JUST IDAHO

By Guy Flenner

Vox Populi, Vox Unity

The slogan originated by the writer, who was signally honored through its adoption by the press of the state, echoed in the corridors of the legislature recently—"No North, No South—Just Idaho." There was a tense moment when an old territorial fight might have been renewed. Voicing of the slogan did its share to prevent it. It is the main function of this column to keep alive a wholesome Idaho spirit and to induce men and women to line up for all Idaho as the best means of promoting any part of the state. Through the co-operation of the press a great deal has been accomplished in acquainting Idahoans with different parts of their state and with their industries and resources, in encouraging a conservative progressivism and in building up and maintaining pride of state. The feelings displayed by our legislators constitute a fine recognition of the effort and a reflection in high place of the prevailing popular sentiment.

The voice of the people is the voice of unity.

"Palmy Days" And Now

"The current returns from the mineral production of Idaho year after year, with unflinching regularity, are far greater than even during the palmy days of gold when the Boise Basin and other rich gravel mining camps of the state were making their greatest production." That statement was made by Stanley A. Easton, head of the Bunker Hill & Sullivan company, in an address before the Wallace Board of Trade. He referred to the advance in mining due to laboratory research, declaring that science had supplanted the hit and miss system of old. One great error in the public mind, however, he said, was an expectancy of too much in a short time from mining. He added his purpose was not to discourage the investor but to point out the necessity for discretion and close investigation.

Mining is a foundation industry in this state. With its heavy production, nearly twenty-seven million and a half last year, and with its large payrolls, heavy investment in exploration and substantial purchases of Idaho produce, it stands well with its sister industries. While honest mistakes have been made and money lost in legitimate pursuits, most of the ills that have attached to mining have been fostered by fool-hardy operators, wildcaters and outright frauds. Most of the latter have been weeded out through the operation of public sentiment and certain successful prosecutions. The application of scientific methods, to say nothing of common sense, has usually produced success. The outlook is that mining in Idaho is to grow and increase its Atlas-like support of our other industries.

Okoke Dinner Party

The members of the Okoke club were entertained last Saturday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Morehead, at a lovely chicken dinner. Both the dinner hour and the hours at cards were enjoyed to the fullest extent. At midnight scores were totaled, high family score going to Dr. and Mrs. McKeever. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Carroll, Carlson, Knepper, McKeever, E. Deobald and Morehead.

County Commissioner John L. Woody returned Wednesday from Moscow where he attended a meeting of the commissioners the first of the week. At this meeting it was decided to stringently enforce the noxious weed law throughout the county. In cases where the law is not observed, the commissioners have the power to have the weeds removed from the premises and the expense charged against the property as taxes.

Beware of Red Seed

"Beware of red stained seed" is the warning to farmers of Idaho who may be in the market for alfalfa or red clover seed this spring, from Professor H. W. Hulbert, head of the agronomy department and agronomist with the University of Idaho college of agriculture experiment station.

"Seed stained 10 per cent orange-red is entirely unadapted to the climatic conditions of the northern and western states and should never be used for seeding anywhere in Idaho," he says. "Anyone using such seed is almost certain of failure since only seed which has been proven worthless by the United States Department of Agriculture is included in this class."

Professor Hulbert's warning was issued after receipt of information that an attempt was being made to market large quantities of South American alfalfa seed, which is included in the red-stained class, in this country.

The department of agriculture has the right to stain all importations of red clover and alfalfa seed, Professor Hulbert explains. "Three colors of stains are used under the present law, which not only enable the farmer to identify the seed as foreign grown but give him an idea as to their value for seeding purposes."

Seed stained one per cent violet indicates foreign seed adapted to our conditions and which can be safely planted. Green stained seed indicates foreign seed of unknown or doubtful origin. Such seed may be satisfactory, but in the opinion of the department of agriculture the grower is taking a chance on its winter hardiness. Red seed is entirely unadapted to northern and western states.

