IDAHO HOLDS OWN IN 1930 CAR LOT SHIPMENTS

The annual report of the fruit and vegetable division of the United States bureau of agricultural economics shows that Idaho more than held her own in the marketing of perishable products during 1930, shipping a total of 32,446 cars as against 32,313 cars in 1929.

Potatoes, apples and prunes made up 94 per cent of the total shipments. There were 22,162 cars of potatoes, 6,776 cars of apples and 1,602 cars of plums and prunes. Potato shipments in 1930 increased 545 cars, apples decreased 396 cars and plums and prunes decreased 310 cars. Green pea shipments, one of the growing industries of the state, mounted to 407 cars, an increase of 169 cars over 1929 and 241 cars over 1928.

Fruitland took the lead in apple shipments, there being 1244 cars rolled out from that town. Payette shipped 840 cars, New Plymouth 640 cars, Emmett 589 cars, Council 496 cars and Weiser 480.

FULL EXTENT OF FLOOD DAMAGE NOT YET KNOWN

It would be hard for one to imagine the devastation wrought by the flood for perhaps twenty miles along the Potlatch river, extending from Arrow Junction to a few miles above Kendrick, did they not see it with their own eyes. While much of the overflowed land was not materially damaged, some of it was completely ruined and will be forever useless, unless another flood happens to come along and cover the rocks with silt.

Many thousands of dollars damage was done to the Northern Pacific road. North of Kendrick Bear creek did much damage to the road bed, but the heaviest damage was done within a few miles, extending some two or three miles this side of Arrow Junction. Near the Raleigh Albright farm, some three miles north of Arrow, the railroad grade and highway were washed away as completely as though they had never been there, the river running where they had formerly been for a distance of approximately 500 or 600 feet. There are several other places where the rails are extending out into the river bed. A complete description is impossible.

The first train of any sort to reach Kendrick after the flood was a work train, which pulled in Thursday evening, bringing the mail, which had accumulated since Tuesday. The Lewiston-Spokane passenger, which had been tied up here since Tuesday morning, left for Spokane Thursday night. Work trains have been busy day and night trying to rebuild the grade and get trains through. It is stated by Supt. D. S. Colby, who has been on the job all the time, that a temporary track will be completed and a train sent to Lewiston sometime Friday evening. The train coming from Spokane each afternoon ties up at Juliaetta for the night and goes back to Spokane each morning, reaching Kendrick at the usual time—8:55.

While one can adjust themselves to most anything, everyone will be glad when regular train and mail service has again been established. Parcel post shipments, especially, seem to have been demoralized, but one should be glad that conditions are no worse.

A. Wilcox and A. E. Onstott are perhaps the two heaviest losers from the flood, they having lost practically all their truck land. Where they formerly had fine garden and truck plots, they now have only gravel and rock beds, as well as many dollars worth of damage to their residences.

Wilbur Larkin, residing just below Juliaetta, also lost several acres of fine river bottom land by the flood. Where he last year raised tons of tomatoes and other garden truck, he now has a river bed, the stream now running through the middle of his orchard. He also lost about 30 cords of wood, mostly 16-inch, piled for seasoning.

The Farmers Bank and A. K. Carlson lost considerable of their wood piles, it floating out from behind their places of business to join the piles of trees, stumps, boards, and various assortments of debris that went down with the flood.

John Riley, living up the river about a mile, lost a wagon and hayrack when they floated down on the swollen stream. Other forms of farm equipment may be seen along the devastated river bottom, including mowing machines, pieces of small houses, etc.

It has been estimated that the amount of damage done to the Northern Pacific alone would reach the stupendous sum of $125,000.00, but the amount of damage done to small valley farmers will be hard to figure. Many of them lost all their melon and tomato ground, while others were seriously damaged by the overflow.

It will cost several thousands of dollars to repair the highways, especially those along the mad-rushing streams that have a fall sufficient to make raging torrents of them.

Then too, it is not alone the damage that we see, it's the sense of smell that is offended too, for the water draining off left many pools of stagnant water under buildings and in shady places, and as the days go on the smell of some of them seems to increase, and will do so until entirely dried up. However, it all might have been worse.

Name Omitted

In writing up the party given at the Ware home last week, the name of Carl Davis was inadvertently omitted from the list of guests.

MacPHERSON WRITES OF SALMON RIVER COUNTRY

The following interesting letter has been received by the Gazette from O. E. MacPherson, whom most everyone in this section knows, and who will read the letter with much pleasure:

"Dear Editor:
"It is indeed, some time since I have written you regarding the beautiful Salmon River Valley in which we are located. I intended to send you a news letter after the boys were down here last summer but just neglected doing so. I was rather disappointed in the luck the boys had at fishing that Sunday they flew down, but it could not be helped, as it just happened that it was one of those days when the fish took a lay-off and did not seem to be interested in anything that one might offer in the shape of a meal. However, I have experienced the same thing myself once or twice since. I have gone out all cocked for a basket full of big fellows and come home with half a basket and the largest only about 12 inches in length. However, N. E. Ware had the time of his life when he was here last summer and had a thrilling time with some of the big rainbow of this section. Several times during his short visit here we went out and returned with our baskets full and still did not have our limit in number.

