Rev. Groth to Leave Kendrick

According to announcement made in the daily press of the appointments made by the general conference of the M. E. church, held at Seattle last week, Rev. Groth, who has been pastor of the Kendrick Methodist church for the past year or more, will go to a charge at Conconully, Wash. Miss Corabelle Teachman, a deaconess of the church, will have charge of the Kendrick church, according to announcement.

NATIONAL INDEPENDENCE WEEK, JUNE 28-JULY 5

The week of June 28 to July 5, inclusive, has been designated as "National Independence Week" and will be celebrated in independent communities from coast to coast and throughout the entire country special bargains are being offered for this occasion, and in line with this observance, Kendrick merchants are offering special bargains on various articles in their line, just to show their good will and to give purchasers an opportunity to buy what they may need at greatly reduced prices, as will be noted by reference to the ads. of local merchants who have joined in this great week of bargain-giving all over the United States. This is one of the biggest merchandising events of the year.

There is only one way of developing independent business, and that is merchandising efficiency, plus constructive, consistent building of community cooperation. We must constructively develop our business and our community, and as a very important part of this program, National Independence Week has been brought forth. Its slogan is "For Home and Independence"—the two most vital factors of localized prosperity. The modern spirit of independence closely approaches that of a century and a half ago and is just as essential to home, business and towns, because future distribution of prosperity and culture depend upon it.

In this issue of the Gazette you will find a full page ad. sponsored by the business and professional men of Kendrick who are in sympathy with the movement and who are offering special inducement for everyone to come to Kendrick during that week and take advantage of the very liberal bargains being offered during the entire week.

MacPherson Says It's Sol

O. E. MacPherson, who came over from Salmon the other day and spent a few minutes in town with his friends, was somewhat peeved about some of his good friends doubting his statement that the fish over in the Salmon country fairly came out on the bank after the hook, or words to that effect—and just to prove that he was right, he brought four fine rainbows over with him the other day, frozen in a cake of ice, the largest of which measured 21 inches in length and weighed 3 1/2 pounds dressed. Mac said if anyone wanted any further proof of the size and quality of the fish, to ask Roy Ramey, who saw and helped at them. Mac said he went out just a little way from his town and caught the fish just before he started for Kendrick and that there are plenty more over there where he caught the others.

Mr. MacPherson came over after Mrs. MacPherson and their two sons, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Ware, for the past three weeks. He was accompanied by Walter Harris, a lad who assists in the Record office. They started on their return journey Saturday morning. Mac says it was nice to be in Kendrick for a while, but that he likes the Salmon country very much—and especially the fine fishing and hunting in that part of Idaho.

After listening to Mac tell about the good fishing in the Salmon country, some of our sportsmen have all but decided to charter a plane and fly to Salmon some nice Sunday morning, gather in all the fish the game warden will let them get away with, and return home the same night. This is not an impossible trip and would afford some wonderful scenery along the route over the mountains.

Gym Plans Approved

A telegram was received by C. A. Oppenborn, clerk of the local school board, from Boise to the effect that the plans for the new school gym had been approved by the State Investment company and the bonds were signed and made ready by the board on Wednesday of this week, thus insuring the building of the gym.

LATAH OFFICERS RECOMMENDED BY AUDITOR

The following communication has been received by the Gazette from a taxpayer with the request that we publish same, and since there is nothing in it that anyone could take offense at, we reproduce it as it was given to us:

"Editor Gazette: I have read, with more or less interest, the 'lambastings' that have been handed out to our county commissioners and county auditor by Moscow publications, most of which have been fathered by one P. L. Orcutt (whom, we believe, everyone in Latah county knows) erstwhile manager (?) of one of the publications. We are personally acquainted with all the county commissioners and have found them to be men of their word and honest in their endeavors to give the taxpayers of this county a real business administration—not playing any favorites for any position or work of any kind, and trying to save the county as much money as they can, consistent with the full discharge of their duties. And, believing this to be true, and also believing in fair play, we have gone about the trouble of procuring the commendation of Byron Defenbach & Sons, public accountants, who have audited the books of Latah county for the past several years, but who have no ulterior motive in making such commendation.

