GRAIN MARKET LOWER— FEED GRAINS WEAKER

Domestic grain markets continued unsettled during the week ending November 14 and wheat and flax prices declined sharply, with prices of feed grains also averaging lower, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States bureau of agricultural economics. Domestic wheat markets declined largely in sympathy with the general weakness in the world situation, resulting from liberal offerings from surplus areas, accumulation of wheat stocks in European ports and continued favorable prospects in the Southern hemisphere countries. Rye weakened with wheat and was also influenced by dull export inquiry. Corn prices tended downward with only a moderate demand for the increased offerings. Oats and barley showed independent strength despite weakness in other grains and prices held firm to fractionally lower. Flax seed declined with continued favorable prospects for a large Argentine crop, although domestic crusher demand improved at the lower levels.

World wheat markets continued weak with prices tending downward. Liverpool led the decline, with December futures dropping 7/8c for the week, with the corresponding futures at Winnipeg 5/8c lower. Offerings from the principal exporting countries continue liberal and although European mill grindings of foreign wheats are increasing, demand is insufficient to absorb current offerings. Stocks of wheat in European ports are accumulating which is a further weakening influence in the market situation. The estimate of the Canadian wheat crop has been revised upward and is now placed at 396,000,000 bushels, which together with the carryover of old wheat on hand August 1, gives a total supply of 508,000,000 bushels for the season, or 104,000,000 bushels more than in 1929. The Southern hemisphere outlook continues favorable, and the Australian crop is now placed at 214,000,000 bushels, or 88,000,000 bushels larger than that of last season. Crop conditions in Argentina are somewhat less favorable, with indications of rust damage, although the extent of the injury cannot yet be accurately determined. Fair quantities of old wheat are still available for shipment, for which shippers are asking 73c, while new crop offerings of 63 1/2 lb. wheat are being made at 77c CIF United Kingdom.

Shipments of wheat and flour from Black Sea ports continue heavy, with the total for the week placed at 8,184,000 bushels, including 7,552,000 bushels of Russian wheat. Trade estimates of the quantity of Russian grain remaining for shipment are being revised upward. Shipments of Russian wheat for the season to date have totaled around 49,000,000 bushels, or more than one-fourth of the total world shipments. Native wheats in European countries are being sparingly offered, but import takings continue to be restricted by milling regulations. Czechoslovakia has recently made compulsory the milling of 75% of native wheat in milling mixtures.

Domestic wheat markets were in sympathy with the foreign situation, and December futures at Chicago closed at 73 1/2c, or 1 under those of a week ago, with the corresponding futures at Minneapolis dropping 5/8c for the week, and closing November 14 at 63 1/2c. Cash markets followed the decline in futures, with spring wheat relatively weaker than winter. Receipts of wheat continued liberal and somewhat larger than those of a year ago. Lighter offerings of winter wheat at Kansas City, with continued active demand, were strengthening features in the cash market, although prices of No. 2 hard winter showed a loss of 1 1/2c to 2 1/2c for the week, and closed November 14 at 68c to 68 1/2c per bushel. Local mills shippers were ready buyers of heavy test wheat of all types, while storage interests, industries and feeders furnished the best outlet for the lighter weight lower protein samples. The average protein of the week's receipts was 11.87%, as compared with 11.72% a year ago. The wheat movement from Omaha to other terminal markets continued liberal, and released more storage space for the incoming receipts of corn. Mill buying at this point, mostly from the Southwestern interests, was moderately active. No. 1 hard wheat with 12% protein sold at that market November 14 at 70 1/2c per bushel, with

PAPER OUT WEDNESDAY

In order that we may properly celebrate Thanksgiving Day, the Gazette will be printed on Wednesday of next week. We would ask our correspondents to please send in their items so they will reach us not later than Wednesday morning.

WALLACE PLAYS LEWISTON FOR NORTHERN GRID TITLE

Wallace and Lewiston will play for the Northern Idaho football championship Friday, Nov. 21, at the Lewiston high school field in a game set for 1:30 p. m.

Wallace won the Panhandle title handily, defeating all opponents by large scores. Lewiston took the central Idaho championship by impressive victories over Moscow and Nez Perce, winners over all other district elevens.

The Miners are coached by Mel Ingram, former Gonzaga star and exponent of the Notre Dame system. Lewiston uses the Matthews variation of the same system as taught by Syb Klefner, former Idaho star. Wallace depends on a speedy running attack, featuring Robinson, a speedy halfback, while the Bengals use the pass extensively and punch the tackles.

Making New Fuel

The Clearwater Timber company has developed a machine for the making of a new fuel from shaving from their planing mill. The machine compresses the refuse into sticks several inches in length, molded in a cylinder. The controlling medium in forming the briquette is a 12-inch hydraulic cylinder with piston and rod. At the start of each briquette and throughout its length in forming, the cylinder rod hold even pressure against the briquette and opposing the screw, thus controlling the density of the briquette.

