Change Name of Paper
Monday noon "The Scribblers" were called together for the purpose of christening their school paper for the second time. Previously, it was called "The Broadcaster," but we have found that Troy's school paper has the same name. They, however, had the name before we did and would think us rather "copyers" instead of "scribblers." We have, therefore, named the paper "The High School Crier."

Football Team Defeated
The football team journeyed to Troy Friday where they suffered defeat at the hands of the Troy squad. The score stood 49-0 in favor of Troy. The home boys played well but on account of their light weight were not able to hold back the Troy men. We are hoping for better results at the next game.

Dramatic Club Organized
The initial meeting of the Dramatic Club was held Friday, September 25, immediately following the meeting of the students interested in the new student body play. The newly elected officers are: Otto Herman, president; Lizzie Hoffman, secretary-treasurer. The club is under the supervision of Mrs. Nancy Jarvis. Its purpose is to develop dramatic ability not only toward better characterizations but also toward a better understanding and fulfillment of the directors and stage managers part of the program. The meeting was attended by 25 students, which number was greatly increased at the second meeting held Thursday, October 1. Various rules and regulations necessary for the conducting of the club were adapted. Interesting programs in the form of one-act plays and dialogues are to be put on for the club's entertainment during the meetings which are held every other Thursday. Considerable fun and hard work both are anticipated by the fact that the members will not only take part in the plays but will be given a chance to direct them. The play chosen for the next meeting is "The Ghost Story," by Booth Tarkington. The cast is composed of Lizzie Hoffman, Nettie Mae McDowell, Jane Plummer, Lois Fry, Garth Hill, Wayne Bartlett, Morton Brigham, Otto Herman, Thomas Blevins, Rowena Ramey and Maxine Keene has already begun work.

Refreshments were served in the domestic science room and then the students went down town to the "Pep" rally.

Organization of Girls Club
A girls' honorary club has been organized under the leadership of Miss Nina Newman. Girls in the junior and senior classes who received all "A's" and "B's" last year are eligible. The following have received the required grades: Nona McAllister, Burneda Cummings, Lizzie Hoffman, Lois Fry, Nettie McDowell, Hazel Reid, Elma Jones, Carrie Riley and Mary Johnson. The girls have decided to buy white sweaters decorated with the letters S. S. S. Each of these letters has a meaning which only the girls and their advisor know. A similar boys' club is to be organized under the sponsorship of Mr. Brigham.

Short News Items
The seniors are eagerly awaiting the arrival of their rings which they ordered last week.
The music for the glee club and orchestra has arrived.
Billy Fry and Harold Abrams enrolled Monday of this week.
As the townspeople probably know the high school students held a "pep" rally Thursday evening. How those kids can yell!!!

The Song of Electricity
Long, long ago you couldn't find me,
Those were the days when steam would sing.
But steam has long since gone below me,
And I've developed into a king.

I am as strong as the very strongest,
I am as strong and stronger than steam.
I am the one who runs the motors
And does the work of many a team.

Who is the King of the future world?
I, electricity, to be sure.
I'll do the work of many a man,
I'll help the rich and also the poor.

I am running many things now,
But I'm planning to do much more.
For, I am going to run the world,
While you lay in bed and snore.
By Joe Watts, Eighth grade.

Lois F.—Oh! These old frys.
Red S.—I wish someone would feed them so they wouldn't eat on me.

Karl E.—You know, I'm funny like that—I always throw myself into any job I undertake.
Burneda C.—Why don't you dig a well?
Phyllis C.—I just love birds.
John J.—I've been told that I was just a little Cuckoo.

Mr. Brigham—as he entered the assembly room one morning—"I see a great many shining faces this fine morning."
Immediately a great number of powder puffs were seen among the girls.

Ethel C.—To tell the truth, Bud, I never was much of an English shark.
Roy L.—No, but you're quite a whale.

Margaret Dougherty (in Domestic Science class): If I take a potato and divide it into two parts, then into four parts, and each of the four parts into two parts and each of the two parts into four parts, what would I have?
Jean Ramey—Potato salad.

William Holt—A carton!

After watching the young lady driver ahead wave her hand in three or four different directions at the intersection, the driver behind decided that she was going to turn to the right and crashed into her as she changed her mind.

"Well, all I can say," said the Miss, "is that I'm sorry."
"Is that all you can say?"
"Why, yes."
"Well, then," said the man, clearing his throat, "listen to me? I. * *!"

