Operettas Given

The operetta given by the high school Glee club last Friday played to a fair sized crowd. Each of the girls did her part in helping to show that a title is not everything, in the operetta, "Lady Frances," and trying to help Madame Lazare sell the gowns to the Goldores. Even Oley decided to swim to America and help as well as to console Olga.

The proceeds are to be used to buy the basketball letters for both boys and girls.

CITY WATER RENT RAISED —PARK TREES DISCUSSED

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Tuesday night, when regular routine business was handled and the monthly budget of bills allowed.

The water rent was raised from $1.00 (the minimum) for the first 3,000 gallons used, to $1.50. The point was raised that the second 3,000 gallons used, at 35 cents a thousand, under the prevailing rate, amounted to five cents more than the first 3,000 gallons used and the council thought that hardly fair. But since the rate was considered to be low enough, the only thing that could well be done was to raise the price of the first 3,000 gallons used to a rate the same as it used to be several years ago.

The question of thinning out the trees in a portion of the village park was also discussed at some length but no conclusion was reached as to just what should be done; although it was generally conceded that something should be done, as some of the trees were growing too tall and were unable to branch out owing to the closeness of all the trees in that portion of the park. And, too, they are just a bit thick for convenient driving through the park. And since this is used as a tourist park during the summer, a little thinning of the trees would add very materially to the ease of driving through it.

A portion of the park was ordered plowed and leveled in order that it might be reseeded as the greater portion of that plowed-up was principally grown up to weeds.

Car Turns Turtle — Boy Hurt

Lloyd Reber, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Reber, Twin Falls, was taken to White's hospital at 7:30 o'clock Monday night weak and bleeding with severe cuts on his right arm between the wrist and elbow. The tendons and arteries were severed in an automobile accident four miles west of Juliaetta at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

According to Mr. Reeber, he and his wife and their three children left Twin Falls en route to Spokane, stopping off at Juliaetta to visit relatives on Fix Ridge. The Reber children went out for a ride in an automobile driven by Elsie Peeler, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peeler, living on the ridge. The machine became unmanageable near the Walter Clark place and crashed into an embankment.

The car was traveling at a fairly high rate of speed when the smash-up occurred and climbed the hillside six feet before it toppled over backwards. Lloyd Reber was injured by flying glass and another son of Mr. and Mrs. Reber, Irwin, was badly cut on the head. He was treated at Juliaetta. The car was badly damaged.

At the hospital it was said that the tendons were sewed and the arteries closed, and that the boy's condition was favorable, although he was weak from the loss of much blood.

Oppenborn Taking Census

C. A. Oppenborn has been appointed census enumerator of the Kendrick precinct and work of taking the census was begun on Wednesday morning of this week. The village census will first be taken and then the rest of the precinct will be listed.

Major Henry M. Jones of Lewiston, supervisor of the census for Nez Perce, Latah, Clearwater, Lewis and Idaho counties was in town Friday and made the appointment.

Are You Going?

It is expected that quite a delegation from Kendrick will go to Moscow next Tuesday night to attend a meeting of the Masonic lodge in that city, when a dinner will be given in the evening and the degree of Master Mason will be exemplified.

M. O. Raby asks that all those expecting to go please notify him by Saturday evening so that their name may be entered on the list of banqueters.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES OF MUCH INTEREST

The Senior Sneak

The morning of April Fool's Day at 3:30 found the senior class ready to set forth on their "sneak," accompanied by Mr. Jones and Newt Morey, who took his car along for transportation purposes. Although Newt is a junior, Kendrick was abandoned without arousing the slightest suspicion of the juniors. Upon arrival at Lewiston the merry group ate breakfast at the Majestic cafe. Continuing their journey from there, they arrived at their destination—Asotin park—after considerable loss of time spent in repairing tires. No one being comfortably warm, Mr. Jones built a fire immediately, which was soon abandoned for such amusements as horseshoe and baseball games. An entire baseball game was played but no definite decision was made concerning the winning side. Explorations were made and about 10 o'clock they wanted to eat again, so they demanded a combination of dinner and another breakfast.