The grower who wishes to be certain of securing hardy seed should demand domestic northern grown seed. Professor Hulbert concludes. This year much of the domestic seed has poor color. Even so, growers should not buy seed from less hardy sections even though that seed may have better color and possibly slightly higher germination.

Won Radio Prize

John Dammarell was most agreeably surprised this week to receive an electric U-Coil pad from Radio Station K. S. L., of Salt Lake. There were 60,000 cards sent in to this station and from this number, two were drawn. John was one of the lucky two. The pad is valued at $37.50.

"Tex" Rickard Lies in State

The flower-covered bronze casket containing the mortal remains of George L. "Tex" Rickard, as it lay in state in the new Madison Square garden on the very spot where the prize ring stands. Thus Rickard lies in the center of the sports theater that remains as a monument to his genius. Two garden guards stand beside the casket. Many thousands of friends and admirers of the sports promoter passed before Rickard's bier, and the throng at the funeral ceremonies taxed the capacity of the huge building. The cortege to the cemetery was one of the longest seen in New York in recent years.

Mr. Boemeke was in the merchandising business in Cameron for several years, but recently was engaged in farming on Potlatch ridge. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war.

Burial took place in the Normal Hill cemetery, the following veterans serving as pallbearers: H. D. Barnes, George Vollmer, F. A. Swingle, C. F. Baker, P. H. Eller and M. Rucketts.

The Brute Again

The late Professor Blaikie was a renowned scholar, author. Late one winter afternoon he was returning from the lecture room in the gathering dusk, engaged as usual in some abstruse problem, his eyes on the ground—when in crossing the public square he bumped into a cow standing in the path. Stopping abruptly, raising his hat, he said confusedly, "I beg your pardon, Madam," accompanying his apology with a polite bow. The very next afternoon he had a similar experience, but this time he bumped into a woman. Impatiently he exclaimed, "Is that you again, you brute?"

The Kendrick town team journeyed to Lapwai last Saturday to play that fast aggregation of basket shooters a rough and tumble basketball game. The final score was 51 to 39 in favor of Lapwai.

Spokane Lutie Fisklets

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 11, 1929
Dear Ralph:

We have been a subscriber to the Kendrick Gazette since the 9th of last June, or we might say a subscriber-in-law. We have noticed that the Gazette does not have much news from Spokane and it has occurred to us that perhaps you do not have a correspondent in Spokane. Now we think that every newspaper should have a special correspondent in all the small towns in the surrounding community and can see no reason why your paper should have special correspondents in Juliaetta, Big Bear Ridge, Texas Ridge and Crescent and none in Spokane. This is a blow to our civic pride as a citizen of Spokane which you know is quite a thriving young community.

Now Will Rogers has taken over the democratic party and in doing so has set an example for other writers.

We thought that perhaps you would like to know that we are planning to take over the Kendrick Gazette. We prefer to have you remain in your present position and no radical change will be made except that we have appointed ourselves as special correspondent for Spokane. As you know this is an age of mergers and this latest merger should be of interest to the people of the Potlatch.

Last year we made a trip thru the Potlatch and were very hospitably treated by the people of Kendrick. This gives us a feeling of security and if we seem to be impertinent and facetious and to be taking in vain any of the names of your local citizens, we feel that they will take it in the proper spirit.

We noticed sometime back that Jack Barnes had again proven his heroism. Since that time we have been trying to get him a medal. We have felt that the Carnegie medal is not exclusive enough for Jack and have disregarded that possibility. There are special medals such as that offered by the Gugerhump foundation for saving a person from hanging himself by cutting the rope and the medal for preventing a person from burning to death by the use of a Pyrex fire extinguisher, but we can find no medal for rescuing a person from drowning after falling thru the ice by the use of a long pole. We are thinking of offering such a medal ourselves, or at least a certificate.

We have recently purchased a new automobile in which we will make a trip to Kendrick as soon as the roads are closed to navigation. We traded in our old car which is being used to tow our new car whenever the battery fails to operate the starting motor. In this way we eat our cake and have it as well. The advantages of our brand of automobile are as follows:

1. Forced feed lubrication.
2. Our wife likes the shape of the car.
3. Higher compression motor.
4. Our wife likes the body finish.
5. Bronze backed bearings, long connecting rods, etc.
6. Our wife likes the car.
7. We like the car.