"One very interesting time of the year here which appeals to anglers, is during the Salmon run, which comes the latter part of May or the first of June and lasts about a month. One can see the streams lined with fishermen anxious to get one of these big fellows which weigh from 16 to 60 pounds. This year we expect the run to start earlier and naturally, I expect to be there when it starts. It is a very exciting moment when one sees one of these big fellows start up a riffle, if you are lucky enough to get your fork or gaff hook into him, the fun starts. Another thing, if you are unlucky enough to get the spear or fork, into one just back of the head you can figure that you will get a real bath before you can land him.

"Salmon is the headquarters of the Forest Department of the Salmon National Forest and a finer bunch of men can be found nowhere than those rangers who work out of this office. They are sportsmen of the finest type, and always willing and anxious to show the visitors to this section a good time and will go out of their way to see that they enjoy themselves while here. The local office of the Forest Department has just recently issued a pamphlet describing this beautiful country in which they state that the Salmon National Forest possesses a wealth of natural parks, besides placid lakes and rippling streams, where "still stands the forest primeval." Nature lovers, seeking the grandeur of solitude, may find here in districts rarely trodden by the foot of man. Recreational delights and cozy camp sites, as if made to order, are numerous. Scores of lakes and hundreds of inviting streams, many of which may be reached by automobile, offer exercise for the angler, and health and happiness to all.

"Streams and lakes abound in trout of various species, some of which attain tremendous size. Fishing is good. The Federal hatchery which is located here at Salmon is annually hatching and planting millions of trout fry within the area, thus amply replenishing these waters from year to year. Better fishing than is offered within this section is seldom found.

"For larger game, Salmon National Forest is well stocked with mule deer, so that in season no hunter need fail to secure his limit of venison. Big horn sheep, mountain goat and pronghorn, or antelope, also range the wilds of this district, and one may frequently see bear, cougar and lynx. Fur-bearers are further represented by the fox, mink, otter, beaver, muskrat, badger and occasionally the raccoon. Also, within this district there are a few moose and elk or wapiti, and the red deer of the plains is sometimes found. Hunters from many parts of the world pay visits to this paradise of big game, and find its facilities for the display of their talents exceptional.

"Game birds of the desirable types are plentiful, several varieties of wild ducks inhabit the lakes and streams in numbers that allure the

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held at the Hotel Kendrick Monday evening, April 13. Dinner will be served at 6:30. Don't allow the "13th" to keep you away. It is your duty to be present and help keep our little city on the map.

TWO SPEEDER WRECKS BRING NARROW ESCAPES

Tom Blevins, local section boss, and who pilots a speeder up and down the N. P. tracks, sometimes at a rather brisk pace, had the misfortune to meet up with another speeder going in the opposite direction, last Monday night, and they came together with a crash. In the wreck Mr. Blevins was thrown onto an oil can in such a manner as to run the spout into the fleshy part of his left hip to a depth of about three inches, causing a rather ugly wound. It was dressed and he was able to be about his usual duties again on Tuesday—but somewhat sore.

A Mr. Palmer, connected with a civil engineering crew working on the rebuilding of the N. P. roadbed, also had the misfortune to wreck his speeder last Monday night. This time a dog disputed the right of way with Mr. Palmer and he being unable to stop his car, ran over the dog, killing it. In the spill Mr. Palmer's back was pretty badly wrenched and he was otherwise slightly bruised. No permanent disability is expected to accrue.

About Magpies

Few people have thought about the magpie pest, which have begun to infest this part of the country again. Sid Thomas walked up from his place at Juliaetta the other day and during the trip destroyed five nests containing 27 eggs and killed two old birds. He says there are many old birds gathered in the canyon. It is time something should be done if we are to save the game birds of this section.

A mighty good way to get rid of the nests and eggs is to take a piece of cane fishing pole, a small bundle of rags and small bottle of kerosene and burn the nests. It's easy to do that way and effectively destroys the nests and eggs. The old birds are much easier to kill when near their nests.

If some of those wild shots who break all the clay pigeons that come their way (sometimes) would get out with their blunderbusses they might have a lot of fun and do a lot of good.

State Pays Out $1,400,000

Highway jobs costing $1,400,000 have been put under contract or advertised since the beginning of the year, the department of public works announced Saturday.

The figure included two road jobs advertised recently. They are construction of 92 foot and 59 foot concrete bridges over Fall creek and Rock creek in Power county on the Old Oregon Trail, and grading and surfacing with crushed gravel of 3.3 miles of the Palouse highway in the Mud bay-centers section of Kootenai county. Bids on both will be opened in Boise April 14.

Contracts making up the total included jobs ranging in size from $35,000 to $220,000.

Federal aid, emergency federal aid and Colton-Oddie money has been used.

Has Needle In Foot

Lilly Deobald, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Deobald, had the misfortune to run a needle in her left foot while playing on the floor, breaking the needle off about half an inch beneath the surface of the skin.

An attempt was made to find the needle by probing but the attempt was unsuccessful and the substance will be allowed to remain as long as it does not give any trouble. The attending physician has hopes that it will work downward and eventually come out at the bottom of the foot.

Parents of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Holbrook, residing on Fix ridge, are the happy parents of a fine baby girl, who came to their home Easter Sunday morning to make a long stay. Mother and babe are reported as doing nicely.