"In the last few years it has been necessary to surface practically all lumber shipped from the mills, and this resulted in a large amount of planer shavings," Mr. Bowling said. "In most instances this amounted to equal of all refuse of the sawmill. This type of refuse must be burned in the manufacturers boiler plant or in the refuse burner, and it cannot all be consumed as fuel in the ordinary commercial plants in Lewiston because the supply exceeds the demand. Now we have perfected a machine that will divert them to some other source."

Birthday Surprise

A charming little surprise party was given Iona Thomas, November 8, at her home in Juliaetta, the event being her twelfth birthday anniversary. Decorations were cleverly carried out in orange, white and green. Old fashioned games, such as "Winkum" and "Gossip," were played and enjoyed by all.

The guests were Isabelle Malnarich, Irene Palmer, Anna Biddison, Claribelle Groseclose, Lola Grove, Mildred Edna Malnarich, Virginia Burns, Erwin Draper, Wilbur Miller, Walter Fraser, Lyle Draper, Gelbert Baker and John Halliday.

Iona was also pleasantly surprised by her sister, Margaret Thomas, of Pullman, Washington, who spent the week-end with her. Miss Thomas and her father returned to Pullman Monday.

Old Man Winter In Saddle

This section of the country, like practically all of the country west of the Rockies, was visited last weekend by one of the heaviest snowfalls of this season of the year that has covered the ground here for many years. Snow began falling Friday morning and continued all day, some four or five inches remaining on the ground by nightfall. The temperature remained normal and while the ground froze lightly, the mercury gradually rose during Saturday. More snow fell Monday night, but by evening the ground was visible in many places in the canyon. The uplands were covered with from five to ten inches of snow.

Adding Bay Window

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leith are building a bay window onto the west end of their home, which Mrs. Leith will use for her house plants and fernery. The addition will add much to the coziness of their already cozy home.

LOCAL COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS INTERESTING SESSION

A very profitable and pleasant session of the Kendrick Commercial club was held at the Kendrick Hotel Tuesday evening of this week, when 19 members gathered to help keep our little city on the map and do their bit for the good of the town. While the number was small in comparison to the number that should have been there, yet what was lacking in numbers was made up for by enthusiasm and the knowledge that they are doing something for the good of the town and the community as a whole.

The first thing on the program was a splendid chicken dinner, engineered by Mrs. M. O. Raby—and it was a real feast, too. Those whose privilege it was to partake of this excellent dinner were so well pleased that a vote of thanks was extended to the management (but Mrs. Raby was the real power behind the throne).

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the report of the committees was heard. A report on the Salesday movement was made, showing that $125 had been collected and that $112.10 had been used by the committee, leaving a balance of $12.90, which was turned into the Commercial Club treasury.

W. J. Carroll made a report on the activities that have been going on in this community regarding the findings of Mr. Olson, a geologist who had gone over certain pieces of land trying to locate oil and gas strata, and, according to report made by Mr. Carroll, such strata was located and that the geologist says there is both oil and gas to be found in this section.

Dr. O. J. Morehead was present and in response to the glad-hand welcome that was extended to him, made a very interesting talk, stating that he was glad to again be back in Kendrick.

The question was raised about Kendrick having formerly been the bean center of the Potlatch, but that the business had been allowed to gradually gravitate to Troy, where a large per cent of the local crop and that of farther points were taken for cleaning and polishing. Both the local warehouses are prepared to do this work, especially the Vollmer-Clearwater company, but on account of the capital necessary to take care of the bean market, they had practically discontinued this work. The matter was referred to the Industrial committee of the club for report at next meeting.

One of the most important things brought up at the meeting was the giving of a free community Christmas tree by the merchants and business men of Kendrick. This form of entertainment and get-together meeting has been carried out in many other places and has been a decided success, and it was decided to give one in Kendrick sometime just before Christmas, when every kiddie in the entire community will be given a treat. This is not only for the town people, but for the country folk as well. In addition to treats for the kiddies, there will be singing of Christmas carols and other forms of entertainment yet to be decided upon.

Several other minor things were discussed at the meeting, after which it adjourned.

The next meeting of the club will be held on December 9, when reports will be made on several important questions.

Funeral of W. F. Albright

Services were conducted by the Rev. J. Pearson from the United Brethren church at Juliaetta, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for William F. Albright, whose death occurred at Portland Sunday. The body was taken to Moscow for interment.

Mr. Albright, a native of Deerfield, Wis., where he was born July 10, 1864, had been a resident of the west since 1883, and of the Juliaetta section for 30 years. He was prominent in Odd Fellow circles. Besides a widow and four sons he leaves four brothers, eight sisters and seven grandchildren.

Thanksgiving Service at M. E. Church

A special Thanksgiving service is being arranged for Wednesday evening (Thanksgiving eve) at the Methodist church. Special musical numbers will be rendered, the Thanksgiving proclamation will be read, and a short Thanksgiving sermon delivered. It is planned as a union service. Everyone is most cordially invited to attend and render thanks to God for His great blessings. The service will begin at 7:30.

