STATE CHAMBER TELLS IT IN "TAX TOPICS"

(This is the third of a series of articles on the history of taxation in Idaho, prepared by Glenn Balch, under the direction of the State Chamber of Commerce.)

Tax Topics
A financial obligation in the sum of $169,556 was Idaho's inheritance from the old territory. This represented the difference between the expenditures of 27 years of territorial government and the amount of revenue that it had been able to collect, a record that could have been, considering everything, much worse.

One of the arguments advanced in behalf of statehood was that the expenses of government could be decreased, which history seems to have proven was a slight miscalculation.

A recapitulation of the financial condition of the territory just prior to the time in 1890 when it became a state, follows:

Outstanding bonds, Act of 1877	$ 46,715.06
Capital building bonds, Act of 1885	80,000.00
Insane asylum bonds, Act of 1885	20,000.00
Wagon road bonds, Act of 1889	11,000.00
Outstanding warrants	105,571.52
Total bonded indebtedness	$263,286.58
Cash on hand	27,116.58
Total indebtedness	$236,170.00

Sufficient funds would be due the territorial treasury in a short time from the counties to reduce this amount to $169,556, Governor George L. Shoup informed the first legislature in his message.

Tax Problem Acute
From the foregoing it seems that we may safely assume that even in her nativity Idaho knew no freedom from the perplexing problem of how to raise sufficient funds to defray the costs of her government.

Our present condition of top-heavy taxes, it might therefore be concluded, is one of long-standing and has repeatedly challenged the best minds the state has produced. It is encouraging, however, to know that the present study for tax reform is the most comprehensive and practical movement in that direction ever undertaken in the history of the state.

Governor McConnell, in his message to the legislature in 1893, said that the first "job was to raise enough revenue without adding to the burden of already over-laden people."

Not Possible
What the governor proposed was and is virtually an impossibility. Governments never get "enough" revenue, and there is no form of government that does not come from somebody's pocket. The surest way of lightening the tax burden is to reduce governmental expenses; but that has never been popular.

However, despite its inheritance of debt, the new state plunged into the business of government with great eagerness.

Governor Shoup estimated that the expense for the first year would be $177,535. This amount, he predicted, could be reduced the second year to $130,000 or less.

The legislature followed Governor Shoup's advice and appropriated a total of $390,588 for the expenses of the state during its first two years of statehood. But at the end of that time we find that the warrant indebtedness had increased from $105,571.52 in 1890 to $137,225.04 on December 31, 1892, and that the total bonded indebtedness had mounted from $169,556 to $251,000.

"Two Prosperous Years"
These figures do not lead to the belief that the new state was living within her means. However, Governor Norman B. Willey, in his message to the legislature on January 2, 1893, described the previous biennium, 1891-2, as "two prosperous years" and suggested that the state levy be decreased 10 cents on the hundred dollars. From this distance the Governor's mathematics are difficult to comprehend fully.

The first act of the legislature in 1891 was one of self-preservation, an appropriation of $10,000 for the incidental expenses of the session. The second act was one of self-remuneration, an appropriation of $25,000 to pay the session salaries.

Salaries Good
It would seem that the legislators were not stinting when it came to

"If" Winter Came

But there doesn't seem to be any "if" about it. Saturday morning the mercury stood at only 6 above zero on the schoolhouse hill. Sunday morning it was 12 above and Monday morning it stood at 11 above at 8 o'clock. Can you beat that! And only a few miles from the banana belt, too. Only last week we were figuring on sending for a few seed catalogues so we would have some reading in keeping with the weather—but look at it now!

DINNER AND PROGRAM AT COMMUNITY CHURCH

The community dinner and program, given in the basement of the Community church last Friday evening, was a very pleasant affair. Members and friends of the church gathered in the evening with well-filled baskets and a dandy cafeteria dinner was the result. After all had satisfied their appetites adjournment was taken to the church room where a splendid program was given, the entire occasion being meant as a welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Edward J. Smith. However, the guests of honor, who were in Spokane, were delayed on the way home by a snowstorm of blizzard proportions, hence they were not present.

