can influence enough voters to defeat the present members of the Board of County Commissioners in the primary, it is logical to believe that the next four times what is now being paid. In all fairness we ask that the voters of Latah County consider the motives of the attacks which have been made. We submit that neither the Moscow Publishing company nor P. L. Orcutt are safe advisors for the public. We have honestly and conscientiously tried to hold the expense of running Latah County to the minimum and a close scrutiny of the records of the County with the honest motive of determining each and every expenditure made will reveal that not one dollar has been spent by the present Board of County Commissioners in violation of the purpose and intent of any law of the State of Idaho or in violation of the duties which each member of the Board of County Commissioners and the Clerk of the Board owe to the public.

Each of the undersigned stands upon the record as made and not as interpreted and misrepresented by P. L. Orcutt. We ask the people in justice to themselves to read this carefully and vote for men who are honest in their motives and who have been careful of the expenditures of the public moneys. The County expenses have been held to a minimum. Your taxes have been increased by reason of increased municipal, school and road levies. The candidates supported by the Moscow Publishing company and P. L. Orcutt have never given the public any assurance that they will vote against any increase in the price of county printing. On the contrary, each one of them have signed a statement that in personal expenditures they will charge on the mileage basis for the use of a private automobile instead of charging the actual expenses which can only include the gasoline, lubricants and repairs on their personal cars.

Respectfully submitted,

Fighting Automobile Accidents

It has become increasingly apparent during recent years that the automobile accident problem will not be solved by such legislative boomerangs as compulsory insurance, but by certain punishment of persons flagrantly guilty of causing accidents.

So long as "cure" is subjugated to "indemnity" the accident record will continue to increase.

During 1929, financial responsibility laws were passed in some form in California, Iowa, New Jersey, New York and Wisconsin. None of these force unconditional compulsory insurance on the public. The careful, competent driver is not affected by them. They act solely in the case of the careless and reckless.

A large percentage of our accidents can be attributed to, outmoded, inadequate or unenforced traffic and highway driving ordinances. In many states licenses to operate a car are given to any who ask for them, irrespective of their ability, experience or responsibility, it is no wonder that this condition results in the deaths of 21,000 persons each year.

Get after the reckless driver and leave the careful one alone. When every community does that we will be successful in the war against automobile accidents.

Indeed a Compliment

No greater compliment could be paid the housewives of Kendrick and Juliaetta than that the Washington Water Power has paid them. In nearly every community where the Washington Water Power company has a representative Irene Kerr, home economist for the Westinghouse Electric company has been a demonstrator of electric cookery, sponsored by the Washington Water Power company, but Kendrick has so far not been mentioned as even a possibility for such a demonstration, indicating that this company considers the women of Kendrick capable of handling electric ranges perfectly, without any help from them.

It couldn't possibly be an oversight.

We'll venture the assertion that there are as many electric ranges in the Kendrick-Juliaetta territory as any of the outlying communities (the sales being greater this year) and the possibilities for placing more are just as good, if not better, than in any other community.

Guy W. Wolfe

Candidate for District Judge Second Judicial District At The Republican Primaries, August 5, 1930

Twenty years experience in the practice of law; owns a well balanced library; has had experience in detailed court work as a Clerk of Court; has served in the State Legislature; has built a successful business in Moscow in the past ten years; has taken part in most public movements during that time; is a member of various organizations including the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, National Grange and American Bar Association.

These are some reasons why many friends are supporting his candidacy.

SAFETY

The pace of our modern era accelerated as it is by the widespread use of electricity, calls for constantly increasing emphasis on the factor of safety.

In the electric service industry nothing is left undone which will increase the margin of safety, and it is universally recognized that electricity makes possible newer and safer ways of doing many things.

THE WASHINGTON WATER POWER CO.

ASSESSOR TAYLOR MAKES STATEMENT

There is a widespread protest among our citizens against the constant increase in the burden of taxation. Perhaps our people as a whole are more exercised over the alleged inequitable distribution of this burden rather than because of its gross weight.

