"A Family Affair"

There will be a real "Family Affair" at the Audian Theatre on Friday and Saturday nights, April 10, and 11, when the all-school play of that name is given. It is a comedy in three acts and will start at 8 o'clock.

There will be specialties between the acts by the Boys' and Girls' glee clubs. You will have to see it to find out just how family affairs turn out in other families than your own.

Following is the cast:
Dan Gillespie, a good fellow, whose imagination runs away with him..... Jack Fix

Jorkins Jobson, his gardener, a high authority on potato bugs..... Wm. Holt
Deacon Smith, who finds it difficult to be good under adverse circumstances..... Bob Fry

Sally, Dan's good-hearted little cook, who, unlike most women, can keep a secret..... Eleanor Herres
Miss Camson, his housekeeper, in the matrimonial market and means business..... Eldwa Jones
Louisiana, a dark brunet, on the war-path..... Walton Morey

A Pleasant Party

A very pleasant evening was spent at the Ware home Wednesday when the following young people gathered to spend the evening: Miss Irene Davis, Bessie Morey, Nettie Mae McDowell, Margaret McDowell, Agnes Kennedy, Eleanor Herres, Mae Freytag and Neva Ware; Charles Davis, Arthur Foster, Newt Morey, George Bailey, Hugh McDowell, Teddy Freytag and Russell Kennedy.

Games, cards and dancing were the entertainment of the evening and delicious refreshments were served.

Prizes for pinocle were awarded in true "April fool" manner, Walton Morey and Bessie Morey having low scores were awarded first prizes, while Nettie Mae McDowell and Teddie Freytag made high scores and were given the "booby prizes."

Julietta Fruit Not Hurt

Local fruit men reported no damage to early fruit in last week's cold spell. Apricots were protected by not being in full bloom. A large crop is expected with a lighter cherry yield. Many of the old trees have been removed, but orchards are in splendid condition, due to the light winter and increased moisture.

One car radiator broke from freezing and Frank Spray reported his tomatoes frozen in a hotbed.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM JULIETTA

Mr. and Mrs. Cochran Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Cochran entertained five tables of bridge Wednesday of last week in a most beautiful manner, the Easter feature being carried out. Guests wore gaily-colored Easter bonnets. High scores were won by Mrs. VanHorn and A. W. Behrens and Mrs. C. S. Biddison and Paul Hall received the consolation. Delicious refreshments were served at midnight with the Easter idea prevailing.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Albright, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Behrens, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Wilcox, Mrs. Deane, Miss Brackett, Mrs. Mary E. Jones, Mrs. Austin from Twin Falls, Mrs. VanHorn from Phoenix, Arizona, Mrs. C. S. Biddison, R. F. Dudley, Ward Alexander, J. C. Fowler, H. Cox, Paul Hall, Eugene Taylor and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Cochran.

Wilcoxons Entertain

E. P. Wilcox entertained several friends at a stag dinner Sunday evening, a most bountiful chicken dinner having been prepared by himself. His guests were H. Cox, Paul Hall, Eugene Taylor, Fred Albright, A. W. Behrens and Ward Alexander.

Mrs. Wilcox entertained the ladies at dinner during the afternoon. Her guests were Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Albright, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Behrens and Miss Brackett.

Later in the evening bridge was played.

Dogs Kill Chickens

Mrs. M. A. Deobald reports that many of her fine chickens were killed by dogs on Monday, March 24, sometime between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Deobald was busily engaged in figuring and writing, when she says she heard a chicken squawk. She did not pay much attention as the noise stopped. About 4 o'clock she went to do her chores, and to her surprise she found many large bunches of feathers and skin scattered over the place. Upon investigation she found that 15 other fine Banded Rock chickens were missing; 14 were left, but nearly all were crippled and the skin pulled from their backs. She later found five of the missing ones with their backs almost torn off. Mrs. Deobald said the damage was done in less than an hour and that there must have been at least three dogs at work on the flock.

This is the third time such destruction of her flocks has happened. In 1925 she lost many valuable chickens and again in 1926 she lost several.

Mrs. Deobald says: "This is a big loss to me and I would thank the owners of the dogs a thousand fold if they would keep them at home. Not only the loss, but the suffering to the birds is unthinkable."

Delightful Birthday Party

One of the most enjoyable gatherings of the season was given at the Wade Keene home last Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the occasion being in honor of Wade's birthday.

