William Mielke A Benedict

On Thursday of last week (April 17) Miss Mary Luffman of Orofino became the bride of William C. Mielke of Cameron. This came as a great surprise to friends and relatives of the couple.

The ceremony was performed in Moscow. After a short visit with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mielke left for Vancouver, Washington, where they will make their home.

YOU MUST REGISTER IF YOU WISH TO VOTE

A change has been made in the Idaho election laws whereby it will be necessary for those wishing to vote at either the primary or general elections this fall, to register, regardless of whether you have ever cast a vote in the state before, or at the last election.

An entirely new provision in regard to registration and voting goes into effect this year for the first time in the State of Idaho.

This provision has to do with political party affiliation, and is designed to prevent supporters of one party voting in the primaries of another party. The new law provides that voters wishing to cast ballots at the primary election must, at the time of registration, declare their party affiliation or preference, by subscribing to the registration oath, containing the statement that such elector, now is and for the last two years last past, has been a member of and affiliated with the party with which he, or she, wishes to vote at the coming primary election, and that he, or she, intends to support generally, the candidates of said party at the next general election.

It is not necessary, however, in order to vote at the general election, to so indicate party preference. An elector who does not declare a party affiliation, can only vote at the general election.

Two sets of registration books are kept by the registrars: One listing those qualified to vote at the primary election, (those that have declared their party affiliation), and one for those qualified to vote at the general election, which includes all registrations received by the registrar.

Indians Have New Beverage

The following item appeared in the Spokesman-Review the other day: Gasoline and denatured alcohol mixed up as a drink was what Phillip Massalaw, Susan Massalaw and Joe Garrick, Indians, had been imbibing when Deputy Sheriffs Davison and Carter hurried to investigate an auto wreck at Mission and Trent.

This high-powered concoction, in the belief of Chief Deputy Sheriff Glenn O. McEwan, was responsible for the queer antics of the car which Massalaw was trying to drive in the middle of the street. After narrowly missing one automobile, Massalaw swerved his machine into the path of a truck. In the mix-up the auto had a wheel torn off and was otherwise battered.

"Their breath smelled like a service station," Officer McEwan explained, "and we were afraid that if anybody struck a match Massalaw would be blown up. Because this stuff is not regarded as liquor we could not charge Massalaw with driving while drunk. The best we could do was reckless driving. Massalaw's wife and Garrick had to be jailed on vagrancy charges."

Commercial Club Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club, Monday evening, May 5, in the dining room of the Fraternal Temple. Dinner will be served at 6:30.

A delegation from the Moscow Chamber of Commerce will be present and will furnish a program of song and music.

Bridge Club Meets

A lovely luncheon was served after the games by the hostess.

Detained at Home

Ira Bolen has been absent from his usual place behind the butcher counter at the Long store for the past several days, being detained at home by illness.

TWO BAD GARAGE FIRES—KENDRICK AND JULIAETTA

Two of the worst garage fires ever to visit the Kendrick and Juliaetta sections occurred during the past few days, the loss running well into the thousands of dollars.

Last Sunday morning about 3:20 o'clock the residents of Kendrick were rudely awakened from their slumbers by the shriek of the fire siren and practically everyone in the village scurried about and found clothes and hurried to the fire—some to help subdue the flames, some for mere curiosity—and others to get in the way of the firemen.

Upon reaching the business section it was soon discovered that the work shop in the rear of the Kendrick Machinery company's garage and machinery warehouse, owned by W. F. Behrens, was in flames. The volunteer firemen responded immediately when the call was sounded and within a few minutes a heavy stream of water was playing on the flames and they were confined to the work shop, although there was an open door between there and the front part of the building, where much valuable machinery was stored. The tools of all kinds were entirely destroyed and the machinery in the front part of the building was marred by smoke and water, but otherwise was said to be unharmed. The building was badly damaged by smoke and water and the rear part, of course, was completely gutted.

Mr. Behrens stated that the building and contents were only partially covered by insurance. He expects to rebuild as soon as things can be put to rights again.

The L. W. Houck garage at Juliaetta was almost completely destroyed by fire Monday night, the alarm being sounded about 11 o'clock, when there were said to have been seven cars destroyed, as well as much other valuable material. Mr. Houck carried a small stock of hardware in his garage, as well as automobile accessories, oil, etc. Many hundreds of shells of various kinds were in the stock, which made it somewhat dangerous to be a bystander.

The main part of the building was completely gutted, nothing being left but the concrete walls. The repair shop in the rear of the building was saved from the flames by a fire door that shut it off from the other part of the building.

The damage was said to have reached a total of more than $15,000, which was only partially covered by insurance. A car stored there belonging to W. F. Behrens was said to have been the only one insured. Three of the cars and trucks destroyed belonged to Mr. Houck.

It has been stated that Mr. Houck expects to rebuild at once. His was one of the nicest garages this side of Lewiston, being built of concrete blocks.