The program was made up as follows:

- Song—America—by the audience.
- Prayer by E. H. Dammarell.
- Short address by H. B. Thompson.
- Quartet—R. H. Ramey, Thos. McDowell, N. E. Walker and Lester Hill.
- Violin solo by Miss Nina Newman.
- Vocal solo by B. B. Brigham.
- Flute solo—Harold Thomas, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas at the piano.
- Duet—Mrs. E. H. Emery and Thos. McDowell.

Saw The Governor

A delegation of members of the Kendrick Commercial club went to Lewiston Friday morning where they had a conference with Gov. C. Ben Ross relative to the condition of the roads in this section of the country.

The Governor seemed very much interested and agreed to come to Kendrick at some future date and look the situation over. He said that his intention was to serve the people—and not the tourists altogether. That farm-to-market roads interested him very much and that he wanted to recommend as many miles of market roads as consistent with the policy adopted by the state of going 50-50 on any project recommended by the state.

The Governor is a very pleasant man, and we do not believe he was playing politics when the Kendrick delegation called on him. Anyway, he promised to come and intimated that a good old-fashioned chicken dinner would be acceptable upon his arrival—and it was promised.

Will Have Treat

The committee of men appointed to have charge of the next session of the Parent-Teachers association meeting, promise a treat for those who may be fortunate enough to attend. They are not giving out any of the secrets or particulars, but they are going to set the ladies a high mark to work up to when they take their turn at entertaining.

There will be a lunch, of course, and they also promise something worth-while in this line, too. Just who the culinary artists will be is also a secret—for the reason, perhaps, that they do not want their wives to find out that they are such splendid "artists" with skillet and pan, on top of the stove or in the oven.

Anyway, the men want a large attendance at the meeting, which will be held Monday evening, February 15.

Many Cars Piled Up

Just to show that this part of the country does not have all the "nasty" weather, over at Seattle the other day some 30 cars were piled up in one place, as a result of the heavy fog, which froze on the pavement and on the windshields of cars—making a bad combination. Traffic was delayed more than half an hour and it took a force of policemen, firemen and traffic men to untangle the mess.

It's sure some fog when a car will run up on it before it discovers the difference.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS AT LEWISTON

Enthusiastic appreciation of the accomplishments of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce and confidence that its current tax study will achieve real benefit for the citizens of this state were outstanding features of the Chamber's annual convention, held at Lewiston last week. More than 250 delegates, representing all sections of the state, attended the meeting.

The convention was the largest and most successful in the history of the organization, according to report. The problems discussed were of statewide importance and the speakers in every instance were men well-versed in their respective subjects. Much enlightening information was made available.

The banquet Thursday evening, presided over by the genial Joel Priest and with President R. E. Shepherd and Governor Ross as the principal speakers, was the high light of the convention. More than 350 persons jammed the big hall to capacity for the occasion and the excellent addresses were received with round applause. The program was featured by several entertaining and artistic musical numbers.

The convention adopted resolutions favoring the remonitization of silver, adequate administration of public domain, inclusion of more territory in the national forests, an income tax and a balancing of the national budget.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected during the session. On motion it was decided that the State Chamber should appoint a committee of nine members, three from each section of the state, to make a state-wide survey of Idaho's outdoor resources and wild life for the purpose of ascertaining protection, propagation and preservation needs.

Charles W. Beale of Wallace gave a thorough and comprehensive discussion of the silver question, pointing out the great importance of remonitizing the white metal in order that the world may have sufficient capital to carry on its business.

Donald Callahan, member of the state-wide tax executive committee, explained the program of investigation that has been outlined for the study of the state's revenue system.

Politics, he declared, has been unable to find a solution for the problem and it is now up to the people of the state as a whole to join in the present non-partisan move to bring about a logical and comprehensive readjustment of our tax structure. He urged that the voters, when they go to the polls, seek to elect officers and legislators in particular, capable of giving our state problems the consideration they deserve.

The Kendrick Commercial club was represented at the banquet by Geo. P. Barnum.

Bank Hold-Up Nipped

Quick work Saturday by the Lewiston police frustrated a bank holdup and resulted in the capture of a bandit who robbed the Standard service station, 1324 Main street, Friday night, securing $12.

