NEWSY ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM JULIAETTA WAY

Pinocle Party

Another of the enjoyable pinocle parties was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Everett Custer. The game was played at five tables, high honors going to Miss Brackett and Cecil Gruell. Mrs. Nutt and Jess Cox scored low.

Lunch was served at the close of the games. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Jess Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carlton, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gruell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Spray, Mrs. Ernest Walsh, Mrs. C. S. Biddison, Mrs. M. Nutt, Miss Clara Nye, Miss Mary Grace Brackett, Miss Lucille Gruell, Paul Hall, Everett Millard and Alvin Nye.

Among the Sick

Oscar Buckallew, who fell from a scaffold at the Bremerton ship yards and fractured his skull in several places, is reported to be improving. Unless complications set in, his recovery is expected.

Mrs. Sid Thomas made a trip to Pullman Sunday to have her cuts dressed, and the stitches removed from her face. She is recovering very slowly.

Paul Combs and Geneva Kite have been seriously ill with the measles. Several new cases have been reported.

Mrs. Biddison Entertains

The Loyal club members were the guests of Mrs. C. S. Biddison on Wednesday of last week. A social evening was spent, followed by the hostess serving a late luncheon. Her guests were: Mrs. Everett Custer, Mrs. Ernest Walsh, Mrs. Sam Nye, Mrs. Herb Millard, Mrs. Fred Nye, Mrs. Yule McKinley, Mrs. Louie Huntsberger, Mrs. George Hutchison, and Miss Clara Nye.

Rev. King To Be Here

Rev. King of Spokane spent Thursday afternoon and evening here. He returned to Spokane Friday to attend a young peoples' rally. Returning to Juliaetta Saturday he will conduct a young peoples' rally at the Baptist church. He will preach both Sunday morning and evening. Everyone is cordially invited to attend all services.

High School Party

Quite a number of high school pupils and their teachers attended a party at the home of Mrs. Arl Burns Friday evening. Games were played and a delicious lunch was served at the close of the evening.

State Examinations

Seventh and eighth grade state examinations were given this week, beginning Wednesday.

Baby Daughter Born

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stuart are the parents of a baby girl, born on Sunday, Jan. 18.

Personals

Miss Mary Grace Brackett visited in Lewiston Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Pearl Morgan of Tacoma is visiting relatives and friends here.

Mrs. Grace Stinson left Tuesday for Orofino to attend to business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gruell, Mrs. Lela Gruell and Mrs. M. Nutt spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Buckallew at Lewiston.

Word From Harold Zell

A letter from Harold Zell, now operating a picture show at Rosalia, Wash., is to the effect that he is doing a very nice business there, but that he still has a warm spot for Kendrick and expects to open the Audian theatre here in the spring, after the roads get good.

Mr. Zell announces that he has completed a contract for many of the best pictures that will be shown during the coming summer at any show house, of which the one to be shown here this week-end—Winnie Lightner in "The Life of the Party," is a fair sample. He also states that if the patronage will warrant, he will give a first-class show here once a month during the winter season, which will give every picture fan an opportunity to see some of the best pictures that have ever been produced, right here at home. It is up to the people of Kendrick to say whether they want Mr. Zell to continue with the picture business here. He has given us good, clean pictures in the past and states that his new contract carries among the best that have ever been made.

Your patronage will indicate your desire to have these shows continued or discontinued.

Bridge Club Entertained

The Bridge club was delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon of last week by Mrs. Geo. Leith, when the game was played at four tables, Mrs. W. C. Jones receiving high honors. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess at the close of play.

The invited guests were Mrs. W. A. Perryman, Mrs. E. H. Emery, Mrs. W. J. Carroll, Mrs. Wm. Watts and Mrs. J. L. Dempsey.

INTERESTING NOTES OF OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL

Miss Ann Hospers, rural supervisor of public instruction, held a meeting with the teachers of the Kendrick school and vicinity last Saturday from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock.

The purpose of this meeting was to discuss the achievements tests and the teachers' self-grading system.

The tests were given some time ago. The teachers are now making individual graphs of each child's score. On this same graph they will indicate by other graph lines what the class record was, what the class should have made, and what the schools in this district over-aged. Each child can in this way see how he or she stands in comparison to the others in the community or school.

The purpose of these tests is not to see what score a child makes, but to see the improvement when the second test is given. We will then be able to see how much progress each child has made. After all, if we can keep all of the children progressing, is it not more important than to have a few high ones and many low ones? What we want is progress. We feel that through these tests we can find the individual weaknesses of each child and use remedial methods. We are not trying to do away with the bright student, for they will be with us always. There are a few industrious people who will continue to earn these high rewards and the teachers enjoy their presence because it helps to put life in an otherwise dull subject and class.

Our hope is to make Kendrick turn out more worth-while citizens.

W. C. Jones.

Basket Ball

The Kendrick high school basketball team defeated Troy 18 to 14 last Friday night to gain second place in the conference. McDowell was high for Kendrick, with 6, while Nelson was high for Troy, with 5.

Saturday night the boys journeyed to Bovill and won another game to the tune of 35-17. McDowell again was high scorer with 12 points. For Bovill Crystal made 10 points.

This week, on Friday, the boys will go to Troy to attempt to keep in second place. The local girls play Reubens here.

The Lapwai boys' and girls' teams will play here Saturday, January 31. The Lapwai boys are now in undisputed first place in the conference. This should be a real game.

It is really difficult for a small school to support athletics. The expenses are just as high as for the large school, and the gate receipts are much smaller.

Your school is certainly a local institution. You surely wish your boys and girls to continue their education. It is true, athletics is not a part of education in its narrower sense. It does keep your children interested in school and if properly conducted does not take any time from their studies. According to the Greeks, who were considered a cultured people, a well-rounded system of education called for physical education and development.

Help support our athletics and keep your child interested in pursuing his or her education.

Cottonwood Ships Many Higs

The Camas prairie has always been a great place for the raising of hogs and the farmers of that part of the country sell many thousands of dollars' worth each year. On Monday of this week farmers of the Cottonwood area were paid $6,031.00 for 370 hogs sold to Ben Shaw, Tacoma buyer, who shipped them to Tacoma. The porkers averaged 200 pounds in weight and brought $8.15 per hundredweight f. o. b. Cottonwood.

Musn't Shoot the Poor Things

"Willie," said his mother, "I must insist that you stop shooting crabs—the poor little things have just as much right to live as you have."

BIG TURN-OUT AT CLUB! SHOOT LAST SUNDAY

Sunday, January 25, was an invitation shoot at the Kendrick Gun Club and was very well attended to say the least. A squad from Bear Ridge had challenged the high score squad from the club to a match, but failed to show up and so Wade T. Keene elected to represent Bear Ridge single handed—and won for them, breaking a total of 41 out of a possible fifty birds. Frank Crocker, shooting for Kendrick, as it was decided to make it a single handed match, broke 37 out of a possible fifty, these two scores thereby becoming two of the best, and the best, to date, of any scores made at this club's shoots.

The high scores for the day's shoot show that a real interest is being taken in this sport and the three high scores on a twenty-five bird basis for the day were:

Frank Crocker 22

Wade Keene 22

Herman Schupfer 21

Just what the results would have been had the real Bear Ridge squad showed up is problematical, but the boys had high hopes of trimming them, and had not Wade Keene taken the reins in his teeth and filled the gap, Bear Ridge would have lost by default.

Sunday's shoot was all the more interesting because the club was using for the first time the automatic throwing gun purchased from the Winchester club, with the result that the birds were thrown much even, both as to speed and angles, and the scores certainly show the results.

The Kendrick club is always open for invitation shoots from any of the ridges or communities, and for these events the birds and shells will be supplied at the same price as to members, all the club asks is that a full squad be brought, preferably, but failing that, visitors are always welcome. The next shoot will be held next Sunday at 10:00 a. m.

Since Sunday's shoot we haven't heard so many wise cracks about tying the birds on strings or putting them on rubber bands, but Bill Behrens says they are the hardest things to hit that he ever tried.