All partook of a delicious two-course dinner, followed by bridge later in the evening.

Such a delightful time was enjoyed by everyone that they all left wishing Wade would have at least two birthdays a year.

Two consolation prizes were awarded, one to Wm. Watts and the other to Mrs. Hardman, and high score went to the Rameys.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leith, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ramey, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carroll, Dr. and Mrs. Morehead, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rider, Mrs. Hardman, Nora Callison and Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary were unable to attend.

Kendrick Visited By One Of Worst Floods In History

Potlatch River Goes On Rampage—Northern Pacific Suffers Many Washouts—Trains Delayed—Small Loss In Kendrick—Country Roads Damaged

Kendrick and the Potlatch valley have just emerged from one of the worst floods that has ever visited this section—even worse, old-timers say, than the flood that visited Kendrick 31 years ago, when more damage was said to have been done than was done Tuesday of this week. However, it was bad enough, and thousands of dollars' damage was done to the Northern Pacific railroad grade, and bridges all the way from near Boyard to Arrow Junction—in some places the track being left suspended in the air for several feet.

The storm began in earnest last Friday morning when a wet snow began falling about 8:30 o'clock and continued until about the noon hour. While little remained on the ground in Kendrick, there were many inches left on the higher ground and in the wooded sections. Rain fell intermittently from then until Sunday night, when it started in earnest and the downpour continued until Tuesday night about 9 o'clock, making an incessant downpour for more than 50 hours.

The Potlatch river had been fairly high for several days, but the heavy continued rain caused it to rise rapidly, starting Tuesday morning. The water continued to raise during the entire day. By 9 o'clock in the morning it had begun to lap over the railroad tracks above the Vollmer-Clearwater warehouse and within a short time it had broken over to such an extent that the water soon covered the flat and was racing down the vacant lots between the business houses and the railroad tracks, making for Main street down the street on the east side of the postoffice, turning down Main street at the postoffice corner, continuing down the street for several blocks, flooding basements of stores and houses on the way. Several of the buildings had water on their floors several inches deep, among them being the postoffice, Sturdevants' oil office and rooms, the Farmers Bank, the rear of Brown's garage, and perhaps one of two others we did not learn about. Practically all families occupying homes on the lower end of Main street moved their families to the homes of friends on the hill where they would be safe from danger should the river go higher during the night.

The railroad company, aided by the town, had a small crew at work during the forenoon piling sandbags along the track where the water was breaking over. This helped very materially and held the water at about an even level in the business section during the forenoon, but the gradual wear against the railroad grade made it imperative that something more be done to save the business and lower end of town and a large crew of citizens went to work after dinner in the evening and piled hundreds of bags of sand, cinders, mud, boulders, and everything else they could get hold of to stay the water from further encroachments on the town. This they succeeded in doing and a sight of relief was given when they felt they had accomplished their purpose. The river began falling about this time—dropping about a foot in 30 minutes—and further damage was averted from this source. The rain also ceased falling about this time, ending one of the longest downpours that has ever visited this section at any time.

The Lewiston-Spokane passenger train came into Kendrick on time Tuesday morning and went as far as Boyard where they encountered a dirt slide and in one place the track was under water, necessitating its return to Kendrick, where they tied up and remained until the track was cleared and put in condition so they could continue to Spokane. There happened to be only three or four passengers on the train when it was marooned here.

The Kendrick stockyards were taken away from their usual place by the flood and piled against the home of A. E. Wilcox, just at the west edge of town, together with many logs, trees, planks and debris of all kinds, the house being in about three feet of water. The A. Onstott place, just below the Wilcox home, fared a little better than did Mr. Wilcox, for it contained only about six or eight inches of water, although much damage was done in and about the place by the water, it leaving much mud and other debris that will have to be cleaned away to make it livable again.

High Lights On The Flood

Wade Keene, manager of the Vollmer-Clearwater company's warehouse, had gone to work early Tuesday morning and was so busily engaged with his duties that he did not notice that the water had gradually crept around the warehouse, until it was several feet deep and had cut off his escape. Finally he attached a rope to a small cable and threw the end to a crew of men at the old cold storage warehouse and the cable was drawn across and Wade did the sliding act from the warehouse to safety, using a pulley as the means of locomotion.

