GRAIN MARKET STEADY— FEED GRAINS IN DEMAND

Domestic grain markets held generally steady during the week ending December 6, with the moderate offerings of rye and feed grains meeting a good demand at slightly higher prices, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of agricultural economics. Cash wheat sold at slightly higher premiums over future prices at the principal markets, while corn was up 1/2c at most points. The rye market had independent strength under an improved demand and prices advanced about 3c per bushel. Oats and barley were 1/2c higher at the close of the week with offerings light and demand active from feeders and industries. Flax was slightly higher, but trading continued of small volume.

Foreign markets continued quiet, with prices of both native and imported wheats quoted slightly lower than a week ago. Demand was only moderately active, with supplies in nearby positions plentiful and stocks in Continental ports relatively heavy. Native supplies of European wheats however, have been materially reduced as a result of the restrictive milling regulations and offerings of Russian wheat have decreased in recent weeks. Germany has extended through January the compulsory milling regulations requiring the milling of 80% of native wheat, and has amended the bread law to make compulsory the utilization of 30% of rye flour in wheat loaves above 200 grams, and to permit the utilization of 10% of potato flour in bakery goods. Restaurants and hotels are permitted to use only rye bread. New crop Australian wheat receipts at terminals are increasing. New Australian wheat afloat is now being offered at 82c per bushel CIF English ports. New crop Argentine Rosafé weighing 62 1/2 lbs., is now offered for January and February shipment at 73 1/2c per bushel. Stocks of Russian wheat in Continental ports are still large, but pressure of these offerings has subsided. Holland was reported to have purchased moderate quantities of Russian wheat during the week.

Domestic cash wheat markets held firm, with offerings of good milling wheat scarcely equal to trade requirements at several markets. Mills competed actively for high protein wheat at Kansas City, where cash prices advanced 1c to 3c during the week. No. 1 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted in that market December 5 at 73c and 12 1/2c protein at 74 1/2c per bushel. The protein of the week's inspections averaged 12.14 per cent. Offerings at Omaha were fairly large, but current arrivals were readily taken by mills and feeders. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at 70c per bushel. Domestic demand for hard winter wheat was slow at Fort Worth and offerings were principally out of store, as country movement was extremely light. No. 1 hard winter was quoted in that market December 5 at 83 1/2c to 84c delivered Galveston export rate, or Texas common points. No export business was reported, with export bids well below a working basis. Bad road conditions were reducing marketings in the Inter-Mountain territory and offerings of wheat at Denver were relatively small. No. 2 hard winter was quoted FOB common points December 5 at 51c to 55c per bushel. No. 2 hard winter wheat sold at Chicago at 79 1/2c. Interior and local mills were in the market and took around 300,000 bushels.

Soft winter wheat markets were also somewhat firmer but demand was not urgent. Soft winter wheat was bringing premiums of about 7c per bushel over hard winter at St. Louis, and mills were inclined to substitute low protein hard winter rather than pay the premiums asked for soft wheat. No. 1 soft red winter was quoted in that market December 5 at 86c per bushel. Soft winter wheat was scarce at Cincinnati and hard to buy, with farmers in surrounding territory not inclined to sell supplies on hand at current prices. Milling demand was good and dealers were unable to fill orders because of light receipts. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at 86c to 87c, or about 5c per bushel above comparable grades of hard winter wheat.

Pacific Coast markets were steady but prices did not follow the advance at Eastern points and held about unchanged. Export demand was very dull, with Canadian wheat from Vancouver underselling domestic wheat in foreign markets. Marketings in the

Good Weather Frostbitten

Our fine California weather was somewhat frostbitten during the past several days, the mercury having registered 15 degrees Tuesday morning and has hung around between there and 30 for the past several mornings. B-r-r-r!

Since the above was put in type we have had some three or four inches of snow, which covered the ground Thursday morning.

GAZETTE'S CHRISTMAS PAPER OUT NEXT WEEK

The Gazette will appear next week in the form of a Christmas number—with pictures of "Sandy Claus" in everything. It has been our custom to put out an edition in memory of that good old fellow and we are going to try it again this year. We hope that our correspondents will see to it that Christmas programs for their various communities reach us in ample time for insertion, for we will be a busy bunch during the next week.