GRAIN MARKET WEAKER -CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

Grain markets reflected the weakening influence of generally favorable new crop prospects during the week ending April 4, and prices in future markets declined to new low levels for the new wheat crop, and for the current season's crop of corn, oats and rye, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Moderate offerings of cash grain met a steady demand, but prices of most feed grains and rye declined with futures. Flax was very slightly lower, influenced by a further decline at Buenos Aires and the slow demand for oil.

Prospects for the new domestic winter wheat crop continued favorable, with present conditions pointing to an unusually small abandonment. Private forecasts at the first of April placed the crop about 15,000,000 bushels over last season's harvest. Spring wheat seeding progressed rapidly in the Northwest, with weather more favorable and soil conditions quite satisfactory in most sections. Sub-soil moisture is still deficient and good spring rains are needed over practically the entire spring wheat area of both the United States and Canada. Trade advices indicate a material reduction in the Canadian spring wheat acreage.

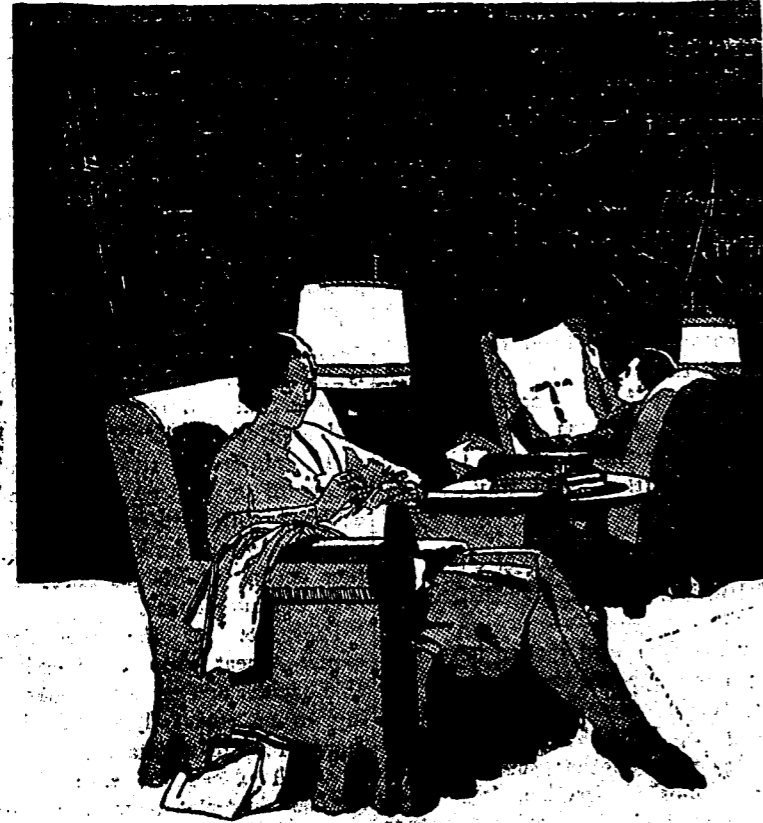

Crop prospects in Europe continued generally favorable. Conditions in France have improved and spring seeding is proceeding actively. Less than the usual winter killing is indicated in the lower Danubian countries where the growth of winter crops is satisfactory. The condition of winter grains in Prussia, the most important grain area of Germany, is average or above, according to the official crop report, although less favorable than at the corresponding date a year ago. Unseasonably cold weather in the more northern regions of Russia is retarding farming operations, but seeding in southern districts is in progress. Spring seedings in Russia are a pertinent feature in world crop prospects. Spring wheat acreage in Russia in pre-war days approximated only about 44,000,000 acres, while estimates for the past two crop seasons have exceeded 58,000,000 acres and recent reports suggest a further extension of acreage this season, should weather conditions be favorable. Crop prospects in North Africa continue favorable except in central and southern Tunisia, where more rainfall is needed. Wheat is heading out in the lower districts of Egypt, with the condition of the crop satisfactory. Good rains in wheat producing areas of Australia have improved conditions for plowing and seeding of the new wheat crop, but a material reduction from last year's record crop to an acreage about equal to the average of the last five years is indicated by trade reports. The minister of Agriculture has advised a reduction of 10 per cent in the wheat acreage of Argentina. Harvesting continues in India, but shippers are reported not offering wheat for export, notwithstanding the relatively large stocks of old wheat.

Southern hemisphere shipments continued large during the week, with about 5,000,000 bushels shipped from Australia and over 3,500,000 bushels from Argentina. Black Sea shipments totaled over 1,000,000 bushels, and about 4,500,000 bushels were shipped from North America, giving a total for the week of over 14,000,000 bushels. European demand continued to be rather dull, with millers generally buying only for immediate needs. Germany has made further modifications in milling restrictions and now permits the use of 50 per cent foreign wheat instead of 65 per cent as reported in January. Quotations on foreign wheats in Liverpool held about unchanged, with the exception of which were lowered slightly. At the close of the market April 2, No. 2 Manitoba was quoted at Liverpool at 70½c; Argentine Rosafe at 59½c and Australian wheat at 69½c per bushel.