REV. HALLOCK WRITES OF CHRISTMAS IN CHINA

Rev. H. G. C. Hallock, who has been a missionary in China for many years, and who writes interesting letters to the Gazette every now and then, has just written interestingly of the Chinese children at Christmas-time. The letter is dated at Shanghai, China, October 11, 1930, and is as follows:

"Dear Editor: I wonder if you have any boys and girls among your readers. If so, can they imagine a place in all the world without Christmas and its joys? One such place is down here on the 'bottom-side' of the world." The slant-eyed "yaller" kiddies here do not have Christmas trees. They do not "hang up baby's stockings, the biggest you can get." Santa Claus with his sleigh and reindeer and bags of toys seldom finds his way to China. It may be because the roads are too narrow and the reindeer fear getting their feet wet in the rice-fields, or because there is so little snow and ice, or it may be because Chinese houses have so few chimneys, or perhaps Santa Claus is afraid of falling off the "bottom-side" of the earth, or may be even because nobody has shown him the way here.

"Chinese children do not wait up at night to get a sly peep at him. Nor do they run down stair very early on Christmas morning to see what Santa has put on the Christmas tree or what wonderful things he has used to fill their stockings. Just think of it! A land with no Christmas! I say 'No Christmas;' but it is not quite 'No,' for once in a while some English or American store will have a Santa Claus or Christmas tree in the window for the sake of English boys and girls. Then lots of wee Chinese noses interestedly press the window-glass.

"Then, too, I and my American friends, friends of little children, are trying to be Santa Claus to at least one hundred little kiddies in my ragged Sunday Schools in Shanghai. The happiest little Brownies you ever saw are my little 'Chinks,' as on Christmas day my helpers and myself tell them the glad Christmas story and distribute among them apples, oranges and peanuts; dolls and balls; toys and candy. How the eyes of my little people sparkle. How happily they smile and how gratefully they say, 'Zia-zia-noong' (Thank, thank you), as they receive the gifts of their American friends. I wish all your boy and girl readers could be with us and see how happy my boys and girls are with the simplest gifts. They would all be glad not only for the delight of my little ones; but they would better appreciate their own Christmas gifts. They would also realize how much boys and girls in China are like American boys and girls with their likes and dislikes; their joys and sorrows, their tears and smiles and would feel that they are indeed their own brothers and sisters.

"Some say there is no Santa Claus. I think of him as a great big heart of love that tries to make other people happy. Don't you think that true, Mr. Editor.

"Now may I ask you to carry to all your good readers, children and grown-ups, my best wishes for a merry Christmas. Keep lots also for yourself.

"Yours from the land of the 'China Chinks,'

"Rev. H. G. C. Hallock."

Organize Waterways Board

It now looks as though Lewiston and Clarkston are in a fair way to have a barge line connection with Astoria, Oregon, which will give them a decided advantage in freight rates over what they have now.

Mark Means of Lewiston has been elected president and will also act as chairman of the board of directors. The tentative first unit of the corporation would consist of a powerful tow boat and nine barges, estimated to cost about $250,000. All districts along the Snake and Columbia rivers would share in the financing and management of the corporation, which will be run on a non-profit basis.

New Kind of "Fire Water"

A raid was conducted on a shack on Snake River avenue, Lewiston, the other night by Federal Agents and Sheriff Harry Dent of Nez Perce county. Two gallons of an alleged liquor of an entirely new kind, resembling hydrant water, home brew and alcohol, were found and seized. They make it out of most anything now-a-days—just so it will make the drunk come.

Our Correspondents

We are indeed glad to see our list of correspondents again coming "back to normal." This week we have persuaded our old Leland correspondent to again get into the harness and from now on we hope he will be able to keep us informed on what is being done out in his neighborhood.

We want still more good correspondents—one in every neighborhood. Just drop us a line telling us you will send in news items from your neighborhood and we will do the rest.

CONSUMPTION OF DAIRY PRODUCTS INCREASING

The per capita consumption of all dairy products except butter is now at the highest point in the Nation's history, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. department of agriculture. There has been a marked upward trend especially in the last ten years.

Per capita consumption of butter last year is computed at 17.61 pounds compared with 14.7 pounds ten years ago. The peak of butter consumption was in the year 1899 when the per capita consumption was 19.9.

People are eating more cheese, as shown by an average per capita consumption of 4.62 pounds last year, as compared with 3.50 pounds per person in 1920. Consumption of condensed and evaporated milk last year was 16.58 pounds per person, of which 2.75 pounds was condensed, and 13.83 pounds evaporated. In 1920 consumption of condensed and evaporated milk was 10.17 pounds per person.

Ice cream consumption last year was three gallons per person as compared with 2.46 gallons in 1920, and with 1.04 gallons in 1910.

Milk consumption per person is estimated now at approximately 58 gallons per person annually, although figures on this commodity are not yet available. Milk consumption in 1920 was 43 gallons per person.

Public School Notes

Miss Selma Roe, teacher of the third and fourth grades, returned to her room after an absence of two weeks.

