JUST IDAHO

By Guy Fenner

"Tradin' Joe" From Oregon

We are reminded of Riley's "Tradin' Joe". He came over from Oregon and offered to give Idaho a big slice of the eastern part of that state if Idaho would build the I. O. N. cut-off. That is a proposed highway to connect us more directly with San Francisco and has been the motif for more than one luncheon club program. It appears, however, that our friend from Oregon could only offer a trade. He could not deliver the goods and apparently will not be able to do so. In Oregon brisk opposition has developed officially and commercially. Portland, for instance, is not gleeful at the prospect of trade from this territory being diverted to Frisco. Politically, the plan is not welcomed down there, as denoted by the outspoken opposition of Oregon's Governor. Moreover, there is hostility to the plan in Idaho, as witness the howl of protest from the north, where it was believed the scheme would be favored on account of the hook-up with the north and south highway, and also a mild antagonism from Idaho points west of the point of diversion. Apparently there will be no trade. The shortest way from this section to Frisco for some time evidently will continue to be the Pullman "g", irrespective of our sentiments as to the I. O. N. cut-off.

Using The Sneakers

This comment would not be pertinent, perhaps, out here but for the fact that the principals are Idaho men—Senator Borah and John W. Snook, for years warden of Idaho's penitentiary and now head of the great Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. For some reason certain parties did not want our friend to continue in that position. So there were veiled charges. Then the inevitable congressional committee investigation. The committee completely exonerated Warden Snook. It not only did that but complimented him highly for his splendid management. In the course of its inquiry it developed the fact a "stool pigeon" had been sent to that prison on a forged commitment in order to spy on the warden. The fact that even such a creature found nothing wrong does not mitigate the enormity of the action of those who placed him there. The Atlanta Constitution, an outstanding journal, strongly Democratic and traditionally somewhat "anti-Yankee," said editorially that "friends of the warden, who know of his fidelity to duty, of his ability and of his unimpeachable personal character were satisfied such would be the verdict", and added that the planting of a spying agent in the institution was "unthinkable and inexcusable." There is an honorable way to arrive at the truth, and the Constitution further commented. As to Senator Borah, he gave out a statement condemning the outrage upon Warden Snook in unmeasured terms and indicated he would ask congress to determine the responsibility for it. We hope he does and that the guilty sneaker or sneaker is located definitely and held up to a deserved public scorn.

Dammarell Appointed Cashier

Kester Dammarell, who has been assistant cashier of the bank at Craigmont, was recently appointed cashier of the Bank of Reubens. He and his family will make their home in Reubens as soon as weather conditions permit moving.

Entertained Okoke Club

The Okoke bridge club was entertained last Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carroll at a very pleasant bridge supper served at seven o'clock. After the supper hour bridge was enjoyed until midnight. Mrs. Jody Long was a guest of the club.

Death of W. D. McGregor

Word was received here Thursday evening last week of the death of W. D. McGregor, who passed away at the Troy hospital, following a stroke of paralysis. He was 73 years of age and the day prior to his illness he was apparently in the best of health. His sudden death was a great shock to the members of his family and his many friends here and in Troy.

Funeral services were held in Troy Sunday afternoon at one o'clock and interment made in the Troy cemetery.

Mr. McGregor taught the seventh and eighth grades here for two years and the past two years had charge of the seventh and eighth grades in the Troy schools. He was a very successful teacher and keenly interested in his work. He was a man of high ideals and had a wonderfully pleasing personality. His pupils loved him because of his kindly interest in them. It is impossible to measure the extent of his influence on the lives of the hundreds of students who have benefited by their contact with him during his many years of teaching in Latah county.

Cayuse Captures Coyote

While returning from work on his cayuse in the Cedar Creek country one day this week, Fred Crocker had quite a thrilling experience. He saw a coyote digging in the snow in an old orchard for apples. He immediately charged the varmint on his trusty steed, which seemed to enter into the spirit of the chase. The coyote, seeing he was losing ground, whirled and jumped at the horse's throat but the cayuse had been trained in the Salmon river country and was equal to the occasion. He whirled and kicked the coyote with both feet, nearly spilling the rider by his violent actions.