Domestic cash wheat markets held firm under an improved mill demand for the lighter offerings. Rains and bad road conditions reduced marketings and receipts at the principal winter wheat markets totaled only 1,326 cars. These were the smallest receipts in a number of weeks, but were about 150 cars larger than during the corresponding period last year.

gunner in season. Swan goose and brant also visit these waters. In the mountains are found blue grouse, fool hen and ptarmigan, and in the valleys great flocks of sage hens. Also there are a few flocks of the pinnated grouse and along the streams the ruffed and willow grouse are frequently found. Ring-necked pheasant and California quail by the sportsmen's plantation, have taken a firm hold upon the fields and valleys. "Much of the terrain of Salmon National Forest is extremely rugged, precipitous and picturesque. There are towering cliffs, appalling gorges and mountain canyons, lofty peaks for the hillclimber and charming valley campsites for the lovers of comfort in quietude. Cronk's canyon on the Salmon, 35 miles below town on a standard highway, is known as the Royal Gorge of Idaho. "For the people who love out-door life this is truly a Garden of Eden. And I might say that a vacation spent in this section by fishermen and hunters will be long remembered by them. "Best regards to all my friends in the Kendrick section, "Very truly yours, "O. E. Like Coffee . . . the best Gasoline is Blended

THE sun beams cheerfully through an eastern window. The subtle fragrance of the morning coffee adds zest to the morning air, advance notice of the joy to come as you give the "cup test" to the coffee blend of your choice. Coffee roasting is important, of course, but the most skillful roaster cannot make a popular coffee from just one type of coffee bean.

The coffee connoisseur would not design to drink coffee made from a single type of bean. Neither should the thoughtful motorist allow an unblended gasoline to go into his fuel tank. Gasoline must be blended if it is to possess all the vital properties contained in the three types of gasoline.

CONOCO Gasoline is blended, just as carefully as the finest coffee.

In CONOCO Blended gasoline you'll find: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and long mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock qualities. Motorists are fast learning that this is so. The result is a fast increasing group of gasoline connoisseurs who have added to their knowledge of the good things of life the fact that good gasoline must be blended.

The CONOCO Red Triangle marks the spots where CONOCO Blended Gasoline may be found. Try it today.

POPULAR ASTRONOMY

(By Wickliffe R. Smith)

Many of the interesting groups of stars that shone so brilliantly last month are still in excellent positions for study, though thirty degrees farther west. In the north the Great Bear is above and east of Polaris. On the opposite side of Polaris is Perseus. Far down near the eastern horizon is Arcturus, which is believed by astronomers to be one of the largest objects in the universe. Our sun, compared with this mighty giant, is only a pygmy. A little higher up along the ecliptic we find Spica, a bright star of the first magnitude. In the southwest Sirius and Orion vie with each other in attracting the attention of the student. Sirius, the brightest fixed star in the heavens, is a sun much larger and hotter than our own. It is coming toward the earth at the rate of ten miles a second.

Planets

Venus is still queen of the morning sky. On April 14th it will be only one and one-half degrees north of the moon. Try to see them at that time. Mars and Jupiter are beautiful objects in the evening sky just a little west of the meridian.

Nebulae

A nebula is a luminous cloud-like mass of stary substance so far away that the human mind cannot even begin to comprehend the distance. There are many thousands of nebulae, some of which are suns and worlds in the process of formation; while others are cemeteries of old worn out systems, wreckage caused by collision of suns too cold to support life on the planets revolving around them, thus reverting to their original condition, preparatory to becoming the cradle of a new race of people, and perhaps, of a more nearly perfect form of civilization. The closest nebula is more than a million light years away.

One of the most celebrated nebulae is in the constellation of Orion. On a clear night it may be seen with the naked eye. It bears a faint resemblance to the wings of a bird and is sometimes called the trapezium nebulae, a veritable ocean of floating, glowing gas, so vast that our entire solar system would be lost in it just as a pebble would be lost in the great lakes. This is one of the most startling sights of the heavens and those who see it through a large telescope never forget the sight.

The astronomer who has often thought how satisfying it would be to stand in the workshop of the omnipotent God and see worlds created and flung out into space may be much nearer the realization of his desire than he ever hoped to be. Judging from the rapid progress that has been made during the comparatively short time that has elapsed during the invention of the telescope, we can only imagine what wonders will be revealed to the student of astronomy. Maybe some time a child will be born in whose brain will be combined the genius of a Copernicus, a Galileo, and Newton and a Herschel, a child with such deep markings of the "divinity that shapes our lives" that he can lift the curtains and reveal to mankind, as never before, the glories of God.

THE COMMUNITY AND ITS BANKS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON

President American Bankers Association

While upon the individual bankers there rests without qualification the direct responsibility for the prudent, honest conduct of their institutions, nevertheless the soundness of banking as a practical matter of fact is a community problem in which the public has a part to play, as well as bankers and government officials, charged with the supervision of banks.

In the first place, the assets of a bank, outside its government bonds, consist mainly of loans to business men and of investments in securities created by corporate enterprises. The deposits of a bank are not kept in the vaults as idle cash but are employed in these loans and investments to earn the money to pay the expenses of the bank so that it can render services to its customers and also pay them interest on such deposits as bear interest. If there were no such thing as unsound business men or enterprises there would be no such thing as unsound assets in a bank.

It is of course the unquestioned duty of the banker to choose only sound loans and investments, but the difficulty of such judgment, and human judgment is never infallible, is plainly increased in such times and under such conditions as we have been passing through, with many businesses not making expected earnings and therefore hampered in meeting their obligations. Unfortunately some investments and loans created by persons outside the banks which found their way into the banks in a relatively few instances have reflected the unwise business policies and conditions that became more than usually prevalent in our business activities and contributed to the difficulty of banking. The vast bulk of bank assets, however, are 100 per cent sound above all question.