The first basketball games to be played in the new gymnasium were between the Freshmen and Sophomores last Wednesday, the score being 19 to 9 in favor of the Freshmen, and a game between the Juniors and Seniors Friday, the Seniors winning with a score of 32 to 2. A game for the championship was played Monday, the Seniors being victorious over the Freshmen by a score of 52 to 21.

A change has been made in the cast of the Junior class play, "Adam and Eva." Robert Fry is to take the part of "Adam" formerly held by Otto Herman. Clarence Hund will take Robert Fry's part as "Doctor Delameter."

The Junior class play, "Adam and Eva," to be given in the Kendrick School gymnasium on December 10, is progressing very nicely. The cast is now working on the third act, and they assure you the play will be well worth seeing. Be sure to come.

Relative of Murdered Nurse

The papers of Sunday carried news dispatches announcing the death of three persons in Brazil, murdered by savage tribes—a missionary, his two-year-old daughter and a nurse. The nurse, Mildred Katz, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was a second-cousin of Mrs. W. C. Jones of Kendrick. Miss Katz was an own cousin of Mrs. Jones' mother.

The missionary's wife was severely wounded, but will recover, according to late dispatches.

Long & Sons, which started on Thursday of last week, has been going strong, Marvin Long stating that the first three days of the sale were greater than those of last year and that the sale in its entirety to date, had been one of the biggest and best they have ever held.

If the people of this section of the west only realized just how fortunate we are in being here right now, the grumbling would cease, especially if we will only stop and compare our condition with that of other sections of the country. If you want to see real hard times, just start in east of the Rockies, and keep right on going till you reach the Atlantic coast, and you will see plenty of it on the way.

"Nothing Doing"

That is what we were told when we asked Bill Watts about the shipment of wheat and beans from the Kendrick-Rochdale warehouse. Wheat and Beans are at a "standstill" as are other lines. Here's hoping that something will open-up one of these days with a "bang" and that no one will get hurt when it happens.

"CALL OF THE WEST" AT AUDIAN THEATRE

The feature picture at the Audian Theatre for Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights will be "Call of the West," a thrilling westerner with Dorothy Revier and Matt Moore in the leading roles. It's an all-talking romance of the west.

While the virile spirit of outdoor life, which is the greatest charm of the "westerns" has been fully preserved, it is used for a background for an unusually dramatic and appealing story. An element of contrast is introduced by the fact that outdoor scenes vie with vivid night club life on the Gay White Way.

Violet La Tour, New York musical comedy favorite temporarily loses her looks through illness. She is sent on the road by her manager. In Sagebrush, Texas, she is left stranded and ill. She is befriended by Lon Dixon, a good-looking cowboy who persuades his mother to nurse her back to health. Violet temporarily forgets Broadway and marries Lon. Through a misunderstanding she and her cowboy husband are parted and she returns to New York. How she is brought to the realization that she can never be happy with the old artificial life supplies the rest of the action for the story.

Thanksgiving Program

A special show will be given on Thanksgiving day and Friday, when "Forward Pass," an interesting football picture, with Doug Fairbanks, Jr., in the leading role, will be shown—and Doug makes a "touchdown" in a love story that will appeal to your heart.

"Zaro", the man who knows, will be on the stage Thursday and Friday nights, only. He will answer any and all questions. Zaro has been at Lewiston for the past several weeks and is in great demand.

And the feature picture: Thrills? Oh boy! When you hear the cheers and see them fighting, plunging and rushing down the field you'll be on your feet cheering them every inch of the way.

And wait until you hear Loretta Young sing "One Moment of Heaven," "Hello Baby," "I've Got To Have You," and "Huddlin'." You'll be whistling and humming them all after the show.

Robbery Suspect Caught

Albert Marner, accused of robbing a Moscow bank on September 19, was arrested at the home of his parents in Moscow, crouched in a clothes closet. Marner is alleged to have held up the Moscow State Bank, securing only $178.00. The bandit overlooked between $6000 and $7000 in money in his haste to make his escape.

Young Marner pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the district court by Judge Hodge, his bond being placed at $3000.00.

And Such Prizes

"Is your wife at home?" "Naw," replied Funkhauser. "She's out with a bunch of prize fighters." "Prize fighters?" exclaimed Mrs. Popsicle. "Yes," replied Funkhauser. "She went to a bridge party."

POULTRY

GIVE PLENTY OF ROOSTING PLACE

Pullets Need Room and Fresh Air to Develop Properly.

Give the pullets plenty of roosting space and encourage them to roost early, says L. M. Hurd of the New York State College of Agriculture. Roosting helps to prevent crowding and allows the individual chicken more freedom of action and better air. Uncrowded pullets make better growth.

Clean and disinfect the houses and supply them frequently with fresh litter. Shavings, oat straw, or sand make the best covering for the floor during the summer. When more than one house is in use take care that too many pullets do not form the habit of roosting in one building. The buildings should be at least 100 feet apart to help keep the birds evenly distributed. It is not advisable to try to house more than 125 growing pullets in one colony house.