Dr. O. J. Morehead made a call out on Bear ridge and on returning to town in the evening encountered a small dirt slide. He said he had bucked many snow-drifts, but that was the first time he had ever attempted to buck a pile of dirt and rocks. He said he tore off a chain but came through safely.

During the height of the flood down Main street several fish were caught. We don't understand how Marvin Long failed to get in on this sport.

Harold Thomas said he had put $104.00 worth of dirt in his yard last summer, but that now he didn't believe he had more than $4.00 worth of it left, the water having taken a short-cut around his house.

High water and bad roads had no terror for Wickliffe R. Smith, pilot of Smith's fast mail that plies between Kendrick, Leland, Cameron and Southwick, he having made his daily trips without a hitch of any kind or loss of time. He even beat the airplane by more than an hour Wednesday morning, the plane having been scheduled to come over town about 9:30 a. m., bringing mail from Lewiston.

The business men along the Main street were busy Wednesday morning sluicing off the sidewalks in front of their places of business where the flood had left much mud.

The Lewiston Tribune and first-class mail from the south was received in Kendrick at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by airplane, the venture being sponsored by the Lewiston Tribune, the plane belonging to the St. John Airline of Lewiston. The sack of mail was dropped from the plane in Main street and it just missed hitting a car that was standing at the curb. The people of Kendrick and Julietta fully appreciate this service on the part of the Tribune Publishing company.

The Kendrick schools were dismissed Tuesday afternoon to allow those residing in the country to get to their homes during the afternoon, if possible. The town pupils spent the time watching the flood.

The water main leading from the big Burns spring to the town water system was broken sometime Tuesday by the flood, where it crosses the river. The town will be unable to repair the break until the water recedes sufficiently and water users are asked to please be careful about the use of water as this is the largest spring supplying the town system.

Bud McNeal was marooned in his home by Tuesday's flood, his footbridge across the Potlatch having been swept away, part of it landing on the opposite side of the river from his home, and several rods down stream.

While the river did much damage to the road east of town, it was still passable and could be traveled very easily up as far as Waucher gulch. The Brady gulch road is in rather bad condition, the creek using the road-bed to travel in instead of its own "bed." It will take considerable work to put it in condition again. Where the road crosses the creek, west of town, the usual amount of

Children Frozen In School Bus

Perhaps one of the saddest pieces of news in many years was flashed over the wires last week-end when it was discovered that five children and the driver of a school bus had frozen to death when the bus became stalled in a huge snowdrift near Holly, Colorado. Fifteen of the twenty children in the ill-fated bus are recovering in a hospital at Lamar, Colorado.

GUN CLUB HOLDS INTERESTING HANDICAP SHOOT

Sunday saw the first of a planned series of handicap shoots, with prizes for the winners, however, we cannot as yet announce the winner since six were tied in these events in six squads. By actual score Walter Bignam was the high man, but owing to the handicap, was not the winner.

When the high water started on Tuesday morning the boys were rather anxious about their trap house and grounds and a delegation visited the Onstott place. Manning was just rescuing a case of birds as the boys arrived, and he was asked to get out the trap guns (throwers). It was necessary for him to do this on horse back, as the water was already three feet deep between the grounds and his home. However, Manny got the guns out. The trap house survived the first and second rushes of the water, but gave way before the last one about 8 o'clock Tuesday night and floated away.

It is thought that the main channel of the creek has changed, which makes the present grounds useless even should the water subside, so it is probable that different grounds will have to be found, and soon, too.

If anyone has seen this trap house, it is a small, low building, being about four feet high, six feet long and five feet wide, with shed style roof, floating or grounded anywhere he is asked to please notify any member of the gun club, as if usable, it will be salvaged.

The building is covered with brick-effect sheet iron, painted green, and should be easily recognizable. So also are the checking stand and gun rack painted green, and information as to their whereabouts would be appreciated. A membership will be given to anyone locating the gun rack or trap house, and a reward paid for return of checking stand.

For the shoot of April 12 (if held) the Kendrick Gazette is offering a box of stationery as first prize and the gun club is again offering a box of shells.

This sport is getting a deeper and deeper hold on the sportsmen of Kendrick and scores, handicaps and guns are the great topic of conversation. Last Sunday W. B. Deobald was added to the list of shooters and for the first time at the traps made more than a fair score, getting 13 out of a possible 25. For the first time at the traps and almost a non-user of a shotgun this score is indeed a good one.

