THE STATE WE LIVE IN

By Byron Defenbach

Our First Fifty Years

The growth and development of a country is not a steady continuous process; it proceeds rather by a series of waves or impulses. These modest articles necessarily confine themselves to what slang calls the "high spots." The papers who are publishing them would not accept a mass of detail, for the very good reason that you would not read it. But every citizen of Idaho should have pride enough in his own country to carry in his mind at least a skeleton of the geography and history of the state.

The geographical high lights of Idaho are the five great rivers that flow forever from its high eastern borders to the land of the sunset. And as the physical structure of the state rests upon these five basic features, so is its history an elaboration of five fundamental forms of progress. The first of these was discovery. Lewis and Clark went across the state's middle in 1805. In the next seven years Thompson had traversed the North, and Hunt the South.

Exploitation follows discovery; the newcomer takes off the cream. The fur-wealth of Idaho was but a thin stratum of the country's resources, but it was the most obvious, the most easily possessed and converted. Our first fifty years, the second period of our development, were the years of the trapper and the hunter.

Nor was this lost form of our wealth, while perhaps comparatively small, by any means negligible. There must have been an enormous profusion of fur-bearing life in our country a hundred years ago. It is true that for some unknown reason buffalo west of the divide were growing rapidly less before white men came; it is also true that deer and similar forms of game were less plentiful than now. But the furry folks, from beaver down, must have swarmed. Trappers swarmed, too; at least a third of them died violently, or from exposure.

There was little of permanent growth. The Spaldings located at Lapwai; Father DeSmit built his mission on the Coeur d'Alene; the Mormon people came to the Lemhi; Fort Hall and Fort Boise were built only to be abandoned.

The Oregon Trail echoed one day with the song of the emigrant, and the next with his screams. If he stopped in Idaho it was not as a settler; it was as a scalped and mangled victim on the banks of the Boise or the Snake. We did not even know to what country we might look for protection until Polk came with his cry of "fifty-four forty or fight."

Fur-bearing life all but disappeared; the country was literally skinned. We had reached the end of our second period, when one summer evening in 1860 a group of five men and a woman camped at the mouth of a little stream in the North. That evening there was born a new Idaho, a birth announced by the cry of Sutter's Mill, of the Klondike and the Yukon. It was the yell of "Gold."

Unfortunately

A young man about to board a train for his return to college, was admonished by his father to keep his conduct good. "Don't let me hear any bad reports about you," the father said. "I'll try not to, dad," the boy replied, "but you know these things will leak out occasionally."—Ex.

Death of Richard Hedler

Richard Hedler, age 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hedler of Juliaetta, passed away at a Lewiston hospital last Sunday morning. Funeral services were held in the Lutheran church in Juliaetta, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Ehlen of Cameron, officiating. Interment was made in the Fox ridge cemetery.

Held Caucus Last Tuesday

A caucus was held in the city hall last Tuesday evening at 8:30 for the purpose of nominating candidates for the office of Village trustee. There was a small attendance at the meeting.

The terms of Trustee Dummerell and Trustee Ed Deobald will expire. Two trustees will be elected to fill their places. Those nominated at the caucus were W. J. Carroll, E. T. Long, E. A. Deobald and F. M. Long.

The election will be held at the city hall April 23. Registration books are now open at the office of the city clerk. Everyone who wishes to vote at this election must register. Anyone who has lived in the state for the past six months, in the town of Kendrick for the past three months and is 21 years of age, is a qualified elector after he has registered.

County Health Officer J. W. Stevenson of Moscow was in Kendrick, Wednesday consulting with Dr. Morehead in regard to the smallpox situation here. He was well satisfied with conditions. There are only three cases in town so far reported and they are the J. G. Gardner home and Cardinal home, which have been quarantined. There is one case at the Riley home east of Kendrick which is also quarantined. The cases are light and getting along nicely.

New Harrow-Drill Hook-Up Plants 150 Acres a Day

This photograph from Waha Prairie, Idaho, shows the new harrow-drill hook-up as practiced by F. W. Schwandt. With the caterpillar pulling five grain drills for a 55-foot sweep, he covers 150 acres in a ten-hour day. Only two men—one on the tractor and one on the drills—are needed to operate this labor and money-saving hook-up.

