KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the Kendrick Hotel Monday evening, dinner being served at 6:30 to 23 who were enough interested in the doing of our little city to come out and talk the questions concerning it over and help decide them. It was an interesting meeting and several questions were taken up and discussed of interest to all.

About the only committee to make report of interest was the Highway committee, which report was made by N. E. Walker, who stated that a special emergency levy of two mills had been made in the Kendrick Highway district, which yielded some $2,000, which is being used to rebuild the highways that were practically ruined by the recent flood, and for connecting the road at the head of Brady gulch with the Troy highway district, which was approved by the Commercial club.

H. B. Thompson, who has charge of the magpie contest, made report that word had been received from the Izaak Walton league at Moscow that they had promised two prizes for the winners of the contest; they also guaranteed the one-cent head and egg to the contestants, which makes the prize list this year far exceed those ever offered before and should spur the contestants on to greater effort.

The contestants will be entertained at the next regular meeting of the club—Monday, June 8—when they will be invited to a banquet given by the Commercial club, and the prizes will be distributed at that time. It is also expected that a short program of music and short talks will be given. If the weather will permit, it is planned to hold the meeting in the city park and dinner will be served there. The Izaak Walton league of Moscow will also be asked to send a delegation to attend the meeting and assist in the awarding of prizes. This will indeed be a gala occasion for the contestants as well as the members of the Commercial club, who get much pleasure out of the contest and the giving of the prizes.

The question of celebrating the Fourth of July in Kendrick was taken up and discussed at length and, by a rising vote, the club as a whole failed to go on record as in favor of holding a celebration this year, giving the general scarcity of money as the principal reason. However, there are several business men who still think we should celebrate.

It was brought up at the meeting that the blind railroad crossing on the highway leading to the Sperry grade is a very dangerous one, as is also the second crossing below Juliaetta, near the Albright place, when one is coming toward Kendrick from Arrow, where it is impossible to see down the track until one is almost upon it. It was suggested that the Northern Pacific be asked to put wig-wags at these crossings in order to make them safer for crossing by cars and other vehicles.

It was suggested at the meeting that the village be asked to have stop signs placed at street intersections and Village Marshal Ed. Long stated that the village council had already ordered these signs and that they would be put in place as soon as they arrived. Slow signs will also be placed at each end of Main street, it having been used too much as a speedway—and must stop.

"The idea of placing a large sign on the city lot at the rear of the Kendrick Garage hearing the inscription: 'Kendrick, the Home of the Navy Bean,' was brought up and favorably commented upon and report will be made at the next meeting of the club on the feasibility of the suggestion—and the approximate cost.

The club instructed the chairman of the educational committee to convey to Mrs. Nancy Jarvis and her class of commercial students a vote of appreciation and commendation for the excellent showing made in the commercial contests during the past three years, when Kendrick has made decided winnings, and this year captured first place in the contest.

These meetings are always interesting and every person interested in the upbuilding of our community should be present and have a part in their conduct.

The Magpie Contest

That much interest is being taken in the big magpie contest that is being waged by the boys of this section is shown by the fact that 863 more heads and eggs have been brought in to date than was brought in all last season.

There have been 2362 brought in thus far during the contest as against 1499 brought in during the contest last season. Of course, the season has been very favorable for nesting and that possibly accounts for the increased number of small birds and eggs being brought in. However, the boys are doing good work, and they are going to be well repaid for their efforts.

KENDRICK DEFEATS POTLATCH IN 10-INNING GAME

Last Sunday afternoon saw another real ball game on the local diamond, when a 10-inning game was played with Potlatch, although it was in direct contrast to the game played with Juliaetta a week before. In the Juliaetta game it was a pitchers' battle, while the one played last Sunday was a slugger's game—and it was anybody's game at the end of the ninth inning.

The game was hotly contested all the way through. Potlatch lead in the second inning, 3-0. Flaig whammed out a home run, bringing in another score ahead of him. Kendrick made another score in the third. The scores were then a seasaw until the ninth inning, when in the first half of that inning, Kendrick annexed enough to make it read 12-9 in favor of Kendrick, but when Potlatch took up the willow they brought in three scores in the last half of the ninth, making the score 12-12. In the tenth inning is when the balloon went up. With one man down, Kendrick made eleven scores and Potlatch could make but one in the last half of the tenth, which left the final score 23 to 13 in Kendrick's favor.

Several men were walked and errors were numerous on both sides—but it was a good game, at that.

The batteris for Potlatch were Benson and Littlefield and for Kendrick Cook and Davis. Several shifts were made in pitchers during the game.

Following is the score:

Potlatch—	AB	H	R	SO
McGreal (6)	7	4	4	1
Littlefield (2)	7	1	1	1
Kensello (9)	6	2	1	0

Struck out by Cook, 8; by Dammarell, 7.