"Brought in a compromise verdict."
"A compromise verdict?"
"Yes—Not guilty, but don't go into the movies."

ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT IN IDAHO

(By Fred E. Lukins, Sec. of State)
The following is one of a series of articles prepared by the Secretary of State on the subject above stated. The series is contributed to this paper and will be published weekly for the purpose of arousing interest on the important subject under discussion.
At this time, more than at any period during the last generation, we have come face to face with the problem of the cost of government. When the earnings of Idaho's farms, mines, and forests have been so small that many taxpayers will find it necessary to use their capital or mortgage their property if they pay their 1931 taxes, it is the duty of everyone connected with government to determine whether its cost is too great. A study of the conduct of the state, county and local subdivisions convinces any impartial observer that we have "too much government" and that it is high time that we start to simplify its organization.

The state government has grown from the simplest framework at the beginning of statehood until we now have twenty major executive departments besides several other important boards such as the Public Utilities Commission and Industrial Accident Board, and several subordinate bureaus. This does not include the educational institutions, the courts and the legislative branch of the government. We must not lose sight of the fact that this growth has been largely at the demand of the people of the state. Nevertheless it has cost money. It would be good statesmanship for the people's representatives in either executive or legislative offices to refuse these demands.

An attempt was made in 1919, when the so-called cabinet form of government was established, to systematize the state government. It was reorganized and somewhat simplified. Certain related functions of the state, which had been carried on separately, were combined in unified departments. This was a decided improvement on the then existing order of things, when fifty boards and commissions existed. Effective public service has resulted. People have voiced no real complaint with this service. Nevertheless, the cost has grown no less, and furthermore several departments have been added. The tendency has been to segregate rather than consolidate. Now the time has come to make consolidations. No less than six departments can now be eliminated. Experience has proven that it can be done with resulting economy and with greater efficiency.

Local government needs attention. We have 44 counties, 1400 school districts and 121 highway and good roads districts. These, added to the number of cities, towns and villages, make up a total of well over 2000 taxing units in the state. Think of a situation such as exists in Idaho County, with its twenty highway and good roads districts and its board of county commissioners—twenty-one boards levying taxes and spending money for roads.
County administration has many possibilities of simplification. A few years ago we had an orgy of creating counties and we were left with 44.

It will be many years before people vote to consolidate many of these. In the meantime, county government can be reorganized in order that affairs may be conducted with a minimum of overhead expense, with no reduction, but perhaps an increase, in efficiency.

All of the suggestions herein contained, with others, will be amplified during the course of this series. The suggestion to be made may not be the best solutions, although they are arrived at as a result of experience and study. However, if they serve to remind the public of the need for simplicity in governmental organization, the writer will not be disappointed.

Can You Beat It?
Tennyson could take a worthless piece of paper, write a poem on it, and make it worth $65,000. That's genius.

Some men can sign a check and make it worth $50,000. That's capital.

The government can take an ounce of silver worth 50 cents and make it worth $1.00. That's money.

A merchant can take an article costing 75 cents and sell it for $1.00. That's business.

The author of this can write a check for $9,000, but it wouldn't be worth a cent. That's tough.

Hats May Boom Bunny Market
Gentle little Empress Eugenie may never have given it any thought, but the pesky little hats she designed may play havoc with Idaho jackrabbits.

T. B. Murray, state leader of the biological survey, said if the demand for the hats kept up, small as they are they will quickly create a demand for bunny hair to make the felt for them.

The Idaho bunny market has been in the doldrums ever since the high peak prices of 1929 broke with the stock market, when rabbit hides were worth $1.10 a pound, or about 15 cents each. Hunters made whopping good wages poisoning them and selling their hides. The price broke to 60c a pound and then last spring hit 40c.

A large crop of bunnies will be found in the vicinity of Oakley, Shoshone, Carey, the Fort Hall Indian reservation, and some other places, Murray reports. As soon as snow arrives and drives them into central places, there will be good hunting.

Murray said the biological survey would not be broken hearted at the slaughter, as the bunnies do much harm to crops.