The local merchants will have advertisements telling you of the many Christmas bargains they will have to offer you, both in presents and good things for your Christmas dinner. It will not be necessary to go out of town for a single thing for your big turkey dinner. Just read the ads. in the Gazette then go out and get what you want. They'll have it.

We will print enough papers so that everyone in the entire community will get a copy, no matter whether they are subscribers or not. We want them to know what they can get in Kendrick for their Christmas needs.

Delightful Birthday Party

The Arthur Diewald home was the scene of a delightful birthday party on Tuesday evening, December 9, when a number of friends and neighbors popped in unexpectedly on him to help celebrate the happy day.

The evening was spent in playing pinochle at two tables, the guests being Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bolon and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCerary.

At eleven o'clock the hostess, Mrs. A. E. Diewald, served a delightful lunch, the chief attraction of which was a huge birthday cake of pink and white.

At 11:30 the guests left wishing Mr. Diewald many happy returns of the day and thanking Mrs. Diewald for a very enjoyable evening.

Arrow Missionary Society

The Arrow Missionary society bazaar and basket social, held last Friday evening in the Arrow school house, was a success socially and financially. Everyone enjoyed the sale and the games played until a late hour. The society has $24.70 to put in the treasury to pay on the pledges.

The next regular meeting will be an all-day affair at the home of Mrs. Raleigh Albright, on Thursday, December 18. The new Bible study books, "Great Souls at Prayer," have been received and the first lesson assignment will be made that day. A Christmas menu luncheon will be served at noon.

Want to Play Indoor Baseball

And now some of those would-be trap-shooters are wanting to play indoor baseball. Some of them have come to the conclusion that a baseball would be easier to hit than clay birds thrown from a trap—and we believe they are right. Indoor baseball is a fine sport and a couple of good teams should be secured for the game. We would suggest that they use the volleyball to strike at until they get the proper swing.

Securing Christmas Trees

Almost every day cars may be seen coming down from the canyon with miniature Christmas trees on them, and many a youngster—and older ones, too—will be made glad because of their presence in some home. It is a beautiful custom.

Roads Are Fairly Good

With the ground slightly frozen on top, country roads are for the most part in fairly good condition, although a little slippery when it thaws, but people seem to be using them freely. It won't be necessary to use them to go out of town to buy your Christmas necessities and luxuries. Look over the home store first.

There are any amount of young ladies in Kendrick who know the most attractive young girl.

Rebekahs Surprised

The members of the Rebekah lodge were surprised with a dainty lunch, following their regular meeting last Thursday evening. Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Adams served oyster soup and wafers, followed by popcorn balls, served by Mrs. Lou Spray.

Decorating Main Street

Juliaetta men have been busy hauling Christmas trees and decorations to make our main street have more of the holiday spirit. Cochran's Confectionery is decorated beautifully with Christmas colors and a big display of gifts is shown. With the coming of the snow Wednesday evening it looks indeed as if Christmas were on its way.

Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Jones at the close of the games.

HOORAY, WE HAVE "IT"— LABOR PROBLEM SOLVED

It will be remembered that some three weeks ago we offered a six-months subscription to the Gazette to any one who would bring a turnip to this office that would weigh more than 10 pounds. We wanted one that would weigh 12 pounds, but he didn't get it, and the only reason we didn't was that some of the good ones were somewhat marred when they were being pulled with a stump-puller or blown out with dynamite.

Anyway, Chauncey M. Compton brought to the Gazette office the other day a couple of his smaller turnips that he could manage to carry. When put on the scales one of them weighed 10 pounds eight ounces and the other 10 pounds 12 ounces. Mr. Compton said they had some fair-sized ones, but that he just brought in a couple of "culls" to show us what they had.

Just as soon as we can get a crew of men to work them up we are going to pass them out to "turnipless" families. We also feel that we have partially solved the unemployment problem for Kendrick by having these turnips to be worked on.

We were satisfied all the time that there were turnips in this neighborhood that would weigh more than 10 pounds. It is the inherent modesty of the residents here that makes them shun publicity on such matters. Anyway, we have two turnips that weigh 21 pounds four ounces.