Mr. Crocker saw the coyote lying in the snow, apparently lifeless, so he dismounted to pick it up, but as he laid his hands on the back of its neck, it suddenly came to life and was ready for another scrap. Mr. Crocker had to carry it, as a mother cat carries a kitten, for a distance of a hundred yards or more before he could find a club with which to bring to a close his rather uncomfortable predicament.

The coyote was brot to Kendrick where its hide was sold for $7.00. On one front foot there was a small squirrel trap, which had apparently been carried by the animal for some time.

Nine Get Southwick Estate

Tribune: A petition was filed in the probate court Saturday for the distribution of the estate of S. R. Southwick and Martha Southwick, husband and wife, who were among the first settlers in the Big Potlatch region at Southwick, and after whom that town was named. Mrs. Southwick died June 25, 1927, and Mr. Southwick's death occurred February 6, 1928. They left a joint estate valued at $14,000, consisting principally of farm land, 160 acres in Nez Perce county and 40 acres in Clearwater county.

There are nine heirs, each to share and share alike, according to the terms of the wills, these being the following:

Edwin J. Southwick, Ladue, Alberta; Harve Southwick and Mrs. Daggett, both of Lenore; Mrs. Mattie Brown, Glendale, Calif.; Mrs. Emma Terry, Cavendish; Leroy J. Southwick, Southwick; Mrs. Myrtle Davis, Los Angeles, and Albert S. Southwick, Reubens. All of the foregoing are sons and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Southwick. A grandson, Marvin Huffman, Fort Benton, Montana, is the ninth heir.

Harvey Southwick, administrator of the estate, was represented by Tannahill & Leeper.

On account of the impassable roads the Bovill basket ball team was unable to play here last Saturday. A game will be played here tomorrow night with the Lapwai town team at 7:30.

Farm By Power Machinery

Henry Ford is right. Farming from now on is going to be done with power machinery. That old horse drawn machines and vehicles are becoming obsolete is seen in an absence of interest in the breeding of draft horses or horses of any kind, for that matter—and the growing enthusiasm among young farmers especially, for tractors, trucks and power machinery. University short courses in tractor study have been an outgrowth of this changing method. It may be hard to "teach an old dog new tricks", so it will not be surprising if Grandpa worries along for the rest of his days with Dobbin the plow, and the "armstrong" grindstone. Don't kick if he does for none of us like to give up life-long friends. But Grandpa is not objecting to the new order of things—on the contrary he welcomes the change. Farming must be made "big business." Power machinery, scientific tillage, balanced production and co-operative marketing—in short, "educated" farming, is farming's hope for the future. Nobody knows this better than the old timers know it, nor do none know better than they that to make a success of his business the farmer of the future must know his onions—must go to school.—Troy News.

Fed Game Birds

Ed Collins, deputy state game warden for Latah county, was in Kendrick last Tuesday to see if anything could be done in regard to feeding game birds. The birds are suffering because of the deep snow. Mr. Collins gathered up a crew consisting of Gus Blum, Jack Barnes, Ralph Knepper and Harley Perryman, who drove to Juliaetta with a load of feed in a truck. Frank Seymour furnished a team and bobsled and the feed was distributed from Juliaetta to the county line. The volunteer crew was equipped with snow shovels and wherever the grain was put out, the snow was first shoveled off down to the bare ground.

Many farmers in the surrounding country are feeding the game birds, according to reports received here this week.

How to Catch a Wimpuss

"A wimpuss, a rare animal, grows about as big as a hooglebug, but it has a long tail like a collywop and has wings like a bearcat. It lives in the top of high trees, whence it flies down to attack defenseless travelers. However, no harm is to be feared from a wimpuss if you know what to do when you see one coming. It is folly to shoot at them, for a wimpuss catches bullets in its teeth and eats them. The only way to do when a wimpuss comes at you is to take a small piece of cheese, either Edam or Swiss, and tack it securely on a waterfall. The wimpuss makes a swoop at the cheese and gets mixed up with the waterfall and gets his feet wet. It makes a wimpuss mad as all-get-out when he gets his feet wet, and so he hunts around for a nice piece of grass to dry them on. The minute he lights on the grass the hunter rushes at him and ties his tail in a double bow knot. When a wimpuss has his tail tied in a double bow knot he is gone, because when he flies he always ducks his head under his body to see who is following him, and in doing this he gets his head caught in the double bow knot and chokes himself to death.—Altoona Tribune.

