STATE CHAMBER TELLS IT IN "TAX TOPICS"

After some 27 years of successful navigation on the stormy territorial sea, the budding young commonwealth of Idaho, upon entering statehood, was nothing if not confident. Indeed she might have been a wee bit cocksure, and not unjustly so, for hadn't she just achieved the magnificence of a free and equal member of the Union.

The little matter of a $169,556 indebtedness that had accumulated during territorial days and the obligation to pay which had been inherited by the infant state was apparently no embarrassment. The public fathers of those days were neither weak-hearted nor given to superficial emotions. Theirs was to run a state—and they proposed to do it in regular he-man fashion.

About this time the world was becoming all agog over the prospect of the World's Columbian Exposition that would be held in Chicago in 1893, the stupendous magnificence of which would surpass, according to the advance literature, anything of that nature ever before attempted.

Would Idaho be represented? Most assuredly! The young state was ready to take her place in the sun and if that required an exhibit at the world's fair, then an exhibit she would have, and there would be nothing cheap about it.

So the first legislature, with perfect indifference to the fact that the treasury balance was written in red ink, appropriated $20,000 for Idaho's representation at the Chicago fair in 1893. James M. Wells was appointed "fair commissioner" to have charge of the exhibit, which according to the popular opinion should take the form of a log structure.

Twenty thousand dollars was not sufficient to completely finance the project, as the legislators were evidently aware, but it seems—this point is not brought out clearly—a certain private individual, who is not named, had agreed, at least by implication, to supply, on the condition that the state make the initial appropriation, the additional funds necessary to give Idaho such representation as would benefit a new and rising commonwealth.

However, something went "hay-wire," as something frequently does, and as the months rolled around these additional funds were not forthcoming. Commissioner Wells was forced to hold up production. The 1893 legislature met. What, no exhibit? Well, well, something must be done about that! Something was. The legislature calmly appropriated the additional $30,000 needed and Mr. Wells sent a train of 18 cars loaded with various kinds of Idaho logs, building stone and so forth speeding toward Chicago.

It must not be supposed that the legislature was taking advantage of the public in the matter of appropriations for the world's fair exhibit. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The public was just indifferent as to the status of the treasury as the law-makers. There was a definite and emphatic demand upon the part of the people for representation. Wasn't Idaho a new state. Didn't she need advertising? Wouldn't thousands of people, many with their eyes already fixed on the rapidly developing west, visit the exposition?

The general opinion was that the exhibit would be many times more valuable to the state in attracting new blood and new capital than it would cost; and the American public is an insatiable bargain-hunter. Whether the venture proved to be an economic boon as anticipated is difficult to ascertain; but Idaho was represented, and capably, at the exposition.

The Gem state exhibit, referred to as Idaho's chatlet, was an imposing two-story log structure "in the modified form of a Swiss chatlet, but on a lava rock foundation of logs representing 20 different kinds of Idaho timber." It was, according to one observer, one of the "most unique and original structures in Jackson park." On the front wall, high up under the projecting roof, was "the seal of the state and a mounted specimen of a stag." The so-called stag was the head and neck of an elk. A railed balcony was affixed to at least three sides of the building on the front entrance was through an archway of rugged lava rock.

Inside were fireplaces of white marble, basaltic rock and pressed brick. One room was a mica hall, another a hunter's lodge. Mounted

Want Smith for President

Certain members of the democratic party in Minnesota are actively engaged in the mustering of a delegation to have Al. Smith's name put before the people as a candidate for the democratic nomination for president.

Al. has been very active and has constantly kept his name before the public by his articles in various newspapers and magazines since his candidacy for the presidential nomination four years ago.

WHAT ABOUT ROADS AND POLITICS—TIME WILL TELL

Now that the large daily papers are devoting columns and columns of space to the national political situation one cannot help but wonder what will happen in state and county politics, although very little is seen about these conditions. One thing is certain, however, the people of this section of the country are mighty tired of seeing thousands of dollars of gas tax leave our section and go to build tourist roads and eliminate curves in roads connecting larger towns and over tourist routes, while our farmers sit in the mud and "let the rest of the world go by." But what else can they do? They cannot get out! They cannot get their produce to town for market! If this section had the money in gas tax that has gone from it they would have as fine farm-to-market roads as anyone could desire. But we haven't. We presume it is because we have lacked political pull! But in these troublous times nothing is certain in political question with the exception of one thing—a couple of thousand votes await the man who is big enough to over-ride the wishes of the tourist trade and cury-elimination road gang and give us a road.