A greater part of the afternoon was spent in riding around in the cars. About 3:30 Asotin was left behind for good. They came back to Lewiston, attended a couple of shows there and returned home. It can be truthfully said that every minute of the day was enjoyed by all of them. Though it is, of the past, they have many pleasant memories of it and regret that they are only allowed one sneak day.

Kendrick Wins In Baseball

In the season's first game last Friday afternoon at Juliaetta the K. H. S. baseball team defeated the Juliaetta team, 13-6. All the boys helped to bring in the scores, and thus win the game. Several Kendrick students attended.

Although the teams to represent the school in the commercial contest April 8 have not yet been chosen all pupils are working hard to gain places on them.

At 7:30 in the Methodist church a short program will be given at which time the awards will be presented. The public is invited to attend this program.

Seniors Select Play

The play selected by the Senior class for the regular Senior play is the "Jade God." The play is full of mystery and is quite entertaining. Practice will begin as soon as books are received.

Kitty to Arrive in a Week

As the weeks pass we find the arrival of Kitty only a week away. She will be here at 8 o'clock next Friday evening at the Kendrick Theater.

Seventh and Eighth Grades

Kenneth Brock returned home Sunday from the hospital at Lewiston, where he was operated on recently for appendicitis. He is recovering quickly and expects to come back to school in a few days.

The eighth grade is very busy studying for their state examinations, which will be given April 9, 10, and 11.

Two new monitors have been elected for our room. They are Annabel Davis and Margaret Dougherty.

The seventh and eighth grade room is practicing on their play. Clifford Franklin is leaving for Lapwai with his parents this week and Mr. Dickson is substituting for his part in the play.

Fifth and Sixth Grades

The sixth grade are learning to bandage. If you have any broken bones or injured limbs, come in. Both patient and doctor enjoy the work immensely.

The fifth grade are studying the value of canals to westward expansion in their history.

Tuesday night the fifth graders entertained the sixth grade on a Weiner roast. On the way home Margaret Davis fell and sprained her ankle. She was unable to attend school Wednesday.

Third and Fourth Grades

The third grade literature class enjoyed the stories regarding Mark Twain and Mrs. Alice Hegon Rice. It was interesting for the students to note that these authors were very familiar with their subject matter before attempting to write "Tom Sawyer" and "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabage Patch." The fact that the

CARLSON WILL ORGANIZE BEGINNERS BAND HERE

A. K. Carlson, who has been directing the Kendrick band for the past several years, has decided to organize a beginners' band and asks that all boys and girls 12 years of age or more, or those with some musical ability, regardless of age, come to the city hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when a beginners' band will be formed, providing he can get enough boys and girls who are really interested to make the effort.

In summing up the present band situation Mr. Carlson said: "We have too many beginners now for the regular band to absorb. A beginners' band will give the young musician a chance to start at the beginning and work up to the point where he can handle regular band music."

Mr. Carlson stated that there will be no charge made for instruction, which will include easy band work, as well as individual instruction, where necessary. "All we ask," he continued, "is that you furnish your instruments and instruction books," and stated that the leader will be glad to help you pick out an instrument from some music house; which can be bought if desired, on easy terms.

Surely this is a wonderful offer for any boy or girl who is interested in music to learn it free of charge. It should appeal to all youngsters and their parents.

Pullman Has Dog Chorus

The W. S. C. glee clubs and quartets are not the only source of "music" that Pullman is enjoying, according to a news dispatch from that city dated April 1—and they weren't foolin' either!

Police headquarters was flooded Tuesday with dogs of all sizes and descriptions, as the open season on dogs without a license tag went into effect. The new ordinance does not provide for a dog catcher, but offers a bounty of 50 cents for each licenseless dog brought in.

Twelve dogs were in the makeshift pound behind the city hall when the noon whistle blew and a real deluge of canines followed when school let out.

Howls of varied trebles issued from the pound and could be heard on Main street all day. By evening a real choral offering developed.

Bridge Club Entertain Husbands

The ladies of the Afternoon Bridge club entertained their husbands at a delightful 7 o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyd Wednesday evening. After dinner bridge was played until midnight. High score, carrying a beautiful bridge set as a prize, was awarded to Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Field, while the consolation went to Norla and Mrs. Jessie Callison.