W. A. Burton, 32, of Orondo, Wash., confessed the service station robbery to Chief of Police Gasser, the arresting officer, Sheriff Harry Dent and L. E. Shropshire, acting prosecuting attorney, and also admitted he intended to hold-up the First National bank when it opened for business Saturday morning and make a demand for $1,000, says the Tribune.

The police found the following note in Burton's pocket, written on a counter check of the First National bank, which he secured in Clarkston Friday night:
"Give me $1,000 quick. Cause no attention. This bank will be watched for five minutes after I leave. Thanks."

Now a Midget Ford

According to newspaper dispatches coming out of Detroit under date of January 23, Henry Ford has made and shipped to England a batch of midget cars. The thing is said to be less than 10 feet long and has an engine in it exactly 11 inches long.

It would seem that this machine is in size comparable to Henry's charitable disposition—especially the motor.

Dr. Morehead Leaves Lewiston

According to an item appearing in the Lewiston Tribune of Sunday, Dr. O. J. Morehead has severed his connection with Dr. Carsow and has located at Ritzville, Wash.

Deer and Elk Seen

The other day when Wade Keene and Frank Crocker were up on Big Bear ridge, they saw several head of elk and reported them as in very good condition, apparently.

Ed. Deobald, who had occasion to go up to the mouth of Cedar creek Monday, saw seven deer—evidently a part of the herd that were in that section during most of the winter.

Several deer were killed within a few miles of Kendrick, in that section, during the past open season.

FATHER OF MRS. HOMER BETTS INSTANTLY KILLED

The following account of the tragedy was taken from the Escondido (Calif.) Daily Times, of which place Mr. Gilman had been a resident since July, 1920:

Walter M. Gilman, aged about 65 years, rancher, who lived in the northwest part of the city, south of Baker's hatchery, was instantly killed at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, January 13, when struck down by a blow from a flying piece of machinery. Mrs. Gilman found him almost immediately after the accident, on knees and elbows, near the gasoline engine and grinding machine which caused his death, but he was unconscious and is believed to have been dead within a few seconds after receiving the blow.

Mr. Gilman had started to grind some field corn for use in his home. The engine and grinder are out in his yard, where he was working alone. The belt connecting his gasoline engine with the small grinder slipped off the engine pulley and tightened itself between the pulley and side of the engine. This threw the belt off the grinder pulley and fastened the other end of the belt around the grinders, which weighs about 20 pounds, and is made of iron or steel. The power of the engine jerked the grinder loose from its wooden base and hurled it with great force, striking Mr. Gilman in the chest and giving him the fatal blow.

Upon discovering what had happened, Mrs. Gilman called to neighbors and Ezra Young, who was passing, and they helped carry Mr. Gilman into the house and sent for physicians. However, death had come before their arrival.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the H. F. Johnson chapel, conducted by the Rev. Bell Foster. Mrs. Carroll Foster will sing. The body will be taken to San Diego for cremation, in compliance with the wishes of the deceased.

Walter Moore Gilman was born at Searsmont, Maine, February 5, 1867, and would have been 65 years old next month. He lived in his native state until after his marriage to Lena Maude Morrison, they moving to a homestead near Kendrick, Idaho, in 1890. They were the parents of six children, four of whom survive, with the widow, namely: Mrs. Ethel Soule of Waterville, Maine; Mrs. Robert M. McCullum of San Diego, formerly of Escondido; Mrs. Homer Betts of Southwick, Idaho, and Mrs. Clive Foster of Escondido. Two children passed away in Idaho; a daughter, Avis, and a son, Walter. There are seven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren who survive. He also has two sisters in Maine.

The family came to Escondido from Crescent, Idaho, 11 years ago last July, since which time Mr. and Mrs. Gilman have resided on their five-acre ranch in the northwest part of the city. They have shown themselves to be a fine, thrifty family, building up a cozy, comfortable home, from a run-down place. Mr. Gilman was known as a tender-hearted, loving parent; a loyal, helpful neighbor, and a highly respected citizen. Manifestations of his esteem were shown by the universal response and sympathy from his neighbors. His death is regretted by all and a source of sorrow to all who knew him.