We enjoyed a headline in your last issue in regard to the purchase made by Bill Cox of Juliaetta. If Bill wishes to purchase any more of it I have an unlimited supply to sell at the market price.

If Oscar's prediction regarding the snow is correct we predict that we will be a resident in some more nearly tropical climate next year.

Very seriously yours,
Lutie Fisk.

P. S. If this copy is rejected please forward it to the sanity commission for future reference.

Afternoon Bridge Club

The Afternoon Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Harold Thomas last Wednesday afternoon. High score was won by Mrs. L. J. Herres. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

THE STATE WE LIVE IN

By Byron Defenbach

The Balanced Boulders of Buhl

Fourteen miles southwest of Buhl in Twin Falls county the canyon of Salmon Falls Creek is 200 to 300 feet deep, but has a break leading to a natural ford of the stream which has been in use for many years. Along the walls of the canyon at this point the lava has been worn by the elements into strange and freakish monuments, pinnacles and towers, from which the crossing and the community have received the name "Castleford."

High up on a ledge forming one side of the canyon is one of the most remarkable Balanced Rocks in the world, comparing favorably with the much more widely advertised stone in the Garden of the Gods. It is not difficult of access from the main highway, and is well worth the time and trouble necessary for the tourist to see it. His first comment will be the ancient one to the effect that "There isn't any such animal."

The Buhl Rock is a massive irregular toadstool-shaped stone, 38 feet high, 27 feet across the top, connected to its base by a pedestal only a few inches thick. The visitor instinctively fears that it may topple over any moment. For the above description the writer is indebted to Mr. W. A. McCallum of the Buhl "Herald."

It is a current story that a local vandal once tried to bring this stone to earth with a pickaxe. When remonstrated with, he said he had lived there for 40 years and was tired of waiting for the blamed thing to fall.

"Don't you know," said the neighbor, "that stone contains over 5,000 cubic feet of lava and weighs 400 or 500 tons? If you had broken through the stem you would sure have been killed." The fellow said he knew it; said it was worth it. The pivot has since been artificially protected with a layer of cement.

These precariously balanced objects are deceiving. The top of the Woolworth Building waves several inches out of plumb in a high wind; it could vibrate several times as many feet without tipping over. The Leaning Tower of Pisa in Italy, 179 feet high, is 14 feet out of perpendicular at its top. Visitors often hesitate to climb its stairs; it looks ready to fall. It has looked just that way since A. D. 1350.

Rocking Stones

So-called "rocking stones" are entirely disconnected from their bases, thus differing from balanced rocks. A rocking stone may have resulted from erosion, or a glacier may have melted away under a huge fallen boulder leaving the latter in a state of unstable equilibrium. The largest rocking stone in the world is in Argentine, South America. The Logan Stone in Cornwall, England, weighs over 80 tons but is so nicely balanced that it can be rocked very easily.

The famous rocking stone of County Antrim, Ireland, is so delicately poised that it is popularly believed to "quiver and tremble at the approach of malefactors and sinners." One naturally wonders what a stone of that kind would do if it were visited by a joint session of the Idaho legislature.

It would probably rock itself clear out of the state we live in.

Fire Destroys Lewiston Garage

A fire that was discovered about 6:30 Monday evening practically destroyed the building and contents of the Lewis-Clark Motors in Lewiston. The loss was estimated at approximately $90,000. Along with the garage equipment and stock, there were 14 automobiles and 8 trucks burned.

The fire started in the workshop and was not discovered until the greater part of the building was a mass of flames. On account of the sub zero weather it was very difficult to fight the fire.

What Said He?

A grandfather was lecturing his granddaughter on the decadence of modesty these modern days. "I never see a blush on a girls face now," he said. "It was different in my day." "Oh, granddad," she exclaimed, doubtfully, "What could you have said to them?"