Junior Class Play Success

The Junior class play, given in the new gymnasium Wednesday evening, was a success in every way, the players acquitting themselves in a way that reflected much credit on their coach. There was a very good crowd and they seemed to be well pleased with what they saw and heard.

More New Christmas Cards

The Gazette has received two more big sample books of the finest Christmas cards we have ever seen—and the prices are very reasonable. Never have we seen as fine cards for so little money. We have them ranging in price from 9 cents to 50 cents each—and a beautiful assortment in between. Come in and see them.

Brocke Takes Over International Line

A deal was consummated Tuesday between Harold Thomas and G. F. Brocke whereby the latter takes over the International line of farm machinery for this territory. Mr. Thomas has been handling the International line for the past ten years and Mr. Brocke has been salesman for the company for the past two years.

Mr. Brocke will use the old implement warehouse on the railroad that has been used by Mr. Thomas as a warehouse. The name of the new firm will be Kendrick Equipment Co.

Mrs. Raby Returns Home

Mrs. Oscar Raby, who is recovering from a recent operation at a Lewiston hospital, has so far recovered as to be able to be brought home on Tuesday. She is reported as getting along nicely.

Blasting Being Done

Blasting may be heard at almost any time on the Big Bear Ridge grade where workmen are taking off some of the rough points and tilting the road over the other way, where needed, so it will be reasonably safe to travel in slippery weather without danger of sliding off the road to the depths below. Good progress is being made, according to reports—and noise.

SCORES DROP TO NEW LOW AT LAST SHOOT

Sunday, December 7, saw the first use of the new trap house, completed Saturday afternoon by Joe Gardner and Ed Long. With the installation of this house and the proper placing of the trap gun (target thrower) the club started the shooting of regular angles, as thrown by the gun and the results were to most the surprise of their lives, for the birds just didn't seem to be any place in particular, but here, there and everywhere, and the way scores fell was a revelation to everyone present, as well as those doing the shooting.

Several of the members were very highly in favor of not putting the scores in the paper, but a majority ruling was in favor of so doing, so here they are. 25 Bird basis:

Many of the boys believing that their eyes were playing them tricks and that they could do better the next time a second squad was organized to shoot on a 15 bird basis and here are the scores:

- | | |

| Walt. Bigam | 11 |

| Geo. Barnum | 7 |
| Wm. Behrens | 7 |
| M. Long | 2 |

This sport is arousing lots of interest in this town and surrounding country and the crowds at the traps grow larger each shoot. Anyone who is interested in enjoying this sport is asked to get in touch with Frank Rider at Long's store or W. L. McCerary at the Gazette, or anyone else whose names appear on the score reports.

Rumor has it that a few turkeys will be shot off at the next club shoot, held Sunday morning, Dec. 14, on the Onstaat grounds just west of town. Visitors are always welcome but children are not allowed on the grounds unless accompanied by parents or responsible adults.

Stevenson-Reglin Nuptials

Miss Laura Stevenson and Edw. Reglin of Troy were united in marriage at Lewiston Thursday, December 4, by Probate Judge E. L. Parker. They were accompanied by W. A. Stevenson, father of the bride.

Mrs. Reglin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stevenson, farmers residing on Little Bear ridge, where they have been residents for the past six years. The groom is a resident of Troy and has been engaged in timber work.

The happy pair will make their home near Troy.

The Gazette joins their host of friends in wishing them the best of everything in this life.

The Order of Eastern Star at their regular meeting on Wednesday night of last week, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Worthy matron, Mrs. M. O. Raby; worthy patron, Paul Schulz; associate matron, Mrs. Fanny Greene; associate patron, H. B. Thompson; secretary, Mrs. Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. O. Penborn; conductress, Mrs. E. H. Dammarell; associate conductress, Mrs. Schulz.

Edna Lohman Ill

Miss Edna Lohman was taken suddenly ill Monday, but is somewhat improved at this time.

KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB SPONSOR XMAS TREE

At a well-attended meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club, held at the Kendrick Hotel Tuesday evening, it was unanimously decided to give a community Christmas tree and to decorate the streets with small trees, putting them in front of the business houses.