This office has prepared a comparative statement and graphic charts showing the inequalities of valuations in the various classes of property over a period of years. These charts show that farm property in this county has maintained its assessment valuation of fully fifty per cent of its actual value. It is self-evident that farm lands have a comparatively fixed actual value while city property and other property (including public utilities) should show a consistent increase in value with the building of new homes and business buildings.

It is common knowledge that in the City of Moscow a large number of new homes and business buildings have been constructed within recent years and that the city has greatly increased in value and commercial importance. During that period more than $800,000 has been expended in public improvements — street paving, sewers, water systems, parks, etc.

Elevators, warehouses and distributing plants to the value of more than $250,000 have been constructed. Building permits issued by the city clerk in the last five years exceed $900,000.

Notwithstanding these large increases, the assessed valuation of property in Moscow, from 1915 to 1929, shows an increase of less than $50,000, which is more than accounted for by the increase in merchandise stocks.

A great deal of attention has been devoted to the equalization of real property assessments. To a large extent this phase is still meaningless to a great number of taxpayers.

The question is frequently raised whether or not the actual value of the county is growing less. It is charged that the falling off in aggregate assessed valuation misrepresents the county's actual progress. There seems to be rather a vague and erroneous public idea that in some way taxes can be reduced by understating the value of property assessed.

Months of study has convinced me of the crying need of some systematic method of arriving at assessed values and the injection of approved business practices in all the problems of this department. Anything designed to promote economy under the old system would be a makeshift and a palliative which would have no lasting effect and might do untold harm.

It is comparatively easy for interested or even selfish groups to propose changes designed to further their own ends; frequently with no value to the public, sometimes with pernicious features.

It is a truism that no system of appraisal, public finance and taxation is any better than the scheme of administration under which it operates. It is also true, lamentably so, that very little progress has been made in the realm of county government administration and methods of assessment in the last fifty years. We know that every other activity in all industries has been revolutionized a half dozen times within that period.

The function of viewing property values from a county-wide angle has been assumed by this office and an honest attempt is being made to establish a system with the purpose in view of compelling every citizen to contribute to the public needs according to his real property wealth; no favoritism to any individual or class of individuals.

The explosive voter, and occasional taxpayer who is again everything, should be strenuously suppressed for the damage he does is difficult to repair and his contribution to the solution of problems is below zero. That type of taxpayer who is without facts, shouts for economies where they would be false economies and opposes expenditures that are wise and proper and who takes the attitude of the mountain goat on the narrow trail must not be allowed to play an important part in any taxpayers' movement.

The man who will not face facts, who will not seek scientific evidence in the solution of the complicated problems of the present day, but whose superheated atmosphere is out of step with any taxpayers' movement.

This department hopes that one of its greatest achievements will be that it has proven itself worthy of the respect and confidence of taxpayers and all public officials. It has relied upon research for revealing the facts and on experience, intelligence and vision in interpreting them. The work as outlined by this office cannot be completed overnight, but must, by the rather slow process of earnest endeavor and consistent adherence to facts be built up over a comparatively long period.

Once achieved it will be invaluable and must be studiously conserved. There is no conflict between the welfare of taxpayers and this department, if they will take a sufficiently long and broad view, consider all the facts in the case and strive to co-operate with us to solve our mutual problems with an eye to the truth and an unflinching resolution to work for the greatest good of the greatest number.
Walter Q. Taylor, Assessor.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY FIRMER GOOD EXPORT INQUIRY

Receipts at Cincinnati were about the same as a year ago. Exports since the first of July have been nearly double those of a year ago, totaling 6,328,000 bushels to July 19, as compared with 3,592,000 bushels for the same period last year. Market stocks, however, have been increasing faster than last year, and on July 19 totaled 129,519,000 bushels, compared with 104,447,000 bushels in store a year ago. This increase in stocks and exports suggests smaller takings by domestic mills. Mill demand, however, continues fairly active and current offerings were readily taken at steady premiums.