Bolon and Wilson were umpires. Southwick will play at Kendrick at 2:30 next Sunday, the game with the Lapwai Indians having been cancelled.

Otis Gentry Accidentally Killed

Word reached Kendrick Wednesday afternoon that the body of Otis Gentry, who had been missing from his place of business in Troy for some two days, had been found Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock near that place.

It seems that Mr. Gentry had taken a .22 rifle and gone squirrel shooting Monday afternoon and had failed to return home. A posse had been organized and search instituted, which resulted in the finding of the body entangled in a wire fence, with a bullet-hole in his head, indicating that he had undertaken to climb the fence and became entangled in the wires, one foot being caught on the top wire. The .22 rifle was lying near the body.

Mr. Gentry is survived by one daughter. His wife died about a year ago. He was a half-brother of Dave Gentry of Kendrick and is well known here. He worked in a barber shop here before going to Troy.

NEW IDAHO LAWS IN EFFECT TUESDAY, MAY 5

The new laws passed by the recent session of the Idaho legislature, with the exception of those measures which carried emergency clauses, went into effect Tuesday, May 5, which was the sixtieth day following adjournment of the regular session.

Among the new laws are four which have been the subject of much discussion, both among the law-makers themselves and the public in general. They are the primary law, the 90-day divorce bill, the old-age pension bill and the "gin marriage" law. Other measures enacted by the legislature may be of more far-reaching consequences but they lack the color and the human interest features of the four mentioned above.

The tax laws passed by the special session will require the setting up of enforcement machinery and quite likely court decision as to constitutionality before they will actually become effective.

The bill which had the most spectacular enactment during the regular session is that which reduced the residence requirements for divorces from one year to three months. Contrary to general expectations it passed both houses by a narrow margin and was sent to the chief executive for his signature. Ross added surprise by vetoing it and the legislature made the number three by immediately passing it over the veto.

The measure doubtless was fostered by commercial interests although there are those who assert that it is entirely altruistic in its motives. Some notice mostly in the way of inquiries has been taken of it by divorce seekers (it is rumored that some residences are already in the process of being established), however those who anticipated a great and lucrative increase in the state's legal business seem doomed to disappointment.

Perhaps the most important of the four measures is that which provides that the political candidates for congressional and state offices shall be nominated by a primary election instead of a convention as has heretofore been the custom.

The bill requires that each of the parties hold a primary election in May of each election year. As to the effect this measure will have on the political situation in the state there have been many and varied guesses, some honest and a good many otherwise. It will doubtless mean a readjustment within both parties to suit the new conditions. However, there is nothing to support the belief, which has been advanced by some, that all the party leaders will be shelved and the rank and file will take control.

The purpose of the "gin marriage" law, so-called because of the popular opinion that hasty marriages look more rosy through the bottom of a gin bottle, is to reduce the number of spur-of-the-minute unions, the second chapter of which is written in the divorce courts. The new law requires that a notice of intention be filed at least five days and not more than 30 days before the license is applied for.

Although it might be working a hardship on that mischievous little fellow known as Dan Cupid, the legislators believed that if the parties involved had five days leisure to contemplate their respective ventures there would be more likelihood of permanency.

The old-age pension bill, which, if the current confusion surrounding it is not handled adroitly, might more properly be described as "the old-age disappointment," likewise went into effect Tuesday and many applications for its benefits have already been made in all sections of the state. However, the county commissioners, or some of them at least, are still in the dark as to how and from what fund the pensions may be paid. The bill itself makes no provision for a fund from which the pensions may be paid and under the current system of budgeting county expenses many commissioners hold that the money is not legally available.

KENDRICK SCHOOL WILL CLOSE WEDNESDAY, MAY 21

The Kendrick public school will close for the year on Wednesday, May 21, when twenty graduates will be given diplomas and Dr. Barton of the University of Idaho will deliver the address of the evening.

The Kendrick school has been very successful, as indicated by the high standing of the students and their accomplishments throughout the year, and the general satisfaction expressed by parents of the students, which is considered a very accurate barometer.

State School Inspector Ph. Soulen gave the school a very favorable recommendation and the accomplishments of the commercial contestants is well known—and so on down through the grades general satisfaction has been expressed in all comments reaching this office.

There is nothing, aside from church, perhaps, that adds to or detracts from a community more than its schools and the general high standing of the students of the Kendrick school speaks well for them and their instructors.

Baccalaureate Services

Baccalaureate services were held in the Methodist church Sunday night, May 10, when a capacity house greeted the graduates and those taking part in the program of the evening. Rev. J. Edgar Purdy, pastor of the Moscow M. E. church, delivered the sermon, which was one of the best that has ever been heard in Kendrick, favorable comments coming from all quarters. Others having a part in the evening's presentation were also commended highly.