February 1, Dead-Line

It might be well to call the attention to auto owners to the fact that February 1 is the dead-line for the removal of all old license plates and their replacement with new 1931 tags. It may save you a lot of trouble if this little matter is attended to before venturing out on the road after February 1.

It might also pay you to have your lights tested, for this is 1931, and to have this little matter attended to may also save you considerable trouble in explaining to the judge why you did not have this matter attended to.

Deobald Brothers are still the official light testers for this region and you should lose no time in seeing them.

Doing a Little Shipping Now

Wm. Watts reports that the Kendrick-Rochdale company is now buying and shipping a few carloads of wheat and beans—as the farmers seem inclined to let loose of them. The price isn't much, but at that it is better than having no wheat or beans to sell at all. In many places the farmers are asking for something to eat, instead of having a surplus of products to sell at any price, and we of the Potlatch are lucky to have that surplus.

Mr. Watts reported that there is no market for either barley or oats.

Southwick Girl Ill

Miss Myrtle Gertje, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gertje, prominent residents of the Southwick region, was operated on for appendicitis at St. Joseph's hospital on Saturday of last week.

A Hostess

Mrs. E. V. Adams was hostess on Tuesday evening, entertaining at the dinner hour Mr. and Mrs. Fred Albright and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Wilcox of Juliaetta.

No Way of Telling

"Well Bill," said a neighbor, "I hear the boss has had a fever. How's his temperature today?"

The hired man scratched his head: "It ain't for me to say," he replied, "he died last night."

"LIFE OF THE PARTY" AT AUDIAN, STARTING FRIDAY

There will be a picture show at the Audian Theatre, Kendrick, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, January 30 and 31 and February 1, with Winnie Lightner in "The Life of the Party." Everyone knows of her wonderful part in "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," and her role in "The Life of the Party" is even better. In this picture she wrote the first and last chapters in the book of Whoopee!

Winnie Lightner's portrayal of the role of Mabel, in "Gold Diggers of Broadway" made her name a symbol for mirth from one end of the country to the other—and now she appears in another part of the same order, only more amusing. She is a gold digger operating, not in an amateur way, but professionally, in Havana as well as New York.

Winnie Lightner's humor is unique, nobody else can wink, wallop or woo with such devastating results as she, and the clever Arthur Caesar dialogue of "The Life of the Party" gives her added opportunity to play up comedy situations to the limit.

Lovely Irene Delroy is cast as the partner in the business of roping in unsuspecting sugar daddies and a number of noted Broadway comedians are also in the cast. Butterworth, Judels and Hoyt are as funny a trio as can be found, and Jack Whiting as the young millionaire puts just the right touch to the romance of pretty but hardboiled Dot.

Winnie sings some rousing new songs with the zest of which she only is master. The direction is fine and the photography beautiful. "The Life of the Party" is destined to out-class "Gold Diggers of Broadway." Don't miss it.

Whitman County O. K.'s Plan

Roy Perringer of Belmont (Wash.) told the Washington Farmer luncheon Saturday in the Spokane hotel that Whitman county is organizing to put into effect the so-called "Dayton plan" to restrict commercial wheat production.

This plan originated in Columbia county, where 90 per cent of the wheat growers are said to have signed under it to withhold approximately 25 per cent of their crop for the next three years on the farm in a national effort to bring wheat production to a strictly domestic basis. The association has imposed a 42-cent penalty for selling any of the 25 per cent on the commercial market, though it may be fed on the farm or otherwise disposed of. Whitman county is undertaking sign-up meetings this week, where the plan will be explained.

Ward M. Buckles, Spokane, executive vice president of the North Pacific Grain Growers association reported that in the Boise valley, where he had attended a grain cooperative meeting, about half of the 1930 crop had been sold.

Genesee News County Legal Paper

The county commissioners last Saturday made the Genesee News the county official paper, to succeed the Kendrick Gazette, which has had the county legal printing for the past two years. This is the second time the News has been made the legal county paper, it having been designated such in January, 1926, when the present owner of the Gazette owned the News office.

Bids for the county legal printing were made by the Genesee News, the Troy News, Idaho Post and the Kendrick Gazette.

Eric Oller Heads Latah Tax League

At a meeting of the Latah County Taxpayers' league held at Moscow last Saturday, a constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers were named. Eric Oller of Moscow was elected president; Jim Nelson, Deary, vice-president; and H. J. Nedros, Moscow, secretary.

Chickenpox and Measles

Many cases of chickenpox and measles are reported in Kendrick, but aside from keeping the youngsters home from school, no inconvenience has been suffered and no serious cases have been noted.

Parents of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stuart of Juliaetta are the proud parents of a young daughter who arrived at their home on Sunday, January 11, for an indefinite stay.

Flowers and Pussywillows now in bloom. Who said California?

Will Serve On Jury

The jury list, selected by the county commissioners, contains the following names from Kendrick and near-by precincts:

Kendrick—George Davidson, Ira Havens, Harry Benscoter, W. B. Deobald, J. L. Dempsey.

Juliaetta—John L. Woody, I. M. Talbot, J. C. Fowler, Robert Hall, W. C. Cochran, William Cox.

Bear Ridge—James S. Nelson, K. D. Ingle, Ole Lien.

Texas Ridge—Peter Olson.

MR. AND MRS. J. F. BROWN UNITED FIFTY-THREE YEARS

There are few married couples who are permitted to live together as long as Mr. and Mrs. John F. Brown of Kendrick have lived together—53 years. That memorable day was passed last Saturday, January 24. No special observance was held and only one of their children was present.

Mrs. Myrtle Cole of Dunsuir, California, who has been visiting at the parental home for the past several weeks, January 24 was also the birthday anniversary of their eldest daughter, Mrs. Marie Jones of Klamath Falls, Oregon, who was unable to be present on that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married at Ash Grove, Mo., and came west to Pullman, Wash., in March, 1889, where they resided for three years, when they came to Kendrick, where they have made their home ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are to be congratulated and their many Kendrick friends wish them many more anniversaries together.

Entertained at Bridge

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary entertained at a bridge luncheon on Friday night of last week when a number of friends were invited in for the occasion. A chili luncheon, with the necessary trimmings, was served at 6:30 in the evening, after which bridge was played at five tables, high score going to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rider and low score to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leith. George says the prize was indeed a "consolation" and that he is perhaps the only person that has ever won a house at bridge. The only handicap now is to find a lot to put it on.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. O. J. Morehead, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rider, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leith, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ramey, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene and Mr. and Mrs. McCreary.

Pussywillows and Pansies

Spokane and other places have been bragging about picking pansies and crocus in their respective communities. Well, they haven't anything on Kendrick when it comes to that. Mrs. Clyde Daugherty reported picking several pansies, in full bloom, in her yard and several ladies came in Tuesday afternoon with armloads of pussywillows that were out nicely.

The Troy News has offered a prize for the first pussywillow to be brought to that office. They are too common here to make such a proposition, else we would have the office filled with them.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Ed. Long surprised her son, Roy, on his fifteenth birthday anniversary, January 22, by inviting in a few of his boy friends to help him celebrate the event. A splendid dinner was served by Mrs. Long at 6:30 and games were enjoyed until 11 o'clock.

The invited guests were Johnny Kite, Garth Hill, Oscar Onstaa, Karl Emery, and Harold Abrams.

Rebekahs Surprise Odd Fellows

Last Saturday evening members of the local Rebekah lodge took well-filled baskets and went to the lodge room of the Odd Fellows and gave them a real surprise when they asked for admission to the hall.

A splendid lunch was served and a dandy good time had playing pinchle during the rest of the evening.

Among the Sick

Lorane Woody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Woody, who has been quite ill at their home in Moscow, is reported as somewhat improved at this time.

The four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, who is seriously ill, is still very sick, but is much improved at this time.

GRAIN MARKET WEAKER AS OFFERINGS INCREASE

Domestic grain markets developed a weaker tone during the week ending January 24, influenced by larger domestic offerings and further declines in foreign markets, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Wheat prices were held fairly steady, but the market had an easier tone as a result of continued relatively large marketings for this season of the year. A heavier movement of corn in the Southwest weakened the market for that grain and prices declined 2c to 3c per bushel at the principal distributing points. Barley declined sharply and oats prices tended downward, influenced principally by the weakness in corn. Rye was lower at most markets following principally the decline in feed grains. The market continued dull and featureless, with prices tending downward.