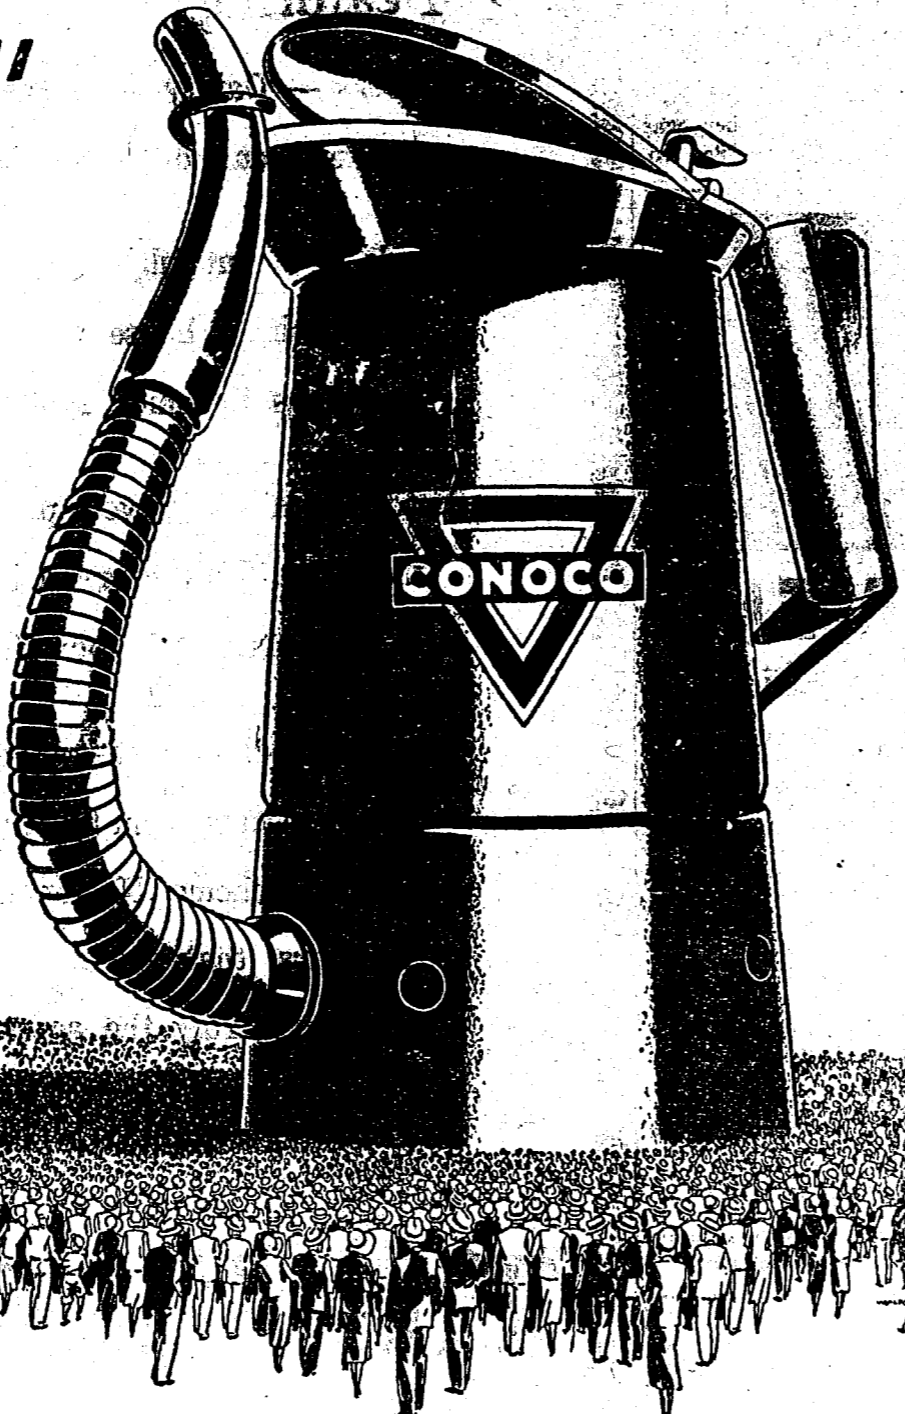

The supply of wild rabbit hides would of course be augmented by the hides of hundreds of thousands of domestic rabbits, raised for the meat and hides.

Big Town Bill: Why the traffic here is nothing. Where I come from, a man is run over every twenty minutes.

Small Town Susie: How dreadful. The poor man.

THE "HIDDEN QUART"

That Stays up in the Motor and Never Drains Away

— is Worth its Weight in Gold to Any Motorist!

It's not the mileage your speedometer shows that makes your car wear out quickly, lose power and need costly repairs. It's motor wear, caused by friction, that does it! And almost half of all this motor wear occurs while you're starting. Cut down starting wear and you'll give your motor longer life.