Those making up the party were Messrs. and Mesdames Ramey, Boyd, Helman, Thompson, Leith, Cook, Jones, Rider, H. Thomas, Herres, Field, Carlson; Mrs. Jessie Callison. The guests were Norla Callison and Hugh Helman.

Waffle Supper

A "Russian" waffle supper was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary last Saturday evening and all seemed to enjoy the affair quite well. A "Russian" waffle supper is nothing new. By "Russian," we mean that each party concerned in the affair donated something toward a community supper. That's the way the Russians are doing things nowadays, you know. The evening was spent playing bridge.

The party was made up of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Behrens, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Beloit of Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary.

Unloads Car Implements

The Kendrick Hardware company on Tuesday unloaded a large carload of International farm implements and tractors.

Mr. Thomas, manager of the company stated that he had made delivery of a 15-30 McCormick-Deering tractor to Herman Meyers of Cameron and that he expects to put out several more—if his prospects hold good.

Delivers Tractor

The Carlson Hardware company last week sold a John Deere general-purpose tractor and within the next few days expects to make delivery of at least three more of these useful farm "iron horses."

Adds Big Show Case

The Long merchandise store has added a large display case to their store fixtures and have it filled with seasonable men's wear. They also have added several metal counter display racks for the showing of bolt goods. They have these well filled with some of the nicest dress prints it has been our pleasure to see for many a day.

The store has been somewhat rearranged and presents a very neat appearance.

DEATH OF OSCA NURSE —JULIAETTA PIONEER

Oscas Nurse, old settler of Juliaetta, Idaho, was born in Washington county, Iowa, July 22, 1861 and passed away April 1, 1930 at Spokane, Washington, at the age of 68 years, 7 months, 22 days. He was married to Anna Grove, Oct. 5, 1882 in Atchison county, Missouri.

They spent most of their married life in the west, 27 years of it being spent at Juliaetta, Idaho. Mr. Nurse was a kind and loving husband and as a neighbor and friend he was most highly thought of, always doing unto others as he would be done by. He leaves his devoted wife in Spokane; one sister, Mrs. Rosa Pavord of Spokane; one brother, William Nurse of Chewelah, Wash. and one brother, Bently Nurse at Elk Creek, Nebraska.

On account of poor health Mr. and Mrs. Nurse went to Spokane last September to live with Mr. Nurse's sister, Mrs. Rosa Pavord, No. 1823 Broadway, at whose home he passed away, after being bedfast only a few days.

After living in Juliaetta so long and having so many dear friends they wondered if they would get acquainted with friends in Spokane, but many friends were found in the new location and the basket was more than piled with lovely flowers.

Services were conducted by Rev. G. W. Benjamin of Palouse, their former pastor, April 2 the body was shipped to Pasco for burial among that of other relatives.

Is Playing Lone Hand

The Washington Water Power company has completed rebuilding practically all of the lines in Kendrick and on April 1 they sent a couple of men over here from Troy and just about "cleaned" house for Herman Schupfer, the local manager for the company. They took Herman's Ford service truck and about everything else that was loose and took it over to Troy.

While Herman still has charge of what is left here, he says they didn't even leave him a push-cart of wheelbarrow and he will handle the wheel part on foot hereafter. If you happen to live on the hill and want either an Electro-Kold or a range, just let him know and he'll carry it right up for you.

There are few towns the size of Kendrick that use as much "juice" for electrical appliances as does Kendrick and it looks just the least bit queer that they would "clean" out everything but the lines and poles.

Rev. Franklin Goes to Lapwai

Rev. and Mrs. Franklin and children this week moved their household goods to Lapwai, Rev. Franklin having received a call from the Presbyterian church of that place and which will give him full-time work. He will continue to occupy the pulpit of the Kendrick Presbyterian church perhaps until the first of May.

Rev. and Mrs. Franklin have been residents of Kendrick for the past eighteen months and have made many warm friends here who will be sorry of their decision to leave Kendrick but who will wish them much success in their new home.

The place of Rev. Franklin has not yet been filled.

You Can't Beat It

There is one thing in this section of the country just now that no one can beat—not even the professional "bull" or "bear" of the famous Chicago board of trade—and that is our beautiful weather.