Provide good ventilation on hot nights. In addition to the regular ventilators take out the glass sash in the front of the house. To prevent possible infestation from red mites paint the perches and side walls close by with carbolineum, or spray the colony houses several times during the summer with a mixture of equal parts of crude carbolic acid and kerosene.

When there are many hatches and several weeks difference in their ages provide each hatch with a separate range or place the houses farther apart than for groups of the same age. Otherwise older pullets will annoy the young and prevent normal growth.

Fireless Cooker Good

Idea for Egg Layers

Hens need warm water. It's cheaper for you to warm it on the fire than to make the hen warm it with expensive feed.

You can save lots of trouble by insulating the water pail. You can make a sort of fireless cooker by placing the drinking vessel in a box large enough to stuff two or three inches of straw, excelsior, or torn newspapers, packed tightly below and all around the vessel.

Keep the material dry by covering it with tin, fitted closely under the top rim of the pail, and sloped slightly to the outside of the box so the split water will run off. The water keeps warm several hours.

Profits Increased by Culling Flock Closely

Whether the poultry producer keeps pure breeds or grades, he will increase his profits very materially by culling his flock closely every year.

Though the trap nest is the most accurate means of selecting the best layers in the flock, its use is only practicable for those who make poultry breeding a specialty.

The trap nest usually has no place on the general farm. On the average, the pullet laying year is more profitable than any other. Yearlings and two-year-olds are likely to be kept at an actual loss unless they are carefully culled.

Poultry Facts

The average fenced farm geese are the most profitable of all.

A dust bath aids materially in the elimination of body lice and should be installed.

Pure-breeds usually lay eggs that are more uniform in size, shape and color, and are more productive than mixed flocks.

Hens should stand a lot of dry still cold, but not drafts. There should be no opening in opposite walls, not even cracks, to draw a shivery current of air through the house.

Overcrowding in the poultry house discourages production of high priced eggs.

Feed hens balanced rations. Watch flock for sick birds and remove them on discovery. Keep house dry, warm and well ventilated.

The first rule in feeding the poultry flock in the winter is to be sure to feed plenty. Hens cannot lay in cold weather unless they have enough feed to keep them fat and thus have a surplus for making eggs.

Squash and pumpkin make a good succulent feed for poultry, helping to keep the bowels in good condition.

Increase the size of your poultry house to keep pace with the size of your flock. Poultry is not city bred and does not like crowded conditions.

Moist mash often helps to get more feed into the crops—a warm, slightly moistened mash fed at noon during cold weather. Liquid skim milk or buttermilk is especially valuable for moistening the mash.

THE INDIVIDUAL YET NEEDED BY BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

SOME seem to think that the day of the individual in business has passed. But they are wrong. While the individual may not attract such outstanding attention as he did in the days of old when institutions were conducted on a smaller scale, he nevertheless is to be found in any large corporation, dominating the situation, giving orders here, cooperating there and shouldering the responsibility of keeping a large group of lieutenants, captains and privates working in unison and moving forward under the banner of progress. And all of these are held accountable to the public because the public has entered into a partnership agreement, with the corporation through purchase of stock.

John G. Lonsdale orders here, cooperating there and shouldering the responsibility of keeping a large group of lieutenants, captains and privates working in unison and moving forward under the banner of progress. And all of these are held accountable to the public because the public has entered into a partnership agreement, with the corporation through purchase of stock.

Even in the gigantic mergers that have taken place within the last two years there remains more than ever the necessity for a leader, an aggressive personality, whose duty it is to see that basic principles are not forgotten, that the rights and privileges of the individual workers and the customers they serve are as well provided for as in the smaller business units.

It is gratifying to note that our corporations are giving more and more concern to the welfare of their workers. Numerous benefit organizations have been formed, opportunities offered for advancement, education and position, hospital service established and insurance and retirement pensions provided.

This general humanitarian movement in reality is the outgrowth of analysis, which has disclosed the need of improving the well-being of our individual workers, realizing at the same time that our institutions will benefit.

PREPAREDNESS IN BUSINESS

By R. S. HECHT,

American Bankers Association. My observations for many years, both as an employee and as an executive, have convinced me that the reason some men and women go ahead, and others do not is that some keep themselves constantly prepared to accept and fulfill larger duties and responsibilities as they offer, and some do not.

Grant, as we must, that there is a certain element of luck in the conditions under which opportunity for promotion comes to different men and women, we nevertheless must also see that it is each individual's own state of preparedness which determines his ability to seize opportunity if and when it comes, and having seized it, to succeed in meeting the greater demands which it inevitably places upon him.

Real advancement never means going ahead to easier tasks, but always to harder ones. Opportunity for advancement is worthless unless in accepting it you are able to carry with you the abilities and qualifications that prepare you to meet the heavier exactions that are an inherent part of opportunity.

It is far better to go into action in the field of enlarged responsibility prepared and qualified, rather than that you and the institution you work for shall be exposed to the hazard of your having to build up to new responsibilities after having assumed them.

The new spirit of all business seeks to prepare its people in advance through education for the higher duties it holds in store for them.