All we ask is that you come out and try this sport, it will speak for itself and get a real hold in no-time-at-all.

Must Register To Vote

If you want to vote at the coming village election, to be held on Tuesday, April 28, you must register—and to register you will have to call at the Gazette office and register with W. L. McCreary, village clerk. Registration closes Saturday evening, April 25, at 9 o'clock.

If you fail to register you will be unable to cast your vote, no matter how long you have been a resident of the precinct. Don't neglect to do this.

Easter Services at M. E. Church

Three programs of special interest have been arranged for Easter Sunday at the Methodist church. A community Sunrise Service at 6:30 a. m. will start the day—a program at 11 o'clock by the Sunday school will follow and the day will close with a special musical program by the choir and a short sermon by the pastor. The public is cordially invited to these services.

Peck Gets Heavy Snow

Drifts from two to five feet deep formed during the snow storm that entered its third day Friday. Tuesday night the heaviest fall came and eight inches of snow were packed upon the tilled soil. Snow was so deep that mail could be delivered only on horseback.

CASH GRAIN STEADY— FUTURES MOSTLY LOWER

While cash grain markets held steady during the week ending March 28, under a fairly active demand for the lighter offerings, future markets weakened and new crop wheat deliveries at Chicago declined to the lowest point since 1896, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Corn futures reached a new low point on the current crop. Favorable prospects for winter wheat, together with heavy supplies of old crop grain, and announcements that new crop wheat prices would not be stabilized, were the principal weakening factors in the wheat market. Prospects of increased acreages of feed grains this season, along with the decline in wheat, were principally responsible for the weakness in corn oats and barley futures. Rye weakened with wheat while flax declined slightly, reflecting lower Argentine markets, and a slow inquiry for oil.

Rains and snow were beneficial to the winter wheat crop, and the condition is reported at 92 per cent of normal in Kansas, and 95 per cent in Nebraska, with indications that abandonment would be light. Of the 42,042,000 acres of fall sown wheat, farmers are now expected to harvest about 39,759,000 acres. Seedlings of spring wheat have been unusually early, but snow storms and cold weather during the week delayed operations. Spring wheat farmers have reported an intention to sow only about 88 per cent as much bread wheat and 76 per cent as much durum wheat this spring as was harvested in 1930. If the average departures from intention are made this season, about 14,083,000 acres of white and hard red spring, and 3,599,000 acres of durum will be seeded. This is the smallest acreage since 1918, and of spring wheat other than durum since 1924. The greatest intended decreases in the acreages of spring wheat, other than durum, are 35 per cent in Washington, where winter wheat acreage was greatly increased, 30 per cent in Colorado, 24 per cent in Idaho and 40 per cent in Illinois. If these indications of seeding spring wheat and of harvesting winter wheat are realized, this season's wheat acreage will total 57,441,000 acres, compared with 59,153,000 acres harvested last season.

With average yields, the indicated spring wheat seedings would produce about 148,000,000 bushels of hard spring, 47,000,000 bushels of durum, and 26,000,000 bushels of white wheat, or a total of about 221,000,000 bushels, compared with approximately 247,000,000 bushels produced in 1930.

Foreign crop prospects showed little change during the week. Trading in European markets was of only moderate volume and prices declined slightly, in sympathy with the weakness in the world situation. The Indian wheat harvest is extending northward under generally favorable weather conditions. A bill providing for an import duty on wheat, has been introduced in the British Indian legislature and customs duties are already being adjusted accordingly. This is regarded as only a temporary measure to be effective until March, 1932. World exports of wheat fell off slightly, totaling 14,902,000 bushels during the week, of which 8,896,000 bushels were from the Southern Hemisphere, 1,104,000 bushels from Black Sea ports, and 4,654,000 bushels from North America. Low prices are tending to reduce offerings of Southern Hemisphere wheat and may result in a sharp reduction in acreage seeded this year, according to trade reports. At the close of the market March 27, No. 2 Manitoba was quoted at Liverpool at 79½c; 63-lb. Argentine Rosaf at 60¾c; Australian wheat at 63¾c, and Russian average samples at 60c per bushel. United States No. 2 hard winter was offered during the week at 71¾c per bushel.