Following was the order of the program given:

Professional—Mrs. Harold Thomas. Song by audience, with Mrs. Herman Schupfer at the piano.

Invocation—Rev. Corabelle Teachman.

Special music by quartet—Mrs. H. Thomas, Mrs. E. H. Emery, R. H. Ramey and N. E. Walker.

Mrs. Deobald Entertains

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. M. A. Deobald were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bechtol and family of Moscow, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and family of Juliaetta, E. A. Deobald and family, Mrs. Mary Bechtol, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Deobald and family and the hostess, Mrs. Deobald. There were 23 in all to partake of the splendid chicken dinner, with all the necessary trimmings—President Hoover had no finer.

There were many beautiful flowers and potted plants decorating the rooms. There was singing, too, with Mrs. Otto Schupfer at the piano. All in all, it was indeed a very pleasant affair.

CANNERY SHOULD BE IN OPERATION IN THIS SECTION

The following was taken from the Lewiston Banner and tells a story that may be of vital interest to this section of the country.

The Juliaetta cannery, recently burned, had not been in operation for a year, and then only partially. There should be a local cannery either at Juliaetta or Kendrick for the canning of tomatoes if, nothing else. The Juliaetta tomato is known throughout the Northwest especially, as the best on the market, and it looks like a cannery for this section of the country might be profitably operated.

The Banner says:

"Lewiston is in danger of becoming merely a receiving point for produce of the Lewiston-Clarkston valley unless immediate action is taken to prevail upon the Oregon Packing company to remain in the field. A meeting of the Clarkston chamber of commerce horticulture committee was called today to lay plans to encourage the company to remain here."

Hugh Wood, horticulturist for Asotin county, told the chamber of commerce Thursday that half of $15,000 spent for labor during the five weeks cherry-canning season is paid to Clarkston labor.

A total of 540 tons of Royal Anns were canned last year, 226 tons from Clarkston, 66 tons from Snake river district and the remainder from the Lewiston district. $80,000 was paid to growers last year. 125 people are employed during the peak of the season.

The Oregon packing company has canned no apples for two years and no tomatoes for three years.

A Little More About Roads

Those who have recently traveled the road from here to Lewiston have made many remarks, mostly unprintable, regarding the condition of that road—not wholly about the smoothness of that part lying between Juliaetta and Arrow, but about that portion of the new oil road between Arrow and the Spalding bridge, which makes the unsurfaced portion ride like paving.

There are portions of the oiled road that are terribly rough and it would seem that there must be something radically wrong with the roadbed beneath. It might be a good idea to have some of the state highway officials take a trip over that section (if possible to get them that far away from their pet schemes of curve elimination and money waste) of the highway that they might figure out who is in error. It does seem a shame to invest thousands of dollars in a highway and then have it go practically to pieces within a few months.

The state officials might well take a lesson from our little road districts and see how far they can make a few dollars go.

The cry of our section is "Give us farm to market roads, hang the curves!"

Odd Fellows To Lewiston

A delegation of Odd Fellows consisting of R. H. Ramey, N. E. Walker, Thos. McDowell, Lester Hill, Edgar Long, Carl Hartung, J. B. Davis, A. G. Wilson, Silvie Cook and E. H. Emery went to Lewiston on Tuesday night to attend a meeting of the lodge in that city.

An interesting program consisting of selections by a quartet, readings by Scotty Wilson and talks by Grand Master Combs of Kellogg, Grand Secretary Horne of Caldwell and Grand Warden Hinkle of Lewiston was given after which refreshments were served.

A delegation made up of R. B. Parks, C. H. Parks, J. R. Corkill, Albert Hefel and Chas. Hoffman, from Leland, was also in attendance.

WHEAT MARKETS STEADY FEED GRAINS ARE HIGHER

Domestic wheat markets held generally steady during the week ending May 9, while feed grains prices made moderate advances at most points, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Rye was independently firm on small offerings and flax held steady under an active crusher inquiry for current offerings. Indications of increased takings by deficit areas during the next few months, together with uncertain prospects for spring sown grain, were strengthening factors in the wheat market and largely offset the weakening influence of the favorable prospects for winter wheat and the relatively large supplies of old crop grain still remaining in the principal exporting countries.