"This being somewhat at variance with some published reports that have been sent out from Moscow, we ask that you please publish it so that the people may know what someone unbiased in the situation has to say of the management of Latah county:

"Mr. Defenbach's 1929 commendation is as follows:

"With this report we have audited Latah county's affairs altogether an aggregate of twenty years. During all of that time we have pointed to the county as one of the best in the state, in the matter of accounting and also in general management, indebtedness, cost of operation, etc. We think this situation still exists."

"Mr. Defenbach's 1930 commendation says: 'In the matter of accounting, general management, indebtedness, cost of operation, etc., we believe Latah county to be one of the best in the state.'

"I might add, that in case anyone may doubt the authenticity of these recommendations, I will say that they are on file in the county recorder's office and are made a part of the record.

"A TAXPAYER."

Stole a March On Friends

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Thornton arrived in town Saturday evening for a short visit with Mrs. Thornton's father, Rev. A. E. Jones.

Mr. Thornton and Miss Jones were united in marriage at Spokane last April 12 and had kept the event a secret from their friends since that time, no one but the Jones family and Mr. Thornton's relatives being any the wiser.

Mr. Thornton is a piano tuner and is well and favorably known throughout this section of the country. His home is at Cheney, but he is rarely ever there only for a short time, his work keeping him on the road most of the time. He is accompanied on his trips by Mrs. Thornton.

Mrs. Thornton is the daughter of Rev. A. E. Jones and is a most estimable young lady, having a host of friends wherever she is known. She has been teaching in the Lewiston public schools during the past year.

While congratulations may be a little delayed, yet their host of friends will join the Gazette in wishing the newly-weds every happiness through life.

More "Million-Dollar" Rain

Again this section has been visited by an installment of that "million-dollar" rain that nearly always visits this favored region at just about the right time every year.

Last Friday—and some since—a heavy fall of rain visited Kendrick and while it undoubtedly did some damage to down hay, and perhaps lodged some of the rank wheat, it has done a world of good to the spring-sown grain, beans, gardens, etc. Beans are coming up in good shape, some are already up high enough to work, wheat is as fine as ever grew around this section—if it isn't a bit too rank. Some of it has lodged, but not enough to be any serious loss.

We can do your printing—no matter what you want—and do it right.

MAKE HIGHWAYS 100 PER CENT SAFE DURING JULY

"One hundred per cent safe highways in July" is the slogan which Fred E. Lukens, secretary of state, is asking automobile drivers to work for as they travel the state. Mr. Lukens, through the state's traffic organization, is trying to reduce automobile deaths to the zero point for the 31-day period of July. And July is chosen as the month for the campaign because the records show it to be the most hazardous month of the year. In 1929 there were 12 automobile deaths in Idaho during the month of July. For the first five months of this year the toll stands at 23, and eight of these were in May, one in each of the counties of Ada, Bannock, Caribou, Cassia, Kootenai, Minidoka, Nez Perce and Payette.

The realization of such a campaign as has been adopted for July can only be accomplished, Mr. Lukens says, with the whole-hearted support of the automobile driving public of Idaho, strict obedience to every traffic regulation and a careful regard for the rights of others; a development of a safety consciousness, so to speak. The traffic force is also campaigning against defective headlights. Traffic men are checking as many cars as they can contact to see that their lights meet the requirements of the law. Official light testing stations, under the supervision of the department of law enforcement, are equipped to focus, adjust and repair all lights. Cars are required to carry two front lights, focused 200 feet ahead, and a tail light in good working order.

Automobile registration, Mr. Lukens says, is showing a marked increase this year and if the present rate keeps up Idaho will register 130,000 cars in 1930, an increase of 12,000 over 1929. For the first four months of 1930 all registrations were 93,196 and a year ago they were 83,588. Fees also show a big increase. In the first four months of this year total fees collected amounted to $1,639,020.66 while a year ago collections were $1,305,679.80. Counties where fees are collected get 87.3 per cent of the total, three per cent goes for the administration of the motor vehicle department and 9.7 per cent to the state highway fund.

Increase in registration and collection early in the year is due, Mr. Lukens thinks, to the effectiveness of the highway traffic patrol.

Alfalfa Nearly Six Feet

H. H. Sparber, who lives about a mile from town, on American ridge, brought to the Gazette office Thursday morning a few stalks of alfalfa that he had missed when he made his first cutting, that measured five feet eleven inches in length. He also had a sample of his second crop that measured 32 inches in length, and as pretty as one would care to see. Mr. Sparber says it is the finest alfalfa he has ever raised.