"Hard Boiled" vs. "Easy" Banker

In another aspect the people of the community have a part to play in maintaining the soundness of their banks, and that is through the medium of patronage. The existence of a bank is dependent on public patronage. If only those banks were patronized in which the most careful policies were practiced and the most conscientious and able men in charge, it would go far toward maintaining the standards of banking. If business men in a community when refused loans by their banks for good and sufficient reasons because conditions are not favorable, thereupon withdraw their business to banks where less careful methods prevail, they clearly contribute to the creation of a less sound banking situation.

Also if, in the heat of competition, a banker offers higher interest rates or more free service to attract customers than the earnings of conservative banking justify, and is encouraged by the patronage of the public as against a more conservative bank, obviously the public is again playing a part in bringing about a less sound banking situation. It is an unfortunate fact that the banker who is strict, "hard boiled" if you please, is liable to be less popular than the "easy" banker, and by that same token the public itself has a voice in influencing the character of banking. Also it is the public in the end which pays the main part of the penalty if unfortunate results follow.

Still again the public can exert an influence in shaping the character of banking by supporting the purposes of bankers to maintain intelligent, independent, honest banking supervision by the public banking departments through insisting that this function of government shall be kept as free from political influence as the judiciary itself and shall be manned only by men of the highest ability and character.

In still another way can the people themselves contribute to maintaining the ability of their banks to meet their obligations, and this is by granting them the fullest possible confidence. As I said, the deposits are not kept as cash but are invested in loans and securities. Even the soundest assets of this type require some time to reconver at full value into cash deposits. In many cases of bank troubles the only thing wrong with a bank was an unduly suspicious and apprehensive state of mind in its customers created by no act or condition of its own but by baseless rumors which sometimes led them to destroy the value of their own deposits by demanding them immediately, forcing a bank to sacrifice its assets and otherwise disrupt its financial operations.

Bankers Help

During the year 1930 the Bankers' Association of Langlade County, Wisconsin, worked out the finances for a cooperative milk plant, which entailed the raising of $100,000, and also sponsored an active 4-H-Club campaign that culminated in an "Achievement Day" program, in which upwards of 400 young people participated. The increase in the number interested in this work was 200 per cent over the past two year period.

POULTRY

GIVE PLENTY OF ROOSTING PLACE

Pullets Need Room and Fresh Air to Develop Properly.

Give the pullets plenty of roosting space and encourage them to roost early, says L. M. Hurd of the New York State College of Agriculture. Roosting helps to prevent crowding and allows the individual chicken more freedom of action and better air. Uncrowded pullets make better growth.

Clean and disinfect the houses and supply them frequently with fresh litter. Shavings, oat straw, or sand make the best covering for the floor during the summer. When more than one house is in use take care that too many pullets do not form the habit of roosting in one building. The buildings should be at least 100 feet apart to help keep the birds evenly distributed. It is not advisable to try to house more than 125 growing pullets in one colony house.

Provide good ventilation on hot nights. In addition to the regular ventilators take out the glass sash in the front of the house. To prevent possible infestation from red mites paint the perches and side walls close by with carbolineum, or spray the colony houses several times during the summer with a mixture of equal parts of crude carbolic acid and kerosene.

When there are many hatches and several weeks difference in their ages, provide each hatch with a separate range, or place the houses farther apart than for groups of the same age. Otherwise older pullets will annoy the young and prevent normal growth.

Fireless Cooker, Good Idea for Egg Layers

Hens need warm water. It's cheaper for you to warm it on the fire than to make the hen warm it with expensive feed.

You can save lots of trouble by insulating the water pail. You can make a sort of fireless cooker by placing the drinking vessel in a box large enough to stuff two or three inches of straw, excelsior, or torn newspapers, packed tightly below and all around the vessel.

Keep the material dry by covering it with tin, fitted closely under the top rim of the pail, and sloped slightly to the outside of the box so the spill water will run off.

The water keeps warm several hours.

Profits Increased by Culling Flock Closely

Whether the poultry producer keeps pure breeds or grades, he will increase his profits very materially by culling his flock closely every year.

Though the trap nest is the most accurate means of selecting the best layers in the flock, its use is only practicable for those who make poultry breeding a specialty.

The trap nest usually has no place on the general farm. On the average, the pullet laying year is more profitable than any other. Yearlings and two-year-olds are likely to be kept at an actual loss unless they are carefully culled.

Poultry Facts

The average fenced farm geese are the most profitable of all.

A dust bath aids materially in the elimination of body lice and should be installed.

Pure-breeds usually lay eggs that are more uniform in size, shape and color, and are more productive than mixed flocks.

Hens should stand a lot of dry still cold, but not drafts. There should be no opening in opposite walls, not even cracks, to draw a shivery current of air through the house.

Overcrowding in the poultry house discourages production of high priced eggs.

Feed hens balanced rations. Watch flock for sick birds and remove them on discovery. Keep house dry, warm and well ventilated.

The first rule in feeding the poultry flock in the winter is to be sure to feed plenty. Hens cannot lay in cold weather unless they have enough feed to keep them fat and thus have a surplus for making eggs.