The domestic winter wheat crop continues to make favorable growth and is coming into the boot stage in southern areas of Kansas. The condition on May 1 was reported at the high figure of 90.3% of normal, which compares with a ten-year average condition of 82.1%. This condition indicates a crop of about 652,902,000 bushels, or 48,500,000 bushels more than was produced in 1930. Considered by classes, a crop of approximately 409,000,000 bushels of hard winter wheat is indicated, which is about 12% more than was predicted in 1930. The probable crop of soft red winter wheat is about 204,000,000 bushels, or 5% above last season, and fall-sown crops of white wheat about 40,000,000 bushels, or slightly below the amount produced in 1930.

Conditions of winter wheat in Europe continue to be more favorable than at the corresponding date a year ago. Winter killing in Germany is reported to be about normal, with the condition of the winter wheat crop slightly above average, but some wheat below a year ago. The French wheat acreage is placed at 12,486,000 acres, as compared with 13,302,000 acres last year and 12,750,000 acres in 1929, when the largest crop of recent years was harvested. The condition of the crop in that country this season is considerably below that of May 1 a year ago, but is somewhat better than in May, 1929.

Spring wheat seeding has been practically completed throughout the domestic spring wheat area and many of the earlier sown fields are up, with stands and color generally good, according to trade reports. Recent rains have been favorable for growth, but sub-soil moisture is still deficient. Rains in Canada during the week improved seeding conditions in the prairie provinces, but more rains is also needed in that area. The seeding of spring wheat in Russia has been retarded by cool, wet weather and the percentage of the seeding plan completed up to April 25 was much less than last year. The acreage of spring wheat intended to be seeded, according to the Russian plan, is reported at 69,000,000 acres or nearly 10,000,000 acres more than were seeded in 1930.

World stocks of wheat appear to be considerably heavier than a year ago, with decreases in stocks of native wheat in deficit areas, more than offset by larger supplies still remaining in exporting countries. Data on wheat stocks April 1, for the four principal exporting countries, United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia, indicate an increase of nearly 175,000,000 bushels over those of last season. Stocks of wheat in the United States April 1 totaled approximately 460,000,000 bushels, or around 40,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, while stocks in Canada totaled about 275,000,000 bushels, or nearly 5,000,000 bushels more than April 1, 1930. Supplies in the Southern Hemisphere were about 85,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago. In addition to these supplies, increases over stocks a year ago appear probable in Russia and the countries of the lower Danube.

Continental port stocks in the principal importing areas in Europe at the first of April were nearly three times as big as last year and amounted to around 10,000,000 bushels. United Kingdom port stocks at the first of April totaled about 12,560,000 bushels, compared with 13,040,000 bushels in 1930. Stocks on ocean passage April 1 were about 19,000,000 bushels greater than in the previous year. Combining stocks in exporting countries at the first of April, with European port stocks and stocks on ocean passage, supplies in

Short and Sweet

On the staff of a paper in a small city was a reporter who was all right in most respects, but he would use up a lot of unnecessary words. His typewriter ribbon was generally in shreds before he had finished the simplest yarn. After long suffering the city editor summoned him to his desk.

"Listen," he said. "Here's a story I want you to go out on, and for the love of Pete when you come back tell the thing as simply as you possibly can."

This was the story that was turned in:

"Donald Green, 5 Park Street, lit a match to see if there was any gas in his tank. Yes. Age 41.

John Cargill brought to this office Wednesday morning the first big egg that has been brought in during the past year or more. It measured 6x8 inches and weighed 3 1/4 ounces. It was the product of a Black Minorca hen.

Just to see who can bring in the largest piece of hen fruit, we will give a six-months subscription for the largest egg brought to this office by June 15.

Ralph Knepper used to claim that there were hens here that produced eggs as large as ostrich eggs—and now we want to see whether he was spoofing us or not.

WHEAT MARKETS STEADY FEED GRAINS ARE HIGHER

These positions were approximately 200,000,000 bushels greater than at the corresponding date a year ago. The increase in surplus areas however, is partially offset by smaller stocks of native wheat in deficit areas. Little statistical data is available as to supplies in importing countries, but official and trade reports confirm unusually low stocks of native wheat. Farm stocks in Germany at the middle of March totaled only 19,000,000 bushels, as against 32,000,000 bushels in 1930, while stocks of German rye, which is an important substitute for wheat as a bread grain, in that country, were about 22,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. Stocks of wheat on farms in England and Wales at the first of April amounted to about 7,600,000 bushels, as against 8,200,000 bushels last year.