Beginners Band Underway

A. K. Carlson reports that he now has a beginners' band numbering some 20 members and expects it to be increased to 30 within a short time. He states that the youngsters, both boys and girls, are doing nicely and within three or four months will be able to play quite creditably.

Mr. Carlson urges all who contemplate taking up band work to join now so as not to be far behind those who have already made a start. The only expense attached is buying an instrument. He makes no charge for instruction.

Celebrates Birthday Anniversary

A party made up of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary drove down to Juliaetta Tuesday evening and helped Mrs. A. W. Behrens celebrate her birthday anniversary. Bridge was the amusement of the evening, followed by refreshments.

Did You See It?

We are wondering just how many people in the Kendrick section saw the eclipse that was said to have taken place Monday between 11 and 11:30 o'clock, or thereabouts. It was certain that no smoked glasses were needed as clouds obscured the vision and the phenomenon remained unseen.

Junior Prom May 9

The Juniors have decided to give the annual prom on Friday, May 9, in the Temple. This is planned to be one of the big affairs of the year.

MARTIN THOMAS SUFFERS STROKE AT LEWISTON

Word was telephoned to the Martin Thomas home early Tuesday morning that Mr. Thomas, who was taken to Lewiston Monday afternoon by his son, Harold Thomas, had suffered a stroke early Tuesday morning and that he had been taken to a hospital in that city. He was at the home of his son, Walter Thomas, when he was stricken.

Harold Thomas left at once for Lewiston and found his father in rather a serious condition, although he was able to talk and could understand what was said to him; his faculties seemed to work slowly. He was much improved during the day.

It seems that Mr. Thomas, Sr., had put in a rather restless night and had gotten up and dressed quite early, going to the bathroom at some time between 4 and 5 o'clock. He was heard to fall and members of the family, going to the bathroom, found him in what was at first thought to be a faint, but later it was discovered that a more serious consequence had developed.

Mr. Thomas has been in poor health for the past several weeks and had been making trips to Lewiston for treatments.

He is one of the oldest residents of this section of the country and has many friends who will be more than sorry to learn of his indisposition and will hope for his speedy recovery.

Becoming a Lettuce Empire

The Lewiston section is fast becoming a head lettuce empire, according to H. H. Bockus, of that city. "There is ready money to be made in head lettuce and there appears also to be a good and steady demand," said Mr. Bockus. "The acreage devoted to it has been increased and planting is now under way.

"The cultivation of strawberries is also being increased and should prove a source of considerable revenue, with the acreage the largest in years."

INTERESTING COUNCIL MEETING HELD HERE

A well-attended and interesting meeting of the North Idaho Council of Christian Education was held in the Presbyterian church in Kendrick Tuesday, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning and continuing until 4 in the afternoon, with a splendid basket dinner in the basement of the church at the noon hour.

The program as outlined by the Council was carried out almost completely and was participated in by the following speakers: Rev. Herbert F. Loomis, executive secretary of the Council; Dean J. G. Eldridge, president of the Washington-North Idaho Council; Prof. W. Wayne Smith, assistant professor of education, University of Idaho; Rev. W. G. R. Dunn, Ritzville, Wash., and Mrs. C. A. N. E. Beach, Uniontown; Howard McCutiga, Deary; F. G. Fulton, Moscow; Mrs. Oscar Nelson, Troy; H. L. Peterson, Potlatch.

Kendrick Students Win

The citizens of Kendrick have every reason to be more than proud of the showing made by the students taking part in the Latah county commercial contests held at Moscow on Thursday afternoon of last week. It not only shows the aptness and very thorough training of the students themselves but reflects great credit upon their instructor, Mrs. Jarvis. The Kendrick entrants made a clean sweep in the short-hand contest. Doris Emery was first, Marjory Davidson second and Eleanor Herres third.

In the typing contest Moscow girls won first and second places. In the second typing contest Eleanor Herres won second place.

Approximately 100 high school students from Clearwater, Latah, Lewis, Nez Perce and Idaho counties are expected to participate in the annual district typing, shorthand and bookkeeping contest, to be held at the University of Idaho on Friday, May 2.

Will Have Cream Station

The Hazelwood company of Spokane has made arrangements for the putting in of a cream station in the Morgan store, Kendrick, where it will be possible for farmers to bring in their cream and take a check away with them. It will be of great convenience for the many who are now shipping their cream to Spokane.

Kendrick Pioneer Passes

W. E. Kerr, who for many years ran a confectionery store in Kendrick, and who will be remembered by the old-timers, passed away in Spokane last week, death being caused by a stroke of paralysis.

Insurance Inspector Visits

K. H. Swanholm of the Idaho surveying and rating bureau, Spokane, visited Kendrick Monday in the discharge of his duties as insurance inspector.

GRAIN MARKET DECLINES AS CROPS LOOK BETTER

Grain markets suffered further declines during the week ending April 26th. Some improvement in the condition of winter wheat as a result of showers over large areas, and a dull export demand for North American grain, were the principal weakening factors in the wheat market, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains were lower with wheat, but influenced also by some increase in offerings without a corresponding improvement in demand. Rye and flax prices also declined, but the market situation for these commodities remained practically unchanged.