Arrivals at Kansas City showed lower quality and a larger proportion of ordinary protein types than earlier receipts. No. 1 hard winter sold in that market July 25 at 81½c and 82c per bushel, with higher protein contents bringing up to a 3c premium. No. 1 grades were selling at 1c to 2c under No. 1. Receipts at Omaha were unusually large with county offerings still heavy, according to trade reports. A good demand prevailed, however, from mills and elevator interests and offerings were readily taken. No. 1 hard winter 12½ per cent protein, sold July 25 at 83½c and No. 2 hard winter 11 per cent protein at 80c per bushel. A good export demand was reported from Fort Worth with exporters bidding 95½ to 96c per bushel for ordinary protein No. 1 hard winter, track, Galveston. Most of the receipts at Fort Worth were destined to Gulf ports and cash offerings were small. Mills were bidding ¼c over export prices for No. 1 hard winter delivered at Texas common points. An increase in the Mexican import duty has practically eliminated demand from that country. Harvesting is reported at its height in Colorado with the quality of the crop excellent. Receipts at Denver totaled 314 cars, and No. 2 hard winter was quoted F. O. B. that market or Colorado common points at 61c to 63c per bushel.

Soft winter wheat markets were also firm with mill demand active, particularly at St. Louis. Movement from nearby territory has decreased but marketings from central Illinois increased, reflecting the relatively higher prices prevailing at St. Louis compared with Chicago. No. 1 soft winter was quoted at St. Louis July 25 at 90c to 91c per bushel.

Pacific coast markets continued firm but rather inactive. Mill demand was slow because of the small export outlet for flour while export inquiry for wheat was not of large volume. Scattered export sales were reported at Portland, including a half cargo of white wheat to Ireland, 2,000 tons to Rotterdam, parcels totaling 2,000 tons to Liverpool and Glasgow, 2,000 tons to Japan and 1,000 tons of red wheat to Hull. Winter wheat harvesting is progressing rapidly under favorable conditions in Oregon and Washington. Growers, however, were not offering freely under current quotations and arrivals since the first of July at Columbia river and Puget Sound points totaled only 2,400 cars, as against 3,200 cars for the same period last year. A large percentage of this season's receipts were consignments for storage. Arrivals of new wheat at Portland show white wheat slightly inferior in quality compared with last season's crop but red wheats as good or better. At the close of the market July 25 No. 1 hard white B. B. bluestem variety was quoted at Portland at $1.08, No. 1 soft and western red at 93½c.

California wheat markets held very steady. Harvesting is now about two-thirds completed in Central California with quality and yield satisfactory, according to trade reports. Current prices are 50c to 60c per 100 under a year ago and growers are reported to be storing comparatively large amounts. Current quotations were around $1.30 to $1.40 per 100 sacked. The Los Angeles market was quite steady with prices practically unchanged. Demand for milling wheat was slightly more active, but competition from cheap barley is restricting demand for feed wheat. Local mills were reported obtaining a good volume of supplies direct from San Joaquin valley points.

It seems to me I have much real cause for indignation. What can I do about it, in hope of good results? I have concluded the only thing I can do is to behave myself, and be injured as little as possible in the runways of other people.—E. W. Lowe's Monthly.

My Favorite Stories
by Irvin S. Cobb

A Little Story of Gratitude

I DON'T know just how old this story is, probably if the truth were known, it's a great deal older than any of us now alive. Indeed, an amateur archeologist who specializes in prehistoric humor told me the other day that, according to his best information and belief, it dated back to the first century B. C. and originated in Rome. He was quite certain that it circulated at Newgate prison in London during the Elizabethan era.

So what I claim is that, if it has lived this long and remained so fresh and vigorous through all the ages, it deserves to go on living.

The modernized version is to this effect: A visiting clergyman is touring a state penitentiary. When his round is almost completed he is joined by one of the keepers.