Domestic cash wheat markets were steady under a fairly active demand from mills. Marketings of winter wheat at the principal southern markets were slightly larger than for the previous week. All offerings were readily taken at about unchanged prices. Mills however, were generally taking only sufficient for immediate needs. At the close of the market May 8, No. 2 hard winter up to 12 1/2 per cent protein, was quoted at Kansas City at 73 1/2c. This grade sold at Omaha at the same price, while No. 1 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at Fort Worth delivered Texas common points at 81c to 82 1/2c per bushel. No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 dark hard winter were quoted F. O. B. Denver at 50c to 52c per bushel. No. 2 hard winter sold at Chicago at 83 1/2c to 84c, and No. 1 hard winter at St. Louis at 81c per bushel. Inquiry for soft winter wheat was of only moderate volume, and prices were barely steady. No. 2 soft red winter was sold at St. Louis at 80 1/2c and at Cincinnati at 79c to 82c and at Chicago at 82c to 83 1/2c per bushel.

Marketings of spring wheat were of moderate volume, but a strong cash demand prevailed and all offerings moved readily at steady to slightly higher premiums. No. 1 dark northern was quoted at Minneapolis at the close of the market May 8 at 2c to 5c over the May price of 79c, and at Duluth at 80c to 83 1/2c per bushel. No. 1 Northern was quoted in the latter market at 79 1/2c to 83c per bushel. The Winnipeg market fluctuated with weather conditions during the week, but closed May 8 about 1/2c higher, with No. 1 Manitoba northern quoted at 61 1/2c, this compared in a general way with quotations of 81 1/2c to 84 1/2c at Minneapolis.

Pacific Coast wheat markets were barely steady at Portland and Seattle, but slightly firmer in California. Supplies of wheat in the Pacific Northwest are still heavy and movement from interior points to the seaboard continues heavy. Demand from domestic mills remained dull, as flour buyers were taking only sufficient flour for current requirements. Inquiry from export mills was of only moderate volume as export flour sales were small. Export demand for wheat was also dull and export business for the week amounted to only 1,000 tons to the United Kingdom, according to trade report. Inquiry from California continued to provide a fairly good outlet for wheat and shipments from Columbia river and Puget Sound points to California for the season to date, have totaled nearly 3,500,000 bushels, compared with slightly less than a 1,000,000 bushels shipped to that state during the corresponding period last year. Flour shipments to California this season have been about 160,000 bushels larger than for the same period last year. Prices of cash wheat at Portland and Seattle held practically unchanged from a week ago.

Unfavorable prospects for the new crop, continuing to be a strengthening influence in California wheat markets, and prices at San Francisco advanced 2 1/2c to 5c per 100 during the week. Trading, however, was principally in northern wheat and most of the advance in the price of grain may be attributed to an increase of 50c per ton in steamship rates from northern markets to San Francisco, effective May 1. Mills were obtaining most of their supplies from the northern markets, with No. 2 soft and western white wheat quoted at $1.32 1/2 delivered San Francisco, and No. 2 hard white with 13 per cent protein at $1.35 per 100. No. 1 dark northern spring, 15 per cent protein, from Montana was quoted at $1.50 per 100, sacked. Northern wheat for summer and fall delivery was quoted at $1.17 1/2, sacked, delivered San Francisco for No. 2 soft white and 1 1/2c for red spring. Local wheat was quoted at San Francisco at $1.30 to $1.35 for No. 1 soft and hard white wheat. No. 2 dark hard winter from Utah and Idaho was quoted at $1.35 in bulk delivered San Francisco. A steady demand from mills and feed manufacturers prevailed at Los Angeles, although purchases by feeders were principally for immediate requirements. Offerings were easily equal to trade requirements. No. 2 dark and hard winter wheat in bulk with 13 per cent protein from Utah and Idaho was quoted at Los Angeles May 8 at $1.35 to $1.37 1/2 and No. 1 hard white sacked at $1.38 to $1.40 per 100. California Baart milling wheat was quoted at $1.35 to $1.37 1/2 and No. 2 soft white, sacked, at $1.33 to $1.35 per 100.

Foreign wheat markets were generally steady, although prices of native wheats declined 3c to 5c per bushel at Hamburg and Paris. The decline in the German markets was attributed partly to new tariff regulations, permitting a rebate of 32 1/2c per bushel to German millers, on wheat imported during the period May 15 to January 15 on an amount equivalent to 20 per cent of the wheat milled during April through June, 1930, roughly estimated at near 8,250,000 bushels. Argentine Rosaflo was quoted at Liverpool May 8 at 66 1/2c, southern Australian at 74 1/2c and No. 1 Manitoba for shipment May 15, at 78 1/2c per bushel.

Market Prices In 1831

As a comparison with the markets of 100 years ago, the following is taken from an article published in the Tonic (Ill.) News:

In an article published in the Ottawa (Ill.) Free Trader 50 years ago, some old-timers gave that newspaper the following concerning conditions 50 years previous—1831:

Prices were materially different at that time than at present. Wheat brought from 30c to 40c per bushel, and at extremely rare intervals 60c, corn 15c, oats 10c, potatoes 10c, eggs 3c per dozen, butter 10c, cheese 5c, pork $1.50 per 100, sheep $1 each, work horses $50, cows $8 to $12, laborers received 50c per day and letter postage was 25c.