Winter wheat was benefited by rains over a large area, but drought conditions in parts of Oklahoma and Kansas were mostly unrelieved and crops continued to deteriorate. The spring wheat seeding which is nearing completion was delayed by rains. The additional moisture was beneficial for germination and growth of the crop. Seeding in Canada progressed favorably with prospects of increased acreage, according to trade reports.

European crop conditions continue favorable with moisture ample. Crop prospects in Spain and France are promising, but the outturn in France is expected to be below the unusually large crop of last year. The crop is making good progress in the surplus producing regions of the lower Danube with winter killing much less than last season. Prospects in England, Germany and Northwestern Europe are generally favorable although temperatures continue low and more rainfall is needed in parts of Germany. Rains are also needed in parts of southern Russia, but conditions are reported favorable in other winter wheat regions of that country. Spring wheat seeding is in progress under generally favorable conditions. Some damage to North African crops is reported from drought and locusts but otherwise conditions are good.

The first estimate of the Indian wheat crop places the outturn at 368,000,000 bushels or nearly 60,000,000 bushels above the harvest of last season and about 48,000,000 bushels more than the usual domestic requirements. New crop wheat which usually begins moving in April is now being offered at $1.21½ per bushel CIF England. The Argentine crop is now officially estimated at 137,500,000 bushels, which would give an exportable surplus of around 70,000,000 bushels, taking into account the carry-over and usual domestic requirements. Shipments since the first of January total about 45,000,000 bushels, which would leave only about 25,000,000 bushels available for export during the remainder of the season. Trade estimates place the surplus well above these figures. The wheat remaining for shipment is reported to be mostly of inferior quality. Shipments for the past week totaled only a little over 1,500,000 bushels.

European demand for North American wheat continues dull, although export sales for the week, according to trade reports, amounted to about 5,500,000 bushels. These were the largest weekly sales for some time, but were principally of Durum and Canadian Manitobas. One cargo of white wheat was reported sold from Portland and there were small sales of domestic hard winters. No. 2 hard winter was quoted in London April 24 for May shipment at $1.11½, and No. 2 Manitoba afloat sold at Liverpool at $1.23½. The German duty on wheat was increased to the equivalent of 97½¢ per bushel. This is an increase of 55½¢ per bushel above the duty which was effective in U. S. wheat January 1.

Domestic cash wheat markets were lower with futures and hard winter wheat prices at Kansas City reached the lowest point of the crop. Receipts increased materially and arrivals at Kansas City totaled 1,033 cars. A large percentage was on previous sales. Current offerings were not large and were generally well absorbed at lower prices. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, sold in that market April 25 at 96 to 97¢ per bushel, with each ½ per cent protein bringing 1¢ premium over these quotations. Mills were the principal buyers both at this market and at Omaha, where out-shipments were large and totaled about 700 cars for the week. About 1,000,000 bushels of

EPIDEMIC OF MANGE SWEEPS ELK HERDS

Mange is causing great suffering and some deaths among the elk in the Selway game preserve, in Idaho and Clearwater counties, according to Charles D. Simpson, supervisor of the Lolo national forest, says the Lewiston Tribune.

Simpson has suggested that dipping the elk had good effects in disposing of the mange mite, but State Game Warden Thomas has replied that if there was to be any dipping of elk the forest service would do the dipping. The game department won't object to the forest service dipping the elk, but its remedial measures will be confined to feeding sulphurized salt, which has had good results, he declared, in similar troubles in the past.

Existence of the mange is probably traceable, according to Dr. J. S. Dade, inspector of the state sheep commission to an epidemic of mange among range cattle of that district, some years ago. The mange mites probably spread from the cattle to the elk, he believes.

The report of the skin diseases among elk is confirmed by a report from George C. Lowe, deputy game warden at Kootska, who declares that though the elk are increasing by thousands there is some trouble with what he called "scab." The sulphurized salt, he declared, helps the condition greatly.

Deer are increasing rapidly, he continued, their chief enemies being ticks and coyotes. There is a fine band of big horn sheep. Moose show a small increase, but seem to be suffering from the result of eating poisoned vegetation in the vicinity of Fish lake.

Eagles, which carry off the young kids, are the chief enemies of the mountain goats, which are found in large numbers in the rocky country.

WILL OIL WINCHESTER AND LEWISTON HILLS

At a meeting of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce, attended by Joe D. Wood of the state highway department and Perry Oxley of the department of public works, last Friday night, it was decided to put a coating of oil on the Winchester hill and an undesignated amount of permanent oiling will be done on the Lewiston Spiral highway. A link of 10.4 miles of the Lewis-Clark highway between Lenore and the Clearwater county line will probably be let early in May.

Work of oiling on the North and South highway south of Lapwai will start soon, Wood intimated. The actual amount of work to be done on the Lewiston hill is not known now, although the state plans to spend "considerable money" on permanent surfacing for the loops this season, Wood said.