"My friend," says the keeper, "I am glad I came today to this dismal place and spent hours wandering through its stone-walled corridors. For now I am more convinced than ever that in the mind of the lowest and most depraved creature here there is some love left. Every heart beats to some tender throbbing, some lingering sentiment of affection. In fact, at this moment I have before me proof of it. Look yonder."

And the minister pointed a finger toward the barred front of a nearby cell.

"They tell me," he went on, "that in yonder cell is confined a man serving a life sentence for having committed a cold-blooded murder. And yet see what he now is doing? He has made a friend and a companion of an ordinary rat. At his call it comes from a hole in the wall. It plays about him. He divides his food with it. It perches on his hand while he strokes its back. It is his friendly and confiding companion in the long hours of his solitude. The turnkey on duty in this hallway informs me that the two are inseparable."

"So I ask you, is not this evidence of what I have been saying? But hold: I shall demonstrate my theory beyond a doubt."

The reverend gentleman advances to the cell door.

"My dear brother," he says, addressing the inmate, "would you mind telling me why you are so deeply attached to this dumb animal?"

"Sure, I'll tell you," answers the criminal. "It's because once he bit the warden."

King Had to Buy Land
In 2600 B. C. a Babylonian king purchased some tracts of land and had the transaction recorded in precise language on a large dark-green stone. It is worth noting that this king did not confiscate the land that he wanted but bought it from the owners in a perfectly legal way, which shows how firmly established were the rights of private ownership so many centuries ago.—Boston Herald.

A Peculiar Accident

About one of the most peculiar accidents that ever happened to anyone happened to George Davidson, Jr., one day last week when he and his brother and another boy were riding on a truck, going to dinner at the noon hour from the field where they had been hoeing beans. It seems the truck had been used for spraying purposes and as the lad got up some of the dried spray matter was set on fire, supposedly from sparks that were caused by nails in the heel of his shoe. The boy was quite badly, but not severely burned, the flames causing several blisters about his shoulders, he having been working without a shirt.

The flames were put out with a small fire extinguisher before any material damage was done to the truck. The accident happened on the Walter Benscotter place.

Caught Limit of Fish

Dr. E. H. Field and party consisting of Mrs. Field, Mrs. L. J. Herres, Mrs. Wm. Watts and Miss Rilla Davidson returned Wednesday evening of last week from a two-days fishing trip to the Lochsa river and from all reports a splendid outing was had. Mrs. Herres proved to be the champion fisherman of the party, but all caught a nice "mess" of fish. Dr. Field says it is a wonderful trip and that the good fishing is easy to get to. Of course one can't fish from his automobile, but it is far easier to reach than many so-called good fishing places.

Says He Didn't There just ain't no use talkin' those two fishermen down at Long's store are the caterpillar's eyebrows when it comes to bringing in the "bacon" or fish, they claim. But they both deny that they have been fishing lately and they are not going to let anyone know when they go again for the fish orders have been piling up at the store so fast that it will be impossible to ever fill all of them—or any of them. But if you really want to get the lowdown on the fish line just ask either Marvin or Ira—and there's nothin' more to it. They tried to shift the story to B. N. Emmett, who went fishing up on Boulder creek—and said he caught fish, too, but that just can't be done. Mr. Emmett said he caught fish, and we haven't any reason to doubt his word. There is going to be a contest soon between Mr. Emmett and Marvin, Emmett saying he could catch fish faster than Marvin could catch them; and Marvin says it just can't be done, either, so the contest is on. Watch the Gazette for full particulars.

Foundation Going In Fast The Farmers Union Warehouse Company at Juliaetta has been very busy these past days in putting a new foundation under their warehouse, with the exception of the new addition that was built this spring. They are making poured concrete bases, then raising the old timbers with jack-screws and driving new timbers into place, all in preparation for the big wheat harvest that is expected to start next Monday. The Farmers Union at Juliaetta has been a very busy place this season, due to the cherry packing for this district being done there as well as construction work.