Domestic cash wheat markets held generally unchanged during the week. Marketings of both spring and winter wheat were further reduced and current offerings were generally readily taken by mills, shippers and domestic marketing agencies. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at the close of the market March 27, at Kansas City at 72c; at Omaha at 71c, and at Denver at 50c to 54c per bushel. No. 1 hard winter was quoted at St. Louis at 80c, and at Forth Worth delivered Texas common points at 79½c to 81½c per bushel. No. 1

Are Printers Citizens?

One sentence in President Hoover's veto of the Muscle Shoals bill comes home to printers with peculiar force. This is it:

"I am firmly opposed to the government entering into any business the major purpose of which is competition with our citizens."

Somebody should gently but firmly call the attention of the president to the printing of envelopes by the government in direct competition with printers.

But maybe the president doesn't look upon printers as citizens.—Hailey Times.

Thousands of Cattle Perish

Newspaper dispatches report that thousands of cattle had perished in the blizzard of last week in western Kansas and eastern Colorado. The carcasses will be shipped to Kansas City and Hutchinson, Kansas, where they will be rendered. Such fats are used in the making of soap and for other purposes.

Costs Money To Hit Editor

John W. Tulk of Kamiah will have to pay a fine and costs of $104 for striking Ralph Prescott, editor of the Kamiah Progress, who published a news item that offended Tulk.

Prescott alleged Tulk struck him because he printed a story about an auto accident in which Tulk figured. Tulk said the story estranged him and his wife.

April Fooled Us

Following on the heels of the continued storm period, April came in like the proverbial lamb and fooled everyone, for the first day was about as fine as one would care to experience. But do not forget that this is April and that the old month is full of vagaries.

Right, and Also President

"Prosperity cannot be restored by raids upon the treasury," declared President Hoover recently.

His statement is hardly open to doubt, even though it is not so spectacular as those of the politicians who like to hand out the private citizen's hard-earned tax money on the theory that such a proceeding always gains many votes.

Horse Sale Not Success

The horse sale scheduled to take place in Kendrick last Saturday did not go over so big as the promoter had hoped for. There was only a fair crowd in attendance and the bidding was rather slow and rather low—too low, in fact, to suit the owner, for the sale was called off after some six or seven horses had been sold, the highest price paid being $75.00.

Money is just a little bit tight right now and there are not many of us who can step right out and buy a high-priced team of horses and pay spot cash—as was asked at Saturday's sale.

John Roach of Genesee was the auctioneer, and when John can't talk you out of your money—well, you just "ain't got it," that's all.

CASH GRAIN STEADY — FUTURES MOSTLY LOWER

soft red winter was quoted at Kansas City at 74c; at St. Louis at 81c, and at Cincinnati at 79c to 81c per bushel. No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted at Minneapolis at 76 1/2c to 79 1/2c, and at Duluth at 75 1/2c to 79 1/2c. No. 2 amber durum was quoted at Minneapolis at 68c to 74c, and at Duluth at 72c to 74c per bushel. No. 1 Manitoba was quoted at Winnipeg March 26 at 56 1/2c per bushel.

No important changes were reported in the wheat market situation on the Pacific coast. With domestic prices above an export basis, no export business in wheat was reported at Portland or Seattle. Some export sales of flour were made to the Orient and domestic demand for flour was of moderate volume. Prices at both Portland and Seattle remained practically unchanged from a week ago. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals, totaled 363 cars, an increase of 100 cars over last week.

California wheat markets were quiet with growers selling slowly and demand light. Mills and feeders continued to purchase for current needs only. With seasonal precipitation in both the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys 25 to 40 per cent under normal, some of the late seedings are showing the effects of lack of moisture. At the close of the week, No. 1 hard and soft white wheat was quoted F. O. B. shipping points in the Sacramento valley at 95c to $1.00, per 100, and at San Francisco at $1.20 to $1.25. No. 2 soft and western white wheats from Washington and Oregon were quoted at $1.22 1/2, and No. 2 hard winter, 12% protein, at $1.25 per 100, delivered docks, San Francisco. Washed samples of feed wheat were quoted at $1.27 1/2 to $1.30, delivered Petaluma. No. 2 dark hard winter from Idaho and Utah was quoted at $1.35 per 100, for 13% protein wheat, in bulk, at Los Angeles, and No. 1 soft and hard white sacked at $1.30 per 100.