The Lewiston chamber is anxious to have the hill highway given a standard surface that will conform to the Washington loop highway paving specifications, if the road is routed by way of Clarkston, Lewiston and Pullman. The loop highway is to be a paved roadway and having the Idaho link up to its standard is believed to be a salient argument in securing its routing through this territory.

Has New "Limousine"

W. C. Jones is about the luckiest (or unluckiest) man in Kendrick this week. Last Friday evening he went down to Lewiston on business and in the meantime attended the sale of cars there by a well-known firm, which advertised that a certain time they would actually sell a car that would run for 99c. Well, Bill got one of the 99-cent ones—and it would actually run. Along with the car he got more than 99c worth of gas. He drove the thing home, saving car fare, and has the machine left. Now what do you think of that for luck? Some people just naturally have it all.

The car is a Ford coupe of uncertain vintage—but what's the difference, Bill is still several cents ahead of the deal. It has a self-commencer on it but the lights are rather bad, but that's no handicap since most of the time it is daylight now and Bill says if this section would only adopt the daylight-saving plan that everything "would be hotsy-totsy now" this wheat moved into mill storage. No. 2 hard winter, 12 per cent protein, was quoted at Omaha at 97c per bushel. Soft winter wheat was relatively firmer than hard winter and the small offerings of good milling wheat were in active demand. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted in St. Louis April 25 at $1.12 and $1.14 and at Cincinnati at $1.09 to $1.09½ per bushel.

GRAIN MARKET DECLINES AS CROP LOOKS BETTER

Offerings of spring wheat were of about the same volume as during recent weeks. Milling demand was active as the result of a material improvement in the flour trade and premiums held firm compared with future prices. No. 1 dark northern was quoted April 25 at Minneapolis at the May price of $1.02 to 3c over 13 per cent to 6c over and 15 per cent 5c to 7c over the May. The protein content of the weeks receipts averaged 13.58 per cent. Spring wheat was also in good demand at Duluth where the high protein grades were wanted by mills. No. 1 dark northern was quoted in the market April 25 at $1.02 to 11.19½ and No. 1 northern at $1.00 to $1.18½.

Canadian spring wheat markets were also lower but the decline was less severe than in the domestic market. No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg April 25 at $1.06½. Durum wheat was relatively firmer than the other classes of spring wheat, influenced by the moderate export sales of both domestic and Canadian durum during the week.

Pacific Northwestern wheat markets declined along with Eastern and Canadian markets. Cash prices at Portland at the close of the market April 25 were 4c to 5c lower than a week ago, with Big Bend bluestem No. 1 hard winter quoted at $1.18, No. 1 soft and western white at $1.05 and No. 1 hard winter, northern spring and western red at $1.03 per bushel, all sacked. Export demand continued quiet, although sale of one full cargo of white wheat to the United Kingdom was reported during the week. Mills became slightly more active buyers of white and red wheats and were also taking occasional cars of bluestem and hard winter and spring wheat from Montana. Country holders were offering wheat more freely, influenced probably by improved crop conditions in Eastern Washington and Oregon. Steamship companies announce a new rate of $4.25 per ton to the Orient effective May 1.

California markets were very quiet with offerings and demand light. California wheat stocks are low and only a few large lots are reported remaining in the growers' hands. The flour business continues quiet and mills were obtaining the supplies mostly from local stocks. No. 2 soft wheat from Washington and Oregon was being offered at $2.00 per 100 sacked delivered at dock San Francisco. No. 1 hard white and No. 1 soft white wheat were quoted April 25 at San Francisco at $2.05 to $2.07½ per 100. The Los Angeles wheat market declined about 5c per 100, with milling wheat quoted at that market April 24 at $2.17½ and feed wheat at $2.12 per 100. Offerings of wheat from Oregon for shipment by water were weakening factors. Some wheat was also being received from Idaho and Utah. Mills and poultrymen were absorbing the current offerings.

Went A-Picnicking

A party of ladies composed of Mrs. E. H. Field (who drove the doctor's car), Mrs. Herres, Mrs. Ramey, Mrs. Harold Thomas and Mrs. Dempsey, went for a picnic up Cedar-creek-way last Friday and a very pleasant time was spent. The ladies, in addition to eating a picnic dinner, dug shrubs, gathered moss, and some of them fished—and caught fish, too. Mrs. Herres was the piscatorial artist and wielded the luring bait in such a way as to fool the most wary fish and succeeded in landing several that weighed a pound. It was also reported that some of the ladies who did not have a license were guilty of eating the fish.

CANINE PARASITES QUITE DANGEROUS

Household Pets Are Attacked by Many Species.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Dogs and cats, favorite household pets as they are, are attacked by more species of parasites than most animals. In a recent article written for the Veterinary Alumni Quarterly, Dr. Emmett W. Price, of the United States Department of Agriculture, says these two animals have been reported as hosts for about 475 species of parasites, some of which affect both, and some only one of the animals.