That's just what the "hidden quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil does! It stays up in your motor and never drains away and thus cuts down starting wear! Ordinary oils drain away, leaving working parts unprotected until oil is pumped from the crankcase through the motor, which takes several minutes. Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil penetrates and combines with metal surfaces of working parts, stays there and never drains away. The "hidden quart" safely lubricates every cylinder, piston and bearing the instant you touch the starter.

The "hidden quart" is worth its weight in gold to you! From the first fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, you'll have this "hidden quart" up in your motor, giving safe lubrication at all times, lengthening your motor's life. Drain your crankcase now, fill with Germ Processed Oil at any station displaying the Conoco Red Triangle.

was quoted FOB shipping points at 36c to 40c per bushel. Mills at Fort Worth were paying 48c to 49c for No. 1 hard winter, ordinary protein, delivered group 3 or Galveston export rate points. 13 per cent protein or higher were bringing 1c premium for each 1/4 per cent protein. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Chicago at 48 1/4c and at St. Louis at 46c to 47c per bushel.

Marketings of soft winter wheat were very light with farmers selling slowly at current prices. Mills were active buyers at Kansas City and St. Louis, but shippers were also competing for the offerings at the latter markets. Elevators were the principal buyers at Cincinnati, where the bulk of the receipts were from other terminal markets. Prices held about unchanged, with No. 1 soft winter quoted at Kansas City at 43c and at Chicago at 48c to 49c. No. 2 red winter sold at St. Louis at 48c and at Cincinnati at 49c to 51c per bushel.

Continued light offerings of spring wheat held cash prices about unchanged at Minneapolis and Duluth. 1,554 cars were received at those markets. Of the Minneapolis inspections, 386 cars were winter wheat, so that very little surplus wheat was available for day to day marketings. Mills were in the market for high protein wheat and offerings of 14 per cent protein or better, with heavy test weight, were readily taken. At the close of the market Oct. 2 No. 1 dark northern, 15 per cent protein sold at 5c to 9c over the December price of 60c, 14 per cent protein 4 to 8c over and 12 to 13 per cent at 3c to 7c over the December price. The protein of this week's inspections averaged 13.4 per cent. No. 1 dark northern was quoted at Duluth at 66 1/4c to 72c, with the limited arrivals in active request from mills and shippers.

Canadian wheat markets held firm as the result of light marketings. Receipts at Winnipeg were less than one-third as large as during the corresponding week a year ago and totaled only 2,542 cars. No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg on Oct. 2 at 53 1/2c per bushel in terms of Canadian currency.

Durum wheat was independently firm because of the light receipts and the Duluth December delivery advanced 1 1/2c, closing Oct. 2 at 54c. All offerings of milling quality were readily taken, with No. 1 and No. 2 amber quoted at Minneapolis at 51c to 57c for ordinary protein types and 70c to 80c per bushel for high protein samples. No. 1 Amber was quoted at Duluth at 58c to 78c, No.

1 durum at 54c to 57c and No. 2 red at 50c per bushel.

What To Do If Lost

With the big game season already opened warnings have been issued by the forest service headquarters of central Idaho warning hunters to be careful not to get lost. The tips offered are condensed as follows:

Getting lost yourself is almost as bad as shooting a fellow hunter. Don't do either and don't lose your head.

When lost, sit down and think carefully how far you have wandered and in what direction. Lay your gun on the ground while you think. Don't lean it against a tree as it may fall down and shoot you.

If you can't figure out where you are, don't get panicky and begin running madly around the mountains. Conservé your strength.

If injured so you can't get out of the forest alone, mend your wounds as well as possible and prepare to spend a night or two waiting for aid.

Build a fire or preferably a smudge and be sure it won't set the forest afire around you. The fire, day or night, may lead rescuers to you. Stay by the fire. Officials recall an instance three years ago when a man was lost three days. During that time he built nine fires, each of which was found in turn by searchers, but only after the missing man had abandoned it. He was finally found, gnawing a piece of raw venison.

If you know what watershed you are in, go down stream. Ranches and settlements will be found that way. This advice isn't always so good in the Salmon river drainage. Try not to get lost there.

When you get out, broadcast the word. Everybody is worried.

"The Clearwater"
 "The Clearwater" is the name of the special train that will run over the Northern Pacific in connection with the 22nd congress of the Pacific Logging Congress, which will be held in Spokane, October 21, 22 and

23. The train will be the home of the congress for two nights and one day during the 300-mile field trip to the logging operations of the Clearwater Timber company.