While Tuesday was said to have been "all fools day," there was no foolin' about the wonderful weather we experienced—and have been experiencing for some time, for that matter. The farmers are taking advantage of the opportunity and are busy with their spring work in all directions. The ground is said to be in wonderful condition for all kinds of work.

BREAD GRAINS LOWER— DEMAND ONLY MODERATE

Grain markets continued generally unsettled during the week ending on March 29, with wheat and rye weak as a result of lack of export demand and only moderate inquiry from domestic buyers, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Feed grains were barely steady with demand fairly active, but offerings, particularly of corn, were somewhat heavier than in recent weeks. Flax was weak with wheat.

The small takings of foreign wheat by European buyers continued to be the increasingly important influence. The condition of the winter wheat crop in the United States remains mostly satisfactory, although the crop needs rain in Kansas and Oklahoma, and there are many reports of irregular conditions in the Ohio Valley. Winter wheat in the most important producing countries in the Northern hemisphere appears in generally favorable condition and better than at the corresponding date last year, when winter killing and weather damage was unusually severe in some large producing areas.

Statistics of areas sown in European countries are not yet sufficiently complete to indicate total acreage for this season, but recent official and trade reports suggest an acreage fully as large as last season. Slight decreases in acreages were reported in France and Italy, but North African countries have increased wheat acreage and crop conditions are now favorable. The acreage in India is somewhat smaller than in 1929, but some increase of production is indicated in trade advices.

United States farmers have expressed an intention of reducing the Durum wheat acreage about 1 per cent this spring, but are apparently planning to maintain about the same acreage of other spring wheat as was harvested last season. Stocks of wheat in interior mills and elevators in the United States at the first of March totaled approximately 96,000,000 bushels, according to the official estimate, or about 13,500,000 bushels more than a year ago. Combining these with farm and market stocks at that date, total supplies of wheat in the United States, exclusive of a stock in merchant mills, were about 25,000,000 bushels, larger than a year ago.

World shipments of wheat from the principal exporting countries were the smallest in recent years, and stocks on ocean passage have been reduced to an amount only about half as large as a year ago. Current offerings, however, both in domestic and foreign markets, appear easily adequate to trade requirements, and the market situation appears weak and unsettled. Southern hemisphere shipments totaled something over 4,000,000 bushels and black sea shipments, of which about one-half were Russian wheat, amounted to around 600,000 bushels. 6 3/4 lb. Rosaflo March shipment was quoted at Liverpool at $1.13, and Australian wheat at $1.16 per bushel on March 28. A cargo of southern Russia wheat now being shipped was sold at Liverpool at $1.12. Quotations on United States wheat were above an export basis and no export sales were reported. No. 2 Hard winter, F. O. B. New York was quoted at $1.12 per bushel. Canadian wheat continued to under-sell United States wheat on the Pacific coast and fairly large amounts of Canadian grain were reported sold both to the Orient and to European markets.

Domestic cash wheat markets were mostly dull with prices generally following futures. Receipts at Minneapolis were relatively small and were being readily taken by mills and industrial buyers. The Durum market held fairly steady and was relatively firmer than bread wheat. There was a limited export inquiry but domestic demand was about sufficient to absorb the small offerings. May Durum at Duluth closed May 28 at 98 1/2 with No. 1 Amber quoted in that market at 95 to 99 1/2 c. Canadian spring wheat markets were somewhat weaker than domestic markets, May wheat at Winnipeg declining 3 1/2 c with cash prices showing about an equal decline.

Hard winter wheat markets held about unchanged. Offerings were of only moderate volume and demand from domestic buyers was about sufficient to absorb the current daily arrivals. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at Kansas City March 28 at $1.00 per bushel, with 12 per cent protein being 1/2 c premium.

CRESCENT CLIPPINGS

The entire neighborhood hated to see the M. L. Robeson family leave Crescent. They moved to Leland about two weeks ago to stay with the Oral Craig family. Our best wishes go with them. Little Miss Jenny Roseann arrived early on the morning of March 22d to make her home with the Henry Loeser family. Owing to the bad weather very few besides our own neighborhood attended the carnival, but those who were there had a splendid time. About $26.00 was taken in—not counting out the expenses. Most of the neighborhood met at the Andrew Dorendorf home Sunday for a basket dinner.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES OF MUCH INTEREST

characters in these books were drawn from real life caused the students to appreciate the stories a great deal more. The joyous days of spring are here! With spring comes the desire to express the sentiments of the great outdoors; even small children feel this urge. The third and fourth grade youngsters are making nature books. They plan to write stories about the birds, trees and flowers. Have we forgotten about our literature word drill? Oh, no, indeed not! We succeeded in reaching one of our goals. Every student in the third and fourth grade room learned the meaning of three new words per day for a period of 19 days. We are still working too, so you may hear more about us later.