Considering weather conditions last Saturday, a large crowd were here in the afternoon for Market Day. It was necessary to come to town on sleds as the snow was too deep for travel with autos. It looked like old times to see the feed lot near the Rochdale Company's warehouse, completely filled up with horses and bobsleds. The free show at the theatre drew a full house and everyone was pleased with the picture.

Juliaetta News

Chef Cox and Leland Houck were Lewiston visitors, Thursday.

Mr. Jones is back in school after a seige of flu.

Mrs. Nellie Biddison entertained the Needle Club, Wednesday. A delightful time was spent in needle work. At six o'clock the hostess served a three-course dinner and at this time Mrs. Frank Rider was given the seal of the club.

Charles Gallaher is visiting his parents for a few days before going to Omak, Wash.

Manford Nutt was one of the lucky ones to catch a chicken with a $1.00 bill on its leg at Kendrick, Saturday. Do it again Kendrick — we enjoyed the chicken.

Mrs. Ernest Welch went to Spokane, Saturday, to attend the funeral of a relative.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stewart, Saturday.

The Ladies Aid of the M. E. church met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Groseclose. A good many turned out, considering the stormy day.

Choir practice was held at the home of Mrs. M. Nutt, Tuesday evening. A large crowd was present and an enjoyable evening spent. The next practice will be with Mrs. Walter Cochran, February 4th.

School Notes

The deep snow and blocked highways have caused an increase in the number of absences, especially in the lower grades.

The people out of school because of illness, are allowed to return next Monday, by the county health officer who was here last Tuesday.

The local basket ball team journeyed to Kendrick Monday evening and suffered defeat at the hands of the Kendrick boys 21 to 10. They will play Genesee, Wednesday, and Culesae, Friday night. The locals miss the services of L. Garver Stellar, forward.

The high school seniors are already planning for their graduation. They have received from several companies, graduation announcements and are trying to select suitable ones from the numerous samples.

The pupils of the seventh and eighth grade room who made 100 per cent in the pre-test in spelling, Monday, were: Helen Allene Rider, Hazel Richardson, Ava Forbis, Gertrude Gruell, Opal Spray and Dorothy Bowen.

The seventh and eighth grades received their grades from the examinations which they took in hygiene and history. The highest grades in hygiene were made by Margaret Taylor and Frances Pierce, both making a grade of 94. Others receiving a grade of 90 or above were Hazel Cook, Eugene Groseclose, Dorothy Bowen, Opal Spray and Marcella Burns.

The highest grades in history were made by Ava Forbis 94, and Ward Alexander, 92.

Deary Locals

Snow is 37 inches deep and snow plows are unable to keep the roads open. The state snow plow will make every effort to open the road from Moscow to Deary as soon as possible.

The Potlatch Lumber Co. is running a double header logging train from Bovill to Potlatch every day except Sunday.

L. O. Beyer, Ford dealer, on his return from Seattle reports a wonderful trip thru the Great Northern tunnel, which is nearly 8 miles long and as straight as an arrow. The Ford Motor Co. is assembling 125 cars a day at Seattle and several new types have been added, some of which are a town sedan and cabriolet. The demand is so great that many dealers in the larger cities are still behind filling orders.

The Kendrick Dray & Ice finished filling its ice house this week. The ice is of extra fine quality, some of it being 18 inches thick. Mr. Boyd says it is the best ice he has put up for years.

Gazette Official Paper

The Gazette received notice from Auditor Harry Thatcher the first of the week that it had been awarded the contract for publishing county legal for the ensuing two years. Bids were received from the Moscow Publishing Co., the Genesee News and the Kendrick Gazette, the last named submitting the low bid.

Eichner Will Filed

Mrs. Bertha Eichner went to Moscow last Monday and filed the will of her late husband, Claus Eichner, in probate court. Mrs. Eichner is executrix of the estate, which according to the court records is valued at $30,000. Those who will share in the estate are Mrs. J. E. Simpson of Craigmont, Mrs. Maude Hunter of Spokane, Miss Mable Eichner, Willard and Harley Eichner and Mrs. Bertha Eichner, all of Kendrick.