The general wheat situation continued weak and unsettled. Good rains in the winter wheat belts in Kansas and surrounding states, together with mild weather, were favorable for the domestic winter wheat crop, and exerted a weakening influence upon the market. Competition between Russian, Canadian and Argentine shippers forced Liverpool prices sharply downward and the March delivery closed January 23 at 59 3/4c, which was only 1 1/4c over the low point reached December 29, 1930, and only 1/2c over the previous low point recorded in 1894. Argentine shipments totaled 2,372,000 bushels for the week, more than half of which was on orders apparently unsold. Australian shipments totaled 3,728,000 bushels. Black sea shipments were small, totaling only 248,000 bushels, but were principally of Russian wheat. North American shipments totaled 5,652,000 bushels, mostly Canadian wheat.

The final official estimate places the Canadian wheat crop at 398,000,000 bushels. Taking into account the carryover at the beginning of the season, feed and mill requirements for the current year, current exports of wheat and flour through December totaling about 145,000,000 bushels, the amount of Canadian wheat available for export and carryover at the first of January totaled approximately 256,000,000 bushels, or nearly 50,000,000 bushels more than a year ago. Revised official estimates now place the Australian wheat crop at 205,000,000 bushels. A preliminary estimate of stocks of old wheat on hand at the beginning of the season indicates a carryover of around 15,000,000 bushels, which suggests a surplus of Australian wheat available for export this season or for carryover at the close of the year, of around 175,000,000 bushels. This would be about 80,000,000 bushels more than was exported and carried over last season. The Australian government has ordered the resumption of open trading, since Australian banks have declared their inability to finance the crop at a guaranteed price of 73c per bushel.

While wheat prices in domestic markets were maintained within narrow ranges during the week, the market developed an easier tone, largely as a result of increased offerings, a slow milling demand, and lack of an export outlet at prevailing price levels. Receipts at the principal winter wheat markets totaled 2,880 cars, and were nearly three times those of the corresponding week a year ago. The quality of the arrivals was generally good, and protein of the cars tested by the Kansas and Missouri laboratories at Kansas City, averaged 11.83% protein. Protein premiums were negligible, and No. 1 hard winter wheat protein up to 12 1/2% was quoted at 69 1/2c. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at 68 1/2c per bushel; 1/2c premium was being paid for each additional 1/2% protein above 12 1/2%. Milling demand was dull at Omaha. No. 2 hard winter was quoted in that market at Fort Worth, where No. 1 hard winter out of store was quoted at 79c per bushel, delivered Texas common points. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Denver January 22 at 48c to 53c per bushel, but growers were not selling freely in that area at current prices.

Soft winter wheat markets were dull, with trading of small volume. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted nominally at Kansas City at 71 1/2c to 72 1/2c, and at Chicago at 80c per bushel. While receipts at the latter market were fairly large, more than

SOUTHWICK ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Harl Whiting spent the day, Friday, with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Harris and little Helen Lee were Sunday guests at the Pete Stump home.

We are glad to report that the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ware is still improving.

The Nels Longteig, Harl Whiting and Jack Travis families spent a very pleasant evening at the Claud Craig home Saturday evening.

Mrs. Elwood Pearson was a dinner guest of Mrs. Ben McCoy on Thursday on her way to her home in Kendrick.

Mr. Schessler, who has been very ill the past week is still improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Southwick were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harl Whiting last Wednesday.

The revival meetings which Rev. Calvet conducted in the U. B. church during the past three weeks, were closed Sunday evening. There was a large attendance and seven conversions were reported. Rev. Calvet, Rev. Knoyer and Rev. Bolick are now at Gold Hill holding meetings.

Miss Lolo Steiner from Elk Creek visited at the Gordon Harris home from Saturday until Tuesday evening. She is now visiting at the Dallas Hepler home.

Sunday guests at Ben McCoy's were Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Hanks and little son, Lester True and Ralph Hanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stump and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Longteig from Clarkston, visited Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Stump.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Triplett and family were over-night guests at the Jap Triplett home Saturday night and Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McCoy.

We are sorry to hear that Clinton Wright is very ill in the Potlatch hospital. His case is reported to be a reverse case of sleeping sickness, he being unable to sleep for the past two weeks.

The Nels Longteig and Harl Whiting families and Lois and Anna Christensen were entertained at Sunday dinner at the Dick Winegardner home.

Joe Kazda was able to return home Tuesday evening from St. Joseph's hospital, where he was operated on for appendicitis two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnie Cuddy visited Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Southwick.

Swine Sanitation Cuts Feed Costs

By practicing the system of sanitation developed by the United States Department of Agriculture to control internal parasites of swine, Frank Street, a Kentucky farmer, raises more pigs at less cost than formerly. Last year his 72 brood sows farrowed 594 pigs, an average of 8 1/4 pigs per litter. Some of the sows farrowed in the spring, others in the fall. According to information which Mr. Street furnished the department, the swine-sanitation system resulted in 90 more pigs raised from the 72 brood sows, compared with former experience. Besides, he reported the entire absence of runts and a saving of 20 per cent in feed cost. The system consists essentially in having sows farrow in clean quarters and preventing pigs from becoming infested with parasites by raising them on clean pasture instead of in old hog lots.

When you are in Kendrick, stop at the Hotel Kendrick—clean beds, and good things to eat. 14.

Funeral of Little Girl

The funeral of little Lenore Daniels, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vester Daniels of Lewiston, who was burned to death in the apartment of her mother, about noon on Monday, was held at the Vassar chapel Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 and the body was brought to the Silvie Cook home and taken from there to Leland, where burial was made Wednesday morning, with Rev. A. E. James in charge.

The little girl was a niece of Mrs. Silvie Cook of Kendrick.

Community Sale

Kendrick is to have a special sales day and community auction, the first part of March. J. R. Hutcheson, auctioneer, from Lewiston was in town last week making arrangements for the sale.

Mr. Hutcheson says these sales are becoming very popular throughout the country. They make a market for surplus property that people want to dispose of. It also makes a market for the buyer of articles which he is looking for.

Mr. Hutcheson also states that the merchants will have specialties that day which will give the people a chance to save money on their needs.

Anything you have of value which you wish to dispose of, you may list at the Gazette office. Regular sale bills will be printed later.

Note—This sale is being put on solely by Mr. Hutcheson and the Gazette will handle the listings merely as an accommodation to Mr. Hutcheson and those who wish to dispose of property at the auction.

God's Rule for Prosperity

And it shall come to pass, if ye shall hearken diligently unto my commandments which I command you this day, to love the Lord your God, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul.

That I will give you the rain of your land in his due season, the first rain and the latter rain, that thou mayest gather in thy corn, and thy wine and thine oil.

And I will send grass in thy fields for thy cattle, that thou mayest eat and be full.

Take heed to yourselves, that your heart be not deceived and ye turn aside, and serve other gods, and worship them;

And then the Lord's wrath be kindled against you, and he shut up the heaven, and there be no rain, and that the land yield not her fruit; and lest ye perish quickly from off the good land which the Lord giveth you.—Deuteronomy 10:12-18.

For I am the Lord, I change not; therefore ye sons of Jacob are not consumed. Malachi 3:6.

Sunday Evening Series of Sermons

Some few years ago, Dr. Merton Rice, pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist church at Detroit, Michigan, wrote a book entitled, "To Know Him."

To get acquainted with, and to really know Jesus Christ, is the greatest need of the world in this present day. Beginning next Sunday and for the four succeeding Sunday evenings, a series of sermons will be preached at the Methodist church, with Dr. Rice's book as the basis. Everyone is cordially invited to come and unite with us in seeking to become better acquainted with the "Master of Men."

Revival Meetings

The revival meetings which are being held at the Fred Hecht hall, at Deary, are well attended. Services every night at 7:30.

On Sunday there will be three services—11 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The meetings are to close Sunday night, February 8.