Harry Langdon, who lives a little farther up on the ridge, has 200 acres of as fine wheat as one ever saw, it standing full yfour fete tall—almost too long to be handled with a binder and Mr. Langdon is figuring on a combine to take care of his crop. He also has some very fine barley and 90 acres of as pretty beans as ever grew, in the Potlatch country.

Celebrate Augsburg Confession

The Lutheran church at Cameron will observe the 400th anniversary of the reading of the Augsburg Confession next Sunday with a program by children and congregation.

The twenty-fifth day of June, 1530, has always been regarded as the birthday of the Lutheran church, for its fundamental statement of faith, or doctrine, was boldly declared before the world on that day. The phenomenal growth of this church since that day has been attributed to its faithful adherence to Holy Scriptures. A fundamental principle has ever been, "We hold the canonical books of the Old and New Testament to be the word of God and the only source and form of faith and life."

"Flamo" Demonstration

The demonstration of the "Flamo" gas stoves to have been given at the Carlson Hardware store last Tuesday was a success, the condition of the roads being taken into consideration. No attempt was made to carry out the cooking part of the demonstration, but several were present and heard the explanation of the working of the stoves.

It is now "Postmaster" E. H. Dammarell, if you please, he having received official notice on Wednesday of this week that he had been appointed postmaster at Kendrick for a term of four years.

Light Hail Visits Leland Section

As a climax of the cloudy and generally inclement weather that had prevailed in this section for the past several days, the Leland section was visited Saturday about noon by a miniature hail storm that did a small amount of damage to growing crops and particularly to wheat. Among those who suffered slight loss by the hail were Chas. Hill, Henry Reil and W. F. Gephart. They carried hail insurance.

TWO FORMER RESIDENTS PASS TO GREAT BEYOND

Mrs. J. G. Gardner

This community was deeply grieved and shocked to learn of the death of Mrs. Joe Gardner last Sunday evening, June 22, in Spokane.

Mrs. Gardner had been ill for some time at her home in Kellogg and she was taken to Spokane where a major operation was performed, but in her weakened condition she was unable to withstand the shock.

Funeral services were held in Kendrick in the Methodist church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, with burial at Lewiston, Rev. C. E. Bell, officiating. Music was furnished by the Kendrick Male quartet.

The Gardners were well and favorably known here and have a host of friends that will extend their deepest sympathies to the family. Mrs. Gardner will always be remembered as a faithful Christian worker and a true friend to all and her passing is keenly felt in the entire community.

She leaves her husband, J. G. Gardner, and little daughter, Helen, her father, Mr. Bibb, one sister and two brothers.

Alva Hudson

Alva Hudson, son of Mrs. Amanda Hudson, died at the Veterans' hospital, Boise, June 20, 1930, death following an operation for the removal of fluid from the lungs.

Mr. Hudson was born near Bronneau, Vernon county, Missouri, in April, 1893. He had lived in various parts of the West, and came to Kendrick some three years ago, where he had lived with his mother until he was sent to the Veterans' hospital for treatment, several weeks ago, and where he passed away.

He enlisted in the navy in 1917 and served over seas for five months. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the Gold Hill church, with burial in the Gold Hill cemetery.

Little Wheat in Big Bend

W. J. Carroll returned from a trip to Soap Lake, Wash., Monday, having taken Mrs. Carroll there, where she will remain for several weeks.

Mr. Carroll reports that there is little wheat in the Big Bend country, contrary to general reports. He stated that the grain is only about four inches high and that it looks as if it had started to grow back into the ground—if it grew at all. He said he stopped at Odessa and a resident there said it was the worst he had seen in 25 years, which means that it is pretty bad.

Mr. Carroll said that this part of the country looks like a garden of Eden compared to the Big Bend.

The best way to become satisfied with this section of the country, in case you are dissatisfied, is to take a trip to the Big Bend or some other part of the country—and then come back home and be thankful that you live here instead of there.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs To Picnic

A communication has been received by the local lodge of Odd Fellows to the effect that a large delegation of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from the Lewiston lodges will come to Kendrick next Sunday for a picnic in our pretty little city park and they have asked members of the local lodges and invited friends to join them in the event.

