends many hours on the ground toying with valves and pistons before she goes aloft.

Her father relented and bought the girl flying togs.

1,100-Year-Old Saxon Cross Found in Abbey

Sempringham, England.—Part of a Saxon cross, said to be about one thousand years old, has been discovered half-buried in the graveyard adjoining the ancient Abbey church.

The district is rich in antiquarian remains, many relics having from time to time been unearthed during excavations for land drainage where the village—demolished centuries ago—originally stood.

Sempringham is famous as being the place where St. Gilbert founded the only religious order of English origin, the Gilbertines. He died here in 1189 at the age of one hundred six.

Spanish Monarch Plays Lead in Moving Picture

Toledo, Spain.—King Alfonso of Spain was leading man in a moving picture of the recent royal hunting party on the estate of the duke of Santona.

He permitted a film to be made of himself and his companions, not only while they were engaged in bringing down game, but also during intimate moments of family life in the castle. The camera operator obtained several views of the king playing on the ground with the duke's children.

Road Chief Suggests Law to Ban Billboard

Washington.—Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, calls attention to a need for legislation to eliminate billboard and other signs along the highways constructed by federal aid.

"The complete effectiveness of standard signs placed along the principal transcontinental highways to aid motorists and insure their safety is hindered by advertising billboards so placed as to obscure them or withdraw attention from them."

Mr. McDonald says in his annual report to Secretary of Agriculture Jardine

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the Probate Court in and for the County of Latah, State of Idaho.

In the Matter of the Estate of Nancy J. Lewis, Incompetent.

Order to Show Cause Why Order of Sale of Real Estate should not be made.

L. G. Peterson, Guardian of the Estate of Nancy J. Lewis, Incompetent, having filed his petition herein praying for an order of sale of all of the real estate of said incompetent, for the purposes therein set forth.

It is Therefore Ordered by the Judge of said Court, that all persons interested in the estate of said incompetent, and the next of kin of the ward, be and appear before the said Probate Court, on Monday, the 28th day of January, 1929, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the Court Room of said Probate Court, in the Court House in said Latah County to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said Guardian to sell so much of the real estate of the said Nancy J. Lewis, Incompetent, as shall be necessary.

It is Further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks before the 28th day of January, 1929, in the Kendrick Gazette, a newspaper printed and published in the said Latah County, State of Idaho.

What Built the City of Kendrick?

The Same as What Built the City of New York --- More Business is the Answer!

THAT IS WHY WE ARE STARTING IN BUSINESS IN KENDRICK!

A new business for the Farmer where he can get just what he wants.

We will call our new business

THE KENDRICK MACHINERY COMPANY.

Why?

Because we will stock every implement the farmer needs and repairs therefor. I personally have lived on a farm all my life and therefore know fairly well a good machine from a poor one. It is our intention to stay with you in this business for years to come. I personally have had a great deal of experience in the past few years with every make of farm implement—with every make of tractor—used and worked them personally which alone gives me valuable experience starting in this business.

As I have always said, Tractor Farming has come to stay, and the farmer needs to change over to the tractor machinery. Ask me any question about farm machinery, especially tractors and tractor machinery, and I will tell you just as is. There is no implement line on earth that has the best implements all the way thru. They all have some poor pieces of machinery which are not worth taking home. We are not going to stock such machines.

It is true there are several very good makes of wheel tractors sold here. Put them where they belong (on the level), but listen, Mr. Farmer, take your hat off to the Cletrac Crawler in Idaho in the hills, a tractor which will go where you want it to go. A wheel tractor will go where it wants to go. That's the difference. I have sold over a hundred of these husky hill climbers and not one dissatisfied owner. Out of one hundred Cletraes sold in the last three years only six have had to be re-bored. Many have over 400 working days to their credit, in other words, over 100,000 miles of thirty miles per hour, engine speed. How many autos will make 100,000 miles without repairs?

The Cletrac with its sensitive steering device is the only tractor known which will handle a cultivator for beans successfully. Our Model W will not cultivate—only the 20 and 30. We build cultivators right here in our shop. With every Cletrac sold for cash, without trade ins, we give a new cultivator FREE, all for the price of the tractor, until May the 1st, 1929.

Here we are about ready to overhaul any make of tractor, auto machinery of all kinds. Our shop will be the most complete to be found anywhere. We have installed over $2,000 worth of the very latest machinery. We can rebuild tractors and autos from the bottom up. In fact we will fix anything from a tin can to a church organ. And above all, remember we guarantee a first class job or come and get your money back.

We will have on the floor, a complete line of machinery, new and used tractors of all makes with an O. K. guarantee behind all our used tractors. New Oliver plows, harrows, discs, drills—everything the farmer needs. Gas and oils, repairs and parts. We have steam to cut grease off your autos and engines.

Come in and see us when in town. We have a smile for all. Let us tell you about our new Cletrac 30—three speeds forward, electric ignition, lights, starter and a 40 rear end—a real job.

We will have all repairs for Cletraes and will rebore tractors and auto engines, put in the best light weight pistons with four rings, guarantee a perfect job or give you a new engine. We came here to do business and the only way to get business is to do a job same as we would demand for ourselves.

We have one Cletrac 30; 10-20 International; 12-20 Twin City—Good buys.

TWO RIBBONS MARK LINCOLN'S BIBLE

Did Chance or the President Place Them There?

Washington.—Was it chance that left two white silk ribbon markers at passages particularly appropriate to the stress of the Civil war in the Bible upon which Abraham Lincoln took the oath of office, or did the hand of the President himself place them there?

The book is now in the permanent keeping of the Library of Congress. It was placed there last spring by Mrs. Robert Todd Lincoln together with the old family Bible of Abraham Lincoln and the gold medal presented to Mrs. Lincoln by the citizens of France after President Lincoln's death.

It is a small book with red plush covers and gilt-edged leaves.

The two markers were left at the thirty-first chapter of Deuteronomy and the fourth chapter of Hosea. Both chapters contain verses particularly appropriate to the dark days through which Lincoln passed, soon after taking the oath of office.

The sixth verse of the first named chapter reads: "Be strong and of good courage, fear not nor be afraid of them, for the Lord thy God, He it is that doth go with thee, He will not fail thee nor forsake thee."

The first three verses of the fourth, chapter of Hosea, where the other marker rests, are as follows:

"Hear ye the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel, for the Lord hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land because there is no truth nor mercy nor knowledge of God in the land. By swearing and lying and killing and stealing and committing adultery they break out and blood toucheth blood. Therefore, shall the land mourn and every one that dwelleth therein shall languish with the beasts of the fields, and with the fowls of heaven, yea, the fishes of the sea also shall be taken away."

Open Hall of Fishes

at American Museum
New York.—The American Museum of Natural History has opened a hall of fishes, where visitors may see for themselves the records that cause scientists to believe that possibly land animals once came from the sea.

A few fishes living today have true lungs by which they breathe even after the water in which they live has dried up. Specimens of these fish are on exhibition, with four legs in the shape of paddles, which are the equivalent of fore and hind legs of land animals. The theory is that these fish belong to long-past ages. They come from Australian and African waters and are named lung-fish.

The exhibits grade fish, showing in the highest types the fighting tarpon and trout, whose ability to escape after being hooked furnishes one of the chief pleasures of anglers.

The great predatory fish of the oceans and the world's most beautiful water inhabitants are shown in reproductions that depict their natural actions. Models show how fish swim, how some possess marvelous mechanisms for transmitting slight changes in water pressure to their interior balancing organs, how they breathe, build nests and protect their young.