Accidentally Shot Self George Baugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Baugh, accidentally shot himself in the right leg Sunday afternoon while loading a .22 pistol. When the gun was discharged only half of the bullet went into the young man's leg, the bullet being split as the cylinder was not in position at the time of discharge, it having been turned somewhat to put the last shell in the cylinder. The part of bullet entered the right leg just above the knee and was cut out on the underside by Dr. E. H. Field. The injured young man is getting along nicely. He was taken to Lewiston and given a serum treatment Sunday evening just after the accident happened.

Improvements About Completed S. A. McAllister is putting the finishing touches on his residence property which he has been in the course of remodeling for some time. A little remodeling in the right place, and a few gallons of paint properly applied add hundreds of dollars to the value of any piece of property.

It adds materially to the appearance of the garage front, though its appearance was always good. A few gallons of paint adds very materially to the appearance of any building.

DIP TO DESTROY MANY PARASITES

Important That Task Be Performed Before Winter.

For September the Calendar of Live Stock Parasites, issued recently by the United States Department of Agriculture, makes suggestions as follows: "Now is the time to dip your live stock for lice, sheep ticks, true ticks, and mange. Later it will be too cold to do more than apply relief measures. Do it now while the weather is still warm and save yourself trouble later, as these pests are more troublesome in cold weather." Consult Farmers Bulletin No. 1380-F (sheep parasites), 1493-F (lice, mange, and ticks of horses), 1685-F (hog lice and hog mange), 1017-F (cattle scab), 980-F (ear ticks), 909-F (cattle lice), 798-F (sheep ticks), and 718-F (sheep scab). Clean up lice on poultry. See Farmers Bulletin Nos. 1347-F and 801-F. In the fall farrowing of pigs plan to use the swine sanitation system as modified for farrowing on pasture in the fall. Consult United States Department of Agriculture Leaflet No. 5-L. "A mud wallow for pigs provides a breeding ground for worm eggs and helps to load pigs with roundworms and kidney worms. At one packing plant in the South it was found that kidney worms and thorn-headed worms cause an annual loss of $80,000. The use of a concrete wallow is an aid in keeping down worm infestations, provided it is properly constructed and used." See Farmers Bulletin No. 1035-F for directions for constructing and using concrete wallows. "In regions where parasites interfere with sheep raising, breed ewes in time to lamb early, if you have the equipment, and market before the worms share your profits. Early lambs come before the parasites wake up from their winter sleep. This calendar, compiled by Dr. Maurice C. Hall, of the bureau of animal industry, contains similar reminders for each month in the year and a general summary of year-round precautions against parasites. The calendar, which is Miscellaneous Publication 25-M, or any of the departmental publications listed by Doctor Hall, may be obtained free by applying to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. World's Racial Division The usual classification of mankind is in five racial groups: the Caucasian or white race, the negro or black race, the Mongolian or yellow race, the Malay or brown race, and the American Indian or red race. Each of these groups is subdivided into various branches. Ethnologists generally include the Hindu people as members of the Caucasian or white race.

SAVINGS PASSBOOKS SOUGHT BY CROOKS Use Them to Steal Money by Forged Slips — Should Be Guarded as Carefully as Cash.

Continual vigilance in safeguarding savings pass books, as well as blank and cancelled checks, against theft by crooks, who use this material in forger operations, is urged on bank customers by James E. Baum, Deputy Manager of the American Bankers Association, in charge of its Protective Department. This department is continually vigilant in promoting means, both among bankers and the general public, to thwart the operation of bank crooks. It annually investigates hundreds of crimes against banks and is responsible for the majority of arrests among this class of criminals.

In a large majority of cases of forgeries on checks or savings withdrawal orders investigated by the American Bankers Association, stolen blank checks or savings pass books were the forger's chief stock in trade. Mr. Baum says, "In many instances the temptation presented through the careless handling by depositors of cancelled or blank checks or pass books so that they fell into the hands of others was the immediate stimulus for hitherto honest people to commit their first criminal offense. Banks should educate their depositors to exert the same degree of care in handling these instruments and to avoid leaving them about unguarded as they exercise in respect to actual money because they represent money, he declares.