First and Second Grades
The first grade language class is studying early local flowers! In connection with this they are making a flower booklet with a drawing and a sentence about each flower. The first grade have completed their Field First Reader and are now ready to begin "The Progressive Road to Reading" book one. The second grade language and art class have just completed the study of Holland. In language they studied windmills, dress, canals, homes and the occupation of the Dutch people. For art they constructed a Dutch scene on the sandtable, showing Dutch people, Dutch homes, windmills, tulip gardens, canals, boats and milk carts.

"Arizona Cowboy"—Saturday, Apr. 5
They're here! Who's here? Why, the cowboys, Injuns and Chinks that were in Frisco last Friday. They arrived here today (Friday) tired and hungry. They are going to rest tonight (Friday) and be ready for work Saturday, April 5, at the Community Hall, Big Bear Ridge. They also brought their musicians along, so you are assured a good evening's entertainment. 14-1

CONTROL GARLIC BY FALL PLOWING

Keep Plants Down by Grazing Live Stock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Timely plowing late each fall and again early in the spring, followed by the growing of thoroughly cultivated row crops, are the essential steps in the so-called cultural method of controlling wild garlic, says the United States Department of Agriculture. In most places this system must be followed for at least three years in order to obtain a satisfactory clean-up of the weed.

Details of the method are given in Leaflet 43-L, Wild Garlic and Its Control, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The leaflet also gives a description of the plant and of other plants often mistaken for garlic. Farmers should be able to recognize wild garlic, the department says, as it is more difficult to eradicate than the other species.

Grazing with live stock, especially sheep, for several seasons, as closely as may be safe without serious injury to the pasture, aids in keeping down the growth of garlic in steep, rocky or wooded pastures that cannot be plowed. When dairy cows are pastured in garlicy fields, it is necessary to remove them from the pasture four to seven hours before milking to eliminate entirely the garlic flavor and odor from the milk. Milk cows should not be turned into such pastures in the spring until suitable forage plants are large enough to furnish good grazing.

Copies of the leaflet may be obtained free while the supply lasts by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Bad Practice to Leave

Calf With Cow Very Long

A common practice is to leave the calf with the cow for the first three or four days. This plan allows the calf to be with the cow during the time when the udder is inflamed. However, the longer the calf is allowed to remain with the cow, the harder it will be to teach it to drink. If at first a calf does not drink readily from a pail, it is advisable to keep it without food for at least 12 hours. It is then hungry and is usually willing to try drinking. Warm whole milk, fresh from the cow, should be measured or preferably weighed into a clean pail. The quantity of milk that a calf will do well on varies according to the size, breed and individuality of the calf. In general, for Jersey or Guernsey calves, one pound of milk daily for each ten pounds of live weight is a safe quantity. Ayrshire, Holstein, Brown Swiss and Shorthorn calves may be fed one pound of milk a day for each eight pounds of live weight.

Skim Milk Calf

The skim milk calf should be allowed to eat some grain. One good mixture consists of equal parts of corn meal, wheat bran, and ground oats. If the oats are not available a mixture of equal parts of corn meal and wheat bran may be used. A Jersey calf at three months of age should weigh in the neighborhood of 150 pounds and should eat one pound of grain. By the time it is six months old its weight should be around 300 pounds.

Dairy Facts

Sentimental regard for a bull is usually misplaced.

Every farmer who milks ten or more cows can hardly afford to be without a silo.

Every dairy farmer should provide in his crop ration some of the legume hay crops.

Where nonlegume roughages are used in the ration, the protein is low and must be furnished in the grain ration.

Experimental results show that milk and fat can be produced at a lower cost where silage is included in the winter ration.