Just wait and see if our predictions are not right. We know whereof we speak.

In these days of low prices every nickel saved in getting goods to market is a help to the farmer. Every boost for the farmer is a boost for the merchant, banker, garageman and candlestick maker. Not alone do we have wheat to haul but beans, corn, cream, watermelons, fruit, cherries, tomatoes, and what have you, even to logs, lumber and wood! Let's all put our shoulder to the wheel and pull, push and shove for good roads. We need them.

Arthur James Married

There has been some considerable speculation among his Kendrick friends and acquaintances as to whether Aruth James, son of Rev. A. E. James, had taken unto himself a wife. Rumors to that effect having been heard but no real confirmation had been obtained until last week, when Rev. James received word confirming the rumor, the young lady being Miss Esther Bock, a teacher in the industrial school at Independence, Mo., where Mr. James had also been an instructor for the past six years. The ceremony was performed August 9, 1931.

Mr. and Mrs. James have resigned their positions and will seek another location. Mr. James' health not having been of the best for some time.

Mr. James' friends here extend congratulations and wish for he and his bride much health and happiness wherever they may decide to cast their lot.

High School Play Friday

Much time has been spent in preparation for the play, "Tiger House," which will be presented in the Kendrick Theatre Friday evening, January 22, by students of the high school. An entertainment well worth anyone's money is guaranteed.

The depression has dealt a severe blow to student body finances this year, and it is more necessary than ever before that the community support school activities during the rest of the year. A school to function must have both the moral and financial support of the community. An expense of 35 cents for a school entertainment is thus a good investment, used for a good purpose.

Everyone interested in the success of the school should attend, says Supt. B. B. Brigham.

Putting Up Ice For Summer

Ice harvest was on out on American ridge the first of this week; Geo. Davidson, Claud Woody, Walter Bencotter, Carol Cox, Warnie May and Ben Callison were busy putting up "congealed coolness" for next summer's use, taking it from the Ben Callison pond. The ice measured about 13 inches in thickness.

Store Burglarized

Thieves entered the Groseclose & Richardson store sometime Monday night, the broken door being discovered about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the store was opened for business. Entrance was gained by prying some tin and boards off of the rear door and reaching inside to turn the lock. About $40 in checks, $4 in small change and a flash light were taken.

This is the second time this winter that Groseclose & Richardson's store has been looted, a supply of groceries being taken before.

Death of Albin Nelson

Albin Nelson, brother of James Nelson of Big Bear ridge, died at his home in Clarkston Monday night of heart trouble. His body was found Tuesday morning lying near his garage, where he had gone late Monday afternoon to patch a tire. Mr. Nelson was a World War veteran, and was 35 years of age.

His mother, Mrs. Siri Nelson, 80, and an invalid brother, with whom he was residing, missed him and wondered why he had not returned. They were unable to give an alarm, although another brother resides only a short distance away.

Monday afternoon he and his brother, O. S. Nelson, had been engaged in hauling soil to make a fill near his home. He complained of being tired and suggested that the work be postponed until the following day.

He ate very little at the noon lunch although he was eating an apple when he left the house to repair the tire.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Siri Nelson and six brothers and sisters: Ben, Sever and O. S. Nelson, Clarkston; Mrs. Emma Nelson, Garfield, Wash.; Mrs. Emma Magnuson, Deary, Idaho; James Nelson, Kendrick Idaho.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 from the Merchant chapel with the Rev. O. L. Olsrud officiating. Burial was in Vineland cemetery.

Entertain at Bridge Dinner

Thursday evening of last week saw another of those pleasant social affairs that have been keeping bridge players busy during the present winter social season, when Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas gave a bridge dinner at the Ramey home, the guests being seated at table at 6:30 o'clock. After the tables had been cleared bridge was played at eight tables, the final count showing that Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson had won combined high score and that Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Deobald had each been awarded low individual score.

The invited guests were Messrs. and Mesdames H. B. Thompson, A. K. Carlson, Geo. Leith, W. B. Deobald, E. A. Deobald, E. H. Emery, Frank Curtis, W. A. Watts, D. A. Christensen, W. L. McCreary, Edgar Long, W. J. Carroll, Wade T. Keene, Frank Rider and the hosts and hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas.

A delicious turkey dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock, accompanied by all the necessities for such a repast. The result was a very pleasant evening's entertainment. Dr. and Mrs. Christensen held high score for the evening.