PERSONALS

Marvin Long was a business visitor in Lewiston Tuesday.

Fred Reil returned Monday from a three-weeks visit to the coast.

R. E. Densow of Lewiston was a business visitor in Kendrick Tuesday.

G. H. Wylie, state bank examiner, was busy at the Kendrick State Bank Thursday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Herrington and family of Lewiston were visitors at the W. J. Carroll home Wednesday.

Mrs. Myrtle Cole left for her home Monday after having spent the past few weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Asplund and children of Bovill were week-end visitors at the home of Mrs. Asplund's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Damarell.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer returned this week from a six-weeks trip to Missouri. Mr. Meyer says the dry weather is continuing there and is even worse than last summer and that the prospect for a 1931 crop is not very bright. Mr. Meyer returned glad that he is a resident of the best part of Idaho, one of the best states in the best country on earth.

Roads In Bad Shape

Many drivers of cars these days report that the roads are in very bad shape and almost impassable, as the frost is leaving the ground and the moisture constantly falling has allowed the "bottom to fall out."

The road to Troy is still open but in bad shape, it is reported. The road to Lewiston is poor, but passable, but care must be exercised in a number of spots to keep from dropping out of sight in the mud.

The road to Southwick is said to be in fair condition, but to many of the other ridges not so good. Chains must be worn on all but the Lewiston road.

Don't Make Us Blush, Big Boy

Editor—Anent the article "Blush Sent by Television," in Things Scientific column, I will say that since blushes may come back into style, it might be apropos, to redefine the phenomenon or to give the science of it for the benefit of those who have forgotten or never knew that girls "usta" use blushes in their repertoire. Accordingly: A blush is a temporary erythematic or calorific effulgence of the physiognomy, superinduced by a reaction in the sensorium, eventuating in a paresis of the vasomotor filaments of the facial capillaries, which, becoming invested with hyperelasticity, permit a superabundance of haemoglobin to turbidify the subepidermal vesicles thus causing a suffused radiance to emanate from the countenance.—M. J. Plice, Ithaca, New York.

The bureau says that a seasonal price advance in hogs is expected to get under way in late December, but that the extent of the rise "will depend largely on the consumer demand for hog products the next two months. If storage accumulations of hog products continue relatively small and consumer demand is no weaker than at present, reduced marketings in February and March and continued light weights will probably result in a seasonal advance greater than that of last winter. Present storage stocks of pork and lard are low but the foreign outlet for these products shows little promise of immediate improvement."

FARM PRICES LOWER DESPITE UNFAVORABLE YEAR

Crops are not up average, yet prices of farm products are low. The supply situation, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its December 1 report on the agricultural situation, would seem to justify a price level higher than last year's, whereas in fact prices are the lowest in several years.

The composite production of 17 principal crops this season is estimated at 6 per cent smaller than production in 1929, and 5 per cent less than the 1919-28 ten-year average. The supply for each person in the United States is 7.4 per cent less than in 1929, and 13 per cent smaller than the ten-year average. The bureau's combined index price of thirty farm commodities in October was approximately 25 per cent below the index of October, 1929.

"This year," says the bureau, "will be remembered by most farmers as one when the weather, the crops, and the markets seemed to turn to their disadvantage. The late crops, however, were improved somewhat by the fall rains, with the result that estimates of production of corn, potatoes, sweetpotatoes, and of various other crops are substantially higher now than the August forecasts. Egg production per hen has gradually worked back toward normal, and milk production per cow has increased. Butter production in October was only one per cent smaller than production in October, 1929."

Reporting conditions in key regions, the bureau says that "in Kansas, wheat is furnishing excellent fall pasture; corn husking and cribbing have progressed rapidly, but much of the corn is of poor quality; there is a decrease in the number of cattle to be grain finished, although more sheep and lambs may be fed in the state. In Indiana, the milk flow and egg production are holding up well, but low prices of lambs and fat cattle are making finishers cautious. In the Pacific Northwest, fall truck crops have made good growth with very little damage, but prices have been so low that many growers say that the season's operations have been at a loss."

The bureau says that a seasonal price advance in hogs is expected to get under way in late December, but that the extent of the rise "will depend largely on the consumer demand for hog products the next two months. If storage accumulations of hog products continue relatively small and consumer demand is no weaker than at present, reduced marketings in February and March and continued light weights will probably result in a seasonal advance greater than that of last winter. Present storage stocks of pork and lard are low but the foreign outlet for these products shows little promise of immediate improvement."

How To Be A Successful County Commissioner

You must have a courteous manner to offset their anger mean; You must have at least four cylinders working steadily in your brain; You must look up all the tax rolls, you must cut out quite a dab; You must be a real good fellow, you must have the gift of gab; You must sit up in the stilly night and learn the sessions code; You must see that each poor family has provisions by the load; You must build the roads and bridges that will cross each brook and rill; You must supervise the county, you must figure every bill; You must watch o'er all the widows, and neglect your wife at home; You must try to build a court house with a shining silver dome; You must see that each official does his duty prompt and true; And you must not be contrary in the methods you pursue; Your best friend you must not favor, you must stay within the laws; Which will bring you criticism when you ought to have applause; You must write the word progression with the minimum of expense, While you listen to the kicking that offsets your recompense; And when your term is over and the people pay the price, They will whisper to each other that you raised the levy twice!
W. H. BURNS,
Commissioner of Gem County, Idaho.

Didn't Want to Be Called Names

"Are you the defendant?" asked the judge of an old negro who was brought before him.
"No, boss," was the reply. "I ain't done nothin' to be called names. Ise got a lawyer who does de de-fensing."
"Then who are you?"
"Ise the gemmen what stole de chickens."

Better Look a Little Out

"Nurse," said the amorous patient, "I'm in love with you. I don't want to get well."
"Cheer up, you won't," she assured him. "The doctor's in love with me too, and he saw you kiss me this morning."

Frescoes and Furniture Found in Old Pompeii

Excavations at Pompeii have brought to light several important objects. A three-legged marble table, the top of which is missing, is one particularly interesting piece. Students have advanced the theory that this table was at one time the property of Casca, one of the murderers of Julius Caesar. The three legs are each in the form of a lion's leg, surmounted by a lion's head and on the top of each head is a square block, on which the actual table top rested. In fact, on the surface of each of the three resting blocks is carved the word "Casca." This enterprising Casca used to have a house in Pompeii, although students present at the time of the discovery are not certain that his was the house in front of which the table was found. Yet it is not improbable, noted archeologists say, that the table was purchased by some other patrician living at Pompeii and brought there from Rome. Delightful frescoes adorning the interior of the house have kept their colors so vividly that today visitors may admire, for instance, on one side of a doorway Narcissus seated and at the other side a representation of Pyramus and Thisbe.

Characters That Live in World's Literature

Frequently in the world's literature a character wholly imaginary becomes so well known as to give his name to the language. Such a character is Rodomont (the Italian significance of the name being "one who rolls away mountains"), from which, according to Webster's New International dictionary, we get our useful word rodomontade, which means "vain boasting, empty bluster or vaunting, rant."
Rodomont is a Moorish hero and warrior—brave, boastful, and fierce. His figure prominently as the King of Algiers in the works of two Italian poets of the fifteenth century, namely, in the "Orlando Innamorato" (Emareddo) of Boiardo and in the "Orlando Furioso" (Mad) of Ariosto.
A parallel example from English literature is Braggadochio, the personification of vain boasting in Edmund Spenser's famous masterpiece, "The Faerie Queene," from which comes the expressive word braggadochio, which means "empty boasting, mere brag, pretension."

Westinghouse Memorial

The memorial to George Westinghouse, inventor, is in Schenley park, Pittsburgh. The main unit of the memorial, a bronze statue, was created by Daniel Chester French. It rises 20 feet from a Norwegian granite base and depicts a figure of the subject. At his sides are two figures, representing a skilled workman and an engineer. Facing this group is the figure of an American youth studying the achievements. The setting for the memorial was designed by Henry Hornbostel of Pittsburgh. The Picarelli brothers of New York constructed the models of the units for casting. The six panels, portraying the achievements of Mr. Westinghouse, were designed by Paul Fjeld. Subscriptions of employees of the Westinghouse industries in the United States and Canada made the memorial possible.