Farmers intend to plant a materially increased acreage of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums, this season, according to reports to the United States department of agriculture. An increase of 4.9% is indicated in the corn acreage over that harvested last year. If carried out, this would give 105,813,000 acres, the largest area devoted to corn since 1916. Most of the corn belt states show an increase of from two to five per cent, while an increase of about 8% is indicated in the Southern states, and 20% in the far west. An increase of 6.5% is intended in the oats acreage, with the greater part of the increase accounted for in the Southern states, where increases ranged from 25 to 75%, largely of fall seedings for pasturage and early spring feed. A barley acreage for harvest, about 10% over that harvested in 1930, is indicated by farmers reported seeding intentions. Most of the increase is in the North Central states, but Southern farmers also plan to grow more barley this season. An increase of 6.6% is intended in the acreage of grain sorghums, mostly in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

CRESCENT CLIPPINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Armer spent several days in Lewiston last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Dorendorf entertained the A. Swanson, M. Forest, Anna Kimbley and Alfred Swanson families Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Lockhart and Jeanne spent Monday at the John Darby home.

The Anna Kimbley family visited Saturday with the Rose Farrington family.

E. McNeil is helping John Darby now.

The recent rains have raised the creeks higher than they have been for years, and still it rains!

School Notes

Those who have been neither absent nor tardy during the month ending March 27, were Floyd and Theodore Dorendorf, Stephen and Terrence Lockhart, Robert, Lloyd, Edna, Irene and Margaret Kimbley, Cecil Trail, Ida Forest and Beth Darby. There were no "tardies" this month.

Mrs. Alfred Swanson visited school Friday.

Bill Dorendorf has put up the school election notices.

All having "A" grades on their cards this month are: Margaret Kimbley, Ida Forest and Terrence Lockhart.

Delayed Clippings

Several from the neighborhood attended the funeral of Grandma Keeler Thursday. We wish to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the grieving relatives.

The Henry Loeser family moved back to their homestead some days ago.

The John Darby family enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Hazel Steelsmith Thursday night.

The Abe Dorendorf and Rose Farrington families were Kendrick visitors Saturday, where they visited relatives.

The Alfred Swanson family entertained the A. Swanson, Mr. Forest and Anna Kimbley families Sunday.

Sunday guests at the A. Ekman home were Mr. and Mrs. C. Craig, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dorendorf and children, Bill Zimmerman, Walt Dorendorf, Bert Lesa and Earnie Loeser.

The F. Reiche family were Sunday dinner guests of the A. Dorendorf family. Mr. and Mrs. Abe Dorendorf and sons and Mrs. Rose Farrington and children visited there in the afternoon and were supper guests.

The Geo. Lockhart family visited at the C. L. Trail home Sunday afternoon.

Delayed School Notes

David Craig started to school here Monday. She has been going at Leland.

Mary Loeser returned to school Tuesday after an absence of two weeks.

Herman Loeser is absent on account of illness.

The first grade were excused early Tuesday morning while the rest of the grades worked on their "achievement tests."

The seventh and eighth grades are finishing the lessons in their Palmer writing book, preparatory to sending them in and earning writing certificates.

All the grades have finished most of their books and are either reviewing or using supplementary books now.

Miss Steelsmith has provided an "extra work box" in which any pupil may put extra work on any subject and receive an "extra work" grade on their report cards. This plan has been very successful and the extra work done is very satisfactory.

Hot lunches are over for this year. They were greatly appreciated while they lasted.

Wednesday Bridge Club

The ladies Bridge Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. H. B. Thompson last Wednesday at her home. This was the final play in the contest which has been going on all season. In the near future the six lowest scores will entertain the six highest at a 1 o'clock luncheon and each will be awarded a prize at a drawing. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess.

The invited guests besides club members were: Mrs. Wm. Deobald, Mrs. E. A. Deobald, Mrs. E. H. Emery and Mrs. O. J. Morehead.

Mrs. Leith received high score at Wednesday's gathering.

2020 Killed At Crossings

Fewer persons tried to beat the engine across the track in 1930.

Fatalities due to highway grade crossing accidents were the lowest since 1922, but even so, 2020 were killed and 5,517 injured.

The American Railway association reported today the fatalities were 465 less than in 1922, or a reduction of 19 per cent.

A wise husband makes his wife do what she wants to do.

KENDRICK HAS WORST FLOOD OF HISTORY

boulders and debris had been deposited. This is really nothing new for this little stream as it has been in the habit of playing such tricks for many years.