The entertainers were Dr. and Mrs. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. Silvie Cook, while the entertained were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Emery and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Deobald.

PARENT-TEACHERS HOLD INTERESTING SESSION

The Kendrick Parent-Teachers association held their first regular meeting Monday evening in the Music room of the school house with forty in attendance. Opening with group singing, led by Miss Newman, with Mrs. E. H. Emery at the piano and a violin solo by Dorothy Deitrich, accompanied at the piano by Elizabeth Carlson. This was followed by a business meeting at which it was decided to sponsor the serving of hot lunches at noon for children remaining at school. This is just an adventure, lasting for thirty days, but if successful it will be a regular occurrence. The children wishing this service will be required to bring spoons and bowls, which will be left in charge of the teacher, or teachers, in charge of this service.

A short but very interesting program followed. A skit given by students of the High school under the supervision of Mrs. Jarvis and Miss Newman was very cleverly rendered and was enjoyed by all present. The program closed with a talk by Supt. B. B. Brigham, who outlined the activities of the school faculty.

The signing of the register by old and new members took place, followed by refreshments of hot cocoa and cookies, furnished and served by the school faculty.

Before adjourning it was definitely decided that the "Dads" would have charge of the program for the next regular meeting—the third Monday of next month.

The men in charge of the entertainment at the next meeting ask for any suggestions that the men may have to offer. They promise something good. They say they are not going to be outdone by the ladies—hence, they are asking for suggestions that may be of help to them.

Association Shipping Beans

The Kendrick Bean Growers association have been making shipment of several hundred bags of beans during the past week or two. Last week 700 bags were shipped to various points and this week the association has so far shipped 800 bags, 600 of which went to Seattle. They have announced that they are paying $1.60 for white and $1.90 for red beans.

While the association has been in business only a short time, they have been receiving beans from almost every section of this part of the country, some coming from as far as Troy, and have furnished work intermittently for several men, which has helped very materially in the local labor situation.

Under the plan, the test case will be taken immediately to the supreme court to give time for the decision, if possible, before the first returns under the act, which are due March 15.

Stuck In Snow

Monday morning's Spokane-bound passenger train, which passes through Kendrick at 8:42, was delayed near Troy by coming in contact with a snowbank that caused them to send for another engine to help them out of their dilemma. Trains coming from the other direction were equipped with snowplows and experienced no trouble.

GRAIN MARKETS DULL AND ACTIVE DEMAND LACKING

In the absence of an active demand, domestic grain markets were dull during the week ending January 15 and futures prices ranged from about unchanged for wheat to slightly lower for most feed grains, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Cash markets were most irregular. Wheat prices were somewhat lower for winters, but slightly higher for red spring as a result of some increase in protein premiums. Corn was higher at Kansas City, but slightly lower at most other markets. Oats, on the other hand, were lower at southwestern markets and slightly firmer at Chicago and other Central western markets. Rye markets declined about 1c during the week under a slow demand and flax was barely steady despite the small offerings.

World wheat markets continued to be dominated by generally unsettled economic and financial conditions. Decreasing supplies of native wheat, together with some reduction in the North American surplus, have been strengthening influences, but these are being offset by increased offerings of southern hemisphere wheat and continued slow European demand for foreign grain. Bread grains in the principal deficit countries of Europe have declined as compared with a year ago, with good milling wheat at Hamburg quoted at $1.46 on Jan. 15, compared with about $1.20 a year ago. French wheat is about 9/16c lower at this time than last year, with good native milling grain now quoted at Paris at $1.63. Danish wheat at Copenhagen was quoted Jan. 15 at 57c, or around 19c lower than a year ago. Generally favorable weather for marketing the new crop was reported in Argentina and the week's shipments totaled about 2,750,000 bushels. Australian shipments were increased to 6,500,000 bushels and about 1,500,000 bushels were shipped from Russia during the week. Stocks on ocean passage were reported at 31,352,000 bushels, or about 6,000,000 bushels more than at the corresponding time last year.