The first thing on the program was one of those good chicken dinners, for which Mrs. Raby is becoming famous, especially among the attendants of the Commercial club meetings. After dinner had been finished the business of the evening was taken up. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and reports of committees heard.

The principal topic of the evening was the sponsoring by the club of a community Christmas tree and street decoration for the holiday season. After some considerable discussion as to when and where the tree should be placed, the president and the chairmen of the committees having those things in charge, were designated as a committee for consummating the plan. The committee met immediately after adjournment of the club and plans were laid for putting the idea into effect. The program will be held in the park (weather permitting) on Saturday evening, December 20, at 7:30 o'clock. If the weather is inclement, other arrangements will be made for the distribution of the presents to the youngsters.

The merchants and business men will be solicited for funds and the trees will be put in place as soon as possible. Bags of candy and nuts will be prepared and every child of grade school age, in the entire community (country as well as town), will be given a treat. A short program will be prepared for the evening and everything possible will be done to disseminate a true Christmas spirit in the community.

It was decided to print tickets to be distributed to the children, entitling them to one of the bags of "goodies." The object of this is obvious to the grown-ups—in other words, to make sure there will be enough bags of treats to go round and give each child in the community one.

A large Christmas tree will be erected in the park and lighted with colored lights during the holiday season and merchants and business men of the town are asked to lend all possible aid to make the undertaking a success.

The question of asking the village council to put on a night watchman was brought up and discussed at considerable length. It was finally decided to put the matter up to the village council for action. It was stated by some of the members of the council (unofficially) that it was hardly possible to comply with the request as the budget had been made up to take care of the regular program and plan, only.

C. A. Oppenborn, formerly secretary of the Commercial club, having returned to Kendrick to make his home, was present, and was again made secretary of the club, after the resignation of W. J. Carroll, who had been secretary since Mr. Oppenborn's resignation a few weeks ago. Mr. Carroll is a member of the high-way committee and felt that two positions were a little too many, hence his resignation in favor of Mr. Oppenborn.

There being no further business to come before the meeting, adjournment was taken to the second Tuesday in January—1931.

A Good Road Year

Road statistics for the first ten months of 1930 are encouraging. According to W. C. Markham, of the American Association of State highway officials, during his period 12,503 miles have been paved, 15,763 miles have received low-type surfacing and 9,951 miles have been graded and drained. Compared to 1929, this represents an increased mileage of 5,715.

At least 50,000 men, in addition to the regular forces, have been employed on state systems alone. Thus road work is playing an important part in mitigating the effects of the unemployment situation.

The states, this year, have spent about $800,000,000 for roads, in addition to more than $100,000,000 for payment on bond principal. Of the former sum, 67.7 per cent was used for construction, 21.6 per cent for maintenance and the remainder for interest on bonds, purchase of equipment, etc.

FEED GRAINS IN DEMAND

wheat prices to prices of feed grains, especially corn. The supply of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums this year is about 10%, or 15,000,000 tons below 1929. The increased use of wheat for feed this year will amount to about 4,000,000 tons, if 236,000,000 bushels of wheat are fed.

The current low prices of wheat, feed grains and commercial feeds, relative to prices of both livestock and livestock products, are resulting in unusually heavy feeding, considering feed supplies. The proportion of hogs marketed to date has been less and live weights have been heavier than would be expected following a very shot corn crop.

The supply of wheat for the 1930-1931 season is estimated to be 1,115,000,000 bushels. Allowing for the indicated amount to be fed to livestock, for seed requirements, for 500,000,000 bushels to be manufactured into flour for domestic use, and for the 70,000,000 bushels already exported, a balance of 230,000,000 bushels will be available for export during the remainder of this season, and for carry-over into the next. A similar computation as of December 1, 1929, would have indicated a surplus remaining for export and carry-over of 303,000,000 bushels, but exports for the remainder of the season and the carry-over amounted to 338,000,000 bushels, or 35,000,000 bushels more than the indications. This discrepancy may be due to duplication or errors in the various items of supply and distribution.