A loving one from us has gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in our midst, Which never can be filled.

But still we cannot help but feel, Our loss has been his gain. As he is through with earthly trials, Though his going gives us pain.

So let's not wish him back again. But each one live our best; That when the Angels call us home, We'll join him in his rest.

They have no unemployment in China. Everybody belongs to the army—or at least, to some army.

MODERATE WHEAT OFFERINGS MEET GOOD DEMAND

Domestic cash wheat markets were mostly steady during the week ending January 22, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The moderate offerings were meeting a good demand from mills and prices at the close of the period averaged higher than a week ago. Feed grains were steady with the unusually light offerings about equal to current trade needs. Rye was firmer with wheat, while flax strengthened slightly under continued light offerings and a steady but limited crusher demand.

There was little change in the general wheat market situation during the week. Unsettled economic conditions continued to restrict international trade and the principal deficit wheat areas were still depending to a larger extent than usual on local supplies. Milling restrictions are being modified, however, effective Feb. 1. Italian millers may import 30 percent of their bread wheat requirements and 80 percent of their durum-milling wheat needs. These percentages compare with 5 percent and 50 percent respectively, now in effect. Export demand for North American wheat has fallen off with increased offerings from the Southern Hemisphere. Argentine and Australian shipments for the week totaled about 7,250,000 bushels. Black Sea shipments were over 1,500,000 bushels, of which 304,000 bushels were Russian wheat. North American shipments decreased to around 5,000,000 bushels. Stocks on ocean passage have increased to 40,000,000 bushels.

Total world wheat stocks, exclusive of Russia and China, appeared to be somewhat smaller than a year ago. At the first of January the world available supply of wheat, comprised largely of North American wheat and flour, showed an increase of around 50,000,000 bushels over the corresponding figure a year ago and totaled 638,000,000 bushels. This was a record amount for that date. Stocks in the U. S. are still large and around 60,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago. After allowing for domestic utilization equal to that of last season and for the wheat and flour exported from July to December, Canadian supplies are a little less than a year ago. The new crop is now officially estimated at 304,144,000 bushels, or about 6,000,000 bushels above the November estimate. Supplies at the first of January in that country appear to be around 23,000,000 bushels smaller than a year earlier.

Complete data of the carry-over of old wheat in the Southern Hemisphere at the first of January are not available, but trade and official estimates indicate a decrease of around 58,500,000 bushels. Little definite data are available for European countries, but supplies of native wheat are reported to be unusually low as a result of milling restrictions. European port stocks have recently shown some decrease, suggesting a larger movement into consuming channels. Stocks in Great Britain are still above those of a year ago, but have recently shown a declining tendency.

But little authentic information is available on new crop conditions. The first forecast of acreage in the Punjab, one of the most important wheat producing provinces of India, shows an area of 10,758,000 acres for the 1922 harvest, which compares with 10,709,000 acres in 1921. The condition of the crop was reported at 95 percent of normal, compared with 91 percent at the corresponding time last year. Conditions in Europe are rather irregular. Too rapid growth for the time of year was reported in Hungary and France and the extreme mild weather is forcing crops in some areas. Dry weather during the week favored completion of harvest in Argentina. In the U. S. the winter wheat crop was reported in a satisfactory condition except in western Kansas and Nebraska, where stands are poor. Warm weather is forcing growth in the Ohio valley and increasing the danger from a sudden drop in temperatures. In the Pacific Northwest conditions are generally favorable, with a good snow cover prevailing over large sections of the wheat belt.

Domestic wheat markets strengthened during the week under a steady demand from mills. While future prices reacted somewhat from the advance earlier in the week, cash prices mostly held steady, with the increased premiums offsetting the decline in futures. Marketings of winter wheat increased slightly, with 2,826 cars received at the seven lead-

SPOKANE RESIDENTS ASK
"HALT SPENDING MANIA"

At a meeting of the North Hill Development club Monday night, the secretary, H. C. Hickey, was instructed to send a letter to Sam Humes, state engineer, protesting against the lavish waste of funds in road building. Pursuant to the instructions, Mr. Hickey sent Mr. Humes the following letter.