For dealing with the bank robbery situation, J. Baum recommends the use of electrical alarms actuated by any tampering with the wires or mechanism and also wider adoption of the plan of state police forces now employed in a few states; declaring that last year in seven eastern states where state police forces were maintained there were only 20 bank holdups as against 164 similar attacks perpetrated against banks in five states in the central and far west, where banks are denied the advantages of the speedy and coordinated action given by statewide police forces.

The records of the American Bankers Association Protective Department reveal that for many years the odds in favor of state police protection have been at least 10 to 1 when measured by the experience of banks in states where efficient police protection is missing in the rural districts, he says.

THE THINKER LEADS MODERN PROGRESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE President American Bankers Association

The greatest need of the world today is interpreters of our times—modern Daniels in agriculture, finance, politics, industry—who can see through the fog and haze that enshroud our difficult problems and advise, instruct and influence those who are either indifferent or limited in their perceptions.

Through the thinker and the John G. Lonsdale interpreter, a number of known situations are disclosed or puzzling conditions explained in logical light. The American people are so constituted that they can meet and combat any situation once it is known and understood. It is the unknown that sometimes like the thief in the night and brings disaster. Some one has defined prosperity as something the business men create for the politicians to take credit for. But America's present-day prosperity can be defined as a product resulting from the business man's ability to study and to interpret. Huge corporations, maintain research staffs and special bureaus to interpret the times for them. Disaster looms in the offing for any industry that goes blithely on its way day after day without due regard to significant trends in trade and business.

Keeping Up With Change Leaders of finance have discovered that they cannot remain passive in an age when all the rest of the world is in a transitional stage. The modern banker not only must know about the changing styles in other lines of business, but above all must be alert to the transformations which are taking place in his own. He must be a man of keener broader vision, because the order of the day is for larger units of service. Mergers and consolidations have taken place in great numbers. We now talk of billions where a few years ago we talked of millions.

We have only begun our changes. What disposition is to be made of the many problems that they bring will depend in large measure upon our leaders, upon the students and the interpreters who can read accurately the signs of the times, so that we may base future actions and hopes upon their wisdom. The quickest way to go to the top is to go to the bottom of things, and let us hope that among them will be found many who will not only aspire to leadership but will be successful in reaching their goal.

STATE TAX MEN AND BANKERS IN ACCORD Months of Negotiation Lead to Agreement on Changes Broadening Method of State or Local Taxation of National Banks.

NEW YORK.—Months of conference and negotiation between an American Bankers Association special committee and the Committee of the Association of States on Bank Taxation have resulted in an agreement on a form of amendment to the Federal statute dealing with state or local taxation of national banks that "maintains the integrity of the protective principles of the section and is satisfactory to the commissioners' committee," says the American Bankers Association Journal. Thomas B. Paton, the organization's General Counsel, in making the announcement says that previously proposed amendments to the statute, which is known as Section 5219, have been opposed when it was felt their terms would enable any state to place banks in a tax class by themselves.

"The law as it stands today," Mr. Paton says, "permits state or local taxation of national banks or their shareholders in one or the other of the four following forms: the shareholders upon their shares—a property tax; the shareholders upon their dividends—a personal income tax; the bank upon its net income; the bank according to or measured by its net income. Only one form of tax can be imposed, except that the dividend tax may be combined with the third or fourth form if other corporations and shareholders are likewise taxed.

"The conditions permitted are: the tax on shares must be no greater rate than on other competing moneyed capital; the income tax on shareholders must be at no greater rate than on other income from other moneyed capital; the tax on bank net income must be at no higher rate than on other financial corporations nor the highest rates on mercantile and manufacturing corporations doing business within the state; the tax measured by net bank income is subject to the same limitations as the tax on net income of the bank, but may include entire net income from all sources."