Many of the early settlers were compelled to allow letters to remain in the office some time before they had money enough to take them out. One of these old-timers remarked that, at one time he had a letter in the postoffice for over a month and could not get sufficient money to get it out. At last he succeeded in trading the postmaster four bushels of wheat for it. And he thought he made a good trade, so anxious was he to hear from home.

Divorce Mill In "High"
Reno's divorce mill was working in high during the first day of the six-weeks divorce operation, when 83 divorces were granted to discontented spouses, mostly women, says a news dispatch from that much-advertised city.
There was no confusion about it and the time of a decree every five minutes in the two departments, or one every 10 minutes by each judge, could have been exceeded. Many were disposed of in three or four minutes.
Down at Boise such a rush as Reno had was not expected. The Idaho law of three months seems to be too slow for those who are in a hurry.

WHERE IS OLD-AGE PENSION MONEY COMING FROM?

Wherever county commissioners meet, and that means in 44 different places in the State of Idaho, the question of the old-age pension has been bobbing up with recurrent irritation during the past few weeks. The problem is—and to some boards it seems a serious one—how shall the expense of putting the old-age pension law in effect to be defrayed.
Last week the Ada county commissioners decided that it would be the better part of discretion to "sit tight and let the courts decide whether they would have the authority to pay the pensions this year." It is estimated that the cost of the new law to Ada county will be $2,000 a month.

The report to the commissioners that the 50 inmates of the county hospital planned to apply for the old age pension precipitated another discussion as to whether counties would be forced to pay pensions to indigents who are already provided with living quarters. The commissioners ultimately reached the decision that this was a question which also could be most properly settled by the courts.
Evidences that the other counties are meeting with similar problems was seen in a letter to the Ada county board from the commissioners of Shoshone county, who offered both moral and financial assistance in testing the validity of the act in court.

Apprized of the Ada county commissioners' intention of letting the courts decide the question of old-age pension payments, Lewis Williams, commissioner of public welfare, stated that his department would take "whatever steps that may be necessary to enforce obedience to the law" if the commissioners still persist in their attitude after May 10.

"Woman Hungry"—at Audian

Geoffrey Bland rides from his mining camp across the Arizona line with Joao and Kampan in search of excitement. The three enter a saloon and in a row, break the ribs of one Jackson. He is carried to a ranch where beautiful Judith Temple is saying goodbye to her brother Leonard and his wife Betty, who are going back to their home in Boston. Dr. Crawford, who is in love with Judith, is called to attend to the injured man.

As Judith prepares to go away, Brand, Joao and Kampan force their way in and throw dice for her. In terror she begs Bland to protect her from his uncouth companions, and pledges herself to him. He pays off one, beats up the other, and takes Judith to Cactus City where he marries her in spite of her pleading. They build a new home in the mountains. Judith does her share of the work but refuses to live with Bland. Because he loves her he for a time submits to her wish.

Buzzard and Sam, who have been working Bland's ranch find pay dirt and while Bland is away financing she has woven to a tourist hotel, a larger mine, Judith takes the mats seeing there her brother, Dr. Crawford and Betty. She leaves hastily for home, buys a chain of nuggets from Joao and when Bland later returns she is unresponsive—but when her brother, his wife and the doctor come, she pretends that all is well. Judith begs Bland to let her buy her freedom with the nuggets and while they talk her brother returns and hears the conversation. Since she is to have a child Bland consents for her to go back east with her brother.

After the birth of the child, Judith is in such strange mental condition that her mother sends for Bland, who secretly has been furnishing money to the family since their ranch failed. Judith refuses to see Bland and tells her mother the story. Her brother hearing it, confronts Bland with a gun. Judith's fear for her husband proves to herself her love for him—and they go back to Arizona together.

BEANS BEANS! BEANS!— WHITE, RED, BIG, LITTLE!

The following article, by T. O. Greene, traveling representative of the Lewiston Tribune, gives a good idea of what farmers are going to do this spring:

Last week a drive by motor car began at Juliaetta, up the entire length of Big Potlatch ridge—passing through the small villages of Leland, Cameron, Southwick, Teakean, Cavendish—thence through the Dunkard settlement, down Cream ridge and on to Lenore, thence up the river road to Peck, Melrose and Angel ridges, and back to Juliaetta.

Very little acreage of spring grain was observable along the entire trip while the acreage of fall grain has been cut down also. The fall grain shows up fairly well, but does not indicate a "bumper crop" of wheat. All the farmers seem to have united in adopting and putting into effect the slogan: "Let us get rid of this pesky surplus."