THE STATE WE LIVE IN

By Byron Defenbach

THE GOBLIN CITY

The mammoth cave of Kentucky was formerly visited by thousands of curious, interested people every year; now its only patrons are occasional groups of colored people on a summer picnic. The great cavern has not changed, nor has it lost any of its incredible features; it still has its hundred miles of tunnels, and its vast amphitheatres, its echoing river, its cycless fish. The reason for the almost absolute loss of former popularity is that its owners have ceased to advertise.

The Garden of the Gods in Colorado, while marvelous enough does not compare with the great cave. It is a 500 acre area filled with fanciful forms cut out of red sandstone by the eroding action of wind and water. But it is given insistent and persistent publicity by its management, and is visited by increasing multitudes of tourists every season.

One of the world's standard encyclopedias contains the following item:

"The City of Rocks in Cassia county, Idaho, is as strange as, and but little less magnificent than the Garden of the Gods." The fact that the Idaho city is vastly larger, seems to have been overlooked.

For most of the following description of Idaho's "Goblin City" the writer is indebted to former Lieutenant Governor L. H. Sweetzer of Burley.

The city of rocks is located 25 miles from Oakley, only a short distance by a good highway leaving the Oregon Trail at Burley. In an area of some 15 square miles, Nature's architects have created a walled city of granite whose exhibits may well hold the tourist's interest for days. Its group of granite spires would adorn the finest cathedral ever built. It has been suggested that President Brigham Young must have obtained one of his designs from the "Tabernacle Rock." Leaning towers, totem poles, natural bridges, caves, tunnels, mosques, temples and palaces are found on every hand.

It requires no great stretch of fancy to see resemblances to the elephant, the old hen with chicks, the lion, frogs at play, and the bearded prophet. A natural bath tub of rock, 10 feet square, is filled with rainwater at certain seasons. An old Indian legend insists that to bathe here before sunrise is to restore lost youth. No new idea, but eternally fascinating.

The City of Rocks has been known to a few travelers for a long time. In the days of stage lines between Kelton, Utah and Boise, there was a station here, not far from the present post-office of Almo.

It is strange that so few, even of Idaho people, know of its existence, and it is to be regretted that greater efforts are not made to advertise, popularize, and capitalize this possession, unquestionably one of the outstanding show-places of the state we live in. How many of the thirty-odd thousand readers of the seventy Idaho papers printing this article, ever heard of it before?

Afternoon Bridge Club

The members of the Afternoon Bridge club were entertained by Mrs. W. A. Perryman last Wednesday and a very enjoyable time was reported. High score was won by Mrs. Frank Boyd who received a lovely prize. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Bob Bigham suffered a stroke of paralysis last Friday, one side being totally paralyzed. His son, R. W. and wife of Bovill, arrived Sunday to care for him. Monday he was taken to the hospital at Troy for treatment. His condition is considered very serious on account of his advanced age.

Roy E.: "My dad, he's a plumber."

Interesting Information
Mr. Beardsley in biology stated that the egg is the best part of the yolk.

Helen C.: "Don't you think my new coat is a perfect fit?"
Alice I.: "Fit? Why it's a perfect convulsion."

Mr. Jarvis in history class: "Walton, where was Napoleon born?"

Walton Morey: "Well-er-ah-he-ha it begins with e and is an island."

Mr. Jarvis: "What island is that? It must have been cow or chicken coop island."

Mr. Beardsley: "Name an extinct animal."

Charles: "Please, sir, Tommy."
Mr. B.: "But Tommy isn't an extinct animal."

Charles: "Yes, sir, he was our cat, but the dog got hold of him."

Mr. Jarvis: "Who was the Black Prince?"

Walter B.: "The son of Old King Cole."

Miss Ledbetter: "Ernest, can you give me the name of any star that has a tail?"

Ernest: "The only one I know is Rin Tin Tin."

Mr. Jarvis in history class: "Who were the Four Horsemen?"
Walter Brocke: "Paul Revere, Theodore Roosevelt, Jesse James and Barney Google."