Geo. P. Barnum was injured perhaps more than any other business house by the flood, his loss being estimated at from $200 to $500.

The Vollmer-Clearwater Co., was also a loser on account of their driveway being badly damaged and the old cable taken out last week being badly mixed up with debris of all kinds deposited around their warehouse. Is certainly is some snarl.

The Kendrick-Rochdale Co., was also somewhat damaged by water entering their grain pits in their elevator. There was no grain in the pits, however, and their main loss will be pumping out and cleaning things, and perhaps the loss of an electric motor in one of them, it being submerged to a depth of about six feet.

The Cedar Creek road is badly washed near the old Van Wert place and it is estimated that it will take in the neighborhood of $2,000 to fix it up again.

About one of the most near-expensive losses reported so far is that of May Brothers, living just below the Juliaetta ball park. They had driven their Nash sedan up to the river and gone across the foot-bridge to their home, parking their car on the opposite side of the river. Later, the footbridge went out and the river rose and covered their sedan—and all they could do was stand and watch it.

There were many wash-outs on the N. P. both north and south of town, the worst, perhaps, being between Kendrick and Arrow. Here the river cut a channel through the railroad and the highway near the Albright place and is again using the old river channel, which was changed by the railroad several years ago. Two railroad bridges are also out between here and Arrow Junction. It is expected that it will take at least a week to make the necessary repairs so trains can again go through to Lewiston. The ditcher, which had been working north of Kendrick, was expected to arrive here Thursday night or Friday morning and it is expected that regular train service will be established between Kendrick and Spokane.

"Bright Lights"

The feature picture at the Audian Theatre for April 3, 4 and 5 will be "Bright Lights," with beautiful Dorothy McKail and Noah Beery in the leading roles. It is a thrilling drama enlivened by startling musical numbers. Dorothy McKail, as a hula dancer, reveals her strange past on the night of her wedding to a Park avenue social leader.

Miss MacKail as she drifts about the world does many novel and eccentric forms of the terpsichorean art. The snake dance, Voodoo, Irish clog, fandango and the latest modern jazz steps are performed before the lavish backgrounds of the story. She studied for six months in preparation for playing the role of Louanne, which she has wanted to do for some time. She sings as well as dances.

Miss MacKail came to the screen from a career in the "Follies" and as a dancer at the London Hippodrome, so she is well fortified for the difficult role by experience.

Noah Beery, who every movie-fan knows, has one of the best "villian" roles in "Bright Lights" that he has ever portrayed—and interest does not lag from start to finish in this wonderful 100 per cent color picture.

Little Bear Road Improved

Hi Galloway was in town Saturday and made the remark that the road up Little Bear ridge is now in better shape than it has ever been before—due to recent work done on that thoroughfare both by residents of that section and by the road district.

All these things make for better travel conditions and a better feeling between the community which it serves and the people who have those things in charge.

The Gazette hopes it will not be long before we will have many farm-to-market roads leading from Kendrick and if there is any pressure that can be brought to bear to accomplish such a feat, it will surely be done.

Holy Week Services

Holy week services at the Methodist church have been handicapped by the flood excitement and weather conditions. Two more evenings remain, tonight (Thursday) and tomorrow, when it is hoped more people will be able to come out and join in the services of loving gratitude for what Christ has done for them.

"Hey, your lights are out."
"I know it. I just put some of the prohibition alcohol in the radiator and they went blind."

Back-Door Delivery

Last week the Northern Pacific announced that that road would adopt a free delivery from your depot to your place of business at no additional charge, to meet the rates made by auto trucks.

The service will start soon and there being only one dray company here, Frank Boyd will of course be given the contract. It will be quite a gift to merchants who have rail shipments come in. Roy Ramey says they are going to run a spur to the back door of each business house, thus giving them back-door delivery right from the train. Some service we claim.

A splendid lunch was served at midnight by Mrs. Davis.

The time for garden planting is right at hand—come in and get your seeds. We have the best and priced as they should be priced—right!

Bolts, screws, nails, lag screws, brace and bits, hammers, screw drivers, wrenches, every needed thing and then some for fixing your wagon beds and farm implements.

Norla Callison, in here the other day, made the wise observation that nothing is ever gained in a heated argument, except possibly a black eye or a bloody nose.

That also reminds us of window shades. Yes we have them!
