The human race in its migrations shows always two directional tendencies, of which the first is to follow a line of latitude. Similarity of climatic conditions tends to make us move eastward or westward, rather than from north to south or the reverse. The next tendency is to follow a watercourse, and it is here that the history of Idaho has a peculiar feature which may never have occurred to you.

He started his downward climb early in October, in the year 1811; it was Christmas when he abandoned the big limb at weiser. During those ninety days he and his party suffered hardships which, one historian tells us, "have no paralll in the annals of exploring and pioneering.

The foundations of our history were laid in an environment of hunger, of toil, of incredible privation. The discovery and exploraton of Idaho may have been a downhill pull, but it was an uphill job. We have many things to be proud of, and not least among them are the characters, the careers and the achievements of those dauntless men who first set white feet on the Indian trails that from time immemorial had crossed the state we live in.

Dairy Hints

Oats straw is a very poor feed for dairy cows. If you can cut the corn fodder it will be eaten better by the cows than oats straw.

It is just as possible to overfeed a cow as it is to underfeed, although it is more uncommon. One extreme is just as unprofitable as the other.

People who have been underfeeding their cows generally go to the other extreme whenever they are convined that thir present method of feeding is

The calf should receive the first milk or colostrum from its mother. Colostrum is thick, very yellow in color, and contains nearly six times the amount of protein contained in ordinary milk.

Disheloths fail to reach the cracks and crevices where dirt and bacteria are prone to lodge; they fail to cut grease and dirt, and it is almost impossible to keep them in a sweet, sanitary condition.

ing especially during the winter months, is one of the most common reducers of profits for the dairy farmer. Overfeeding, however, may be just as unprofitable.

Every dairy farmer should provide himself with a milk house to be used exclusively for the handling of milk and milk products. In building a milk house, do not place it too near the stable. Make it an entirely separate building with sufficient window space. Sunlight is a good disinfectant.

FAVOR SOY BEANS FOR DAIRY COW

Equal to Linseed Oilmeal as Protein Supplement.

Soy beans provide an excellent protein supplement for use in the grain ration for dairy cattle. Numerous experiments conducted by some of the leading experiment stations have proved ground soy beans to be equal to linseed oilment as a protein supplement in the dairy ration. Usually high protein feeds such as linseed oilmeal, cottonseed meal and corn gluten feed are high in price and if dairymen would grow more soy beans it would make them more independent of these high-priced protein feeds and insure a greater dairy income.

In feeding trials conducted at the Purdue university agricultural experiment station in 1923 comparing ground soy beans with linseed oilmeal, soy beans proved to be equal to linseed oilmeal as a protein supplement for dairy cattle when fed in the grain ration of corn and oats.

Experiments conducted at the Purdue and South Dakota stations comparing soy bean hay with alfalfa hay, sov bean hay was found to be practically equal to alfalfa hay when fed to dairy cattle.

Trials conducted at the Iowa station in 1922 in comparing ground soy beans with linseed oilmeal, as a protein supplement for the dairy ration, the ground soy beans proved to be worth $60 per ton when old process linseed oilmeal was selling for $45 per ton. In other words, the ground soy beans fed as a protein supplement to the basal grain ration of corn and oats were worth one-third more than the linseed oilmeal.

As a roughage for general herd feeding, good quality soy bean hay has proved to be just as good as alfalfa hay in the Purdue dairy herd the last winter. In fact we think so much of the bean hay that this year we will have 75 tons for winter feeding .- J. H. Hilton, Purdue university.

Figures Tell Story of

Dairy Herd Improvement Figures from more than 100,000 individual yearly records from cows on test in dairy herd improvement associations in the United States indicate that, on the average, cows producing 100 pounds of butterfat a year returned but $14 over the cost of feed.

Cows that produced 200 pounds of butterfut returned $54 above feed costs; those producing 300 pounds returned $96; the 400-pound producers returned $138; and the cows of 500 pounds butterfat production returned $178 above feed costs. Thus the man milking a 500-pound producer would have more net return than if he milked a dozen cows producing only 100 pounds of butterfat. This would take no account of the added labor of milking and caring for the larger herd or of the much greater expense of providing stable room for a herd instead of a single animal.

The production figures used in this calculation were obtained by the United States Department of Agriculture from the cow-testing associations of the country and the returns from butterfat are based on farm prices reported from all parts of the country.

It seems that lice prefer the less thrifty calves and on these they multiply and feed until the calf stops growing, loses weight and has very little resistance left.