A Cold Day

This man, says a Kansas editor, must have been a member of the original Ananais club. "Yes, sah," he said: "It was so cold when I was with Doctor Cook, on the highest point of Mount McKinley, that one day I set a pan of hot water out to cool; it froze so rapidly that the ice was still warm when I went after it."

Name them.

Claude: "We leave them on the side of our plate."

Mr. Beardsley: What is the abbreviation for boulevard?
Ivan C.: "B. V. D."

An old codger went into a store to buy a handkerchief. The salesman showed a 50c linen one. "No," said the o. c., "a 10c one will do. I have plenty of them at home but they are both in the wash."

7th and 8th Grades

Monday morning during opening exercises, a meeting was called to order by Nellie Crocker, eighth grade president, for the purpose of planning for a Valentine party and also to elect a news reporter.

The party is to be given Wednesday evening in the lunch room of the school house.

Elizabeth Carlson was chosen news reporter for a term of four weeks.

The seventh and eighth grades took the gum money they had left after buying the pictures and bought some wheat for the birds this week.

Friday afternoon at 2:15 the seventh and eighth grades had a literary discussion. About twelve mothers and friends were present. Afterwards they went down to the domestic science room where the "Doll Dress Contest" was held. There were fifteen dresses to be judged. Elizabeth Carlson won the first prize, Hazel Reid, second; Margaret Schulze, third. The first prize was a sewing kit; the second, a pair of scissors; the third, a thimble. These prizes were given by Miss Weaver. The company gave a badge for each prize which was pinned on the dolls of the girls who won the prizes.

Edna Lohman is back in school again after having been absent for about three weeks on account of illness.

Patriotic Program

Tuesday afternoon, February 12, a short program was held in the high school assembly to recall to the minds of the students the great tasks and problems of the sixteenth president of the United States. Abraham Lincoln, who was born on that date, will always be remembered because of the many difficulties he settled for us during his presidency. The program was as follows:

Yankee Doodle: the girls whistled the first verse while the boys sang. The boys whistled the second verse while the girls sang, and so on thru the song. Battle Hymn of the Republic. Dixie Tramp! Tramp! Tramp! Just before the Battle, Mother. Responsive Readings. When Johnny Comes Marching Home.

Keep the Home Fires Burning. The Gettysburg Address, William Ingle.

Oh, Captain! My Captain! Miss Ledbetter.

A Talk on Lincoln, Mr. Beard-sley.

Jaunita.

The program was a short one, but it sent the students home thinking of the great difficulties that they could overcome and conquer as he did.

Juliaetta at Kendrick Tonight

Owing to the cold weather the Juliaetta basket ball team will play at Kendrick tonight, Friday, February 15, instead of at Juliaetta. Juliaetta played a fast but losing game with Kendrick some time ago and we are anxious to see the outcome after more practice.

Bill Ingle rushed from the house, one evening, but very soon came back just as hurriedly. On being asked the cause of his return he replied, "Oh, I got a sock instead of a handkerchief."

Double Header Here Friday

The girls and boys basket ball teams of Lapwai will play their return games at Kendrick, Friday, February 22. Although it will be the girls' second game of the season, it is their first game at home.

Liked the Chirping

A farmer and his wife lived near the village church. One warm Sunday evening while they sat dozing on the porch, the crickets set up a loud chirping. "I do enjoy hearing their chirping," said the farmer, drowsily, soon he was asleep. Presently the church choir burst forth into singing. "Just listen to that," murmured the wife. "Isn't that beautiful!" "Fine," muttered the farmer sleepily, "they do it with their hind legs."

Largest Fixed Star

The Navy Observatory says that Alpha Centauri (Auriga) is the largest fixed star of which we have reasonably accurate measurements. Its diameter is about 100,000,000 miles. In volume it is 100,000,000 times as large as the sun and 125,000,000 times as large as the earth. Its distance is probably 35 light years. This distance is 20,000,000 times as great as that of the sun from the earth.