Ancient Relics Displayed

Centuries ago, when a new bishop was elected in Speyer, Germany, the cathedral's "domnapp," a great sandstone basin, was filled with wine and drunk by the city's burghers to the bishop's health. At the celebration of the cathedral's nine hundredth anniversary, this "domnapp" was transferred from its place in the churchyard to a site near the main portal. Another feature of the celebration was the exhibition of the insignia of the Holy Roman empire—the crown of Kaiser Conrad II (1024-1039), the builder of the cathedral, and the scepter, cross, imperial apple and sword of Charlemagne, which are the property of the Hofburg in Vienna.

Love!

Among those who bought a quarter of an hour of air for advertising over the radio is a Mr. Rubin, a Brooklyn marriage broker.
Mr. Rubin opens his program with a little selling talk on the general idea of marriage and then retires in favor of an orchestra which plays "Deep in the Arms of Love."
Immediately following the conclusion of this, while the hearers are still under its emotional influence, Mr. Rubin's voice cuts in hurriedly.
"You, too," he declares, "can be deep in the arms of love. Just communicate with A. Rubin, Brooklyn."
—The New Yorker.

Barber's Mistake

When Bobby, who lives in the southeast part of town, returned from his first visit to the barber shop, his mother asked, "How did you like it, Bobby?"
"Aw, he tried to make a sissy out of me," he answered disgustedly.
"Why, Bobby! What do you mean?"
"Why, when he got through he squirted perfume on my hair and powdered my face with a brush."

"Coming in Fine"

The doctor's little daughter had strayed into his surgery and was watching, wide-eyed, as he tested the heart and lungs of a patient. Suddenly she spoke:
"Getting any new stations, daddy?"

Light Warns Mariners of Treacherous Reef

One of the most famous lighthouses in the world recently celebrated its jubilee. A slim white pillar, known to nearly all sailors, rises out of the sea fourteen miles from Plymouth, England. This is the Eddystone lighthouse, or, rather, the fourth Eddystone lighthouse. For more than two hundred years, the light from this beacon has safeguarded mariners during the night against the treacherous reef which is its foundation, and which lies directly in the track of vessels entering and leaving the English channel. The first of the lighthouses erected on this reef was a queer affair. It was a tower that looked like a cross between a Chinese pagoda and a Turkish minaret. The outer walls were circled with wide galleries, and were ornamented with painted suns, wooden candlesticks, weather vanes and strange gables. The tallow candles in this wooden lantern were lit for the first time in November, 1698. For four years this queer structure withstood the onslaught of wind and sea. Then one fateful night a terrific hurricane swept away the lighthouse and its occupants. The present lighthouse was designed by Sir James Douglas, and its first stone was laid August 10, 1878.

Oldest and Costliest Perfume Is Rose Attar

Attar of rose is described in pharmacopoeias as the oil distilled from the petals of the damask rose (Rosa Damascena). It is employed mainly in pharmacy for perfuming lotions and medicinal washes, but has a certain reputation in the treatment of painful eye affections, being astringent, like most vegetable substances.
It requires two hundred pounds of almost leather weight rose petals to produce one ounce of attar of rose, so it is not wonder that the perfume in its quaint eastern phials, covered with quotations from the Koran, costs anything up to five pounds sterling a "fild ounce."
Persia and Turkey produce most of the attar of commerce. India has lost the monopoly, as she has lost the monopoly of cinchona (quinine) and opium, much to the benefit of other countries. Rose water itself is a far older perfume. It is referred to by Nicander in B. C. 140, and the Mohammedan pharmacists, although they introduced its use into Europe, undoubtedly learned it from India, as they learned many other secrets of medicine and pharmacy.—Montreal Family Herald.

Somewhat Hasty

Biggott looked up from his massive glass-topped table, and glared at the intruder.
"Well, what do you want?" he rapped out.
The young salesman coughed diffidently.
"Well—ah—sir, I came to see if I could interest you—if you needed—one of our—"
"Can't be done," snapped the other. "I've got three already."
The salesman's eyes goggled, but he went.
Alone, Biggott smiled at his own cleverness. Then his eye caught the card the other had left on the table, and he picked it up. Dark was his brow as he read, "Slickhem's Artificial Limbs. Consult our sales representative for cork legs, etc."

Beekkeeping's History

At the eleventh international conference of the Aps club, held in London, Miss A. D. Betts, in her presidential address, recapitulated the history of beekkeeping, showing how it appears to have attained its maximum of national importance among the worshippers of the mother-goddess in Neolithic or Bronze age times.
It has gradually fallen to its low status of a century ago through the loss of its religious standing, and by the economic difficulties caused by the substitution of other beverages for mead, the diminution of the wax market at the Reformation and especially through the effects of the use of sugar upon the demand for honey.—Nature Magazine.

Artificial Sunshine

Imitation sunlight, shining through fake windows to approximate further the effect of real daylight, has been found to speed up the production of night workers, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Experiments in London by the national physical laboratory showed that the eyes are more at home under conditions as nearly as possible like natural daylight, and that better vision resulted in better work. A comparison of the hourly output of night clerks in offices working under ordinary artificial lights and under artificial sunshine showed a distinct balance in favor of the latter. Coloring of the light to approximate the sun's rays was found to be the most essential condition.

Poultry on Parade

The largest poultry plant in the world, operated at Reseda, Calif., sells more than 150,000 old hens each year and maintains a flock of 500,000 hens. The statistically minded can calculate that if these 500,000 chickens were marching in a line a foot apart the parade would extend more than 90 miles. This company now uses the poultry inspection service of the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Bitter Comment on the Passing of George IV

"The remains of what once was George IV have now undergone the process of interment," said an article in the London Times a century ago, reprinted by the Detroit News. "We have been charged with two offenses, diametrically opposite, in behavior toward the late king. One set of accusers will have it that we persecute his memory with the same hostile spirit with which we assailed his living reputation. Another party reproaches us with mean sycophancy to the living, and still meaner malignity towards the defunct prince. It might be sufficient for us to state those inconsistent columns, and leave them to neutralize each other; but we disdain to shelter ourselves by such an evasion, and we give the flattest contradiction to them both."
"The truth is, however—and it speaks volumes about the man—that there never was an individual less regretted by his fellow-creatures than this deceased king. What eye has wept for him? What heart has heaved one throeb of unmercenary sorrow? Was there at any time a gorgeous pageant on the stage more completely forgotten than he has been, even from the day on which the heralds proclaimed his successor? Has not that successor gained more upon the English tastes and prepossessions of his subjects, by the blunt and unadorned seven should 'it be grotesque—hardly of his demeanor, within a few short weeks, than George IV—that Leviathan of the haut ton—ever did during the 63 years of his existence?"

Sixteenth-Century Tale Popular With Writers

Faust and Pausanias are different forms of the same name, and, according to tradition, the bearer of the name was a famous magician of the sixteenth century, a native of Stuhla, an ancient duchy of Germany. "A rich uncle having left Faust a fortune, he ran to every excess. He made a pact with the devil, (who assumed the name of Mephistopheles and the appearance of a little gray monk), that if he might indulge in his propensities freely for 24 years, he would at the end of that period consign to the devil both body and soul. The compact terminated in 1550, when Faust disappeared. His sweetheart was Margherita (Margaret), and his faithful servant, was Wagner. The German poet Goethe, has a dramatic poem entitled "Faust," produced in 1788, and Gounod, the composer, an opera called "Faust et Margherita," produced in 1868. The English dramatist, Marlowe, who lived in Shakespeare's time, wrote a tragedy based on the same tradition.

Moon's Phases

The moon has no light of its own to give out but shines entirely by reflected light. Its phases depend on its position relative to the earth and the sun. When it is between, or nearly between, the earth and the sun, its unilluminated side is toward the earth and then its phase is new. A week after this, the moon is in the south when the sun is setting, its western half is illuminated and its phase is first quarter. In another week the moon is at its greatest angular distance from the sun, and the full moon rises as the sun sets, the whole face of the moon turned toward the earth being illuminated by the sun. A week after this, the moon is in the south as the sun rises, with its eastern side illuminated and the phase is third quarter.