"For the last two years the attention of the members of our club has been called to the seemingly lavish waste of public funds, on the building, aligning and changing of highways in various parts of our state.

"Roads considered excellent less than five years ago, and on which have been expended hundreds of thousands of dollars of taxpayers' moneys, are abandoned or rendered useless by other parallel highways. Other thousands are expended in reducing insignificant grades, changing fractional curves, and at present we note that guide rails are being replaced that have seen service of less than five years.

"To many of us such expenditures appear to be a willful waste of public funds, also we are of the opinion that such money could be used more advantageously by applying them to county roads and street improvements within our cities and thus relieve the property of some of the burden it now bears.

"We realize that all road funds are covered by, and their expenditure dictated by law, yet it must be apparent to all directing and disbursing agencies that a halt must soon be called in this spending mania on our state highways."

UP TO INDIVIDUAL DRIVER —PROBLEMS NUMEROUS

The automobile accident problem should be approached from the standpoint that it is the individual driver's problem.

All encouragement should be given moves to modernize traffic codes and to pass laws requiring the examination of vehicles and drivers. These steps can save many lives, to say nothing of thousands of dollars worth of property. But at the same time we must do our utmost to drive home to the individual the responsibility that is his when he takes the wheel of a car and embarks upon the public streets and highways.

It has been suggested that an honor code be created for drivers. If all drivers would seriously subscribe to it the ghastly toll of deaths would drop over night. Not one fatal accident in ten is strictly unavoidable. In nine cases someone, through recklessness, carelessness or incompetence, has erred. A life snuffed out is the result.

A ton or two of metal and wood, moving at high speed, represents a tremendous destructive force if it is mishandled. None of us would take a chance on putting a stick of dynamite in a fire or looking down the muzzle of a gun and playing with the trigger. Yet hundreds of thousands of drivers do the motor equivalent of these acts—by going at excessive speeds on narrow roads or rough roads, by passing on curves, by cutting in and out in the face of oncoming traffic, by driving on the wrong side of the highway.

Public opinion must be directed, with all its force, toward making the individual conscious of his duty, if the accident toll is to be materially checked.

Take Out Trees

The cottonwood trees formerly gracing the parking in front of the Presbyterian church and in front of the home of Frank Rider, were removed "by force" Monday afternoon by Cleve Aikin, who wielded the axe. The trees have been a source of bother on account of the roots filling up the sewer for the past year or two and the village trustees thought the best way to stop the trouble was to remove the trees. Cottonwood trees are an abomination in more ways than one.

Kooskia Bank Closes

The Citizens State Bank of Kooskia, the only bank serving the upper Clearwater valley, closed its doors on Tuesday of this week, owing to a serious reduction of deposits and a depletion of the reserve fund, according to F. E. Quist, president. Inability to liquidate on loans to meet demands of depositors, was also given as a factor.

Idaho has suffered from the same cause for the past two or three years. Hundreds of thousands of dollars of good Idaho tax money has been foolishly spent in the straightening out of curves in tourist roads while the farmer, who pays a good percentage of the amount, has to sit away from the main highways in "mud up to his neck"—or nearly so—while the tourist rides by on pavement or oiled highways.

Governor C. Ben Ross has said that he is not in favor of building more tourist roads at the expense of the farmer. If this be true, he is a man after our own heart, regardless of political affiliation.

The farmer—the backbone of the country—must be taken into consideration, if this country is to prosper, as it has in the past. The ignoring of the farmer is going to cause a mighty upheaval one of these days and the professional politician and the one who says "the farmer be damned" is going to wonder what hit him.

No individual, no business can really be a part of a community without living in that community. A true understanding of the real needs of the community can only be had from the closest of associations.

That is why we feel that this bank holds such a favorable position in this community. The people of the community feel and know that it understands their needs and because it is a vital part of the community itself.