Dried blood meal, mixed with the milk, also helps when a calf is sickly or inclined to scour. Start with one teaspoonful and increase to four teaspoonfuls, if found necessary.

In cold, stormy weather dairy cows should be outdoors only long enough to drink, and if the stable is comfortable and water available they should not go out at all except on clear, warm days.

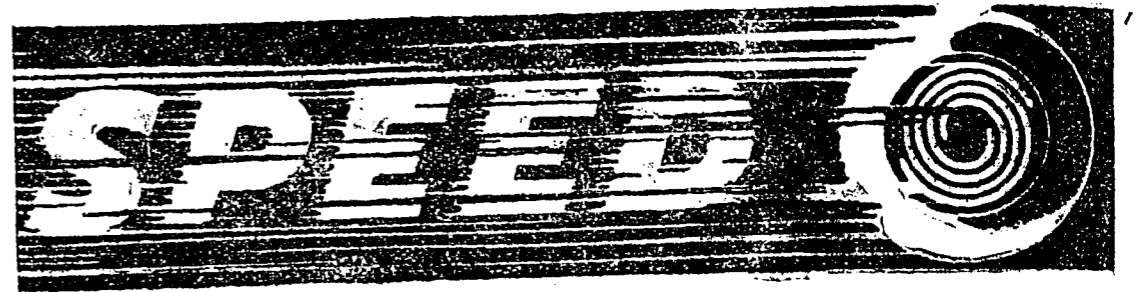

The dry roughage part of the ration includes legumes and other hay crops. Alfalfa, clover, soy bean and cowpea hay represent the best dry roughages that can be fed, because they are high in protein. When these crops are grown on the farm they provide the cheapest protein that can be fed.

Will Farm This Year
At least, it is reported that Jack Carroll expects to farm the plot of ground that he has put in shape alongside the Farmers Bank. Jack says he expects to put it to hay or some such easy crop to handle.

DEATH ENTERS THE STORY

The next time you cross Snake river on the bridge between Burley and Paul, look down stream and imagine fourteen teetering cottonwood canoes floating quietly along, carrying a crew of fifty-four persons. Erase from the picture every other vestige of civilization, even human life, and replace the prosperous fields, meadows and homes of today with the dreary sagebrush desert of October, 1811. You will now have before the eyes of your imagination the setting and personnel of the most tragic pilgrimage in the history of American exploration.

In the bow of each dugout kneels its French-Canadian steersman, in tanned deerskin clothing and moccasins, a bright colored handkerchief tied about his head in lieu of a hat. His three to five passengers range in description, from mixed-blood boy of two years to a dignified young white man from Trenton, New Jersey.

This last individual is in the foremost frail craft, leading the little fleet into the great unknown ahead. This is Wilson Price Hunt, a man in his late twenties, first explorer of the Snake and Boise rivers, later to become postmaster of St. Louis, Missouri.

In the rear boat rides what is to become the most famous family in our history. South Dakota claims this group belonging to its “First Family,” but Idaho has a far better title. They sit low in the precarious bark; the big French-Sioux half-breed husband, with his full-blood Iowa Indian wife. There is the sturdy, wicked-faced Baptiste, aged four and his two-year-old brother, the frailer and milder Paul. Of these, the woman most deserves to be remembered. She is of gigantic frame, with a bearing later described as “noble and commanding.” These are “The Dorions.”

As your eyes in fancy follow in the wake of this boat, look from time to time across the deserts that border the island studded stream. There is a coyote skulking along the skyline; innumerable jackrabbits hop and hide in the purple sage. Every bayou and tributary stream swarms with fur-bearing life.

In the second canoe the most striking figure is Antoine Clappine, the French-Canadian steersman, voluble, talkative, full of laughter and song, a boatman of incredible skill.

On the afternoon of October 28, this fleet ran into the gorge just below the site of the present Milner dam. Clappine's boat struck the huge rock still standing in the channel; the canoe overturned and split. Its four passengers and the others were saved, but the jolly steersman went down in the raging torrent. Death had entered the story.

The passing of Antoine Clappine is the first recorded death of a white man in the annals of the state we live in.