But will the farmers of those districts, in endeavoring to reduce the wheat surplus, find that they have created another "surplus?"

In the area covered last week there will be thousands of acres planted to beans—white beans, red beans, big beans, little beans, and other beans. Claud Craig, who has long held the title of "bean king of the Big Potlatch," still maintains that title—his bean acreage to consist of 300 acres or more this year.

Pete Stump will have 170 acres in beans, near Southwick, while other growers will have bean-acreages ranging from 40 to 150 acres.

On the Melrose ridge, also, there will be big plantings of beans this year.

It is not a question of beans providing a greater profit than wheat—present prices allow no profit for either. The question is, "Will beans carry a heavier loss than will wheat?" That will depend upon the yields of both commodities, and the prices they command.

A few of the bean growers are to raise beans under contract—which seems a bit less risky than to grow them by "faith" alone.

The crops of beans enable the farmers to summer-fallow their land without the necessity of suffering the loss of an entire year's crop. Of course the area for the successful raising of beans is limited.

In the districts of higher altitudes—as in the Nez Perce and Camas prairie sections—beans are not considered a successful crop, so other means of diversification must be resorted to.

Throughout the various sections visited last week, more alfalfa and clover were to be seen than usual. The increase in the number of dairying cattle is probably responsible for this. There is no better feed for milk cows than good, clean alfalfa hay.
If a farmer can find out what there is a market scarcity of, hence a good demand for at a price that will yield a good margin of profit, that farmer can see, as many others have been saying that they were able to see, "prosperity just around the corner." One farmer was found last week who has done just that. He is going to plant 15 acres to popcorn! Who ever heard of an over-supply of popcorn? Why, no doubt this man can, in imagination, hear prosperity popping even now! Here is hoping that he will plant the prosperity kind.
The dust storm that was accompanied by a wind so strong as to have uprooted or broken the tops from large trees in forests and in orchards along our course was followed by very cold weather—with very light sprinkling of snow one day. This hard wind was injurious to condition of the soil—as it dried it out—so fast.

Farmers were found to be very busy—plowing stubble, seeding grain, preparing their seedbeds for beans, planting gardens, attending to their cows and pigs—working, striving, hoping that better market conditions will soon follow this period of depression. That is as it should be; we should all be living in hope.

The Flashlight

Little Flashes of This and That

Published at Kendrick Every Week

Published in the Interest of the People of the Entire Potlatch Country by the Kendrick Hardware Company. F. S. Curtiss, Editor.

Well folks, this week we take up our new job as editor of the Flashlight, and we hope that the results will be pleasing to you. This is our first attempt at editing a paper, but we're going to do our best. Just the same as we do when we cut a window glass and glaze a sash for you. Let us show you how good a job we can do.

He took her finger in his and gazed proudly at the engagement ring he had placed on her fair finger only three days before.

"Did your friends admire it?" he inquired tenderly.

"They did more than that," she replied coldly, "Two of them recognized it."

You can afford our paints, enamels, varnishes and brushes, for in the long run the best is the cheapest, because it goes farther. Try our kalsomine, it too, is a wonderful value.

"Pardon me, Professor, but last night your daughter accepted my proposal of marriage. I have called this morning to ask if there is any insanity in your family?"

"There must be!"

The Professor was sharp, and so are our edged tools. Jack knives, planes, pliers and butcher knives.

An uplift worker was visiting a prison and spoke to a melancholy man.

"My poor man," she sympathized, "what is the length of your term?"

"Depends on politics, lady," he replied. "I'm the warden."

So it is with your woodwork, it depends on the strength of your materials and nails—see us for shingle, box, regular and finishing nails, also bolts, lag screws, and screws, hinges, hasps and padlocks, too, that reminds you of work, work of water, and the whole points to one of our canteens or water bags, priced right, you bet!

"Here comes the parade, and your Aunt Helen will miss it. Where is she?"

"She's upstairs waving her hair."

"Mercy! Can't she afford a flag?"

Warm days remind us of fishing—rods, reels, lines and poles. See us first.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC SITUATION EXPLAINED

To the Citizens of Kendrick:
As president of the Student Body, I feel it my duty to write a few words to be published by the local paper relative to the failures and achievements of that body during the past year, and give the present standing.

The most important thing to consider is the financial situation. Three years ago, K. H. S. started football, which has kept us in the "red" continuously. Even a small school must play eleven men and carry a few substitutes if they are going to play the game. The towns are quite far apart, if one is to make a complete schedule, hence high cost of transportation. The cost for equipment for the small school is just as high, if not higher, because they must buy in limited quantities. The cost of officiating is practically the same for all medium-sized schools. The turn-out to the games in small towns, especially Kendrick, does not warrant the continuance of this sport, without outside help.