Local members and friends are asked to bring well-filled baskets. Ice cream and coffee will be furnished by the Lewiston lodges.

Now "Postmaster" Dammarell

It is now "Postmaster" E. H. Dammarell, if you please, he having received official notice on Wednesday of this week that he had been appointed postmaster at Kendrick for a term of four years.

GRAIN PRICES LOWEST IN RECENT YEARS

Grain prices declined sharply during the week ending June 21, and prices of most grains were carried downward to the lowest point in recent years, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States department of agricultural economics. Generally favorable prospects for the 1930 harvests, weakness in the stock market, increased movement of new wheat and continued slow demand, particularly for wheat and rye, were principally responsible for the sharp reduction in prices. Wheat reached the lowest point since 1914, rye since 1902, oats since 1922 and corn since 1926. Flax was relatively firmer than other grains, but the market was unsettled and slightly lower compared with a week ago.

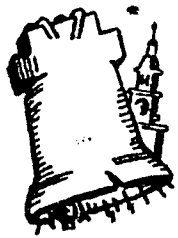

Increased offerings of new wheat, together with a continued slow export demand for the large stocks remaining in North America, appeared to be the dominating influence in the wheat market, since crop conditions in important producing areas of the Northern hemisphere were slightly less favorable than recently because of deterioration caused by hot, dry weather in some areas and by heavy local storms in other districts. Harvesting of winter wheat in the United States has proceeded northward to southern Indiana, central Illinois, and central Kansas, with ripening being hastened by dry weather in the Central Western states. The condition of domestic spring wheat continues generally favorable, although local damage from heavy rains was reported in some areas while additional moisture would be helpful in others. Showers in the Canadian provinces were beneficial for spring wheat, but some further damage has been reported from high winds in sections of Alberta, where high temperatures have reduced the moisture supply. European crops are reported to have deteriorated during the week, particularly in Italy and Poland, as a result of dry weather. Prospects continue better than last season in Germany and Austria and are favorable in Bulgaria and Roumania. Heavy thunder storms did some damage in Denmark, Sweden and France during the week.

Domestic cash wheat markets declined with futures and current sales of all classes of wheat were at the lowest prices in recent years. Dry weather in the southwest favored harvesting and threshing and marketing of new wheat increased materially. 162 cars of new wheat were received at Fort Worth since June 20. The quality has improved rapidly and protein is high. Premiums have therefore been negligible, with dealers at that market bidding only 1/4c premium over ordinary types for 13 per cent protein wheat, and about 1/4c additional premium for each 1/4c protein over the 13 per cent. No. 1 hard winter ordinary protein was quoted June 20 at 95 1/2c to 96c, delivered Texas common points or basis Galveston export rate. Mills were taking the new wheat freely but there was little export inquiry. Six cars of new wheat were received at Kansas City, half of which was from Kansas and the remainder from Oklahoma. The Oklahoma wheat was of high protein, ranging from 13 1/2 to 14 1/2%, but the Kansas wheat was low in protein, ranging from 10.85 to 12%.

The new wheat sold at practically the same price as old crop grain but demand generally was of only moderate volume. Heavy test weight, high protein old wheat was in good demand from local mills, but export inquiry was lacking. Buyers were bidding 4c under the Kansas City September price, which closed June 20 at 88 1/2c, but growers and shippers were contracting very little new wheat ahead. A smaller early movement of new wheat is expected this season compared with a year ago because lower prices do not favor heavy marketings, and also as a result of the increased use of binders in place of combines. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted June 20 at Kansas City at 86c to 87c, with 12 1/2% protein selling at 88 1/2c. Trading was light at Omaha with mills taking moderate amounts. Storage stocks are light in that market and elevators are reported in a favorable position for handling of the new crop. Dealers at St. Louis were bidding 4c under the Chicago September price of 96 1/4c for No. 2 hard winter for July and August shipment, while cash grain of that grade was quoted at 92 3/4c to 93c per bushel.

COAST TO COAST
CELEBRATION

National
INDEPENDENCE
Week

A MIGHTY DEMONSTRATION TO FOSTER
THE SPIRIT OF "HOME AND INDEPENDENCE"

Thousands of businesses from coast to coast join in a mighty celebration and dedicate this event to "Home and Independence." The historic Liberty Bell again rings forth its challenge to loyal Americans. Awake! Arise to the occasion! Take up the fight that is being waged in every village, town and city in the length and breadth of the land.