States Seek Broader Law National banks and their shareholders are taxed in different states under a diversity of systems, he says. The U. S. Supreme Court has held that the low millage rate on intangible personal property is in violation of the present law where it results in national bank shares being taxed at a rate greater than that assessed upon competing moneyed capital. A number of states, unwilling to use the income methods permitted, had the alternative of either repealing the intangible tax laws or limiting taxation of national bank shares at the intangible rate. Therefore they sought a broadening of the permissive provisions.

Also, Mr. Paton points out, a Supreme Court decision held a state's excise tax on corporations invalid where it included income from Federal and local government bonds in the excise measure. This created doubt as to some state bank excise taxes. "Conferences have been held to reach some agreement which would protect the banks, satisfy the tax commissioners and avoid a contest in Congress," Mr. Paton says. "From the standpoint of the tax authorities, the main objectives have been an amendment which would permit certain states to retain their low rate tax upon intangibles and at the same time derive an adequate, but not excessive, revenue from national bank shares, and an amendment which would permit certain states to tax corporations on their net income, excluding income from tax-exempt, and at the same time derive the same revenue from the banks as heretofore. From the standpoint of the banks, it has been deemed imperative to maintain the protective principles of Section 5219.

The Changes Agreed On "The proposed amendment to the existing provision permitting taxation of bank shares no higher than the rate upon competing moneyed capital has been modified with respect to certain intangible tax states only by a provision under which, instead of the moneyed capital limitation, the rate shall not be greater than the rate upon the shares of other financial corporations, nor upon the net assets of individuals, partnerships or associations employed in the banking, loan or investment business, nor higher than the rate assessed upon mercantile, manufacturing and business corporations with head office in the state.

"Also an added fifth alternative permissive method, designated as a specific tax, permits a state, in place of an ad valorem tax on bank shares, to add together total dividends paid the preceding year and the increase in capital, surplus and undivided profits, less additions to capital or surplus paid in by stockholders, and to divide this total by the number of shares. The state may tax the shares based upon this amount, but not to exceed the rate on other corporations in proportion to their net profits. "This method is designed for states which have heretofore taxed national banks upon their entire net income from all sources at a proportionate rate to that assessed upon business corporations. The amount which is the basis of the tax is the equivalent of the entire net income from all sources, but being assessed against the shareholder upon his property in the shares and not a tax upon the bank, it is not open to the objection as an indirect tax on exempt income."

FIRST WHEAT DELIVERED TO KENDRICK-ROCHDALE

The first wheat of the season to be brought to Kendrick was delivered to the Kendrick-Rochdale warehouse on Thursday of last week by Ben Hoffman, who resides southwest of Leland. The grain is of the Forty-fold variety and tested No. 2.

The first grain to be brought to the Vollmer-Clearwater warehouse was brought in Tuesday morning by Earl Peterson, and delivered to the warehouse. It also is of the Forty-fold variety.

Schultz and Wegner started their threshing outfit on the A. O. Wegner place, near Cameron on Wednesday of this week—the first machine to start in that neighborhood.

Newman and Wilkins started their combine on the Wilkins place early this week and the grain is being hauled to the Kendrick-Rochdale elevator. The yield is averaging 19 sacks to the acre, or approximately 43 bushels, testing 58 pounds.

There is considerable smut in the fall grain but it is said the spring grain is comparatively free from it.

It has been stated that the hot weather of the past few days has done considerable damage to the beans on some of the ridges, but just how much will not be known for some days. If a good shower would come along now there would still be a bumper bean crop.

The Hotel Kendrick is a good place to eat and sleep, when you stay in town.

"BE NOT DECEIVED" SAYS PETE ORCUTT

In a boxed article on the front page of last week's Orcutt publication, put out by the Moscow Publishing company, is supposed to be set forth the real issues of the campaign before the primary.

Pete says the county printing is not the issue, but that there is "graft" in the court house that he, with his "Holier than thou" attitude, is going to suppress.