Two years ago we started a program which, if enforced as it is in other places, would give enough money at present to put us in the clear.

The program, in brief, is charging the students so much per year at the time of registration, whether they participate in athletics or not. In other schools, such as Lewiston, Nampa, Coeur d'Alene, Genesee, Troy, and many other places, credits are withheld until the students pay their dues. We have not been forcing our collections to that extent, although last year only three failed to pay. This year, 26 have failed to raise the necessary cash. Every boy and girl who participated paid to see themselves play, so to speak. Some who did not pay, took advantage of school vacation and went to the football games. Some of the people who participated are not especially wealthy, but succeeded in paying their dues.

At present we are in debt about $95.00. This is about equivalent, if not a little bit less, than the debt we inherited two years ago. This bill is for new equipment, bought last year. We are sorry that this has not been taken care of, but will say we have tried, and are willing, even yet, to do our part.

We have saved the district $52.30, the cost of installing footlights in the gymnasium stage, which has been paid in full. The three boys who took manual training the first semester, saved the district, I am positive, $250 in labor. Just to illustrate: The contractor wanted $84.00 for making and putting up the goals and "bang" boards. The material cost $19.00, which was the only expense to the district.

The seniors thought they could raise a little money and donate to the good cause by giving a dance. We selected a poor night—but certainly there were more than two married couples at home in Kendrick last Friday night, who are interested in us.

It has been my purpose to lay these facts before you, that you might realize in part, the handicap that we have worked under.

(Signed) GEORGE BAILEY, President Associated Student Body, Kendrick High School.

W. C. JONES, Supt. Kendrick School.

It has come to my attention that some criticism has been made of the basketball team of the way the finances of the school were conducted and for that reason I am having the basketball team and coach sign this with me. We are certainly satisfied and think the situation has been handled as efficiently as possible, under the circumstances.

GEORGE BAILEY, HUGH McDOWELL, WALTON MOREY, TED GRINOLDS, IVAN CRAIG, RALPH BLEVINS, ARTHUR L. DAWALD, Coach.

Outbuilding Burns

A small fire caused an alarm to be turned in Wednesday afternoon about 2:30, when an old ice house at the rear of the Catlett home, in the west end of town. The fire, was started from a trash blaze that had been left too large.

All the telephone wires for the local exchange and the long-distance wires were burned in two—50 wires in all. It required several hours to make repairs, communication to the west and south being established at about 8:30 in the evening.

Death of Mother

A letter from Mrs. K. R. Kelly, who has spent the past two years at Turnersburg, North Carolina, taking care of her mother, who had been ill, is to the effect that her mother passed away some two weeks ago. Her many friends hope that Mrs. Kelly will again return to this part of Idaho to make her home.

Genesee vs. Juliaetta

Quite an interesting game of ball was played at Juliaetta Sunday afternoon when Genesee came over for the purpose of "taking home the bacon," but they got a drubbing before the game was out, according to the score turned in, the game going to Juliaetta 8-6.

The score shows that 10 hits were secured off the Juliaetta pitcher and 11 off Genesee. Juliaetta was credited with three errors, while only one was chalked up against Genesee.

Juliaetta secured all her scores in the first three innings of the game, making one in the first, one in the second and six in the third. From then on they were held scoreless. Potlatch made one score in the first, one in the third, one in the fourth and three in the fifth inning, leaving the final score 8-6 in favor of Juliaetta.

Silly Sally Giggles

To think that if it's true that things run in cycles then the BUY-cycle must be stuck in a depression. That a poor fish is a fellow who can be caught with baited breath. That dance music and foot notes are the same thing.

That puppy love may be the beginning of a dog's life. Fortune never smiles on a man because he is a joke. The closer a man is the more distant his friends are. Distance will lend quite a bit of enchantment—to winter. Men who don't pay as they go have a hard time coming back.

Some people think every season comes at the wrong time of the year. Divorce comes not when they are tired of each other, but when they are not tired of someone else. Rubber hose as a correctional device will never get the results achieved by the old hickory paddle.

Chairman Rascol thinks the next Democratic platform should have a wet plank for the dries to walk.

A Heap o' Settin' Down

"Mandy, how come you all's feet grow so big?" inquired Rastus the first evening he called on the "village queen."

"Well, I used to live down South, where de soil am so rich—an' goin' barefooted so much just nacherly made 'em grow big."

"Suttahnly," remarked Rastus, with a broad grin. "Look-a-heah, nigger, what you all laffin 'bout?" asked Mandy. "I-I wuz jest a-thinkin' that yo' all must 'a' done a heap o' settin' down, too."