Bank Bandits Active

The greatest number of bandit raids on American banking ever recorded in the figures of the protective department of the American Bankers Association were reported during the six months ending last February. Bank members of the association reported for investigation 311 forgery cases, 107 holdup robberies, 16 burglaries, 3 sneak thefts and 8 mortgage swindles while non-member banks, numbering less than half the total enrolled in the association, suffered 88 holdup robberies and 9 burglaries, non-members being burglarized or held up once for every 89 banks, as compared with once for every 164 member banks. The association detective agents caused the arrest of 143 of the 236 bank criminals apprehended during the period covered.

The association's report on these conditions urges support of the movement to provide city police departments with radio-equipped cruising automobiles which have proved particularly effective in Cleveland and Detroit in the broadcasting of alarms and the closing in on criminals immediately after or even in the midst of the perpetration of crimes. Last year the average time elapsed between the receipt of radio calls by these cars and the 1325 arrests which followed was one minute and forty-two seconds, the report says.

WASTE IN GOVERNMENT PRINTING IS ENORMOUS

The enormous waste of money at Washington, D. C., in the government printing office seems to be increasing, regardless of the cry for a reduction of taxes and curtailment of expenses.

Not long ago this subject was discussed in a government report and it stated that the printing at the government office was only a small amount, amounting to only "a few millions" each year. It may perhaps cost "only a few millions" each year, but that few millions, properly applied at this time of want among poor people and jobless men and women, would relieve the situation very materially.

This office is just in receipt of a voluminous article on "Better Swiss Cheese in America." What does the average layman know or care about the manufacture of Swiss cheese in America, or any other country, for that matter. If the government has this information to give out, why not give it to those directly interested and not spend the people's money sending a 11-page pamphlet to every newspaper in the United States?

This is only one of the dozens of government-printed articles that come to our desk each week. From what we know about the cost of printing, we would say that it is a grievous waste that could be curtailed and the money applied where it might do some good. As it is these articles, nine out of ten at least, reach the permanent filing basket that is near each newspaper desk, just for such purposes.

A child born in 1930 will live 10 years longer than the 1910 child, the United States Public Health Service promises—but it musn't play in the street.

GRAIN MARKET LOWER—FEED GRAINS WEAKER

The lower protein around 2 1/2c lower at 67 1/2c per bushel. Demand at Fort Worth was very dull with export inquiry negligible and only a light domestic demand. Country shipping movement was very light, but storage wheat was being offered at 81c for No. 1 hard winter delivered Galveston export rate or Texas common points.

Soft winter wheat markets were relatively firmer than for other important market classes. Receipts at St. Louis were light and premiums for No. 1 red advanced to 13c over the Chicago December. Storage wheat at this point was being offered at 13c over the Chicago December. Mill stocks were being reduced, but mill buying was only of moderate volume, with the price differential between hard and soft winter stimulating interest in offerings of hard wheats. No. 1 red winter wheat was quoted at St. Louis November 14 at 84c and 86c, and at Kansas City nominally at 74 1/2c to 77 1/2c. Receipts of wheat at Chicago were light but were fully equal to current needs.

Spring wheat markets were sharply lower in sympathy with the extreme weakness at Winnipeg and Liverpool. Cash arrivals were somewhat smaller than a week ago, but were still fairly liberal, being about twice as large as for the same period last year. Demand for cash wheat was fair but was not of sufficient volume to readily absorb current offerings. Protein content of the cars tested during the week averaged 14.67%, but no generally high content of the crop this season has practically eliminated protein premiums, and wheat of all proteins is selling within the range of quotations of ordinary grades. No. 1 dark northern was quoted at Minneapolis November 14 at within a range of 4c to 7c over the December option, which closed at 66 1/2c per bushel. Milling demand for spring wheat at Duluth improved, and prices for No. 1 dark northern at 70 1/2c to 73 1/2c per bushel. The Winnipeg market dropped during the week, although cash wheat at that point held relatively firmer than futures. No. 1 Manitoba northern at Winnipeg closed November 14 at 64c per bushel.

The durum wheat market declined with other spring wheats, although cash prices were slightly firmer than futures. Demand for milling qualities continued fairly active, with No. 1 and No. 2 amber quoted at Minneapolis at 64 1/2c to 68 1/2c per bushel.

The light domestic milling inquiry and slack demand for export were weakening factors in the Duluth durum market, while elevator interests were moderate buyers for shipping before the close of navigation. No. 1 durum at Duluth closed November 14 at 63 1/2c per bushel, with No. 1 mixed at 62 1/2c to 65 1/2c.

Pacific coast markets were irregularly lower during the week, with the declines at Eastern points and a slack export inquiry. Pacific Northwestern export business with the Orient was somewhat more active at the close in price levels, and sales of 4,000 tons white and red wheat were reported. Export flour business has also improved with sales amounting to around 30,000 barrels. Demand from California points at Portland was slack, but local mill demand was absorbing the better qualities of milling wheat. Stocks of wheat at country points continue liberal, but the movement to terminal markets is relatively light. At the close of the market November 14, Big Bend Bluestem No. 1 hard white wheat was quoted at Portland at 80c, and at Seattle at 74c per bushel. No. 1 western white was quoted at Portland at 69c and at Seattle at 69 1/2c per bushel.