Squash and pumpkin make a good succulent feed for poultry, helping to keep the bowels in good condition.

Increase the size of your poultry house to keep pace with the size of your flock. Poultry is not city bred and does not like crowded conditions.

Moist mash often helps to get more feed into the crops—a warm, slightly moistened mash fed at noon during cold weather. Liquid skim milk or buttermilk is especially valuable for moistening the mash.

"IN GAY MADRID" IS NEXT OFFERING AT AUDIAN

Ramon Navarro's popular musical romance, "In Gay Madrid," will be at the Audian Theatre, April 17, 18 and 19, with Dorothy Jordan in the leading feminine role and a good supporting cast.

As was the case with Navarro's initial talking production, "Devil May Care," music will play an important part in "In Gay Madrid" the new vehicle containing six songs for the star as well as music to be sung by a male chorus of fifty voices. "Santiago," "Let Me Give You Love," and "Dark Night" were written by the Spanish orchestra leader, Xavier Cugat, together with Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, while Roy Turk and Fred E. Ahlert contributed the remaining numbers, "Smile Comrades," "Into My Heart" and "Wine, Women and Song," which are reported to be of a popular rather than semi-classical nature.

The picture, which is laid in a Spanish university setting, incorporates a number of festive scenes which afforded an opportunity for the introduction of the traditional Spanish tango in colorful costumes. Information is that Navarro, who has long been known as an expert tangoist, conceived a special number for the production.

GRAIN MARKET WEAKER CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

Stocks of wheat in the United States March 1, not including grain in merchant mills, were about 60,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago, totaling approximately 452,000,000 bushels. Stocks in country mills and elevators were estimated March 1, at 82,840,000 bushels, or about 17,500,000 bushels smaller than a year ago. Farm stocks were about 30,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago and market stocks about 48,000,000 bushels larger. About 40,000,000 bushels more wheat were consumed in the United States during the period July 1 to March 1, than during the corresponding period last year, reflecting the increased use of wheat for feed this season.

Cash prices of most classes of wheat ranged from unchanged to slightly higher under the influence of improved mill demand and some advances in prices of wheat offered for sale by domestic marketing agencies. The Grain Stabilization Corporation has a schedule at which it will sell certain grades of contract wheat during the 90 day period of April 1 to July 1. For the period April 1 to April 10, No. 2 hard winter is offered at 82½¢ at Chicago, at 73½¢ at Kansas City, and 72½¢ at Omaha and at 81¢ at St. Louis. No. 1 dark northern spring at Minneapolis and Duluth is offered at 79¢ per bushel. These quotations are to be advanced ½¢ per bushel at the expiration of each 10-day period from April 10 to June 21. At the close of the market April 2, No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted in the cash market at Kansas City at 72½¢; at Omaha at 72¢; at Denver at 50¢ to 54¢, at Chicago at 81½¢ to 82¢ and at St. Louis at 80½¢ and No. 1 hard winter at Fort Worth, delivered Texas common points at 80¢ to 81¢ per bushel. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at Kansas City at 72¢ to 74¢, at Chicago at 81½¢ to 82¢, at St. Louis at 81¢ and Cincinnati at 72¢ to 82¢ per bushel. No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted at Minneapolis at the May price of 72½¢ to 3¢ over and at Duluth at 77½¢ to 80½¢ per bushel. No. 2 red durum was quoted at the latter market at 63¢ per bushel. The Winnipeg market declined about ½¢ during the week, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba was quoted April 2 at 53½¢ per bushel.

Pacific Coast markets held steady with prices unchanged. Country offerings have fallen off somewhat in Washington and Oregon and only about 10 per cent of the crop remains in the farmers hands, according to trade estimates. Terminal market stocks are large but relatively small amounts are passing into consuming channels. Domestic mills were taking only moderate amounts and with current prices well above an export basis, no export business was reported. Export flour mills were making small but steady sales of export flour to the Orient, but domestic flour demand continued of small volume. Prices of cash wheat remained practically unchanged at Portland and Seattle.

California markets were steady to quiet. Demand for feed wheat continued to be limited by low prices of dairy and poultry products and cheap barley. Mills reported a fair business in flour, but were purchasing only sufficient wheat for current needs. California growers were not selling freely, influenced by the rather unfavorable new crop conditions, resulting from dry weather. No. 1 hard and soft winter wheat was quoted at $1.20 to $1.25 per 100 at interior shipping points and at San Francisco at $1.20 to $1.25. Moderate amounts of northern wheat were still being taken by California mills, with No. 2 soft and western white quoted F. O. B. dock, San Francisco at $1.22½ and 13 per cent No. 2 hard winter at $1.27 per 100. No. 2 dark hard winter from the intermountain states, with 13 per cent protein was quoted at $1.35 per 100.

IDAHO LOOK WEST FOR MARKET OPPORTUNITY

Idaho's outlook for marketing additional agricultural products in the cities of the Pacific slope is most optimistically reflected in some statistics gathered recently by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and sent in to the State Chamber of Commerce office.

These figures show that in so far as Idaho's participation in these markets is concerned, the surface has hardly been scratched. Pacific coast cities are growing; they will be needing more raw food products as the years go on. Idaho's acres are not producing nearly their capacity of livestock and dairy products and as the tendency during the past few years has been for the Idaho producer to turn his attention toward the west for markets, there is every reason to believe that future years will see Idaho figuring much greater in the coast markets than it does at the present time.

The Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce procured figures on total unloads of livestock and dairy products in Los Angeles from all states in 1930 and the unloads from Idaho in the same year. These figures show that there is much room for Idaho to expand its markets in this city alone. And Los Angeles is only one of the great consuming centers of the coast. A comparison of total unloads in Los Angeles from all states, with total unloads from Idaho follows:

- Cattle—All states, 205,705 carloads; Idaho, 11,698 carloads.
- Calves—All states, 69,890 carloads; Idaho, 1065 carloads.
- Hogs—All states, 146,285 carloads; Idaho, 7621 carloads.
- Sheep—All states, 181,205 carloads; Idaho, 18,161 carloads.
- Dressed poultry—All states, 7,849,235 lbs. Idaho, 1,461,675 lbs.
- Eggs—All states, 843,607 cases; Idaho, 21,529 cases.
- Butter—All states, 44,015,302 lbs. Idaho, 16,678,117 lbs.
- Cheese—All states, 14,894,514 lbs. Idaho, 4,024,438 lbs.

While Idaho's participation in the Los Angeles market is comparatively small, figures compiled by the United States bureau of agricultural economics showing Idaho unloads in other coast cities, indicate the market possibilities of these markets. They follow:

- Cattle—Portland, 31,718 cars; San Francisco, 394 cars.
- Calves—Portland, 2943 cars; San Francisco, 14 cars.
- Hogs—Portland, 78,583 cars; San Francisco, 300 cars.
- Sheep—Portland, 7417 cars; San Francisco, 110 cars.
- Dressed poultry—San Francisco, 817,553 pounds.
- Eggs—San Francisco, 2293 cases.
- Butter—San Francisco, 4,222,569 pounds.

Give Hens Pure Water

One hundred hens, laying heavily, will transpire three to four gallons of water as vapor a day. The non-layers will give off only half as much. See that your flock has plenty of clean drinking water, suggest the University of Idaho college of agriculture.

Orchard Pests Likely Increase

All orchard pests are likely to be worse this year, predicts the University of Idaho entomology department. Aphids, San Jose scale, codling moth, and all insects that live through the winter will be more numerous and vigorous, due to the very mild season.

Large Lamb Crop

The crop of spring lambs in Idaho is unusually fine this year, says Prof. E. F. Rinehart, of the University of Idaho, animal husbandry faculty. This, he thinks, is due to the abundant feed and the unusually sunny weather.

Idaho's Credit Is Good

Idaho treasury notes sell at a lower rate of interest than government bonds. State Treasurer George Barrett on April 1 sold one million dollars' worth of State Treasury notes to the BancNorthwest Company of Minneapolis at par, bearing 2.39% interest. Mr. Barrett makes the statement that this is the cheapest rate of interest that Idaho securities have ever carried, and that it will reduce the interest bill of the state a large amount for this year. Mr. Rising, vice president of the Chase National Bank of New York city, who was a recent visitor at the state treasurer's office, made the statement that the 2.39% was the lowest rate he knew of for similar securities, and that Idaho was to be congratulated on this excellent sale.

Our bonded indebtedness is low in comparison with most of the states and Idaho has never defaulted a day in payment of interest or principal on its obligations. The fact that the money lenders of the country are willing to invest their money for this small return indicates that they believe Idaho securities to be gilt edge.

These treasury notes are issued in anticipation of taxes for the current year and the proceeds will be used to finance the running expenses of the state. The selling of the treasury notes makes it unnecessary to issue deficiency warrants, which bear 6% interest. This method of financing saves the state the difference between 6% and 2.39% interest on the million dollars, or a total of $36,100 per year.

Ship Car Fat Steers

Tom Long and Dave Gentry shipped a car of fine fat steers to the Spokane market Monday afternoon, driving overland to that city Tuesday morning.

In the absence of stockyards for loading purposes (which had been removed by the flood) the animals were loaded through the west Kendrick Rochdale warehouse, and Bill Watts said "You should have seen them go."

SOUTHWICK NEWS

A large part of the neighborhood attended the Easter program at the M. E. church Sunday at 11:00 o'clock and then gathered at the Ladies Aid hall and enjoyed a basket dinner and a social time in general.

Mrs. Fred Hassinger and Wilton Lincoln came over from Gifford on Friday and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Berreman till Sunday. Mrs. C. A. Betts visited with them Saturday also.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Pressnal and family enjoyed Easter dinner with Grandma Kimes.

Mrs. Gordon Harris spent the day Thursday with Mrs. John Stalnaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Southwick and daughters from Lenore and Darwin Terry were Sunday dinner guests at Wm. Kauder's.

Russell Betts is expected home from Moscow Wednesday for his spring vacation.

The John Lettenmaier family and Mr. and Mrs. Comby Perry were dinner guests at the Tom Armitage home Sunday.

Several families from here attended the funeral of the late George Garner at Linden Monday. The bereaved family has our sympathy.

The following enjoyed Easter dinner at the Ben McCoy home: Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Hanks, Mr. and Mrs. Elton McCoy, Ben and Russell Baker and Lester True. It was the fifth successive Easter that most of the party have enjoyed a feast there.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Benjamin went to Palouse Tuesday, where Milton will consult a physician regarding his throat trouble.