"Aside from the high mortality in dogs due to parasitic infestation," Doctor Price says, "there are other points which should not be minimized. Some of the species which occur in dogs may also infest man, either in their adult or larval stages, such infestations frequently proving fatal."

Several varieties of fleas are known to be carriers of bubonic plague, Doctor Price says, and one of the tape worms of man passes one stage of its life cycle in dogs. Fleas are also believed to be carriers of infantile kala-azar, a tropical protozoan disease.

The dog is also infested by a lung mite which may be identical to the species causing fatal illness in man. The present-day practice of shipping dogs from one part of the country to another for shows or for competition in field trials affords an excellent opportunity for the spread of canine parasites, Doctor Price points out.

For some of the parasitic infestations of dogs and cats, veterinary science has developed effective remedies. For many, however, no remedy is known which will kill the parasite without killing the host as well.

Hog Flu Attacks Take Heavy Toll Each Year

Attacks of hog flu on brood sows and fattening shoats take a heavy toll every year with the coming of cold and stormy weather. Unlike cholera investigations, studies of fine in hogs are not yet revealed the exact cause of the disease.

Live stock specialists find from observation and experience that certain precautions in caring for the herd will greatly lessen the danger of sickness and death from flu. One of the common troubles on many farms, these men find, is overcrowding in the hog house. Hogs compelled to pile up become too hot and the building will likely be damp and steamy. When the animals go out into the cold the following morning they suffer chills, their resistance to disease is lowered, and they are more susceptible to organisms ever present in the respiratory system, which investigators believe spread hog flu.

March and August Pig Produces Most Profit

By comparing spring and fall-farrowed pigs in the light of experimental results it will be shown that the spring pigs required 322.3 pounds of meal to produce 100 pounds of lean, and were finished in 212 days at average weight of 189.7 pounds per head. The fall pigs consumed 422.3 pounds of meal for every 100 pounds of pork produced and required 224 days to reach a finished average weight of 172.8 pounds per head. However, spring pigs show a profit of $4.11 per head, while 75 fall pigs show an average profit of $4.00 per head in spite of the more costly production, indicating that owing to better prices for fall pigs more than hold their own with the spring pigs. Further, in these experiments the March pigs and the August pigs made the greatest profit their respective experiments, show that early litters, both spring and fall, strike the best market.

Live Stock Items

Strong feet and legs and strong backs are more essential than fat in the development of gilts for brood sows.

Live stock and dairy products have been selling at good prices and the stock keeper has been doing better than he has at any time since the war.

Two and one-half to three pounds of milk should be fed with one pound of corn for 50-pound pigs. As animals grow the proportion of milk may be decreased.

The more live stock fed on the farm the richer the land will become. Good stock is the corner stone of bet-farming.

Only a little bedding in the growing pen and keep it clean and finely chopped wheat straw makes good bedding.

Don't worry over there being any production. Feet is getting so in price that many city families eat chicken two and three times a week instead of beef.

THE COLLEGE BOY RACKET EXPLAINED

(By Henry Parmelee, Manager, The Better Business Bureau, Spokane)

One of the common fake schemes the Better Business Bureaus get a great many complaints about is that of young men and women going from house to house and office to office, soliciting subscriptions to a magazine or group of magazines pretending that they are working their way through college or a nursing home or that they are now selling subscriptions to enable them to continue their college work which has been interrupted owing to a lack of funds.

A vast majority of these cases that have been brought to the attention of the Better Business Bureaus, turn out to be out-and-out misrepresentations on the part of the solicitors. Many of these solicitors not only are not and have not been attending any college, but a large majority of them would not have the educational qualifications to enter college. Many of them who have been interviewed have admitted not having completed the grade schools.

When you want to subscribe to a magazine you will not only save yourself money by placing your order for your subscription through a recognized and established magazine dealer or with someone whom you know to be an authorized representative of the magazine.

There are a number of magazine subscription companies who operate on what is called the "Two Pay Plan," whereby the salesman in taking your subscription, gives you a coupon as a receipt for your initial payment, which by the way, is his commission, and you are expected to send the remainder of the amount direct to the magazine publishing company if you are to receive the rest of your copies.

These "Two Pay Plan" subscription companies have subscribed to a code of ethics and have outlined certain practices which their salesmen must adhere to, but of course they are not always able to keep as close a check on their representatives as they would like to do. They ask the Better Business Bureaus to help them check up on their representatives in order that any misrepresentations made by these solicitors can be stopped. The Better Business Bureaus depend upon the public to notify the bureaus whenever magazine solicitors in calling on them make any misrepresentations that seem to be out of line. This helps materially in putting a stop to these undesirable practices.

One of the reasons why it is well to know the person to whom you give your money and your signature is that you may or may not be assured of getting the magazines you are paying for. It is safe to say that in cases where a radical reduction in the price of the subscription is offered that there is a good place to say "No" to the solicitor. A great many of our complaints regarding magazine solicitors is that the subscriber paid a sum of money to the solicitor, sometimes in full, and then never get her magazines. Sometimes one or two copies of the magazine have been sent, and then nothing further is heard of them. This is often done when the crew of salesmen is still working in the territory and is done to avoid suspicion. It is a pretty safe plan to deal with those you know and whom you are assured are established and reliable.