In the past season, 1929-1930, the net exports of wheat and flour amounted to 140,000,000 bushels, of which 76,000,000 was exported by December 1, and 63,000,000 in the remainder of the season. The net exports from July 1 to December 1, 1930, amounted to 70,000,000 bushels, with the present relation of domestic prices to foreign market prices, the exports of wheat have been greatly reduced. The present price relations may not continue through the remainder of the season and doubtless some wheat and flour will continue to be exported to our regular customers, even if prices in the United States should continue somewhat out of line with prices in foreign markets. Should farmers carry out their present intentions in feeding wheat, the carry-over at the end of the present season is likely to be lower than on July 1, 1930.

School Notes

We had a Thanksgiving vacation last Thursday and Friday. Everyone had a good time but was glad to get back to school.

The third and fourth grades have been having very interesting language classes. Miss Chladek has some story books with short stories in them. She gives each one a different story which they study so they can tell it to the class. As they are stories none of them have heard they enjoy them very much. One day we had company, who also enjoyed them.

Last month our school had an average attendance of 99.76 per cent.

In the fourth grade we are having a good time learning the names of various northern states.

Maragaret Baugh and Velma Leah Butler have completed the second grade readers. They are now reading the third grade reading circle books.

CHILDREN'S HOME

Idaho had a home for her naughty children three years before it began to provide for those little ones whose only sin is poverty. In 1907, through the joint efforts of Governor Gooding and the National Home Finding Society, the Boise home was established. Mrs. Cynthia Main gave the present site, the legislature appropriated $20,000, citizens donated a like amount, and the home opened with ten little pupils in the small brick building now used as an isolation hospital. The present main building was dedicated in December, 1910. In 1912 the Lewiston home was established.

In 1925 the 60-bed annex to the Boise Home was built at a cost of $20,000. The little brick house should be abandoned and its place filled by a new building at about the cost of the annex. The latest addition to the Lewiston home is a fine residence donated by the Knights of Pythias.

Considering these plants together, they are really in no sense "state institutions." They are supported mostly by charity, the state and the various counties being contributors, and are governed by a board of directors. This writer for once indulges in propaganda, and urges his reader to make a contribution. Now to these homes. Depressed financial conditions strike a double blow at charitable institutions; the need of help increases as the ability and disposition to assist grows less.

On January 1, 1930, there were 142 children in the two homes. There had been 227 received during the year, 146 returned to relatives, 48 legally adopted. Only one death occurred during the year.

The writer visited the Boise home a day before writing this essay. The children seemed happy. In one room, little ones under four years; a year-old baby creeping among them. It brought tears to the writer's eyes; no one else seemed to be feeling sad. It seemed like a home, a children's home. Noise a plenty; smiling rosy faces. Free from institution atmosphere; bright colored furniture and drapes; six chair dining tables with clean linen; a radio, a piano, all of these finer things donated. The one thing missing was so palpably not there. Mother wasn't there.

What brings these little ones to the Children's Home? The broken family; desertion, mostly by the father. I wanted to find that drink took less than it used to do. Sorry; the bootlegger seems to have replaced the boozer. "Daddy is in jail," say quite a lot of them. Fifty percent are half orphaned.

Babies are easy to find homes for; people want them; the child over twelve is also in demand, for less unselfish reasons. The child from five to twelve is least wanted.

Poor little tykes. Tell them "Merry Christmas," and say it with something besides words.

Still Many Bum Lights

When one has occasion to use the highways after night, he sometimes wonders what has become of the "big fuss," that was made last summer about adjusting lights and laying down of special rules. Almost any night, when there are many cars on the road, one can see lights that have never been near a testing station.

We have been wondering about the quieting down of the "big noise." Coming from Lewiston the other night we met five cars with only one light—two of them right in the city of Lewiston! two teams and wagons without lights of any kind; two cars with no tail lights; many with the lights tilted skyward—and only a few that had lights that had evidently been tested and focused according to the state law. What's the reason? Why the sudden let-down of light enforcement, right at a time when lights are used more than at any other season of the year!

That's a good deal like building a fine road and then allowing it to go to pieces for want of care.