Kendrick has heard the call. The firms and individuals listed below have entered the fight for your Home and Independence. They invite your support and your help—they have joined this nation-wide movement with a determination to promote the right of individuals to pursue liberty, happiness and prosperity—to develop the individual industries of our community—to foster the support of schools, churches and public institutions—and to create opportunities for your sons and daughters so that they may be pleasantly and profitably employed here at home.

NATIONAL INDEPENDENCE WEEK IS A CHALLENGE. It bands together the independent businesses from coast to coasts in one mighty drive in the interests of fair play and the spirit of live and let live. IT IS BUILT ON VALUES. It appeals to your pocketbook, as well as your intelligence to prove to you that your own friendly independent businesses can serve you fully as efficiently as anyone else.

Proclamation

Whereas the businesses of this nation from coast to coast are banded together in a demonstration of independence, and

Whereas this demonstration is designed to foster the spirit of Home and Independence in the community, and

Whereas I am confident that this is an opportunity to help foster our schools, public institutions, churches, businesses and to promote the future welfare of our children and our homes.

Now, therefore, I, E. T. Long, as mayor of Kendrick do hereby proclaim the dates of June 28 to July 5 as National Independence Week and earnestly appeal to all public spirited citizens to lend their wholehearted support to the success of this campaign.

E. T. LONG, Mayor.

GRAIN PRICES LOWEST IN RECENT YEARS

Soft winter wheat markets were 6c to 8c lower with mills generally awaiting the arrival of new wheat. New soft winter wheat was expected at St. Louis before the first of July, but very little of this wheat has yet been sold "to arrive." On June 20, buyers were bidding about 92 1/2c for No. 2 soft red winter for July and August shipment delivered St. Louis, and No. 2 red winter was quoted at 99c per bushel in the cash market.

Spring wheat markets followed the downward trend on winter wheat but demand for flour improved at the lower prices and mills became more active buyers of cash grain with the result that cash premiums were advanced about 1c per bushel in relation to future prices. At the close of the market June 20, 12% protein No. 1 dark northern spring wheat was quoted at Minneapolis at 1/4c over the July price of 93 1/2c.

The decline in Durum wheat was not quite so great as in bread wheats, July Durum at Duluth declining only 5 1/2c and closing June 20 at 82 1/2c. Domestic demand was somewhat improved and there was scattered export demand, but prospects for the new crop continued generally good and were a weakening factor. Prospects for Durum in competing areas however, are less favorable. Conditions in north Africa are not so good as last season, and early indications are for a reduction of about 4,000,000 bushels in the Algerian crop, and of over 3,000,000 in the crop in Tunis. The Italian crop is also expected to be smaller than last season.

Canadian spring wheat markets were independently weak, reflecting more favorable weather for the new crop in the western provinces. Wheat for July delivery at Winnipeg declined 7 1/2c and cash grain 6c to 7c per bushel. No. 1 Manitoba Northern was quoted at Winnipeg June 20 at 96 1/2c.

Pacific coast wheat markets followed the decline in Eastern and foreign markets and were 5c to 7c lower. Crop prospects continue generally favorable in Washington and Oregon and harvesting is progressing favorably in California. Export demand remained almost negligible for Pacific coast wheat and domestic milling inquiry was dull. Cash prices at Portland declined about 5c during the week with Big Bend Bluestem No. 1 hard white quoted June 20 at Portland at $1.09, No. 1 soft and western white at 96c, No. 1 hard winter, northern spring and western red at 94c per bushel. No. 1 white and red wheats sacked were quoted at Seattle at 95c and No. 1 dark northern spring in bulk from Montana with 14% protein at $1.03, No. 1 hard winter in bulk from Montana was quoted at 99c per bushel. New wheat was expected at Portland about the last of the month but very little new crop wheat has been contracted by the trade as growers are not inclined to sell at current quotations. Rains towards the last of the week were very beneficial for the crop in the Pacific Northwest and another good crop is in prospect. Export sales at Portland totaled about 700,000 tons of white wheat to the United Kingdom.