Any scheme, whether magazine solicitors or whatever it may be, that looks queer or which you do not understand should be taken up with the Better Business Bureau nearest you from whom you will get a full and complete report and without cost to you.

BANKERS REPORT DROP IN SAVINGS

Lure of Stock Market Partly to Blame, but Slackened Speculation Expected to Bring Return to Thrift.

The first recession in the nation's savings account in banks in the twenty years during which records in this field have been kept by the American Bankers Association was disclosed for last year in the recent annual compilation prepared by its Savings Bank Division. The shrinkage amounted to over $195,000,000, on the basis of figures for the year ending June 29, 1929, whereas a year earlier the reported increase was over $2,300,000,000, the largest ever recorded. The number of savings depositors also decreased during the year covered by more than 500,000 accounts. The lure of the stock market and affiliated activities are cited as part of the explanation for these changes.

The association's statement says that savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States on June 29, 1929, stood at $28,217,656,000. The recession in savings, it declares, indicates a fundamental change in the savings situation, irrespective of whether it is temporary or not.

How Savings Used to Grow

"In 1926 savings deposits increased $1,562,000,000, in 1927 almost $1,400,000,000 and in 1928 over $2,300,000,000," it says. "It appears now that some influences in one year have taken the gain that might reasonably have been expected in savings deposits for 1929 and lowered them from the high mark of the preceding year. This recession is not one coming as a result of drouth, famine, unemployment or conditions outside of the United States.

"A year ago it was stated: 'The year closing June 30, 1928, registered the largest gain in savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States ever recorded in the history of this country.' What a difference one year makes! From a gain of more than 2 1/4 billions of dollars in savings deposits to a loss of almost 200 millions!

"The loss in savings deposits is reflected also in the loss of savings depositors. The year 1929 showed a total of 52,664,127 depositors, against 53,183,348 for 1928, a loss of 524,221.

"Industrial production was much higher last year than the preceding year. Factory payrolls were considerably greater. In production, employment and trade, advances were made over the preceding year. In the farm areas the improvement noted for 1928 did not recede in 1929 and the livestock industry in all its branches was prosperous.

The Causes of the Drop

"The causes of the recession are possibly multiple. There is scarcely any reason to doubt that one of the important factors draining away savings and decreasing depositors has been the lure of profits to be made in stocks. For a number of years the people have been regaled with stories of profits made in stocks in all types of companies. During the last few years there has been a specious philosophy preached that panics such as formerly occurred were no longer possible.

"If it was the lure of profits in stocks which caused the recession in savings, then a factor in future savings will be the success attendant upon this venture of savings depositors in stocks. If the experiment did not prove generally successful, then another year will doubtless witness an increase in savings deposits as well as in savings depositors."

HELPING YOUNG FOLK TO BECOME BANKERS

Through the American Institute of Banking, which is the American Bankers Association's educational section, the banking profession is educating $5,000 bank men and women in the technical and scientific departments of their work. These students are enabled by this institute, which is entirely non-commercial in its operations, to obtain a grasp of the finer points of banking without interrupting their employment or interfering with their earnings, in their bank jobs.

The courses given, including banking economics and law and bank administration in all the departments, have been worked out under the direction of senior college educators and the lectures are always given by practical men, such as lawyers in the legal courses, experts in banking operations and college professors in the economics courses. There are chapters with meeting rooms in over 200 cities and also a number of smaller study groups are fostered with correspondence aid.

It has been said that the A. I. B., as it is familiarly known throughout the banking field, is the greatest adult educational organization in the world and is supplying the banking business with the largest supply of trained workers each year that any comparable line of business is receiving. The organization holds an annual convention attended by hundreds of young bank workers as well as senior bank officers actively interested in furthering the institute's educational work, at which numerous technical subjects of practical banking application are presented and discussed. This year's convention will be held at Denver, Colorado, June 16 to 20.

Tires you can put on and "forget" — as long as you drive your car

The cost? By the mile, very little. Considering the super-margin of safety, freedom from delays and extra comfort of riding—these big handsome tires are the most economical luxury you can enjoy.

The reason? They're the finest tires which Goodyear can build regardless of cost. But the price to you is moderate because of Goodyear's enormous output of tires—almost one-third of the world's total!

It's a proved fact! Goodyear Double Eagles outlast the average driver's use of a car. Even so much as a puncture is the exception.

You'll be agreeably surprised to discover the reasonable cost of a change-over. Come in—talk it over—no obligation.

RURALIZATION

Electric service, ample and unfailling, is today an important force for the strengthening of rural prosperity.

This high type of service attracts industries to smaller communities. It also serves to preserve present rural populations and to draw new people to rural life.

Similar customs prevailed among Comanches, and throughout the Congo region in Africa; also in Polynesia and Malynesia wives were sacrificed.