GRAIN MARKET STEADY— FEED GRAINS IN DEMAND

Pacific Northwest have been much smaller for the season to date than for the corresponding period last year, receipts at Portland, Seattle, and Tacoma totaling about 2,700,000 bushels less than for the same period last season. Stocks in country warehouses are relatively large, but growers are not pressing sales at current prices. One-half cargo and one parcel lot of 750 tons of white wheat were reported sold to the United Kingdom during the week. No export flour business was reported and bids were about 30c per barrel below local values. Prices held about unchanged, with No. 1 hard white Big Bend Bluestem quoted December 5 at Portland at 80c, No. 1 soft and western white at 70c, and No. 1 hard winter, northern spring and western red at 68c per bushel, sacked. No. 1 western white, western red and hard winter were quoted at Seattle at 71c sacked, and local 14% protein hard winter at 77c per bushel. The same quality hard winter from Montana in bulk was quoted at 82½c. Local 14% protein No. 1 dark northern spring, sacked, at 77c, and the same quality wheat from Montana in bulk at 83½c per bushel.

California wheat markets continued dull, but prices held fairly steady. Trading in California wheat remained of small proportions, with current requirements being supplied largely by shipments from Washington, Oregon and Inter-Mountain states. About 53,300 tons of wheat have been received at San Francisco since the first of June, of which over 30,000 tons were northern wheat. Bay region wheat stocks at the first of November totaled 26,224 tons, compared with 29,850 tons December 1, 1929. California growers were mostly asking $1.50 to $1.60 for No. 1 hard white and No. 1 soft white wheat, delivered San Francisco, but buyers were bidding only $1.36 to $1.40, which is about the price at which northern wheat could be purchased. No. 2 soft white wheat from the Northwest was quoted delivered dock San Francisco, sacked, at $1.35 to $1.37½ at the close of the week. No. 2 dark hard winter was offered from Idaho and Utah at $1.45 to $1.50 per 100 in bulk, delivered California points. Low prices of California Milo have reduced the demand for feed wheat, but poultry feeders were buying scattered lots of washed wheat from Washington and Oregon, which was quoted at $1.35 per 100 sacked on dock at San Francisco, or $1.42½ delivered at Petulama.

The Los Angeles market held practically unchanged during the week, with demand quiet.

Following is a special report on the amount of wheat used for feed this season, as made by the U. S. department of agriculture:

A total of 236,000,000 bushels of wheat will be fed to livestock this crop year, compared with 90,000,000 bushels last year, if the intentions of the farmers, feed manufacturers and commercial poultrymen are carried out, according to reports as of November 15.

This is the first survey to include wheat fed by non-growers and used in the preparation and manufacture of feeds, in addition to that fed on farms where grown. It is based on the answers obtained from 190,000 questionnaires sent to farmers, and 63,000 questionnaires sent to mills, elevators, commercial poultrymen and other users of wheat. Wheat growers intend to feed 182,000,000 bushels, compared with 57,800,000 bushels last year. Other farmers, manufacturers of feed, and commercial poultrymen, who used a total of 32,100,000 bushels last year, have used and expect to use a total of 53,600,000 bushels this crop year. Reports from wheat growers indicate that they fed 60,700,000 bushels up to November 15, and that they intend to feed an additional 121,700,000

The Foreign Market Mirage

America's most extensive wheat rancher, enroute to Russia to inspect ten million acres of state mechanized grain fields made possible thru the cooperation of American capital, machinery and expert advice, recently said in an interview published in the New York Times that because of this new grain competition American wheat farmers within two years will have no foreign outlet for their wheat and should reduce production and depend entirely upon domestic demand for the consumption of their product.

Operating on expropriated land with serf labor under military control the soviet government, with the help of American machinery capital and methods will doubtless be able to make it impossible for the American farmer to compete in foreign markets, or in the home market in the absence of prohibitive tariffs. The ten million acres planted in Soviet Russia this year represent only a faint beginning in competition made destructive not only on account of beggerly production costs, but because of the announced purpose of the communist regime to dump both agricultural and industrial products on world markets to produce a world-wide major economic crisis as the forerunner of intense revolutionary activity among the producers thus impoverished. The present slump in wheat prices is chiefly due to the Russian addition to the wheat surplus. The wheat growing area of Canada, Australia and the United States in all has not increased ten million acres in twenty years. The Moscow masters propose to rapidly increase this area from five to ten fold. What is true of foreign markets for American wheat will apply to American exports of cotton, oats, meat and practically all farm products in the near future. With American assistance Russia is preparing to displace all American exports of cotton from vast irrigated plantations where both cotton and the substitute, kendery will be grown.