Harvesting was progressing favorably in the San Joaquin valley in California at the close of the week but had just started in the Sacramento valley. The quality of the new crop is generally satisfactory with the grain plump and heavy. Some samples of Baart wheat received from Sacramento weighed 63 pounds per bushel. Mills were paying a premium of 5c to 10c per 100 for good old crop wheat for quick shipment, but buying was only of moderate volume. Around 39,500 tons of old wheat remained in California warehouses at the first of June, according to trade estimates, compared with approximately 49,000 tons a year ago. Growers were receiving around $1.50 to $1.55 per 100 sacked for new wheat at Sacramento valley points. No. 1 hard white and No. 1 soft white were quoted at San Francisco June 20 at $1.75 to $1.80 per 100. No. 2 hard white was being offered freely at Los Angeles at $1.83 to $1.85 and No. 2 soft white at $1.75 to $1.78 per 100. Receipts at Los Angeles totaled 78 cars and were mostly taken by mills. Growers were not shipping freely but were reported to be storing larger amounts because of lower prices. Some Utah-Idaho wheat was being received by mills for blending purposes.

Apt

A stranger addressed the farmer's boy across the fence: "Young man, your corn looks kind o' yellow."

"Yes, that's the kind we planted. "Don't look as if you would get more than half a crop."

"Don't expect to. The landlord get the other half."

Then, after a pause, the man said: "Boy, there isn't much difference between you and a fool."

"No," replied the boy, "only the fence."

Organization Need of Honey Industry Co-operative Marketing Is Necessary, Says Expert.

The honey industry needs organization, says M. P. Rasmussen of the New York State College of Agriculture.

"Further development of co-operative marketing associations among beekeepers is necessary to meet effectively problems confronting the honey industry. Local co-operatives are needed to establish local prices and grades. Regional co-operatives are needed for warehousing, processing and merchandising honey. A national co-operative, or possibly a federation of regional co-operatives is needed to advertise honey, establish standards, develop export outlets, and obtain needed legislation.

"Tell the man who eats it about the healthfulness and food value of honey. This offers the most promising solution of the honey marketing problem. The unorganized state of the honey industry makes this step extremely difficult, and unless honey is standardized, it will be difficult to increase demand for honey to any appreciable extent.

"Honey is now retailed to the consumer in containers of such capacity and type as to impress the consumer with the fact that honey is a luxury. Honey can and should be sold in cheap tin and large glass containers in quantities readily recognized by the consumer—not less than one pound or multiples thereof. Corn sirup outsells honey ten to one and is put up in only five sizes, all in tin cans."

Many Dairy Bulls Sold Before Value Is Known

Too many dairy bulls are disposed of before their breeding value is known, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. A study has just been made of the ages at which "proved" bulls were disposed of in one state. No bulls disposed of for breeding purposes, or for injury or other natural causes, were included in the study.

Of the 124 bulls studied, 88, or 71 per cent, were disposed of before the age of five years. One hundred and seventeen, or about 84 per cent, were disposed of before the age of eight years. Two bulls were kept until eleven years of age and one bull until fourteen years old.

Usually a bull will be five years old or older by the time he is proved. The disposing of such a large percentage at an earlier age, or before their true value can be ascertained by means of dam and daughter comparisons, is one of the big losses of the dairy industry.

Roofing Cement Used to Advantage With Silage

There are several ways in which roll roofing and roofing cement can be used to advantage in filling the silo. Often the silage spoils in the pit because of bad leaks where the stave part fits onto the top of the pit and because the pit wall may have a square shoulder that the silage does not settle into the pit properly.

A liberal use of trowel roofing cement around the bottom of the staves will remedy any leaks. If there is a square shoulder, it may be remedied by stopping up the square shoulder by building in with concrete mortar, or by filling in with stiff clay mortar and then fastening a strip of roll roofing around the bottom of the staves so that the lower edge hangs just below the top of the pit wall.

Rigid Culling of Aged Ewes to Improve Wool

Quantity may go hand in hand with quality in wool production. Investigations by the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, show that length of staple and weight of clean wool per fleece are associated with superior quality. The inheritance of the sheep, its feed, management, and seasonal environment are the most important factors that influence quality and quantity of wool. Successful sheep raisers have found that rigid culling of aged ewes and light producers is a good practice for the immediate improvement of their flocks.