Grinolds School Notes

The honor students for the past two weeks are: Everett Betts, Jay Mill, Lottie Hayward, Odetta Betts, Everett Neumann and Francis Wittman.

The following people were chairmen in the "Song a Day" club: Virgil Lowe, Glenn Lowe, Joseph Wittman, Everett Betts and Lottie Hayward.

The attendance for the past month in the Grinolds school has been 98 plus. We are very proud of our good attendance.

Arbor day and Easter were observed very effectively last Friday, the 3rd of April. After cleaning the yard, doing repair work and planting trees and shrubs, we had a short program, followed by a big egg hunt, there being over a hundred Easter eggs hidden about the yard. After the egg hunt we enjoyed a picnic lunch brought by the parents. The early afternoon was spent in playing ball. The following visitors were present: Mr. and Mrs. George Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lowe; Mrs. Frank Wittman and son, Bernard, Dollie Herring, Ray Betts and Junior Clem.

No Shoot Sunday

There will be no Club shoot Sunday as it has been impossible to get to the trap house to put a rope over it and remove it from its resting place, some 200 yards down stream from where it was located by the club. Too, it will be necessary to secure the cocking and tripping device, and as yet it is impossible to get to either.

New grounds will have to be located by the club and put in shape for use, and it is at present thought likely that ground will be secured near the city reservoir and just back of it, since the grounds used in the past are gone beyond all redemption. Even were it possible to use the grounds it would be impossible to get to them, as the main channel of the stream is now on this side of the ground used.

Be that as it may, as soon as possible the house and trip will be secured, ground found and things again put in shape. Keep your eyes on the paper for announcement of time and place, and possibly a call for your help in preparing the new grounds.

Birthday Party

A very pleasant birthday party was held at the W. L. Brown home, on the old Absahka grade, not long ago, when many neighbors and friends gathered to help celebrate the occasion. A real banquet was served at 6 o'clock, which lasted until 2:30, before ample justice was done. Pinocle was played and Mrs. F. W. James was the winner of high score.

Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. James, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Walker, Ed. Grant, Elmer Stalnaker, Gifford Brown, Raleigh Brown, Billie Weiman, Hugh Weiman, Miss Opal Powell, Miss Crystal Powell, Miss Gay Powell, Misses Wanda and Wilda Cook, Junior Cook, Lester Cook and Thomas James, Jr.

Due to bad roads, washouts, or some other cause, the word of the party failed to reach us on time, but the bearer of the good news said it was impossible to get it here sooner.

ARROW JUNCTION AIRINGS

Arrow people got their mail Saturday, the first time since Monday.

Arrow is a very busy place these days and business has tripled its regular run. The N. P. are working two shifts on the railroad. They have the track laid from the water tank up to the slough at the R. Albright place. The water is delaying the progress of construction so it will be Saturday or Sunday before the trains can make their regular runs.

Three adventurous young men helped themselves to G. H. Gibb's boat. The trainmen and several others saw them go down the river about noon Monday. The sheriff of Lewiston caught them on the mill pond there.

The Easter program was a success although it was badly crippled as some of the young people taking part were unable to get in. The children enjoyed an Easter egg hunt after the Sunday school. A lunch was served in the afternoon, followed by preaching by Rev. Tabor. A good time was had by everyone.

Miss Moore and Mrs. Douglas had an Easter picnic for their Sunday school classes. They went up above Culesac and got evergreens for Easter decorations.

If the party who helped themselves to the sprinkler at the Arrow service station would return it Mr. Douglas would appreciate it very much.

A 1931 license was found near here. It may be had for the asking at the Arrow service station.

(Delayed)

Mrs. E. Wing and little daughter of Lapwai spent the past week with Mrs. Wing's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff.

The people of Arrow are working very hard on their Easter program. They will have Sunday school and a program in the forenoon. After the picnic lunch Rev. Tabor will preach. There will be special music by Mr. Lee of Lewiston and Chester Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Albright took their little son, Rowland, to Moscow for a minor operation. He is improving very rapidly.

CAVENDISH ITEMS

Sunday dinner guests at the Jess Daniels home were the C. M. Blackburn, L. J. Reece, C. H. Pitcher and David Frisbee families, also Pearl McJver and Miss Johnson. In the afternoon a group of young people came and played games until evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McGuire, Edna Daniels and Everett Blackburn took Easter dinner at the W. A. Reece home.

Perhaps we did not suffer from the heavy rain and high water last week as did those in the lower communities, but most of the smaller streams overflowed their banks and did considerable damage to the roads. The Lous creek flat was covered with water, which made it unsafe to travel for a while.

Claude Pipping attended the funeral of George Garner at Gold Hill Monday. Mr. Garner was well thought of in this community and we were sorry the rain prevented more of us from paying our last tribute to him.

A large crowd attended Sunday school and the Easter program in the school house Sunday morning. Rev. Calvert gave us an Easter sermon Sunday evening.

Gladys Reece came home last Tuesday from Kendrick as school was dismissed until after the flood. She returned to Kendrick Sunday.

Art Sackett and family visited at Mitch Blackburn's Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wells and children spent Sunday at Orval Choate's.

GOLDENRULE ITEMS

A woman returning to this country after a short visit in the old country was asked the usual question on landing at port "Anything to declare, madam?" "No," she replied sweetly, "Nothing."