No. 1 hard winter, northern spring and western red was quoted at Portland at 67c, while hard winter and western red was quoted at Seattle at 69 1/2c, sacked. Montana hard winter and No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted at Portland at 82c and at Seattle at 80c in bulk, but offerings of these qualities were light.

California wheat markets were quiet with prices tending downward for the week. Milling demand at San Francisco was only fair with a moderate inquiry for feeding grades. Trading in California wheat was light with growers reluctant to sell at prevailing prices. Mills and feed wheat buyers in this section were showing increased interest in northern wheat at prices which averaged 5c under those of a week ago. Interior stocks of wheat in California continue fairly heavy. No. 2 soft wheat and No. 2 western white wheat from Pacific Northwest points was being offered at $1.35 per 100, sacked, F. O. B. San Francisco docks. Mills were buying scattered amounts of Inter-Mountain wheat for blending purposes, although offerings were light. Feed wheat from the Pacific Northwest was being purchased in fair amounts on the basis of $1.30 per 100 sacked F. O. B. San Francisco docks. At San Francisco $1.35 to $1.40 per 100 was being paid for hard white and No. 1 soft white with asking prices at $1.55 to $1.60. Prices of Los Angeles wheat declined around 5c per 100 for the week with feeders furnishing the principal outlet and mill buying very light, although receipts at mills consist largely of supplies previously purchased, continued fairly liberal. The relatively lower price level prevailed resulted in lighter offerings from Eastern shippers. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Los Angeles November 14 at $1.45 to $1.50 per 100 with No. 2 dark hard at $1.50 to $1.55. No. 1 hard white was quoted at $1.50 to $1.55 and No. 1 western white $1.45 to $1.50 per 100.

Just the Same Old World Every now and then somebody starts a rumor that the world is becoming warmer—or colder—every year, and eventually we shall either be burned to a crisp or frozen stiff. People who hearken to these words of doom will be encouraged by the statement of Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the federal weather bureau, that the world's climate has not changed in the last two centuries. Despite the vagaries that sometimes seize Mother Earth, in the long run "the weather straightens out the kinks," Dr. Marvin assures us.

As a matter of fact, the world's climate may have remained unchanged for some scores of centuries. There simply isn't any way of knowing. The thermometer is only about 200 years old, and records dating back as far as the 18th century yield very little information. Scattered bits of evidence, such as river stages, floods, heavy freezes, crop failures, famines and other episodes that flavor history are more picturesque than practical in throwing light on the subject.

However, average consistency over a long period of time does not necessarily indicate consistency from year to year. For instance, the records show a series of rainfalls over a period of years followed by a series in which rainfall is normal. Winter before last was the coldest known to modern Europe; and the weather bureau now announces that the past July was the hottest month in our weather history.

What the average big graffer fears is the publicity that comes with being caught; he believes he can keep out of jail.

"Muffle" Back-Seat Driver Highway patrolman E. J. Wold of Asotin county, Washington, after returning from a state meeting of patrolmen at Olympia had the following to say regarding the curbing of traffic accidents, and advocated the "muffling" of back-seat drivers, stating they are the greatest menace of all:

"I am thoroughly convinced that three outstanding features are necessary before highway traffic may be properly controlled. These are the revoking of license for reckless driving, muffling of back-seat drivers and compulsory insurance.

"The first time a driver is convicted of reckless driving, Mr. Wold said, his license should be revoked for a period of probably six months, at the expiration of which time a blue license should be issued; the second offense the license should be cancelled for a longer period and a yellow license issued; and for the third offense, the license should be cancelled permanently.

"During the convention Mr. Wold said that many of the patrolmen were of the opinion that a good portion of the accidents on the highways are due to back-seat drivers, who are not safe to operate a car in a 40-acre field. He advocated "muffling" back-seat drivers and placing them on the list as the worst menace to the car traffic.

"Most of the patrolmen, according to Mr. Wold, were in favor of doing away with the speed limit."

THE OROFINO ASYLUM

The North Idaho Sanitarium was established near Orofino, on the north bank of the Clearwater River, in 1905. The original site comprised 245 acres, subsequent purchases increasing the area to 698 acres of which 222 are under cultivation. The act authorized a bond issue of $30,000 and set aside 40,000 acres of state land as an endowment.

Doctor John W. Givens, medical director of Blackfoot, was made superintendent of the new home, a position he continued to occupy until the failure of his health a few years later. Doctor Givens took with him from Blackfoot 25 patients of the milder type, and upon his arrival at Orofino began clearing ground and planting fruit trees. His little community of tents has become an institution rivaling its parent asylum at Blackfoot in capacity, while it excels in beauty of location and design and in modernity of equipment. Recent improvements of the water supply at Orofino places this asylum in the front rank of our public institutions.

The estimated value of the plant is $350,000. Bonds in a total amount of $262,000 have been issued in its behalf, of which nearly one-half are still unpaid. The legislative appropriation for the present two years is $177,510, which cares for something over three hundred patients.