Hundreds of millions of dollars, expert engineering advice, patents and business methods, have been lavished on the Moscow government by American capitalists during the last few years regardless of the fact that the communist's agricultural and industrial program is only part of an announced plan for a world economic conquest preliminary to the upsetting of the non-communist world. tor, metal, textile, flour, agricultural machinery and other plants have been erected with American capital and expert advice in Russia, and American engineers and operators are developing the timber and anthracite coal competition of a nation which with expropriated lands and enslaved labor working at starvation wages is of course thus put in a position to crush out competitive industry.

Yet the American people are being deluded with fancy pictures of the possibilities of foreign trade. It is argued that we should exchange for this rich foreign opportunity freer entry of foreign cheap labor products into our own market. With two thousand American owned factories in the cheap labor markets of foreign lands and with hundreds of millions of American capital poured into the nation in which cheap labor is united with siezed property to create competition irresistibly destructive, the propaganda which during the last few months has been poured out against the protective tariff system has been of an intensity hitherto unknown, partly because of the vast financial resources behind it.

The sooner the American people look the facts in the face, and resolve at all costs to preserve that home market which belongs to them, which now absorbs 90 per cent of our production and can absorb more of it if we will only do more of our own work rather than patronize the exploiters of foreign cheap labor, the sooner our people will be saved from the designs of international financiers and industrialists to sink the American wage level and the American standard of living for the masses to the common world level. This is by far the most important issue before the American people because it involves not only the prosperity, but

Little Flashes of This and That

Vol. 1. Kendrick, Idaho, October 17, 1930 No. 19

Published in the Interests of the People of the Entire Potlatch Country by the Kendrick Hardware Company, Harold Thomas, Editor.

Well, here it is December and only 10 shopping days left till Christmas!

Our Christmas goods are arriving all the time but right now let us suggest something to make your Christmas dinner better — a new roaster, a new percolator, new covered kettles and say, have you seen that new cream and green enameled ware we are showing?

Fashion Note

An authority on the subject states that corsets are now made on straight lines, and we guess that geometry must have been revised since we studied it?

How about a dozen tinted MacBeth chip-proof glasses for your dinner table? Exquisite, yet practical. 89c per dozen.

Somebody remarked that a man can be judged by the way he snores. According to that a lot of chaps ought to be in the sawmill business.

Come in and see what a nice sled a very little bit will buy.

5% Off For Cash

Jim says: "A woman likes almost as well to be asked how old she is as a man does to be asked how much salary he gets."

Say, have you seen those new lanterns that just don't blow out?

Say, does that old stove pipe look rather rusty for Christmas Day? Why not put up a new one? We have it. Also stove sundries of all kinds.

Refinements on a car are those little doo-dads that say, "Rattle, rattle, rattle, bump."

Those new alarm clocks we are showing are little dandys for the price.

Let light shine in all the corners of your home. We can furnish the light globes at the right price.

A newspaper headline read: "Burglar Surprised by Bank Officer Working Late."

Well, who wouldn't be?

Cutting wood? Let us show you our axes, axe handles, splitting wedges, mauls, and saw files. Priced right and 5% off for cash.

AT THE AUDIAN THEATRE

"The Dawn Patrol"

If you missed seeing "With Byrd at the South Pole" last week-end, you missed seeing one of the best pictures that it is possible to see in any town or city, large or small. It was both interesting and instructive and was well worth the price.

"The Dawn Patrol," with Richard Bartholmness in the leading role, will be the offering at the Audian Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights. This is a picture portraying some of the hazards taken by pilots in the World War, there being 700 airplanes and 46 stunt fliers taking part, with Lieutenant Rudolph Schad, famous German wartime ace, who acted as technical advisor.

"The Dawn Patrol" is a mighty story of war in the air. It is a living document of the boys who won a victory for their country, but lost their own souls.