Landmarks

It had been a very convivial reunion dinner, and when the time came for the guests to depart Smith and Jones found that their last train to the suburbs had gone, and they were faced with a five-mile walk home.
About an hour later, just as they had passed a church which had chimed out the hour of two, Smith broke a long silence.
"Does your wife miss you when you are late on such occasions as this?" he asked.
"Very seldom," his friend replied. "There are still two large lumps on the back of my head where she hit me the last time."—London Answers.

Low Barometer Pressures

The weather bureau says that one of the lowest authentic barometer pressures recorded in recent years was in connection with the hurricane of September, 1928. As the storm passed over Porto Rico a reading of 27.85 (reduced to sea level) was recorded on September 18 at 3 p. m. at Yabucoa, on the southeast coast of Porto Rico. Other records of exceptionally low barometer readings in the centers of hurricanes may be cited: Havana, Cuba, October 10, 1845, 27.06; False Point, India, September 22, 1885, 27.15; Tananan, Philippine islands, October 12, 1897, 27.32, and Guam, Pacific, November 13, 1900, 27.36.

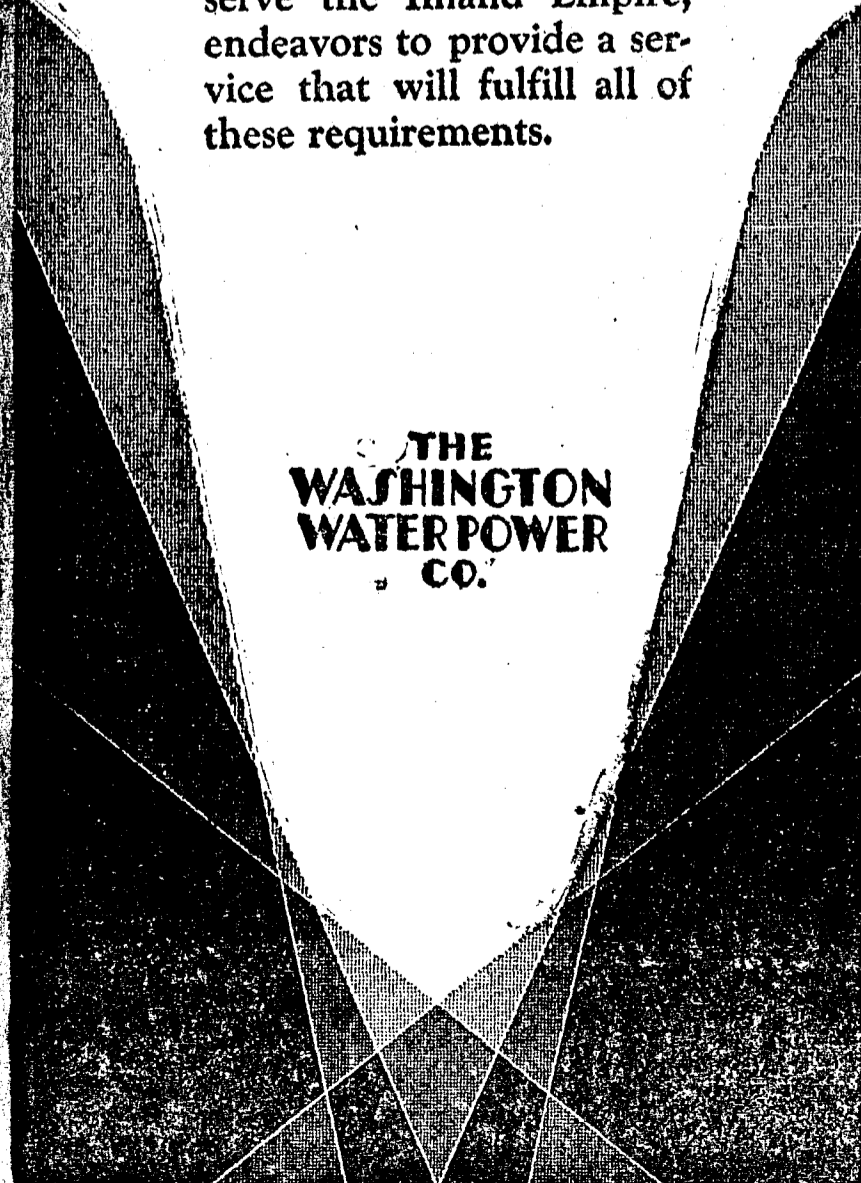

Pluto Planet Is Deliberate

Conversations and calculations of the complete orbit of Pluto places the new member of our planetary family as the most distant from the sun and the slowest in its revolution. It requires 251 years for Pluto to complete its orbit around the sun. This is nearly a century longer than Neptune, Pluto's oldest neighbor, which requires 165 years for one circuit. Pluto's orbit will bring it nearest our globe 68 years from now. In 1938 the new luminary will be distant 30 astronomical units of about 3,000,000 miles.

PROVISION

The business of rendering electric service requires constant provision for future growth and future trends in the home, on the farm, in industry and transportation. This company, privileged to serve the Inland Empire, endeavors to provide a service that will fulfill all of these requirements.

THE WASHINGTON WATER POWER CO.

GRAIN MARKET WEAKER AS OFFERINGS INCREASE

90% of the arrivals were from other terminals, and were being applied on previous contracts. There was a very light demand for wheat at Cincinnati but receipts were also small and consisted mostly of grain purchased from other markets. No. 2 red winter was quoted in that market January 23 at 80 1/2c to 81c per bushel.

Marketings of spring wheat continued to run well ahead of a year ago. 959 cars were received at Minneapolis during the week, compared with 681 cars the corresponding week last year. Prices were held practically unchanged, but elevator demand was less active largely because of the limited storage space now available. Mills were fairly active buyers of heavy weight wheat, but lower grades were slow sale. No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted from 3c under to 1c over the May price, which closed January 23 at 76 1/2c. The cars tested during the week by the Minnesota Grain Inspection department averaged 14.53% protein. The Duluth market was also inactive, although a ready demand prevailed from mills for good quality wheat. No. 1 dark northern closed in that market January 23 at 74 1/2c to 75 1/2c, and No. 1 northern at 73 1/2c to 77 1/2c per bushel. Canadian spring wheat markets declined slightly and No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg January 23 at 53 1/2c per bushel.

Durum wheat markets were weak and lower with spring wheat, but cash offerings of high quality grain were readily taken. May Durum closed at Duluth at 73 1/2c; No. 1 and No. 2 Amber sold at Minneapolis at 69 1/2c to 73 1/2c, and at Duluth at 73 1/2c to 74 1/2c. No. 1 Durum was quoted at the latter market at 70 1/2c to 71 1/2c. No. 2 mixed at 65 1/2c to 70 1/2c and No. 2 red at 65 1/2c per bushel.

Pacific coast markets were quiet, with prices maintained at the same level as of the last few weeks. No export business was possible since above the export basis. Domestic mills, however, were taking fair amounts of wheat at Portland and moderate sales of milling and feed wheat were reported made to California. Marketings in the Pacific Northwest during the week were the heaviest since harvest, according to trade estimates, and about 50% of the crop has now been marketed. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals have increased sharply in recent weeks, and for the season to date are around 600,000 bushels larger than for the same period last year. A large percentage of these arrivals however, have gone into storage. Favorable weather for spring wheat seeding and for the growth of winter wheat prevailed during the week in the principal producing areas.