It should be clear that after giving a cow the first half of a full ration necessary to keep her alive, and after giving her barn room, running the risk of her dying, and doing chores for her the year around, it is the peorest possible economy not to give her the second half of a full ration, which she will use in producing milk.

MOLASSES HAS EDGE ON CORN

Good Results at Ohio Station Have Been Obtained.

Cane molasses in the poultry ration possesses certain distinct advantages over corn, when substituted for that grain in quantities up to 10 per cent of the ration. This has been established by two years of experimental work by the poultry husbandry department of the Ohio State university. The molasses has replaced corn on a pound-for-pound basis. "It has given equally good results in rations for starting and growing chickens, laying hens and fattening birds," says Prof. A. R. Winter of the poultry department, in discussing the results of the

In a test with laying hens, those fed on a ration containing 5 per cent of molasses laid 16.93 per cent more eggs than a group fed with corn and no molasses. At the same time the mortality among them was only 5 per cent as compared to 12.5 per cent among the hens which got no molasses. The test was carried on during the fall and winter months.

Growing chicks, at eight weeks of age, weighed 17.7 per cent more when fed a 5 per cent molasses ration, and suffered a mortality of only 7.32 per cent as against 12.39 per cent for the chicks which received corn instead of molasses. When fed 10 per cent molasses the chicks weighed only 16.5 per cent more, but the mortality had been reduced to 4.88 per cent.

"The cane molasses carries some vitamine B and furnishes carbohydrates in easily available form," says Professor Winter, "The potassium salts in the product serve as a mild laxative. It is believed that the carbohydrates create a condition in the intestine unfavorable to the development of coccidiosis and other harmful bacteria. This theory is under investigation at the present time."

Milk Solids Favored

for All Kinds of Fowl Skim milk solids are fundamental in the poultry rations recommended by Massachusetts Agricultural college in Extension Leaflet No. 6. Laying mash formula is: 100 pounds bran, 100 pounds middlings, 200 pounds yellow corn meal, 100 pounds ground oats, 50 pounds meat scrap, 25 pounds "powdered milk," 25 pounds alfalfa leaf meal, 5 pounds fine salt, 25 pounds steamed bone meal; and the grain formula is 100 pounds each of cracked corn, whole corn, wheat, or barley and oats. In addition the leaflet recommends: "Feed skim milk whenever available . . . When all the skim milk the bird will consume is available, meat scrap need not be fed." For chicks, the laying mash with an additional 25 pounds of dry skim milk is recommended, together with chick grain, 200 pounds fine cracked corn, and 100 pounds cracked wheat. Milk solids in the laying mash amount to 4 per cent; in the chick mash to 8 per cent:

Sprouted Oats Needed

by the Laying Hens

"Sprouted oats for laying hens," is a formula that should be in every poultryman's feeding guide, says G. L. Stevenson, of the South Dakota State college. It's not very expensive either. However, it does require a warm room or basement.

Equipment needed for sprouting oats may be homemade. The hoxes should be shallow, not over three or four inches deep. In preparing the oats for sprouting, it should be soaked overnight in a bucket or tub. A few drops of formaldehyde added to the water in which the oats is soaked will prevent mold from developing. Moldy grain is often fatal to poultry.

After the oats has been soaked and drained it may be spread out in the boxes and kept in a warm room or in a heated sprouting device. In a few days when the oats sprouts have attained a length of two or three inches, they will be ready for feeding,

Broody Hen Care

When several broody bens are sitting in coops close against one another, it may save much potential trouble if each bird is tethered by a long, thin cord from one leg to her nestbox. This will insure that, after her spell off duty, she joins her own nest and not a neighbor's, as she is otherwise liable to do. A hen may settle down for a short time on a strange nest, but soon she finds out her mistake, jumps up, and so allows the eggs to be chilled.

Use for Vitamine D

Vitamine D, which is found in cod liver oil, is useful in helping to properly assimilate minerals. This vitamine is furnished by the direct rays of sunshine. During winter months. sunshine does not contain as many of these helpful rays as in summer. When sunshine passes through ordinary glass a great deal of the helpful influence is lost. These two factors make it possible to utilize cod liver oil to advantage in winter rations for laying hens.

HATCH TURKEYS IN INCUBATORS

Eggs Given Same Treatment as the Ordinary Hen.