Mrs. Jarvis: "Now, Robert, where did you get that gum? I want the truth."

Robert: "You don't want the truth, Mrs. Jarvis, and I rather not tell a lie."

Mrs. J.: "How dare you say that I don't want the truth! Tell me at once."

Robert: "Under your desk."

Doctor: "I'm afraid I have bad news for you. You will never be able to work again."

Walton Morey: "Whadda you mean, 'bad news'?"

Fourth Week of Legislature

The start of the fourth week of the Twentieth Idaho legislature finds both houses holding short morning sessions, but immediately following adjournment members plunge into committee rooms where the work of the legislature is being done now. As fast as bills are introduced they are printed and referred to committees and at present the committee rooms are the scenes of plenty of action.

Monday of this week the house and senate committees on irrigation met in joint, public session to hear arguments on the bill which would repeal the law giving power companies tax exemption on that part of their properties used to pump irrigation water. This exemption is rebated to farmers in the form of reduced power bills.

Another important committee meeting Monday was that of a sub-committee of the senate steering committee which had under consideration the advisability of introducing an income tax law. At the opening of the session taxation was thought to be one of the outstanding subjects for legislation but the suggestion made by Senator Donald Callahan, Shoshone county, that assessors be required to publish a list of the property declared by individual taxpayers in their sworn statements, is the only reference to it that has been made in either house.

Senator Whitten, Boise county, succeeded in getting through the senate his bill requiring the public utilities commission to throw open to the public all reports of utilities heretofore held to be confidential. The measure is now before the house.

The legislature evidently felt the people of the state were in earnest when they voted down a constitutional amendment at the November election providing $10 a day as pay for legislators. A bill introduced in the lower house proposed to pay legislators $5 per day expenses in addition to their $5 per day salary while attending the session, but it was defeated by a large majority.

Officers Elected

In a regular meeting of the Student Body, the officers who will hold office until next January were elected. Some were chosen by a very close majority. Those elected are: President, Robert Dammarell (re-elected); Vice president, Eldwa Janes; Treasurer, Carl Davis, (re-elected); Secretary, Helen Emmett, (re-elected). The remainder will be chosen at a future time.

"And Mary Did"

The total receipts of the high school play given last Friday and Saturday night were $70.95. That amount was more than was expected on account of the weather conditions.

A substitution had to be made on Saturday night for Emma Lou Wegner as she was ill. Neva Ware took her part and she deserves much credit for the same.

Popcorn Balls Sold

At the High School play given Friday and Saturday nights the Domestic Science girls sold popcorn. The amount received was $3.10. The money will be used to buy new dishes for the department.

Fresh Impetus

A new semester has begun, giving a fresh impetus to students and teachers alike. Students who failed to do their best work last semester are facing a new page and their efforts this half year will determine how well they have faced their problems and taken advantage of their new opportunities.

Senior Play

The Seniors are now looking forward to picking out their class play.

Typing

So far in the year fifteen students in the typing classes conducted by Mrs. Jarvis have met state requirements pertaining to speed and accuracy. Four students have failed, as yet to attain the necessary speed but are steadily increasing their expertness in the management of the typewriter and are expected to make the required 45 words necessary for the two credits given for the first year of typing.

The following students have attained a speed of 30 net words or more per minute for a period of ten minutes, copying from new material and making not more than five errors: Doris Emery, who has won both the Proficiency Certificate and Bronze Award given by the Underwood Typewriting company, Helen Emmett, Neva Ware, William Ingie, Arthur Foster, Mae Freytag, Helen Clem, George Bailey, Marjory Davidson, Edna Stanton, Eleanor Herres, Bessie Blevins, Georgine Christensen and Lillian Long. Several of the above list have qualified for the Proficiency Certificate and the rest are expecting to qualify during February.

Donald Brocke Graduates

Donald Brocke of the senior class graduated from the High School at the mid-year term. After bidding his friends "good-bye" and being accompanied to the train he left Sunday for Portland. His departure from K. H. S. leaves a vacant space in the senior class, but even so he will not be forgotten by his fellow classmates and friends.

Seventh and Eighth Grades

The eighth grade had three debates last week which were very interesting. One of the topics was "Resolved that children in Venice have more fun than children in Kendrick." Others were: "Resolved that country life is more beneficial than city life", and "Resolved that the school board should furnish the children's books."