Good Winter Management of Cows Pays Dividends

Good winter management of the cowherd will pay big dividends in the spring calf crop. Proper feeding of the cows during the winter is necessary to insure the birth of strong calves. For this purpose, nothing exceeds good legume hay such as alfalfa and clover. If the cows have all the dry fodder or silage or preferably both that they want with four or five pounds of alfalfa or clover hay per head daily, their needs will be supplied. If preferred, a pound to a pound and a half of linseed or cottonseed cake or meal may be used in place of the legume hay.

Origin of Stocks

The question of stocks for apple trees has attracted much more attention abroad than in this country. It has long been the custom in England for growers to distinguish between types of stock of different habit, such as dwarf Paradise stocks, semi-dwarf stocks like Doucin, vigorous Paradise stocks, etc. The result has been that these stocks have been propagated for years, until now pure lines of several types exist.

She Needed Patients

By JANE OSBORN (Copyright.)

WHEN Dr. Polly Hill decided on the north end of Hillboro as the location for her office after she had finished her hospital training, it was not because that part or any part of Hillboro offered a strikingly good field for the initial efforts of a woman physician. It was because of Bob, Polly's brother. Bob was a freshman at Hillboro college.

It was the afternoon of the morning after Polly's shingle had been hung in state over the front door of the little white cottage in Hillboro. Polly had been shopping in the center of town with Bob.

A fine snow was falling from a windless sky.

"Had any patients yet?" asked Bob. "Of course not, yet," she said. "I won't have any patients for a week, maybe, and not enough to make it pay for months. I only hung out my shingle this morning."

"I don't see as there is any nourishment in shingles," commented Bob. "Couldn't you put an advertisement in the paper or something?"

"Bob, don't you know that doctors never do that?"

"Well, honestly, sister, how are you going to get any customers—patients, I mean?"

"Bob!" protested Polly, relieved by her brother's foolishness. "I'll tell you what we'll do. We'll pour some water out in front of the door some night when it is freezing. Make it nice and slippery and then we'll get some sprained ankles, any way. Maybe a couple of broken legs, too. How would that be?"

A half hour later Polly and Bob were seated opposite at their little dining table.

And afterward there was a merry dishwashing session in the kitchen, when Bob gave Polly an imaginary lecture on dishwashing as he wielded the dish mop.

Then came a feeble knock at the door, then a knock that was more vigorous. Bob quickly slipped into his coat and hurried to the door.

"Flash on the porch light before you open the door," said Polly, and they both went toward the front hall. When they first looked out on the porch they could see no one; that was because the person who had knocked at the door was lying limp beneath the folds of a heavy ulster.

It proved to be Bronson Todd, the mayor of Hillboro, and it was no very easy task for Bob to carry the prostrate six-foot mayor into the reception room of the little white cottage. With Polly's help he spread him out on the lounge.

Explanations were not permitted by Doctor Hill, who was at once immensely professional, until after the patient had been examined. There was a rather badly sprained ankle and a bruised knee. The mayor had fallen on the sidewalk in front of the house.

"I was going to suggest," began the young doctor, a little less bravely than might be, "that it would be better for you to rest here, possibly all night. The slightest effort might cause pain to the strained tendons. In the meantime, hadn't you better telephona to Mrs. Todd?"

"Oh, there's no Mrs. Bronson Todd," said the patient with a smile that seemed to irritate Polly. He was just the good-looking sort of well-built young man who ought to be ashamed not to be married by thirty, and he must be thirty. Who ever heard of a mayor under thirty?

"Possibly you would like to have your own doctor," she said.

"I am with my own doctor," he said. "This is the first time that I have had a doctor, well, since I was twelve and had the measles."

When it was decided that the young mayor could be moved via motor car to his club the next afternoon, he said frankly that he was sorry to go.

"Doctor," he said, "you'll look after the case, won't you? Perhaps you'd better drop in tomorrow. In the meantime I'd feel better if I settled my account for as far as it has gone."

"But, of course, there are to be no charges," said Dr. Polly Hill, turning rather pale. "It was our fault that you slipped. We hadn't shoveled our walk. We should at least stand all the doctor's fees. You might ask damages besides."

The mayor smiled. "Who ever heard of such a thing? You might think that you had deliberately made that walk slippery so as to get patients." He looked into Polly's blue eyes and laughed again, and Polly looked very much distressed.

So that was the beginning of the chain of events that led to the marriage that spring of Hillboro's young mayor and her youngest doctor.