Alexander Store Sold

Tribune: One of Idaho's oldest and most famous stores went out of existence here Monday when negotiations were closed with Herman Wegner and P. F. Spekker by Stanley Talbot, as representative of the Servey Store company, of Denver, for the remaining stock of the Alexander Department store. He also closed a 5-year lease with A. W. Kroutinger on the Kroutinger building at 628-630 Main Street, the quarters occupied by the store until destroyed by fire in December.

The new department store will be in operation within six weeks.

The deal for the purchase of the Alexander stock has been pending for the past month but final settlement on the price to be paid was not made until Monday morning. The store will be stocked with new merchandise, several shipments already arriving.

A. B. Servey, president of the Servey Store company, having their head office in Denver, Colo., operators of a dozen or more department stores in the middle west, was in Lewiston three weeks ago in connection with the deal and left for his home after placing all matters pending in the hands of Mr. Talbot for final adjustment. In the new firm, Mr. Talbot will be in sole charge as manager, aside from having a financial interests in the business as well as in the operating company.

Leased Kendrick Hotel

M. O. Raby & Son have leased the seven upstairs rooms and the lower floor rooms of the Kendrick Hotel building from Mr. Heiber of Spokane, the deal being closed last week. They plan to make a number of changes in the present arrangements and put in a number of substantial improvements. The seven upstairs rooms will be used for transient trade. They will be newly furnished through out. They were recently refurnished and put in first class shape.

The lower rooms will be used for a lobby, dining room and lunch counter and pool room. The west room, formerly used for a dining room, will be occupied by the pool room with swinging doors between it and the corner room now occupied by the lunch counter and confectionery.

Raby & Son will also have charge of the renting of the five upstairs apartments, which were recently finished. The apartments are not furnished but they will be equipped with electric ranges and heating stoves.

The dining room will be equipped with an up-to-date lunch counter and dining tables where regular meals and short orders will be served. The dining room will furnish a much needed service to the traveling public.

Helping Her Hubby

The young doctor sat down wearily in his easy chair, turned to his wife affectionately. "Has my darling ben lonely?" "Oh, no," she said. "At least not very lonely. I've found something to do with my time." "Or," he said; "What is that?" "I'm organizing a class. A lot of women are members, we're teaching each other to cook." "What do you do with the things you cook?" asked the doctor. "Send them to the neighbors." "Dear little woman," he returned, kissing her. "Always thinking of your husband's practice."—Exchange.

Kendrick Presbyterian Church

We have come to the close of another church year with a very good report. We are able to report the addition of 17 new members, 7 on confession of faith and 10 by church letters. The congregation is gradually building up and our Sunday school is also showing a good increase, 97 being our record attendance. We have set our goal at 125 which we feel quite sure of making in the next few weeks, so we are asking the cooperation of the people who are not enrolled elsewhere, to come and meet with us. Easter Sunday was a very good day with one of the best congregations of the year. This is very encouraging and we cordially invite the public to attend next Sunday. Don't forget the time. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. Christian Endeavor 6:30 p. m. Everybody invited to all of these services. N. E. Franklin, Pastor

B. C. Custer of Juliaetta was transacting business in Kendrick last Tuesday.

Organized Baseball League

A meeting was held at Troy Wednesday evening for the purpose of organizing a baseball league comprising the towns of Potlatch, Bovill, Elk River, Genesee, Troy and Kendrick. Representatives were present from all places except Genesee, but in a telephone conversation a representative of that town gave assurance that they were willing to enter the league and would abide by the result of the meeting.

Officers were elected as follows: Jack Barnes of Kendrick, president; Murray Andrews of Potlatch, secretary-treasurer. The manager of each team will be a member of the board of directors. A schedule has been arranged which will be published next week. It calls for the opening games to start April 21. Kendrick will play Potlatch here on that date.

The name of the league is White Pine Latah League.