Prior to comparatively recent times even civilized countries treated insanity as a crime, the most generous definition of an insane person being, "One possessed of an evil spirit." Mental defectiveness in any degree is now recognized as a condition of disease. It is not always perceptible physical causes; the ailment may be purely psychological, unaccompanied by any manifest disturbance of physical functions. The modern asylum is a hospital, not a prison.

Consideration for the feelings of the patient is an element of treatment; every effort is made to avoid reminding him of his misfortune. The sign over the entrance arch says "sanitarium" rather than "asylum," these people are not "inmates," they are "patients." That restless one over there is not "insane" or "crazy," she is "disturbed," or perhaps "ill." The epileptic does not have "fits," they are "convulsions," handcuffs, fetters and straight-jackets are gently spoken of as "restraint."

Oddest of all these kindly verbal jestures is the one that describes the runaway. Avoid the word "escape," it suggest a jail. Say rather, "The patient has 'eloped.'" The idea of a person "eloping" all by himself has somewhat the same effect on the normal mind as the discovery that the water faucets turn the wrong way, as the writer can testify they do in one of the washrooms at the Blackfoot Sanitarium.

OUR ASYLUMS

The mental hospitals at Blackfoot and Orofino do not differ materially in character of patients, methods of treatment, cost, or other details; the figures following are of the two institutions combined.

On a recent date the total number of patients included 416 men and boys, and 292 women and girls. In age they ranged from a woman of 86 to a Mexican boy 17 year old. A woman patient recently died at the age of 92. One woman now 80 years of age has lived in the Blackfoot home nearly 40 years.

To this writer the growth in patient population, death rate, and patient turn-over, all seem startlingly high; he has not attempted any comparison with other similar institutions. In a recent biennium, the two asylums admitted 214, discharged 38, and lost by death 88, resulting in a net growth of patient population of 88.

Among the patients will occasionally be found man and wife, and rather frequently a parent with one or more children. They come from all walks of life and represent almost every race and nation; some 70 per cent are American born.

The whole topic of insanity is a sad one, depressing, and to some of us almost repulsive. As a result, the public mind is filled with misinformation and vague error. Yet the subject is interesting, and of increasing importance.

For instance, one-fourth of one per cent of the people of Idaho are receiving treatment in one of our three homes for the mentally sick. In 1885 only one person out of 1600 was in an asylum in Idaho; now there is one in every 380.

The extent to which this is cause for alarm depends upon how much of the increase, if any, is due to actual mental degeneration of our people. Much of the growth is of course due to a higher civilization, a greater public benevolence. As a while, we are a more humane people today than we were yesterday. We are now giving governmental care to a larger proportion of our unfortunates, a class which was formerly left to the tender mercies of the outside world. As if to dispute this optimistic view of ourselves, we are compelled to admit an increase in the inhuman practice of committing old people to an asylum in order to get rid of them. Not all our asylum patients are insane within the definition of our statutes; many are merely poor indigents.

That over eighty per cent of the feeble-minded and sixty of the insane owe their misfortune to heredity causes is another reason for grave concern.

It would seem that every good citizen might well be urged to inform himself to some extent on public problems such as the one here suggested. Each of us is still his brother's keeper. Upon the proper solution of these and similar problems depends to a great degree the welfare of the race, the continued progress and happiness of the people of the state we live in.

Little Flashes of This and That

Vol. 1. Kendrick, Idaho, October 17, 1930 No. 19

Published in the Interests of the People of the Entire Potlatch Country by the Kendrick Hardware Company, Harold Thomas, Editor.

In the early days, conversation at the Sunday dinner was all about the sermon. Nowadays it's all about the football scores of the day before.

How about that dark corner—there is no need to leave it that way when an Alladdin lamp will put artificial sunshine in it. There's an Alladdin lamp for every purse and purpose.

Was that last Chink just a little too far? Don't feel that way about it. Use Ajax heavies and get the birds. All loads and calibers.

They claim this actually happened in Kendrick. A young man bought an ice cream cone, walked outside to eat it, then brought it back to the clerk and said, "Much obliged for the vase."

Why, allow the shadows of night in your home when we have electric light globes of every candlepower. Yes, surely, they are inside frosted.

How does the old radio sound these days? Not quite like it used to? Then come in and get a set of tubes. We have them for all styles and makes of machines!

A good way to make your wife quit dieting is to take her a five-pound box of chocolates.

Need a new axe or splitting wedge? We have them.

Don't get excited when the modern girl blushes. It's mostly put on.

Jack knives, scissors and all kinds of edged tools. Priced as they should be!

We sometimes think it's a good thing New York extends all the welcomes for this country. No other town has enough scrap paper.

Cups and saucers? We have them. Plain white at 57c per set of six. Beverage and water glasses too, priced at 89c per dozen, and they are beauties too, tinted and of the well-known chip-proof glass.

It seems just yesterday when we hung that calendar on the wall. And now here it is November—past the middle. Believe it or not.