. It takes 28 days but turkey eggs can be hatched in incubators just the same as hens' eggs. Turkey raisers in several parts of Colorado are saving hours and days of hard labor that way and in the eastern part of Wyoming it is almost the universal prac-

The big job is to get enough eggs together at one time for a full-sized setting. They should not be held for more than ten days, according to Charles N. Keen of the Colorado agricultural college, should be kept at a temperature of from 50 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit, and turned daily. The incubator should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected then warmed to the correct temperature. The temperature of hatching turkeys' eggs in' the case of small machines, where the heat is at the top, may be one-half degree to one degree lower average than for hens' eggs. As a guide for those who do not have the instructions for their machine, the average temperature starts at about 101 degrees and increases to about 103 or 104 degrees the last week. If the eggs carry good fertility, the body heat from the developing poults will gradually bring up the temperature of the machine.

Additional moisture is needed as with hens' eggs. (A tray of sand kept wet will supply it.) Turkey poults should not be taken from the incubator until they are thoroughly dried off and appear strong on their legs.

When the eggs are set under hens or turkey hens, steps should be taken to insure freedom from lice or mites as these parasites cause very serious losses among the young poults. The nest boxes should be sprayed before the eggs are set. The setting hen should be dusted thoroughly with saponified sodium fluoride or some other good lice powder at least three times during the latter part of the setting period, but prior to the twenty-fifth day.

Define Good Litter

for Brooder House

There is no best litter to use in the brooder house, but there are certain requirements a litter must meet to be satisfactory. It should be light in weight, thus allowing the droppings and dirt to work to the floor so the chicks are less likely to come in contact with contaminated material; it should be absorbent, and therefore capable of keeping the floor of the brooder house dry; cheap, so one can afford to replace it every five days after the first four weeks; and should be clean, which means free from mold, 1 ply or utilization of lime for the purmustiness and dust. Shavings, cut straw and cut hay meet these requirements. These are not the only materials that one can use, but they are among the best. Straw or hay used for litter, should always be cut. If the straw or hay is not cut it becomes matted and covered with droppings, and is therefore of no value for litter.

Bacillary white diarrhea, coecidiosis, and intestinal worms are spread to a large extent by dirty litter, the Cornell experiment station warns. One rule in brooding chicks that should be followed, if all others are forgotten. is "clean the broader house every five days." This means removing the litter, sweeping the floor of the brooder house, and putting in clean litter.

ϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙϙο Poultry Hints

Žanananananananananaä Do not condemn the late molting old hens, for they are very often our best and most continuous layers.

If the poultry house is not provided with ample window space so that the entire floor may be well lighted even during the winter days, additional windows should be put in.

The use of cod liver oil in rations for baby chicks that are hatched in early spring has been well established.

Egg-shell formation necessitates the use of large amounts of lime. Poor egg-shell texture is due to faulty suppose.

Fewer chicks on new ground with good management will bring better re turns than many chicks hatched and but few saved, by raising them with the flock on old ground.

Keep pullets away from the old hens so that they can be fed and handled differently.

Feed for setting hens should consist mostly of whole grains, such as corn and wheat. Green feeds and meat tend to make them desire to quit setting and begin laying,

Provide plenty of hopper space to give each chick a chance to eat. If the chicks are raised with hens there should be a feed coop that the large chickens cannot get into.

Rules Issued

for Basket Law

Growers Are Advised to Dispose of Old Containers Now Illegal.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Growers who use baskets which are illegal under the Standard Container Act of 1928 should dispose of such baskets prior to November 1, 1929, the United States Department of Agriculture has announced in connection with regulations covering administration of the act.

The act applies to baskets in both Intrastate and interstate commerce. Growers are advised by the department to regulate their purchases so that all nonstandard baskets will be disposed of before November 1, 1929.

State Laws Inoperative. Another effect of the law, in the opinion of the solicitor for the department, is to make inoperative all state laws fixing weights per bushel for fruits and vegetables, when such commodities are sold in baskets meeting its requirements. This means that no state law which is in any way in conflict with the federal act, either in the matter of prescribed weights or dimension specifications, can be en ble. Most harness rooms, so-called, forced as to fruits and vegetables sold are immediately behind the animals or in hampers and baskets which comply at some place in the barn where they

The Standard Container Act of 1928. passed during the last session of con- to estimate the loss in harness leathgress, fixes standards for hampers, er due to its subjection to the conround stave baskets and splint bas-ditions just described. The ammonia kets for fruit and vegetables, and for fumes cat the life out of the leather, other purposes. Administration of the law is in the bureau of agricultural economics, which bureau is also administering the act of 1916 to fix standards for Climax baskets for ly washing the harness twice yearly, grapes and other fruits and vegetables. and to fix standards for baskets and other containers for small fruits, berries, and vegetables, and for other purposes.