Representatives who attended the Troy meeting from here were Jack Barnes and Tony Eichner.

PREVENT LOSS BY CLEAN HANDLING

Souring Is Caused by Bacteria After Milking.

Clean production, prompt cooling, and frequent deliveries will prevent the souring of milk and will put dollars in the pockets of dairy farmers.

"This souring is caused by bacteria which get into the milk after it is drawn from the cow and can only be prevented by the most careful handling," says John A. Arey, extension dairyman at North Carolina State college.

When first drawn from the cow, milk contains very few if any of the bacteria and the contamination comes from outside sources. Chief among these are the cow's body, the hands of the person doing the milking, the air and the containers.

Mr. Arey states that all of the sources can be eliminated by seeing that the cow's flanks and udder are thoroughly cleaned before milking, that the milker's hands are clean, and that all vessels or containers have been cleaned and sterilized.

These containers should first be rinsed in lukewarm water and then scrubbed with a heavy brush in water to which has been added a strong alkali solution. They should then be sterilized with live steam or some chemical made for that purpose. All utensils in which the seams are not well flushed with solder should be avoided as these crevices are hard to clean and furnish a harboring place for bacteria.

The milk should be cooled as soon as possible after milking, placed in the containers in which it is to be delivered and stored in a refrigerator or cooling tank. Only by taking these precautions can the dairyman prevent the milk from souring and be sure of delivering pure, sweet milk to the market, states Mr. Arey.

The Happy Miserable

Before you sympathize with folks who are miserable, determine if they enjoy being miserable. There are people who are never happy except when they are miserable.—Athenian Globe.

Unsafe for Husbands

One husband declares in the American Magazine that the most malign invention of the modern day is the one which has made the world unsafe for husbands: the invention being referred to is the automobile.

Earliest Form of "Pie"

The name pie probably was evolved from the French "pain," meaning bread, and from "ped," meaning feet, for the early method of cooking a fowl was to cover it with a dough and bake leaving the feet sticking out through the crust to serve as a handle.

Training For Vocations

By means of letters from notable men and a vocational chart Mr. Jones, of the Curtis Publishing Co. pointed out to the students the reasons for giving serious thought now to training for their vocations. A copy of the chart, which cost the Curtis Co. $19,000 has been left at the school to enable students to make a more detailed study of opportunities and their own ability to take advantage of them.

The second phase of the visit dealt with means of replenishing the student body treasury. His suggestion that the students be divided into two teams, competing to sell well-known magazines for which they will be given commissions that will be turned into the Student Body fund, was greeted with approval.

The two sides, the "reds" and "greens" with E. Long and H. Biehner as captains have one week in which to sell subscriptions. The losers are to give the winners a party. Besides the sport of the contest and the incentive to better school finances, the company offers several individual prizes to the students selling three or more subscriptions of the following magazines: Ladies Home Journal, The Country Gentleman and the Saturday Evening Post.

Grade School Notes

The primary pupils have enjoyed studying Holland during the past month. They made the sand table into a Dutch scene with ocean dikes, windmills, etc., and window decorations of tulips. Each child mounted a picture of a little Dutch girl and wrote a story about her.

This month the children will study birds and their habits and usefulness to man. The seat work will include free hand cutting and coloring of birds' nests and clay modeling of the same.

At a teacher's meeting held Saturday in the local schools a "Conduct Improvement" program was given by the following teachers: Messrs. Beardsley and Jarvis and Misses Weitz and Dille; a current events club demonstration by Miss Mary Weaver and some of her pupils as follows: Clifford Franklin, Blanche Aiken, June Davis, Nettie McDowell and Allie Foster.

The third and fourth grades enjoyed a little Easter party Friday afternoon. They had planned for a weiner roast, but owing to the weather, the little people played in their room and were happy enough with their bright colored eggs and buns.

The Misses Dille and Weavers were Friday night guests of Miss Mabel Weaver of Lewiston.

Miss Ledbetter was unable to teach school Friday of last week or Monday morning of this week on account of illness.