Another Installment Another installment of that "million-dollar rain" fell during the latter part of last week and the first of this week. Some are complaining that there is so much rain they cannot get their spring work done; others say it is just right, that they have most of their work done—and so it goes. It seems that we are never satisfied—and if we were, things would stop and cease to be interesting. Most of us have to take things as they come and let them go as they will.
Anyway, the grass is green, trees are in bloom, gardens are growing—and so are the weeds. But we should all be happy and glad things are no worse than they are.

Notice is hereby given that no

RUPTURE

Don't submit to avoidable operations or the use of antiquated trusses, as they all set where the lump is and not where the opening is. The opening is seldom larger than a dime, (no matter the size of the rupture) and all cases can be retained with the end of lead pencil.
The Spermatic Shield-Complex in combination with the Retainer-Simplex (Patent No. 747247 and other patents pending)—a scientific achievement in a highly specialized art. It will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Infinitely superior to any instrument method or operation and producing results in no other way obtainable. All cases are secure a lifetime as against further trouble or expense. Large or difficult cases or incisional rupture (following operations) especially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions, with distinguished personal patrons of all nations.

IDAHO PATROLMEN LOSE GUNS; GET BILLY CLUBS

A gunless squad of Idaho highway patrolmen departed for their posts last Thursday as a result of decision by Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state, that the would enforce the rules of the road without weapons.
Elimination of the guns from the equipment of the officers was decided upon at the close of a four-day conference of the patrolmen last Thursday on the grounds that they were not dealing with criminals in supervising the traffic.
"Defense weapons" will be provided the men, it was explained, not because there had been any misuse of firearms but it was believed that other weapons would suffice.
The old fashioned "billy clubs" may be provided the motorcyclemen.
Several patrolmen objected to the change.

Just why a traffic officer should be asked to be a guardian of the roads and law with nothing to protect himself but a "billy club" is more than the average layman can understand.
A patrolman armed with a billy club would have a "fat chance" with some of the "desperate" characters that may be met at any time on the road these days. This is almost equal to the law that exists in some states that makes it a felony to own a pistol of any sort. The thugs always have them and can always get them. Why try to keep those who would protect themselves from such thugs or enforcing the law—at the point of a gun—if necessary.
It isn't always the size of the sheet it is printed on that makes some newspapers "small."

200 MILES N-S. HIGHWAY

Two hundred miles of improve-lined by the department of public works as part of this year's program.

The work includes 50 miles of new ing, 30 miles of surfacing and resurfacing and 120 miles of oiling, practically all of which includes some additional surfacing.

Already, as part of this program,
a number of jobs have been adveracross the Coeur d'Alene river and oiling and resurfacing projects in Washington counties.

north Pacific coast cities. The first North Coast Limiteds went into service in the spring of 1930, just 30 years ago. They were the first electric lighted trains operated in the northwest.
New equipment for the 1930
North Coast Limited fleet was built expressly for the Northern Pacific by the Pullman Company, which has been designing and constructing passenger cars for more than 70 years.
The Pullmans are of the type containing only 10 regular berth sections, instead of the usual 12 or 16 sections. This means that there will be fewer passengers in each car, making for unusual roominess.
There will also be one drawing room and one compartment in each Pullman which may be used separately or en suite. Upholstery, lighting equipment and other appointments carry out new decorative schemes.
The specially built dining cars were designed specifically for the new North Coast Limited.
Observation-club cars of the new trains are radio-equipped.

Announcement that the Northern Pacific Railway will put into service
May 15 a $4,000,000 fleet of new North Coast Limited trains was made today by E. E. Nelson, passenger traffic manager of the railway.
The new North Coast Limiteds,
Mr. Nelson said, will be roller bearing, all-Pullman trains, embodying the latest improvements in railway equipment.
Seven complete trains will comprise the new fleet. Six will be always in operation, while equipment sufficient for another full train will be held in reserve.
Starting at Chicago May 3, one of the new Limiteds will make an exhibition tour of the Northern Pacific system, ending at the west coast May 22. Stops will be made all along the way to permit public inspection of the train.
The 1930 North Coast Limiteds will constitute the third edition of this fleet of deluxe passenger trains operating between Chicago and the Interior of the new dining cars will be equipped and a corner of the new observation-club car on the new North Coast Limited.

The Famous John Deere No. 999 Corn Planter

Gives You a Bigger Yield Because It's Accurate

Carefully tested and graded seed, good soil, thorough cultivation, and right weather conditions will give you a fine crop of corn—PROVIDED the corn has been properly planted. But all these favoring factors can't produce a big yield if an inaccurate planter is used.

First, make sure your planting gives you a full start towards a maximum yield. You can do it through the uniform, accurate planting of a John Deere No. 999 Corn Planter—there are no skips or over-planting.

If you'll call on us next time you're in town we can show you just how this planter operates with such remarkable accuracy and how, without stopping the team, you can change it to drop two, three, or four kernels to the hill, as desired. Safety fertilizer attachment and pea attachment can be furnished.