MODERATE WHEAT OFFERINGS MEET GOOD DEMAND

ing winter wheat markets, compared with 2,238 cars a week ago and 2,880 cars a year ago. At Kansas City prices of ordinary protein hard winter wheat advanced 1/4c to 1/2c during the week, although premiums for high protein types were reduced as much as 5c in some instances. At the close of the market January 22, ordinary protein No. 2 hard winter was quoted at 51c to 52c. At Omaha ordinary protein No. 2 hard winter sold at 51c and 1 1/2% per cent protein at 56 1/2c per bushel. Receipts at Denver were of only moderate volume. Demand was also limited. Western mills were taking small amounts and principally the lower protein types.

Pacific Coast markets strengthened slightly, largely in sympathy with the advance at Eastern points. No new business was reported since current quotations are well above an export basis. A fair demand for wheat prevailed at Portland and Seattle from local domestic mills and there was some improvement in the inquiry from California buyers. Export mills were working principally on the Chinese relief order and reported no new Oriental flour business. At the close of the market, January 22, Big Bend bluestem wheat was quoted at Portland at 78c, soft and western white at 65c, western red, hard winter and northern spring at 64 1/2c per bushel, sacked, basis No. 1. At Seattle western white, western red and hard winter were quoted at 66c per bushel, sacked, with 16 per cent protein, No. 1 dark northern spring from Montana in bulk at 94c per bushel. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 912 cars for the week, compared with 812 for the corresponding week last year. Current arrivals were mostly either going into storage or being applied on earlier sales. The Vancouver market was reported quiet with No. 1 Manitoba northern quoted at 65 1/2c in Canadian currency, which would be equivalent to 56 1/2c in U. S. money.

California markets were slightly firmer, reflecting the higher quotations in outside markets on wheat. Very little local wheat was being offered except at interior points and mills and industrial buyers were supplying their needs from Washington, Oregon and Texas. Inter-mountain offerings were small and at prices around 2c above quotations on similar grades from other sections. Flour demand was reported about normal, but mills were generally purchasing only relatively light amounts and were working on earlier purchases. At the close of the market January 22, western white and soft white wheat, ordinary protein, was offered at both San Francisco and Los Angeles at $1.22 to $1.25 per 100. Big Bend bluestem hard white, sacked, was quoted at $1.50 and No. 1 dark northern spring, 16 per cent protein, at $1.85 to $1.86 per 100, in bulk, both delivered dock San Francisco.

Soft winter wheat markets were slightly irregular under a fair milling and shipping inquiry. Prices at Kansas City advanced 1c to 2c during the week with No. 2 soft red quoted at 52c to 54 1/2c per bushel. The St. Louis market declined 1/4c with No. 2 soft winter selling at 57 1/2c per bushel. At Cincinnati No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at 58c to 60c per bushel. Milling demand was less active, but elevator interests were buying freely from other terminals to replace stocks.
Spring wheats were relatively firmer than other classes, with prices quoted 2 1/4c to 3 1/2c higher than a week ago at the principal markets. Receipts continued light, totaling only 462 cars at Minneapolis and 54 cars at Duluth. Of the Minneapolis inspections, 68 cars were winter wheat. Demand was principally from mills and was centered mainly on high protein types, which were in light supply. No. 1 dark northern was quoted at Duluth at 74c to 78c per bushel. Receipts were very light at that market but shipments were going out at a fair rate to mills.
Durum wheat was firm, but price advances were less than for bread grains.
Canadian wheat markets were steady but prices were not changed materially. At the close of the Winnipeg market January 22, No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at 59 1/2c in Canadian currency, which would be equivalent to about 51 1/2c in U. S. money.

Mr. McAllister III
Mr. McAllister, who has been the faithful janitor of the Kendrick school for many years, is now quite ill. We miss him very much at school and hope he will soon recover.

"Tiger House"
The student body play was unusually good and was attended by a large crowd. The audience was aware of an inward thrill which could not be expressed by words when the lights suddenly went out and the green eyes shone from the painting over the mantle. The next time the lights went out was even more exciting for the light on the mantle turned a very bright red—a significant color before a death. An exceptionally loud applause was heard when Aunt Sophia tipped the wine jug too often. Marvelous gangster work was carried on in the secret tomb behind the fireplace. A large store box served very well for storing persons whom they did not want in during the "Tiger" man's mad hunt for the collar of jewels stolen by Aunt Sylvia.