Clean-Up Week

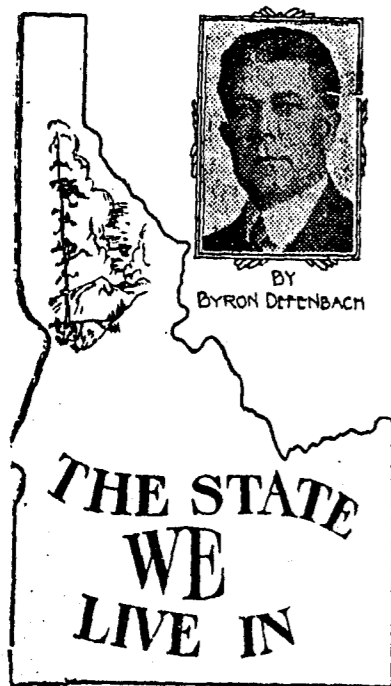

Clean-up week is here, I learn,
With all its tasks and joys.
The yard is cleaned and rubbish burned
By wild girls and boys.

Dad stays home to fix the fence,
And has the bushes trimmed.
Ma gets out her kitchen bench,
And has the house scrubbed clean.

Wednesday brings the plowing man,
And plows the garden deep.
Then Dad goes to the grocery store
To get the garden seed.

And after all is planted
And the seeds begin to grow,
We see the best results
Of efforts days ago.

Boost for Kendrick, your home town,
Boosting always pays, but knocking never does.

INVASION OF SOUTH IDAHO

The Salmon River divides north from south Idaho. The first two white men's expeditions were in the north. Lewis and Clark came into Idaho on the Salmon, but crossed on over to the Clearwater; David Thompson came in on the Kootenai and went out on Clark's Fork.

The first was an American venture, the second was headed by an Englishman. The third was also American, although sent out from St. Louis by the Spaniard, Manuel Lisa.

American interest in the far western fur business was stimulated by the diary of Sargent Patrick Gass of the Lewis and Clark party, published in 1808. The Missouri Fur company had already been formed under Manuel Lisa's management, and in the fall of 1809 had sent an expedition up the Missouri under the leadership of Andrew Henry.

This party located first at the Three Forks of the Missouri, but were driven out by hostile Indians. They then crossed over the divide into Idaho, and on the bank of what later was known as Henry's Fork of the Snake they built rough cottonwood structures known as “Henry's Post.”

These buildings, the first white men's habitations in southern Idaho, were on the south side of the North Fork of Snake River, about five miles below St. Anthony. They are on the homestead of William McMinn, who came into the country in 1879 as a boy of nineteen. Nothing of the encampment remains, but Mr. McMinn found fireplace rocks, some of which he used in building his own home. Frank Miller of St. Anthony has several small boulders excavated from the site. One of them is inscribed, “Al the cook; nothing to cook 1811.”

Andrew Henry did not remain long in what was later to be Idaho. Finding himself still menaced by the Blackfoot Indians of the eastern slope, he abandoned his post in the spring of 1811, went up Henry's Fork, past Henry's lake, and thence proceeding down the Missouri joined Manuel Lisa in the land of the Dakotas.

In his party were three men who later returned to Idaho and lost their lives on the banks of the Boise.

The Henry expedition has its place in our history, not only for having built the first trading post in south Idaho, but for being the discoverers of Snake river and the first white men to see the Teton mountains.

The Teton Basin, in what is now Teton County, Idaho, became a few years later a great meeting place for the army of trappers that operated up the Snake and its higher tributaries. These men were largely French-Canadians, and gave to the country the name “Pierre's Hole.”

—a dependable tractor with which you can do your work in less time at lower cost, with less help, and with less drudgery. It's here for you—the John Deere General Purpose Tractor.

This new tractor is of standard design—does all farm work within its range of power and does every job equally well.

With four sources of power it is fitted perfectly for every farm job—drawbar power for the field jobs, belt power for the belt jobs, power take-off for operation of the power driven mower, binder, etc., plus a power lift for raising and lowering machines designed especially for use with it.

Besides its ability to operate all standard John Deere tractor machines including the grain binder, drills, plows, manure spreaders, etc., it can be equipped with power mower, power sweep rake and planting and cultivating attachments illustrated on this page.

In this General Purpose Tractor are embodied the principles of design that have made the John Deere Model D Tractor famous for the heavier farm jobs. It has been farm-proved.