It was the day before their wedding that they recalled together the events of the day of their meeting. "I was distressed because it really was our fault that you slipped, and only an hour before Bob and I were jokingly saying that we would have to get patients just that way."

"And I," confessed the mayor, "was walking—not far behind you at the time. It was a silent, snowy night. You didn't hear me, but I heard what you said. So—well, I wanted to know you better—so I decided I'd pretend to slip on your front walk anyway, so you'd have to take me in. But when I was getting ready to take a fall, I took a real one."

MAGPIE CONTEST CLOSED FRIDAY OF LAST WEEK

The magpie contest that has been on for the past several weeks, came to a close last Friday evening, the contestants bringing in a total of 1961 eggs and heads against a total of 5861 last year, which shows very conclusively the result of the work done by the boys last season. Very few magpies can be seen at any time in the canyons, where they were generally the thickest.

Mr. Thompson has made report to the state game department on the number of trophies brought in and the contestants will be paid one cent for each egg or head brought in, in addition to the fine rifle and fishing rod that are to be given as prizes.

The list of contestants and the number of heads and eggs brought in is as follows:

Sherwin Schmidt	575
Fred Reid	456
Jas. Bolon	338
Edgar Heath	329
Adolph Dennler	94
Bob Weyen	57
Edgar Davidson	50
Evelyn Plucker	22
Wayland Davis	15
Archie Sloan	8
Oscar Hartung	7
Elmer Emery	7
Harold Ellis	3

The prizes will be awarded at the next regular meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club, July 8.

The highest number of trophies brought in last year was by Clarence Heimgartner, who was credited with 1635 eggs and heads.

Of the 5861 brought in last year, 5776 were magpie, 54 hawk, 28 crow and three bluejay.

Old Sale Bill Is History

Memories of the gold rush of '49 and the life of that period are mirrored in a handbill dated February 15, 1849, which was sent to Detective Walter H. Brown at Council Bluffs, Iowa, by a friend who found it in an old trunk: The bill reads:

PUBLIC SALE—Having sold my farm and as I am leaving for "Oregon territory," by ox team, will offer on March 1, 1949, all of my personal property, to-wit:

All ox teams, except two teams, Buck, Ben, Tom and Jerry; two milk cows; two ox carts; one iron plow with wood moleboard; 1,500 ten-foot fence rails; sixty gallon soap kettle; eighty-five sugar troughs; sixty gallons maple syrup; two spinning wheels; thirty pounds mutton tallow; one big loom made by Jerry Wilson; 300 hoop pines; 100 split hoops; 100 empty barrels; one thirty-two gallon barrel of Johnson Miller whisky, seven years old; twenty gallons of apple brandy; one dozen reel hooks; two handle hooks; three scythes and cradles; one dozen wooden pitchforks; one-half interest in tanyard; one .32-caliber rifle, made by Ben Miller; fifty gallons soft soap; hams, bacon and lard; forty gallons sorghum molasses; six head of fox hounds, all soft mouthed except one.

At the same time I will sell my six negro slaves, two men, 35 and 50 years old; two boys; mulatto wenches, 40 and 39 years old. Will sell all to same party as will not separate them.

Terms of sale, cash in hand on day of sale or note to draw 4 per cent interest with Bob McConsel as security. My home is two miles south of Versailles, Ky., on McCoons ferry pike. Plenty to eat and drink.

Treatment of the Child

When you waken a child do it in a pleasant way. Do not take him by the ear and pull him out of bed. It is disagreeable for the child and injures the general rout ensemble of the ear. When children go to sleep with tears on their cheeks and are wakened by the yowl of dyspeptic parents, they have a pretty good excuse for crime in after years. If I sat on the bench in such cases I would mitigate the sentence.—Bill Nye.

London's Smoke Long Age

I have but one holiday, which is Christmas day itself nakedly, no pretty garnish and fringes of St. John's day, Holy Innocents, etc., that used to bestud it all around in the calendar. Improve labor! Julietta plays here next Sunday for the last home game and we go to Orofino July 4.

Custom of "Toasting"

The custom of drinking to health and success to undertakings at banquets dates back to the time of the Romans. The word "toast" appears to have originated from the practice of putting bits of toast in the wine, the great partaking of such a sippet with the draught of wine as soon as the felicitation had passed the lips.