Everyone was aware that someone was playing the part of the tiger man, but—who was it? Arthur, who appeared to be almost beyond suspicion, was found to have committed murder, threatened to kill, and was now playing the part of a tiger in order to find the jewels.

DEPRESSION ON ITS WAY TO DOOR, SAYS BABSON

At Wellesley, Mass., Walter W. Babson, economist and statistician, said in a prepared statement: "The depression is in retreat." Babson did not predict a quick return to prosperity, but said that the outlook at long range was for better times.

"The Babson chart, which was the basis for my forecast of the market break in 1929," said Babson, "is now with equal positiveness indicating that we have seen the trough of the depression of 1930-32, and that the present year will show an irregular movement toward higher levels."
"The chart is now turning upwards for the first time in more than two years, except for the temporary rally of last spring. For some years to come I do not expect to see the Babson chart below the depth reached last November. Of course, this does not mean any sharp rise back to normal conditions, but it does indicate the depression is in retreat. The long range outlook is that fundamentally better times are now definitely assured."

Platform Conventions
The state platform conventions, under the new primary law, cannot be held before June 10, the attorney general's office advised R. P. Parry of Twin Falls, republican state chairman.
He reviewed the law providing that the platform convention must be held at least 16 days after the primaries and then declared it the apparent intention of the legislature to give county chairmen time to attend the convention after they are chosen. County chairmen, he said, are chosen 10 days after the primaries.

POISON in Your bowels!

Poisons absorbed into the system from souring waste in the bowels, cause that headachy, sluggish, bilious condition; coat the tongue; foul the breath; sap energy, strength and nerve-force. A little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will clear up trouble like that, gently, harmlessly, in a hurry. The difference it will make in your feelings over night will prove its merit to you.
Dr. Caldwell studied constipation for forty-seven years. This long experience enabled him to make his prescription just what men, women, old people and children need to make their bowels help themselves. Its natural, mild, thorough action and its pleasant taste commend it to people of all ages. That's why "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," as it is called, is the most popular laxative drugstore sell.

The new president, Nona McAllister, called a short business meeting. Another meeting will be held in two weeks.

Win and Lose
Saturday, January 23, the Kendrick girls won a fast game from the Lapwai girls, whom they met on the Lapwai floor. The local girls played the rules of the opponents, which necessitated them using the three division floor, a formation which the Kendrick girls had practiced for only a week. At the quarter the score was tied 8-8. During the remainder of the

24-Hour Divorce Mill
Down in the State of Chihuahua, Mexico, just across the border from Texas, a new divorce law has just been put into effect to compete with Reno—only no residence is necessary—you can get it by mail, and in one day, too. All you have to do is send a $50 fee, together with the consent of both parties to the divorce, and you will get your decree back in the next mail—or just as soon as they can get the thing together and get it in the mail. This is expected to put a big crimp in Reno's big divorce business.

It is claimed the divorce will "hold water" in both the United States and Mexico; that the law will be entirely constitutional and unassailable. If one of the parties to the divorce objects, then it will take 20 days to put it through—but there seems to be no way of stopping it—if either party to the matrimonial squabble wants to get "tied loose."

What both political parties seem to need now is fewer leaders and more dough-boys.

Cigars, Cigarettes, Tobaccos, Candy and Soft Drinks may be had at the new Raby Hotel. Good meals, too.

game Kendrick kept a few baskets ahead. The second half ended with the score 10-22.