For thrills, chills, terrors, triumphs and the sweep of sheer reality, this picture seems to the present reviewer without a peer.

Isn't it funny that it just has to rain almost every afternoon that you plan to take a few hours off for recreation?

Federals Gathered in Foe's Last Silk Dress

Captive balloons for observation purposes were used chiefly by the Union army during the first two years of the Civil war. Gen. Fitzjohn Porter made over a hundred ascensions. Count Von Zeppelin was a balloon observer with the Union army. A Confederate general writing in "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War" refers to the poverty which denied balloons to that side, except one patchwork ship made from silk dresses gathered up. "We had no gas except in Richmond and it was the custom to inflate the balloon there, tie it securely to an engine and, run it down the York River railroad to any point at which we desired to send it up. One day it was on a steamer down the James when the tide went out and left vessel and balloon high and dry on a bar. The Federals gathered it in and with it the last silk dress in the Confederacy." The Zouave regiments that served in that war wore the brilliant uniform of the French colonials with fez, baggy trousers and a predominance of red.

Petulance Displayed by Central American Tree

A curious tree known as the "angry tree," grows in Central America. This tree, which is a species of acacia, grows to the height of about ten feet. At night the foliage of the tree curls up into strange coils, and if the tree is then touched, all the smaller branches begin to shake just as if the tree was thoroughly annoyed. S. Leonard Bastin writes, in St. Nicholas Magazine.

The angry tree was first noticed by some prospectors. In making a camp for the night, these men spread a blanket over a branch of the tree, which had curled its foliage for the night. At once the branch began to shake in a most uncanny way, and at the same time a most pungent odor was emitted. This was so powerful that the men were simply forced to move their camp to another position.

Chinese Bride Wears Crown

The wedding ceremony in China varies with the locality, but, generally speaking, it is a rather prolonged affair, sometimes lasting two days. More attention seems to be paid to the selection of the day than anything else and many things are taken into consideration before the date is finally fixed. The day must be a "lucky" one. There is no giving and taking or making of any pledges or promises. That is all taken for granted. In most of the provinces red is regarded as the essential color for the wedding garb and veil with a gorgeous crown and a lot of gewgaws. The two-day period is given up largely to feasting, but during the whole proceedings the bride does little but look on. The rule of feminine propriety requires that she should preserve modest silence throughout.

Snobbish Folly

The late Andrew Schroeder, the official rat catcher of Houston, who carried his wonderful rat-catching secret with him to the grave, was proud of his trade, and liked to tell a story about the folly of snobbishness.

"I knew a city missionary," he would say, "who invited a famous missionary bishop to dine at his sium residence and meet two local celebrities, a garbage collector and a rat catcher.

"Well, the bishop accepted the invitation gladly, and the rat catcher said that he too would be delighted, but the garbage collector spoiled the party. He must refuse, he said, to sit down with a rat catcher."

Ruminating Animals

The cow is not the only animal that ruminates or "chews the cud"; the class of ruminants includes also sheep, goats, camels, llamas, giraffes and deer. In all of these animals the stomach is divided into several compartments. The food is swallowed hastily and passes to the first or second compartment. Later when the animal is resting, it is able to bring back this "cud" into the mouth for further chewing. After a thorough mastication, this is swallowed again and passes to the third and fourth sections of the stomach for assimilation. The rabbit does not belong to this family of animals.

Lenient French Justice

Terrible cruelty to an aged father was charged against three peasant sisters named Merdler at Le Pey-en-Velay in central France. It was stated that the father had refused to share his property with his daughters, who confined him in the kitchen, and employed such brutal methods in an effort to force his submission, and make him sign the deed giving them the property, that he died as the result. The eldest was given only a year's imprisonment, however, and the other two were dismissed.

Keeping the Secret

"Darling," said the elderly happily married man, "I'm going to give you such a surprise for your birthday."

"Henry," she exclaimed wondering, "do tell me what it is."

He took her in his arms.

"I'm going to give you a ten-dollar bill for each year of your life."

"Henry," she cried happily, "that is wonderful of you!" And then sadly: "But don't let anyone see the checks."