California wheat markets were quiet. Weakness in outside markets tended to restrict demand at San Francisco, and both millers and feeders were taking only sufficient grain for immediate needs. Low prices of feed-stuffs and of dairy and poultry products, were further weakening influences. California wheat was still mostly being held above quotations from Washington and Oregon shippers. Local growers were asking $1.15 to $1.25 per 100 for No. 1 hard and soft white wheats at Sacramento valley points, which would be equivalent to $1.40 to $1.50 delivered San Francisco and Petaluma. No. 2 soft and western white, and No. 2 hard winter with 11% protein were being offered from Washington and Oregon at $1.25 sacked, delivered dock San Francisco, while No. 2 hard white with 12% protein was quoted at $1.30, the same grade with 13% protein at $1.32 1/2 and No. 2 dark northern winter from Utah and Idaho was quoted at $1.40 per 100, in bulk, California points. California warehouse stocks of wheat at the first of January were estimated by the trade at 139,910 tons, or practically the same as was in store the first of December a year ago.

The Los Angeles market declined 2 1/2c per 100 during the latter part of the week, both on milling and feed wheat. Liberal offerings of wheat from the Northwest, also from Utah and Idaho, together with decreased local demand, were principally responsible for the decline. No. 2 soft white wheat sacked, from Portland, was offered at $1.32 to $1.35 per 100, delivered Los Angeles, and No. 2 hard winter was quoted around $1.35 per 100.

Ole Was Missing

Two Swedes were walking on a railroad track, when a train came along behind them. One of them was lucky enough to jump off the track in time; the other not being so fortunate. The survivor told about it later.

"After I jump," he said, "I run a feeble way, and then I go back to see 'bout Ole. Putty soon I come cross an' arm on the track; an' soon I see one of Ole's legs. Nex' thing I see Ole's head. Den I say, 'My God, somethin' must a' happened to Ole!'"

ELK EATING HAYSTACKS IN GAME PARADISE

H. H. Sparber, who resides on American ridge, but who was formerly a resident of the Anatone section of Asotin county, Washington, handed us the following, taken from the Lewiston Tribune, telling of the game paradise that abounds in that section of Washington.

Wild life in its entirety exists in the Asotin creek district west of Jerry where beaver, wild turkeys, wild guineas, grouse, Chinese pheasants, Hungarian partridges, quail, ducks, deer, elk, bear and other animals are numerous.

After leaving Jerry, one may find an industrious colony of beaver building dams across Asotin creek. Although rather shy, some of these animals may be seen working night or day, giving a touch of wild life to the valley that does not exist in many places in the state. There are not less than ten colonies of beaver on Asotin creek.

One's attention may be arrested by the gobble of a wild turkey, the quack of a duck or the snort of elk or deer as they skim the breaks in hasty retreat. In the more remote section of Asotin creek valley, bears, cougars and bobcats may be found by those who venture into the timbered areas.

This condition is the outcome of a smouldering dream conceived by Asotin county game commission several years ago. Their efforts will continue, they say, until Asotin county is made a sportsman's paradise.

It is estimated that game of all kinds has increased 100 per cent during the last eight or ten years. At the same time liberal open seasons have been given annually.

In keeping with these plans, a small county game farm has been started at Asotin. The stock consists of only a few birds, but more will be added until several hundred may be planted each summer.

The streams of Asotin county will also be stocked annually with rainbow and cutthroat trout. A rearing pond has been installed at Jerry and from 50,000 to 100,000 trout-fry may be planted twice a year from this source.

"Ideal fishing and hunting conditions in Asotin county," is the slogan adopted by the game commission.

Elk are becoming a pest to stockmen and farmers of Mallory ridge south of Anatone, large numbers of them invading haystacks at night and destroying much of the winter's feed, according to a report made by Walter Wiley, who spent a few hours in Lewiston on business.

Mr. Wiley, who is operating a herd of cattle for George Ausman, local stockman, reported that large herds of elk visited some of their haystacks last week, eating and destroying more hay over night than 65 head of cattle would consume in 24 hours.

He said that fences quickly crumble under the weight of the elk, giving them full access to the feed.

The farmers and stockmen are at a loss to know what to do about the elk. They say to kill the elk means that heavy fines are likely to be imposed by the state game commission and to tolerate their destruction of hay means a heavy loss in feed and the possibilities of losing some of their stock by starvation.

Most of the elk in the Mallory ridge district are cows and calves, although some of the tracks indicate that there are several large bulls in the herds. The bulls are believed to be responsible for the smashed fences.

It is estimated that there are 50 or 60 head of elk in the herds that have been feeding upon the haystacks of that district.

Caught Fish In Pocket

Albert Jackson, 19-year-old golfer of Seattle, went out the other day to collect a few birdies and eagles, but landed in the hospital with a fish in his pocket.

"I had a couple of drinks," he told hospital nurses, "and went down to the docks. I had a few more drinks, and started bouncing my golf ball along the pier, and all at once it rolled out of sight. I went after it and fell into the ocean."

Thomas Watts, who was in a skiff 100 yards away, saw a splash as Jackson went in after his ball. He reached Jackson as he was going down the third time and pulled him out.

At the hospital they were removing his clothes when some one noticed that something inside one of his pockets was moving. They reached in and pulled out a fish.

Marvin Long says "that ain't nothing," all he has to do is set his creel on the bank and whistle to the fish and they come right out and jump into the basket.

The Amazing Age

If "law" did what it is supposed to do, the United States would be the most moral and "crimeless" country in the world. No other nation has ever had such a volume of legislation.

Yet the newspapers sag with accounts of the doings of celebrated gangsters and "racketeers." Law-enforcement officers search frantically for ways to press charges against them, but to no avail. An arrest is the signal for swift activity on the part of lawyers to show that supposed law-breaking is "within" the law.

The irony of such a situation is inescapable. We have thousands upon thousands of criminal laws and there is talk of asking the federal government to take a hand in subduing the criminal element in one of our gang-ridden cities! As a "crime remedy" it is often proposed to make it a crime for a perfectly honest citizen to own a revolver or pistol—while it is a rare week in which gangsters fail to "bump off" someone with machine guns.

And still we talk of passing more laws. Why not reverse the process and enforce some existing laws? We do live in amazing age.

Telephone Paradoxes

The telephone has upset the calendar.

Now, over a circuit 14,000 miles long, we may speak on one day to a friend in Australia the next day; because if it is night-time for us, it will be the following morning for him. Time in the United States and Australia differs by about 15 hours.

This is but one of the many telephone paradoxes. It has, so far as transmission of messages concerned, entirely eliminated both time and space. It has brought the obstacles of mountains, oceans and desert that, not so many years ago, made it a matter of months for the sending of a letter a few thousand miles.

Compared to the achievements of the telephone, Aladdin's magic lamp was but a trivial parlor trick. Physical laws bow down before it. What a monument to private initiative, enterprise and ambition.

IDAHO SHOWS LITTLE POPULATION GAIN

Final population figures for Idaho have just been issued by the Census Bureau in bulletin form. Its population on April 1, 1930, according to the fifteenth census, was 445,032, which represents an increase of 13,166, or 3 per cent, over the population in 1920. At the census of 1870, the first following the organization of Idaho as a territory, its population was 14,999. Until the past decade the growth of the state has been very rapid. At the census of 1910, it showed an increase of 163,822 inhabitants, or 101.03 per cent. The highest rate of gain, 171.5 per cent, was during the decade 1880 to 1890. The total land area of Idaho is 83,354 square miles, and the average number of inhabitants per square mile in 1930 was 5.3, as compared with 5.2 in 1920.

There are 44 counties in the state and of these, 19 show an increase from less than one per cent for Gooding to 45.9 per cent for Jerome. Those counties showing a decrease vary from 1.6 for Latah county to 40.5 per cent for Clark county. The most populous county is Ada, which includes the city of Boise. Bannock county, including the city of Pocatello, is second, and Canyon, including the cities of Caldwell and Nampa is third. All of these counties increased in population more rapidly than the cities which they include. Canyon is the most densely populated county, with 52.2 inhabitants to the square mile, and Owyhee, the most sparsely settled county, has only one person to each two square miles.

Idaho has two cities with a population of 10,000 or more in 1930. Boise, the capital and largest city, has 21,544 inhabitants, which represents an increase of 151, or 7 per cent, since 1920. Until the decade just closed, Boise has shown rapid growth. Its rate of increase was 191.4 per cent between 1900 and 1910. Pocatello, the second city in the state, has 16,471 inhabitants, which represents an increase of 1,470, or 9.8 per cent. Lewiston and Idaho Falls are just short of the 10,000 mark, having 9,403 and 9,429 inhabitants, respectively.