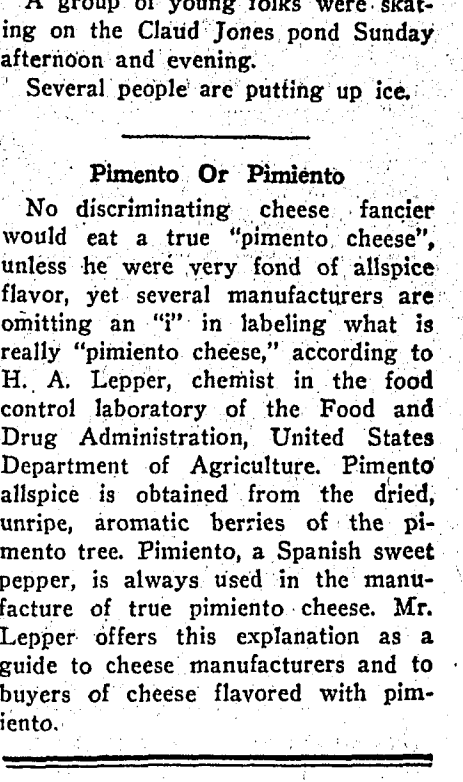

The next game will be Friday, January 29, with Genesee. This also promises to be an exciting game.
The local basketball boys also went to Lapwai in Frank Boyd's truck, Saturday, January 23, for their first conference game against the strongest team of the district. The Lapwai boys were able to keep ahead of the Kendrick team by quite a margin, but cheers from the rooters on both sides were given whenever a basket was made. At the end of the game, Lapwai walked off the floor victors by a score of 48-10. This, however, has not daunted Kendrick's courage, and they hope to be victors next Friday, January 29, when they meet Genesee at the High School gym.

Bill—"Stuck in the mud?"
George—"Oh, no," replied George cheerfully, "my engine died and I am digging a grave for it."

Pimento Or Pimiento
No discriminating cheese fancier would eat a true "pimento cheese", unless he were very fond of allspice flavor, yet several manufacturers are omitting an "i" in labeling what is really "pimiento cheese," according to H. A. Lepper, chemist in the food control laboratory of the Food and Drug Administration, United States Department of Agriculture. Pimento allspice is obtained from the dried, unripe, aromatic berries of the pimento tree. Pimento, a Spanish sweet pepper, is always used in the manufacture of true pimento cheese. Mr. Lepper offers this explanation as a guide to cheese manufacturers and to buyers of cheese flavored with pimento.

Restless CHILDREN
CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria As harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.
That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

Bagged Six Cougars

George Lowe, state predatory game hunter, last week brought six cougars down from the south fork country and exhibited them from a pole in Grangeville. The giant cats measured eight feet in length. Lowe said that each cat would have killed 25 deer before the winter was over, the deer being handicapped in their flight by snow and ice on the rivers. Often the deer break through the ice and are easy prey.

Reports of many cougars in the Riggins region will take Lowe and his courageous dogs there this week.

Afternoon Bridge Club

The Afternoon Bridge club was very pleasantly entertained last Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Wade Keene. The game was played at three tables, high score going to Mrs. R. H. Ramey. After the games a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be with Mrs. George Leith.

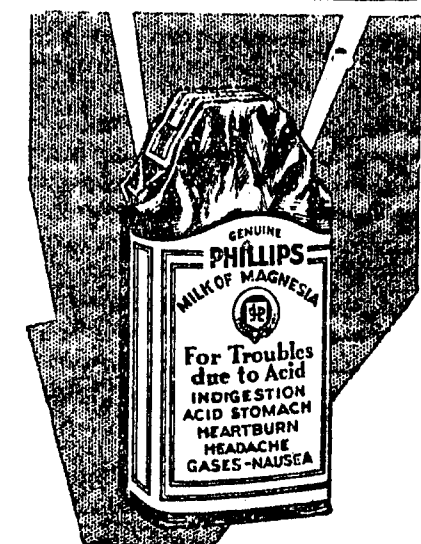

H. S. Play Well Received

The high school play, "The Tiger," given by the students Friday evening of last week was well attended and well received, many favorable comments having been heard. All taking part carried their parts well, showing that they had received splendid coaching at the hands of Mrs. Nancy Jarvis.

It seems that the principal hue and cry now-a-days is how to raise more taxes and not how to reduce expenses.

SOUR STOMACH

JUST a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard antacid for 50 years. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes. But don't depend on crude methods, try the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, the kind that the physicians prescribe. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Probably Fewer Americans are touring Europe this year, but they are probably enjoying every drop of it. We don't know which would look funnier in use, a 1910 model flivver or a 1910 model bathing suit.