In addition to the inspection of the Idaho camps, the sessions in Spokane are expected to deal primarily with two main topics—Industrial accidents and workmen's compensation and selective cutting and tractor logging.

WHEAT—NEW CROP MOVES MARKETS CONTINUE UNSET-

with the exception of French, Hungarian and Swiss, registered declines. The English pound sterling led the decline, reaching the low point of $3.76 1/4 on September 26, but recovering to $3.91 1/4 on Oct. 1, on the basis of the noon buying rate for cable transfer in New York City, as a measure of exchange values in terms of U. S. currency. The break in the value of English exchange was partially offset by an advance of around 6c per bushel in the price of wheat in English markets. Shippers, however, slackened materially under the uncertainty of exchange value and trading was dull. The decline in the value of the Canadian dollar to 85.7c October 1, gave Canadian shippers an advantage and quotations on Manitoba wheats were relatively lower than prices of hard winter. The Australian currency, which is at a discount of 23 per cent under the English money, declined with the pound sterling and Australian offerings also had an advantage over other shipments in world markets.

Despite the high tariffs, restrictive milling regulations and the unsettled financial condition, world shipments of wheat, including flour, for the season to date, have been slightly in excess of those of a year ago, amounting to 126,000,000 bushels from Aug. 11 through Sept. 26, as against 123,000,000 bushels for the corresponding period a year ago. The distribution of the world trade in wheat, however, is materially different from that of last year. Russian shipments were nearly three times that of last season and totaled around 38,000,000 bushels. Danubian shipments totaled over 7,000,000 bushels, compared with about 5,000,000 bushels last year during this period. This increased movement from Russia and the Danube has largely offset the reduction of 30,000,000 bushels in North America shipments, which to date this season have totaled only about 48,000,000 bushels. Argentine and Australian shipments have continued liberal for this season of the year, with exports from these countries since the first of August 10,000,000 bushels larger than those of a year ago. The Australian shipments have been mainly to ex-European destinations. Remaining supplies in Australia are slightly smaller than last year, but stocks in Argentine are larger. Supplies of old crop wheat in Argentina at the close of September were officially placed at 41,000,000 bushels. About the same amount of the world shipments have moved to European countries as last season, but shipments to ex-European countries have been larger.

Domestic cash wheat markets did not follow the decline in future prices, but held generally steady for most classes of wheat. Receipts of winter wheat at the principal southwestern markets continued to decrease and totaled only 3,268 cars, compared with 4,646 cars during the previous week. Prevailing lower prices and the rush of fall seeding were largely responsible for the reduced marketings. Export sales of U. S. wheat were negligible because of the foreign exchange situation, but mill demand was of good volume and current offerings were readily taken. Weather damaged and heating grain sold at some discounts in Kansas City, but prices of good quality wheat were steady, with No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, quoted in that market Oct. 2 at 40 1/2 to 42c, 12 per cent protein at 41c to 43c, 12 1/2 per cent protein at 43c to 47 1/2c and 13 per cent protein at 47 1/2c to 50c per bushel. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, sold at Omaha at 40 1/2c and No. 2 dark hard winter, 13 1/2 per cent protein at 50c per bushel. Receipts at Denver were mostly of winter wheat and No. 2 hard winter

If baby has COLIC
CRY in the night. Colic! No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy. This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never harm. It is the sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels, colic or constipation; or the breath, or the tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation, children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it safe for frequent use. And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than strong medicine meant only for adult use. CASTORIA

School Notes
Mrs. Eva Clanin and Mrs. Cecil Choate spent Friday afternoon visiting school. The sixth grade geography class has spent the last two weeks making salt maps of South America. We are well pleased with the result of our first attempt. We have put on as many of the real products that we could obtain. Our health chart in the primary room is very interesting. This year it is a long train, having an engine, coal car, and three coaches. We called it the North Teaken Health and we each have our picture in a window. We choose an engineer once a month and a conductor once a week. At 9:05 in the morning the engineer rings a bell, which tells us the North Teaken Health is stopping at our station and that we must all get ready for the conductor to inspect us. If we pass his inspection we may ride on the train, but if we fail our faces are hidden. May Davis has been out of school for over a week with the toothache. We will be happy to have her back with us again. Each student wrote her a letter for Language. The third grade is studying birds instead of geography. They are making a book concerning birds.

When PAIN Comes

WHAT many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which quickly neutralizes acids. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali neutralizes instantly many times as much harmful acid, and then the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, the kind physicians have prescribed for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.