Domestic cash wheat markets were somewhat irregular. Prices of winter wheat declined 1c to 5c, with the greatest decline registered on high protein hard winter wheat. Marketings were of moderate volume, with the greatest decline registered on high protein hard winter wheat. Marketings were of moderate volume, with 2,283 cars reported at the seven central western markets, compared with 1,964 cars last week and 2,909 cars a year ago. Demand for cash wheat was of only moderate volume, with mills generally taking only sufficient for immediate needs. Daily clearances were not sufficient to absorb current arrivals at Kansas City. Ordinary protein hard winter wheat was quoted in that market Jan. 15 at 49c to 50c. 12 per cent protein at 52c and 13 per cent protein at 58c per bushel. Arrivals at Omaha were principally from Kansas and Nebraska for storage. Shipping demand was light and from only a few nearby mills. High protein wheat was in active demand during the week. No. 2 hard-winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at 49c, while wheat of the same grade with 13 per cent protein was quoted up to 58c per bushel. The Denver market weakened slightly on the higher protein types as a result of a rather slow mill demand. Eastern buyers were offering 46c for No. 2 hard winter, 14 per cent protein F. O. B. country points, but shippers were quoting this quality of wheat at 50c. Mills in the Fort Worth territory were paying 59c per bushel for ordinary No. 1 hard winter, delivered group 3 rate points and 2c premium for 13 per cent protein of the same grade.

Soft winter wheat prices declined 1c to 2c per bushel, largely as a result of a dull mill inquiry. Receipts were not large but generally sufficient for trade needs. No. 1 soft red winter was quoted at Kansas City at 52c to 55c and at St. Louis at 56c to 57c per bushel. Receipts at the latter market were being taken principally by elevator interests, because of lack of outside milling demand. Receipts at Cincinnati were very light, principally from other terminals and were being taken largely by elevator interests.

Pacific Coast markets were generally steady although demand was dull and trading of only moderate volume. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 635 cars, compared with 635 cars a year ago.

COUNTY TAX LEAGUE HAS INTERESTING SESSION

The Latah County Taxpayers League held an enthusiastic and well-attended meeting at the court house Saturday, January 16. F. B. Leeper of Lewiston gave a talk on tax matters and the work of the tax league in his (Nez Perce) county, as well as the Latah county organization. He was followed by Judge L. G. Peterson, who explained the expenses of his office and compared them with the expenses of the probate court in some of the other counties of the state.

He was followed by W. Q. Taylor, assessor, who gave an outline of the work in his office and pointed out the great amount of work done for the state for which the county does not receive pay.

Sheriff Summerfield gave a summary of the expenses of his office, pointing out that the expenses of operating the jail are charged to his office. The amount expended in 1931 for jail purposes was $4,120.60. To offset this there has been collected from the Federal government the sum of $5,521.50 for the boarding of federal prisoners, making the jail a source of income to the amount of $1,400.90, besides boarding the county prisoners. The sheriff's office has also collected fees to the amount of $1,246.58 which has been turned into such funds as the law prescribes.

Auditor Thatcher declared that the amount of the budget is immaterial, as long as it is high enough to cover all probable expenses of the office.

J. A. Harsh of Deary spoke of his experience in the legislature and urged taxpayers to take a lively interest in the study of the tax problem in order that public sentiment be crystallized in support of better tax laws.

The entire board of county commissioners was in attendance and chairman Nordby made a number of explanations of points not generally known by the public.

Homer Estes, president of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, announced the state chamber of commerce meeting at Lewiston Jan. 21 and 22.

Upon the recommendation of various Agricultural colleges throughout the country, the manufacturers of Egg Mash have changed from the use of Cod Liver Oil mixture to that of Yeast — claiming for it a much better egg production than that afforded by the cod liver oil formula.

Dick Cutdy, who has been employed in Cook's barber shop here for the past 14 months, left overland with his family early Wednesday morning for Corona, California, where he will be employed in a barber shop.

Mr. Cuddy and family will make their first stop at Longview, Wash., where they will visit his foster brother, Wm. Wright. From there they will go to Salem, Oregon, where they will visit Mrs. Cuddy's parents, before continuing their journey. Corona is located about 25 miles southeast of Los Angeles.

composed mostly of deliveries for shipment on sales to China. Prices at Portland and Seattle held about steady under a fairly active inquiry from domestic mills. No export sales of wheat or flour were reported, since local wheat prices are above an export basis. Oriental demand was being supplied principally with Australian and Canadian wheat. At the close of the market Jan. 15 Big Bend bluestem hard white, sacked, was quoted in Portland at 77c and other varieties at 65c to 63½c per bushel, sacked. Western white and western red were quoted at Seattle on the same basis at 64c to 65c and hard white 78c for No. 1 wheat, sacked. 16 per cent protein No. 1 dark northern spring from Montana was quoted at 95c. Vancouver markets were reported quiet with No. 1 Canadian Manitoba being quoted at 58c per bushel, Canadian currency. Additional snow cover during the week furnished good protection to wheat and assured deep sub-soil moisture.