The new legislation defines standard hampers and round stave baskets for fruits and vegetables to be of the fol lowing capacities: 1/2 bushel, 1/4 bushel, 11/2 bushels, 11/2 bushels, and 2 bushels. For the purposes of the act a bushel, standard dry measure, has a capacity of 2,150.42 cubic inches.

Baskets and Hampers Banned. Standard splint baskets for fruits and vegetables, under the act, shall be the 4-quart basket, S-quart basket, 12quart basket, 16-quart basket, 24-quart basket, and 32-quart basket, standard dry measure, a quart standard dry measure having a capacity of 67.2 cubic inches.

The legislation requires that "No manufacturer shall manufacture hampers, round stave baskets, or splint baskets for fruits and vegetables unless the dimension specifications for such (containers) shall have been submitted to and approved by the secretary of agriculture." Also, that "It shall be unlawful to manufacture for sale or shipment, to offer for sale, to offer for shipment, or to ship, hampers, round stave baskets or splint baskets for fruits and vegetables, either filled or untilled, or parts of such hampers, round stave baskets, or splint baskets that do not comply with ance of a greater or larger capacity than that of a standard container, or which is not readily distinguishable from another standard container, is of deceptive appearance.

Copies of the regulations which define the capacity and appearance of containers, tolerances and variations may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Harness Should Be Kept

in Clean Special Room

Every farmer should provide a special room for his harness, separated from the main part of the horse staabsorb a large portion of the ammonia . fumes that arise. It would be difficult causing it to crack, break and eventunlly go to pieces. Overcome this condition by all means, and supplement it with the practice of thoroughallowing it to dry, after which it is thoroughly greased with some dependable harness oil. This, in reality, is not a minor problem; it is one of extrems importance, and yet often sadly neglected by many farmers.

Beekeepers Find Honey

Bees Dead in Winter Beekeepers who find dead honey

bees in front of the hives may conclude that they have frozen to death. The chances are, however, that they were overworked and died of exhaustion, according to Prof. W. A. Price of Purdue university.

Bees, unlike many other insects, do not hibernate. They are active during the entire winter. They keep warm and escape freezing by clustering and developing heat by tensing the muscles. The cluster is so arranged that there is considerable space within it, thus permitting which activity. The bees on the outside of the cluster are arranged compactly, and in a way that prevent the rapid escape of heat developed by those inside the cluster.

Prepare Now To Harvest The Sure-Profit. Way

HERE is one way of making the harvest sure—of reducing costs . . . of saving grain . . . of increasing crop profits.

That way, as hundreds of modern farmers in the Enland Empire have discovered, is by combine threshing with a Holt Combined Harvester powered by a "Caterpillar" Tractor.

The "Holt"

The Holt Combined Harvester . . . strong, roomy, perfectly balanced, each part built better to serve better and longer . . . eliminates the need of costly binder twine, wipes out the expense of shocking and hauling bundles, reduces threshcrews to two or three instead of twenty. No more large checks to custom threshers . . . no more weeks of labor exchange . . . a Holt means better, quicker, cheaper and easier harvesting . . . added profits and greater enjoyment of life for the entire family.

Recent price re

Harvestor and "Caterpillar"

Tractor.

The "Caterpillar"

The "Caterpillar" . . . pioneer of track-type tractors . . . armored against time and weather . . . built for sure traction on hills or level and in all soil conditions . . . its sturdy power plant of steels hardened and toughened to meet the most unusual working strains, resist wear and stand shocks . . . its thorough dust protection, comfortable deep cushioned seat, easy and economical operation . . . adds surely and greatly to the saving of time, labor and money during har-

The Model TEN

NEW—but with the years of experience of the pioneer builders of track-type tractors behind it. Small—10 drawbar h. p.—but with a good surplus of power. Compact—but a little package of quality. An expanded organization, increased equipment, bigger factories have made it possible to produce this ideal tractor for the smaller power user—a tractor to give even broader fame to the "Caterpillar" name—at—

Here's the Engine With Big Advantages

The remarkable popularity of the John Deere Farm Engine is due to several advantages which put it far in advance of all other types of farm engines. It's the engine that will run as long as there is fuel in the tank without one moment's attention, and it's unusually safe to operate. Put an end to engine worries with the