Wise Rule of Life

Let every dawn of morning be to you as the beginning of life, and every setting sun be to you as its close. Then let every one of these short lives leave its sure record of some kindly thing done for others, some goodly strength or knowledge gained for your selves.—John Ruskin.

Commercial Students Train For Sub-District Contest

Intensive training for the sub-district commercial contest to be held at Moscow the latter part of the month began last week. In order to train the girls to concentrate on their work under trying conditions, they were ordered to type in the window of the Washington Water Power Co's office last Saturday evening.

Every noon during the week the typists have written on machines placed in the hall in order that they may become oblivious of the confusion around them.

It is hoped that the general confusion will get them used to contest conditions and enable them to do their best in the coming contest.

Girls Enjoy a Supper

Another supper was enjoyed immensely by a group of the high school girls in the domestic science room last Wednesday evening. Those attending were: Lillian Long, Georgine Christensen, Eleanor Herres, Edna Lohman, Mae Freytag, Marjory Davidson, Neva Ware, Irene Davis, Bessie Blevins, Bessie Morey, Edna Emmett, Edna Stanton, Doris Emery and Mrs. Jarvis who was chaperone for the evening.

Basket Ball Girls Entertain

Don't miss the program to be given by the Basket Ball Girls next Tuesday evening at the New Kendrick Theatre; it consists of the following:

A piano solo. "The Smith Mystery" (a play). A duet. "His Wife's First Husband" (a play). A vocal solo. A piano solo. "Hanging out the Wash" (a play). Song by the basket ball girls. Music. A special. Everyone is urged to come.

The high school boys have taken over base ball and boxing—this is another sure sign of spring.

Bessie: "Carl, I shall never dine out with you again, if you're going to be so vulgar."

Carl: "Why what did I do?"

Bessie: "You ate as if you were actually enjoying it."

Give Dairy Cows Silage
With Their Winter Feed

Corn silage is the best and most economical way of providing cattle with the succulence necessary in dairy feeding, says the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York. Some way must be provided to carry pasture conditions over into winter feeding and silage is the best form of succulence to be provided.

Good legume hay with a succulent feed furnishes a combination of protein, minerals, and succulence which comes as near as possible to pasture conditions. This palatable and bulky feed is good for the digestive tract, and is economical as a source of carbohydrates. Corn silage stimulates the appetites of the animals so that they do not easily go off feed; they consume larger amounts of roughage than when fed on hay alone.

Get Cow Into Condition
During Its Dry Period

Largest profit during the milking period may be expected only from cows that have been gotten in good condition during the dry period. Cows that are thin at calving time never have an opportunity to do their best.

Silage and a legume hay are the best foundation of a ration for the heifer or dry cow. The fitting ration should be fed liberally (from 7 to 12 pounds per day) for a period of four to six weeks before calving excepting that when within a week or ten days of calving it is best to change to a lighter and milder laxative ration.
Equal parts of corn or hominy feed, wheat bran, ground oats, and from 10 to 25 per cent of linseed oil meal approaches the ideal as a grain mixture for the preparation period.

Dairy Facts

It doesn't pay to overfeed. Over-feeding usually leads to digestive disorders that play hob with the calf.

Inch board overlays or cork brick floors under cows insure against many udder troubles which arise from cold concrete floors.

Experiments at different experiment stations show that ground corn is worth 16 per cent more than whole corn when fed to dairy cows.

Slimy, stringy, andropy milk are all caused by bacteria. Such bacteria may come from water or ice, and cows after wading through surface water may carry these bacteria on their bodies to the barn.

Sweet clover pastures seem to give best satisfaction to dairymen who supplement the pasture with silage, hay or grain.

Grooming cows will directly or indirectly prove profitable. It improves the quality of the milk and affords satisfaction to the owner.

Particular care must be taken of milk and cream. They should be kept in a cool place in earthen or glass containers, and should be covered so as not to absorb any sort of odors.

Southern Pulchritude

"Clothes," says a meretricious ad in a New York paper, "make the college girl." Maybe so up there, but here our lovely, fresh smiling young college girls make the clothes.—Colum-