In the list of incorporated places in Idaho are 150 cities, towns and villages. The smallest of these is Pearl, in Gem county, with a population of 12. There are five other incorporated places with less than 100

What Eleven Tubes Look Like

Miss Marguerite Clayton had an idea that the eleven tubes in the new model 111 Superheterodyne Plus Philco radio could be held in her two hands but she found they took up a lot more space than she thought. The instrument pictured here is the new Philco Superheterodyne plus highboy, one of the 1931 additions to the line. It is equipped with automatic volume control, tone control, station recording dial, and is non-oscillating.

inhabitants. Five of the 150 places were incorporated in the decade 1920 to 1930, but none of these lately formed places has less than 100 inhabitants.

A copy of the first series bulletin for Idaho, giving the number of inhabitants in each county, election precinct, city, town, and village, may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C.

So There

"The sooner I never see your face again," the Irishman said, "the better I will be for both of us when we meet again."

Let's Be Going!

A young man took a girl for a ride in his new car. On a particularly deserted stretch of road the engine went "dead."

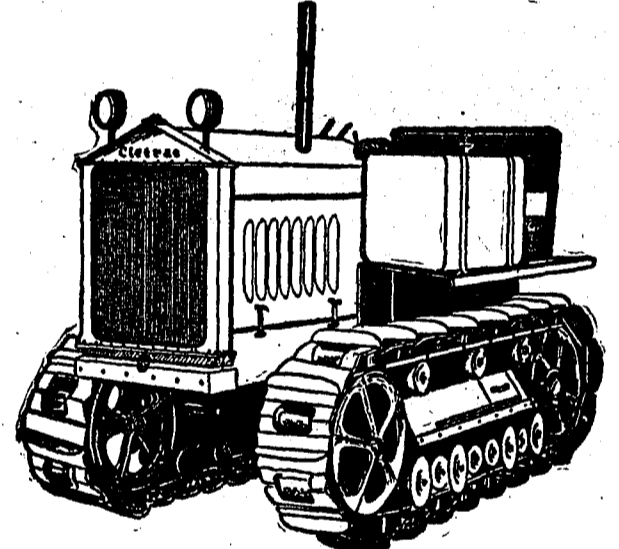

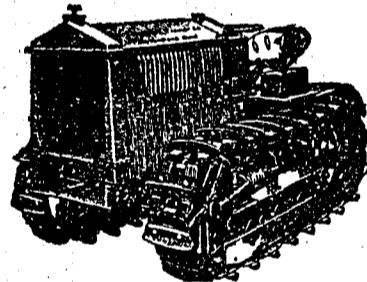

"While waiting for help the young man began to make love to his companion."

"My kisses," he said passionately, "will put new life into you."

"Then for goodness sake kiss the car," said the girl practically, "and let's get home."

"I want an asylum Hershey bar." "What the Sam Hill?" "You know—one with nuts in it."

NEW

CLETRAC TRACTOR ANNOUNCEMENT

The 1931 Cletrac Will Surprise You! All New Models — and Price the Lowest of Any Tractors On The Market Today!

The New 15 Cletrac just announced developed 32 Horse Power in the Nebraska State test recently. It has the new Hercules Motor, governed down to 1,200 R. P. M. It has 3 speeds forward at 2, 3 and 4 miles per hour. It pulls a 3-bottom plow. It is lever controlled — turns in an 8-foot circle — oil cups, oil holes, grease cups and grease guns are no more—everything is oiled automatically. It has a leather upholstered seat with back rest. Here is a tractor which is as near trouble-proof as it can be made — and the price is down to $1,450.00 F. O. B. Spokane.

And the New 40-30 with a 45 H. P. motor weighs 1,500 pounds more than the old 30 Cletrac, but is an entire differently constructed machine, and it will surprise you. The New 40-30 will pull heavier loads. The price of the old 40 was $4,100.00. The price of the New 40-30 is $2,760.00 in Spokane. A $1,340 drop in price — and remember — all Cletrac tractors are fully guaranteed against defective parts for a six-months period.

The present Models are 15 — 20 — 30 — 30-40 — 40 — 80-60 — 100. 7 models to choose from.

All of Nez Perce, Latah, Clearwater, Lewis, Idaho and Asotin Counties are to be handled through my Kendrick office until further notice. This territory is large and it costs considerable to send men out over such a vast territory to solicit sales — therefore I will give an extra 4 per cent to all those who write in or come to my Kendrick office to purchase Cletracs on or before March 1, 1931. To anyone in a bean country, who wishes to use Cletracs for cultivating beans, I will give a new 4-row bean cultivator—Free — which costs $110.00, in place of the 4 per cent discount. This will bring the New 15 Cletrac down to $1,340.00, plus Spokane freight to your place.

All repair parts are kept in Kendrick, and we also have a service man when needed. Write in for literature on any model. It will be promptly mailed to you. No obligation of any kind.

The New Baldwin Combine

The New Baldwin Gleaner Hillside Harvester will also be announced shortly. Don't buy until you have investigated it.

Drought Cuts 1930 Crop

The value of crops produced in the United States in 1930 was $2,400,000,000 below the value of the crops produced in 1929, according to the United States department of agriculture. The 1930 crop on December 1 was estimated to be worth $6,274,824,000. The decline in value from the previous year was caused chiefly by the widespread decline in prices but was accentuated by the decrease in production that resulted from the drought.

LAVA HOT SPRINGS

In June, 1902, President Roosevelt approved an act granting to Idaho certain lands in Bannock county, "to be held for public use under such regulations as the state may prescribe." A dozen years elapsed before the state assumed the responsibilities contemplated by this act of congress. The legislature of 1913 provided for a loan of $10,000 for the benefit of the project, the amount to be repaid out of the revenues of the resort.

The 1919 session assumed entire control of the institution which had gradually grown up, and placed it under the care of the State Department of Public Welfare.

During the subsequent years bonds in the amount of $105,000 have been issued for the institution, all of which are still outstanding at a comparatively high rate of interest. These bonds are not a lien against the property, but have the state behind them.

The value of this land results from the presence of a number of hot springs, the waters of which are medicinal in character. The institution which has been built up is a combined sanitarium and pleasure resort. The legislature, no doubt reflecting the sentiment of most of our people, have usually looked upon this institution as more or less of a joke. Representative Bottolfsen of Butte county in writing of the original taking over of the property by the state says that "someone pulled a fast one."

The maintenance of an institution of this character can hardly be called a proper function of the state government. This statement is not intended to reflect upon the worth of the springs or upon the wisdom of making use of them for the benefit of humanity. But it is clearly a project for private ownership and operation.

The Department of Welfare recognizes this situation, and would be glad to lease the plant on any reasonable terms; the state's title to the property would probably not permit its sale. There has been some suggestion of the general government taking back the land and establishing upon it a Veterans' hospital; this would seem to be a sensible solution, if it can be brought about.

If in spite of objections the state keeps the institution, it should improve and advertise it. It does not lack much of being self-supporting and perhaps some additional investment would be good business.

The annual cost of operation and interest on the debt is about $18,000 while its receipts are approximately $15,000.

And At What Price
Jinks—Migosh, man, you're not planting a garden here in the dead of winter, are you?
Binks—Sure. All I ever get out of it is exercise, anyway.

Oh, Mr. Policeman!
"Hey, your lights are out!"
"I know it. I just put some of the prohibition alcohol in the radiator and they went blind."

Will Give Dance
Kendrick Circle, 456, Neighbors of Woodcraft, are giving a dance for friends, February 11. Allen's orchestra will play. Admission, $1.00. 5-2

Dr. Simmons Coming
Dr. Charles Simmons, Eye-sight specialist of Lewiston, will be at the Hotel Kendrick on Friday, January 30, from 1 to 6 p. m. Evening appointments may be had if desired, but these should be arranged for as the doctor plans to return to Lewiston early in the evening, unless there is reason for his staying over. He will not stop at Juliaetta. 5-1