If the county printing has nothing to do with the issue, why is it that they are centering their attacks upon those who have the giving out of the major portion of the county printing, instead of any other office in the court house? The county commissioners gave the county printing to the lowest competitive bidder—and that caused the management of the Idaho Post to become very roth each and every time the printing went to Kendrick or Genesee.

We, too, ask that the voters "Be Not Deceived," nor to allow any statement to the contrary to prejudice them. We are not trying to discredit any candidate before the primary. We are merely asking the voters to make thorough inquiry as to whether our statements or those of Pete Orcutt are correct regarding the real issue. Access to the files of the Moscow publications will confirm our contention that the real issue is the procuring of the county printing—and none other.

It is very strange that Pete Orcutt, practically an itinerant, can come into Latah county and be given credence and allowed to dictate the policies of county officials—hired to discredit men who have handled the affairs of the county in a business-like manner for many years while Pete was away peddling silk socks and doing other chores. Petes' skirts are not entirely clean and we believe the county officials whom he is seeking to discredit will stand the limelight as well as himself.

If the county legal printing were not the bone of contention, then why the derogatory articles in the Star-Mirror when the printing was first given to the Kendrick Gazette in 1924, again when it was let to the Genesee News in 1926, and again when it was returned to this office in 1928—and when the Genesee News was sold in 1928 and the Gazette a year ago? The Star-Mirror management published an article at each of these times trying to besmear these papers and making statements that plainly showed the venom that the management bore, and still bears, against these papers and the county commissioners who gave them the contract for the legal printing, and County Auditor Thatcher for not giving that office all the printing at their own price.

Again we say "BE NOT DECEIVED."

Farmers Mass Meeting at Spokane
Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and Chairman Legee of the Federal Farm Board will be in Spokane Monday, August 11, and will hold a mass meeting at that time for farmers of the Inland Empire. At this meeting they will discuss the workings of the Federal Farm Board and take up especially the marketing of wheat.

This meeting is very important to the wheat growers and we are trying to get representative farmers from all parts of this country to attend, says County Agent L. B. Taylor.

Latah County Getting Better
According to a report sent out from Washington, D. C., regarding the marriage and divorce records for Latah county it is revealed that in 1929 there were 184 marriages and 23 divorces and in 1928 there were 191 marriages and 35 divorces, which gives 1929 a shade the best of the argument.

The total number of marriages in the state in 1929 were 4,779 with 1,036 divorces and in 1928 4,636 marriages with 1,023 divorces. All of which goes to show that there isn't much difference in the "hitching" and "unhitching" of human beings in all states.

Curbing Accidents

The automobile accident menace will not be curbed until drivers "think safety."

During the past ten years, through intensive safety work, the American railroads have reduced fatalities on their property, owing to conditions within their control, 61 per cent.

The accident record in almost all other industries has steadily decreased, due to untiring efforts that have impregnated a knowledge and a consciousness of safety in the minds of workers.

Contrast this with the automobile accident situation. Last year motor vehicles were responsible for the deaths of 1,500 persons, a new high record. This represented a 13 per cent increase over the 1928 record, while automobile registrations gained but eight per cent. Motor vehicle accidents lead all other causes of accidental death by a wide margin.

There is but one encouraging circumstance. Accidents to school children are on the decrease due to the fact that safety education is part of the curricula in modern and progressive schools.

Every reckless and irresponsible driver is a menace to all the rest of us. Persons who disregard safety should be prevented from using the public highways.

Barn, Hay, Machinery, Burn
Fire Saturday night destroyed the hay barn on the barn occupied by Ben Kress on the highway between North Lapwai and Spalding. Hundreds of motorists were attracted to the fire.

Farm equipment lost includes two binders, harness and miscellaneous machinery. Four tons of hay were burned but no horses or stock were lost.

Mr. and Mrs. Kress are on a camping trip and could not be located today. The fire was believed to have been started by spontaneous combustion.