The boys of the seventh and eighth grades have built shelters for the birds. Mr. Barnum gave them the lumber with which to make these shelters and the boys were able to make some from scraps of lumber found about the school house. The youngsters from these grades and the fifth and sixth grades have resolved to keep food in these troughs for the birds.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

Last Monday afternoon at three o'clock Miss Nannie Weaver and pupils were pleasantly surprised when Mrs. MacPherson presented their room with two lovely cakes and announced that it was Donald's birthday. One cake was beautifully decorated with eleven candles.

School work was forgotten and the rest of the afternoon was spent in celebrating Donald's birthday.

Many of the children are becoming interested in feeding the birds and have promised to save all food scraps possible as well as construct feeding places for them.

Report Cards Given Out

The report cards which were to be given out last week were delayed on account of the grades having to be recorded for the semester. The work was completed and the cards were handed out on Friday to the anxiously waiting students.

Grading Up Dairy Herd by Using Pure-Bred Sire

At what rate will a grade animal be "bred up" by the use of a pure-bred sire and the resulting offspring of each cross? The offspring from the first cross of a pure-bred sire on a grade female will be 50 per cent grade and 50 per cent pure-bred. This offspring then bred to a pure-bred sire will produce an offspring whose make-up is 25 per cent grade and 75 per cent pure bred. By continuously repeating this operation, the grade blood will theoretically be bred out, though for registration such an animal can never become eligible. In the seventh generation the animal will be 99.219 per cent pure bred.

Marketing Crops

On most dairy farms quite a large part of the crops grown are marketed through cows. The kind of crops grown and the way these are fed have a lot to do with their ultimate value when marketed as dairy products. It is true, of course, that the kind of cow fed has much to do with establishing the value of the feeds used but the right kind of skill in feeding cows avoids the sending of good crops to market through poor cows.

Trees Too Close

In blocks of orchards where the trees are too close together half of the trees should be cut out this winter. The natural tendency is for the trees to be left in until those which are to be left permanently do not amount to much. The lower limbs have been stunted or have died back from lack of light. Planting trees far enough apart is a very important matter.

Same Fix

He was too young to be in school he seemed very lonesome since his playmates were gone. While he sat with his head bowed and a dejected look on his face, a shaggy, dirty little dog ran up to him whining. The dog was friendly and he sat on the floor. He called the little dog 'poodle' and the dog called him 'poodle'.

Texas Ridge News

Enough snow has fallen the past few days to remind one of the old fashioned winters we used to have. The roads are drifted in places and the snow is very light, which makes it hard to keep the roads open. Axel Grandlund, who is mail carrier on route one out of Deary, was unable to make the full round Saturday on account of the deep snow.

The Ladies Guild met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. H. S. Slocum in Deary. Quite a number of members were present from the ridge, even tho it was a cold day and they arrived shortly before noon. The hostess served them a delicious hot dinner, after which the business was transacted, preceded by the social hour which was enjoyed by the many visiting ladies who came. The next meeting will be held at Viola Baker's on the ridge.

Mrs. Martin Frantzich has been having a seige of tonsillitis the past week, but is better at this writing.

George Drury went to Spokane to spend a week or two visiting his sons, Carl and Rodney.

The Civic Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Pete Olson. Although a goodly number were present, in spite of the weather.

Evangelist L. W. Goss of Garfield, Wash., who is now holding meetings in Troy, Idaho, had planned to come to the ridge this week and decide on a series of meetings, but on account of the deep snow and unsettled weather, plans are postponed until the weather is more favorable.

Grandma Dahlgren is in Deary for a few days staying with her daughter, Mrs. Orval Miller, who has had an attack of tonsillitis.

Idaho is a very dry state now, and the snow is also dry, so very dry that many farmers are having difficulty in finding water for their stock. Some farmers have to drive their stock a great distance every day. Most ponds that had a foot or so of water, have frozen solid and many of the cisterns are dry. Something very unusual for this country at this time of year to be scarce of water.

Crescent Clippings

Mrs. Wm. Kauder has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Leroy Southwick of Cream ridge since last Wednesday.