Genuine Bayer Aspirin is sold at all druggists in boxes of 12 and in bottles of 24 and 100.

Aspirin is the trade-mark of Bayer manufacture of monoaceticacidester of salicylicacid.

California markets were about steady during the week, with prices about unchanged on all offerings except those from Texas, on which quotations were advanced 4c to 5c per 100. Local mills reported a normal flour business but were not placing a great number of new orders for wheat and were using principally supplies purchased earlier. Marketings of local wheat continued light and sales were principally to interior feeders. California warehouse stocks were estimated Jan. 1 by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce at 104,431 tons, compared with 139,960 tons a year ago. Local wheat was selling at the close of the week at interior points at $1.25 to $1.30 per 100, while No. 1 soft white wheat was quoted at San Francisco at $1.32 to $1.35 per 100. No. 1 hard white was quoted at $1.30 to $1.45. Western white wheat, ordinary protein was offered from Washington and Oregon in bulk, delivered San Francisco at $1.20, Big Bend bluestem sacked at $1.45, No. 1 dark northern spring, 16 per cent protein in bulk at $1.83 and No. 2 hard winter, 14 per cent protein, in bulk from Texas at $1.42 per 100. Feed wheat consumption has been above normal due to its relative cheapness compared with feed barley.

Prices at Los Angeles held about unchanged, with demand from all classes of the trade reported dull and with purchases limited to immediate requirements. Current needs were being supplied largely from Texas, New Mexico, Washington and Oregon. A few cars from California, Utah and Idaho were received during the week. No. 2 dark hard winter in bulk with 13 per cent protein was quoted at Los Angeles Jan. 15 at $1.35 and No. 2 soft western white at $1.22½ to $1.25 per 100.

Spring wheat markets were relatively firm as a result of the good mill inquiry for the light offerings of high protein wheat. Durum markets were firm along with the other classes of spring wheat and milling grades were in good demand.

New Plug Tester

Deobald Brothers have just added a new spark plug tester to their shop equipment. This tester shows accurately the condition of the plug, as the test is made with the firing points under a pressure of 125 pounds to the square inch. This garage is one of which any town might well be proud, for the boys have everything in auto equipment and know how to use it.

The boys report that despite the new drive on lights no interest is being displayed in them about town and that no cars have been in to have them tested. It behooves everyone to do so. It is required by law and will undoubtedly save the car owner a fine or worse, perhaps even a damage suit. It is advisable to have them tested.

Cigars, Cigarettes, Tobaccos, Candy and Soft Drinks may be had at the new Raby Hotel. Good meals, too.

All High School Play

Don't forget that "Tiger House," a play sponsored by the Kendrick High school and directed by Mrs. Jarvis, is to be given at the Kendrick Theatre on Friday evening, January 22, at 8:00 p. m. It is sufficient to say that the plot is sound and the situations are weird enough to cause at least an occasional shudder to wrinkle the most blasé spine. One device is novel and has not been encountered before. The last act opens fifteen minutes before the second act closes. There is no artificial cramming of theatrical traps. And although things "fall down and go boom" and ladies just vanish in thin air, it all travels toward a climax which is revealed with dramatic suddenness, completely fooling any detective that may stray into the theatre. Come and see if you can solve the mystery. Laughs and thrills galore!

game animals served as ornaments. One object of unusual interest was a rifle that had belonged to Captain Jack, the famous Modoc Indian chief.

In a descriptive publication concerning the exposition Commissioner Wells received the following commendation: "Through his (Wells') persistent and well-directed efforts, a region rich in resources and possibilities, but before comparatively unknown, has taken rank with many of the older and more populous sections."

In another place the publication refers to the Idaho grain exhibit as including "some remarkable samples," one of which was "cornstalks more than twice the height of a man and on which there are several cobs." In other places references are made to "Idaho's preserved prunes, grapes, egg plant, radishes and other fruits." And to the "high quality prunes and dried fruits from Idaho." A half page is given to a description of Idaho mining possibilities, stating that in addition to precious metals of gold and silver and so forth, the state had an abundance of coal, iron and sulphur.

Thus did Idaho, young but vigorous state, take her place in the sun of a world's fair way back in '93 at a cost to the tax payers of $50,000, which in those days was a lot of money.

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily, half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.