Come in and see the 999.

Lewis and Clark trail down the Salmon to the mouth of its tributary now known as Carmen creek. Here he camped for several months. During the succeeding two years he and his men roved over most of south Idaho, finally crossing the Blue Mountains to Walla Walla and back across our state and on to St. Louis, in which city he is buried.

Lack of space prevents more than mere mention of other names of the fur trading epoch in Idaho; Sublette, Meek, Jedediah Smith, Ashley, Gray, Weiser. When Bonneville left Idaho in 1834, the golden age of the trappers was over. Trapping continued to be, however, our only commercial activity for twenty-five years longer.

The fur trade was an exploiting activity. It ran itself out of material in a very short time, leaving behind it nothing in the way of settlement or development, except a lot of names still found in current guide books. Something else it left; the bones of hundreds of thousands of furry animals, and the scalped remains of two-fifths of the men who had been engaged in the industry.

ONE TRAPPER LESS

Looking down from your plane as it circles over the environs of Idaho's Gate City, Pocatello, your attention is sure to be drawn to a little stream flowing in a man-made channel through the town and heading off toward the northwest into Snake river. The striking thing about this brook is its crookedness; you can scarcely believe a stream can be so winding. It has a history as crooked as its own channel.

If your imagination and your propeller are both working let your fancy run back one hundred and five years to the fall of 1825.

Making his way slowly along the brush-bordered brook is a French-Canadian trapper, the only visible sign of human life. He wears deer-skin shirt, trousers and moccasins, with a cap of fur or perhaps a very bright-colored kerchief tied around his head. Slung across his shoulder is a long flintlock rifle while a powder horn, shot pouch and bullet moulds are suspended from a belt into which there is thrust a long keen-bladed knife.

He has finished breakfast at his lone camp a mile below, with perhaps some delicacy of the country, beaver tail, buffalo tongue, or paw of a bear. Now he is running his line of traps.

The crooked river swarms with mink, muskrat, beaver, especially the beaver. There is one now, an awkward furry little fellow, two feet long, weighing nearly forty pounds and having a tail like a mason's trowel. Coming to a dam in the stream, the Frenchman pauses for the thousandth time to admire the clever work of these little engineers and carpenters of the animal world. The beaver cannot drive a nail, but he possesses other arts which man can neither imitate nor explain. He can treat a piece of green timber so that it will quickly waterlog and sink to the spot where it is to be used.

"Castor," says the trapper, addressing the rat by its French name, "If I catch you, some gentleman goin' have fine new hat." The trapper cannot foresee that in the distant future, some candidate for office will talk of "shying his castor into the ring."

Crawling through the sagebrush down a little side-ravine are half a dozen naked painted savages. They are not looking for beaver; they know that only its tail and liver are fit for food, and they prefer the covering of the white man's head to any fur on earth. There is a sudden shower of arrows, a fiendish yell. One trapper less. A brief quarrel over the rifle, the equipment, the bleeding scalp; the human wolves resume the hunt.

Thus did Mr. Ogden of the Hudson Bay Company lose one of his trusty Frenchmen in the fall of 1825. The man's name was "Portneuf," a title still borne by the little crooked stream.

Portneuf's life and the manner of his death were typical of the experiences of hundreds of his fellows in the land that is now "Idaho."

My Favorite Stories by Irvin S. Cobb

A Mystery to the Rich Man
A FEW years ago a gentleman who had acquired a million or so in other lines of endeavor took a part of his fortune and with it built a theater on Broadway. The theater was pretty far uptown, as New York then measured uptown, and at the outset business was not what the new owner expected.

At the end of the second week as proprietor-manager he was standing at the door one afternoon just before the Saturday matinee performance began, talking to the late Paul West. Along came a leading dramatic critic and he stopped for a minute's chat with the other two.

"Say, Harry," asked the owner,

"what's the reason that I ain't making no money out of this here proposition? Here I go and put up a nice clean house and book a good show and yet the crowd ain't coming!"

"Well," diagnosed the critic, "I'll tell you, Jake; this is a new place and you mustn't be in too big a hurry. Remember how long it took some of these other houses to get established. You'll have to build up your own clientele."

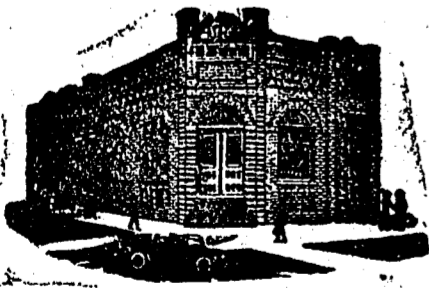

He passed on and West went inside to see the show. When he came out at the end of the first act the millionaire was waiting for him and drew him aside.

"Paul," he demanded, "what was the name of that there thing Harry told me I'd have to build up here?"

"A clientele," said West.

"Sure, I thought I had it right," said the owner; "and now what I want to know is why them guys down at the building department gave me the laugh a while ago when I called 'em up and asked for a permit to build 'em."
