

STATE CHAMBER TELLS IDAHO TAX HISTORY

(This is a fourth of a series of articles dealing with taxation in Idaho and prepared by Glen Balch under the direction of the State Chamber of Commerce.)

Tax Topics

This series of articles has, already disclosed that a part of Idaho's heritage from a parent territory was an indebtedness of $169,556, representing the financial deficit of 27 years of stormy territorial government.

At first glance this might seem to indicate an extravagant ancestry, however closer scrutiny of the records reveals that the territorial fathers were not only fairly thrifty but on occasion exhibited some exceptionally good business judgment.

To secure a true picture of the ability of our early statesmen we must consider not only the liabilities which were passed on to the state but the assets as well.

Property Had Value

Among the more tangible portions of the estate of the deceased territory were numerous bits of property that had an undoubted value.

It was so history relates, an edifice of which any young state might be justly proud.

The capitol was situated on grounds donated by Boise City that were valued, by curb-stone appraisal presumably, at $25,000 and an additional sum of $15,000 had been expended in beautifying the site bringing the capitol investment to a total of approximately $125,000.

Additional Assets

A second asset inherited from the territory was the insane asylum, which in 1890 represented an investment of about $40,000 and had, by the way, 67 inmates, proving its need.

Also the territory had under construction a wagon road from Mt. Idaho in Idaho county to Little Salmon Meadows in Washington county.

A State University

The territory likewise owned property at Moscow, described as a beautiful university site, one mile from the heart of the city and representing an investment of $15,000.

Doubtless there were other things which the histories overlook, but using the above as a basis of comparison we find that Idaho inherited from the territory property with an investment value of at least $22,000 more than the total indebtedness.

From the federal government the new state received a penitentiary, described as "a model prison on a small scale," and the ground upon which it was located.

Also there were sizable land grants from Uncle Sam to the various educational, penal and charitable institutions that have proven of great value and are now important sources of revenue for the respective institutions to which they were given.

Add to these things the intangible

Snowstorm General

Snow started falling in this section the latter part of last week and continued doing so up until Tuesday, covering the canyon with several inches, but piling it deep and high on the uplands, several feet having accumulated on the hills.

The snow was general throughout the entire west and old man Winter has been acting as badly as the Japs have over in China and Manchuria.

SIX FINE TROUT LANDED FROM LOCAL PRIVATE POND

C. G. Compton is about the only fellow hereabouts that can boast of a recent catch of trout—notwithstanding Marvin Long's piscatorial abilities—he having landed six fine fellows from the E. A. Grant pond, just south of town.

Mr. Grant also planted 500 channel catfish fingerlings in the pond last spring, fearing that he had lost his trout during the high water of last April.

It will not be long until there will be plenty of catfish in the pond, as well as trout—if they get along well together.

Ground Hog Day

About the only thing that kept the groundhog from seeing his shadow Tuesday was the fact that he didn't happen to have a snow shovel handy, for the sun shone all right—enough, anyway, so the pesky little vermit could see his shadow.

There's no use, talkin' these would-be shootists around Kendrick will have to organize a ground-hog club and see what they can do to put a stop to this weather business in this section of the country—at least so far as the ground hog is concerned.

Sunday On American Ridge

Mrs. Dora Dougherty of Juliaetta was a Sunday dinner guest of Mrs. M. A. Deobald. She also visited at the home of her son, Clarence, and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dougherty were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ameling.

Dessert-Bridge

The "6-6" Bridge club was very pleasantly entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson, the game being played at the usual number of tables.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Helpman were invited guests.

Entertained at Dinner

Rev. and Mrs. Edward J. Smith and Mrs. N. B. Long were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Long Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Walker were dinner guests at the Herman Schupfer home Sunday.

"Volleyballers" To Troy

The Kendrick volleyball team, consisting of Herman Schupfer, Thos. Blevins, Geo. Leith, S. Cook, Ed. Deobald, Herman Blum and Ben Cummings went to Troy Wednesday night to tangle with the Troy ball tossers and we understand the Kendrick boys won by a small margin.

Rebekahs Entertained Hubbys

The members of the Rebekah Lodge entertained their husbands Tuesday evening after the business session. Bridge and pinocle were played at four tables. Refreshments were served.

Confined To Home

E. H. Emery is confined to his bed with illness, the cause being high blood pressure. He is resting at this time and it is hoped he will soon be able to be out again.

"PRUNING" MIGHT WELL BE EMULATED BY OTHERS

Clipping a total of $36,510.50 from a proposed county budget of $83,870.50, the commissioners of Cassia county, in cooperation with the county tax committee, set an example, recently that if followed by other counties would do much to relieve taxpayers of their current burden.

The Cassia county savings, members of the State Chamber of Commerce's executive tax committee believe, is an indication of what can be accomplished through the wholehearted cooperation of the various county officials and intelligent application of the principals of thrift to governmental expenditures.

Efficient and thrifty management of school districts, highway districts, municipalities and the various subsidiary governing units is one practical method of reducing the tax burden, it is believed by the members of the State Chamber's tax executive committee.

In 1931 the district levied a tax of 2 1/2 mills for educational purposes. Such a levy, being above that permitted by the statutes, required and received the approval of the voters.

However, in 1932 the voters unexpectedly did not approve the addition and the district officials found themselves able to levy 19 mills. In view of this reduced income, it seems as if drastic retrenchments would be necessary, involving among other things the reduction by several months of the school year.

With this man the board went through its budget from A to Z and a process of pruning was inaugurated. When the smoke had cleared away the board found that not only would it be able to maintain a full length school but likewise there would be a surplus that could be placed in the bond interest and sinking fund.

And the village, inspired by the school district's success, found ways and means of lopping 4 mills from its levy, making a total savings of 10 mills to the taxpayers of that particular community without any serious impairment of service.

Members of the executive committee believe that the lesson contained in this community's experience can be used beneficially as an example by other governing units who find themselves in financial straits.

Troy Almost Has Gold Rush

Satisfied that gold exists at the old Frisk ranch a mile and a half northeast of Troy, a shaft has been sunk 120 feet and traces of the yellow metal found, according to Howard Luther, owner of the ranch, and Harry Condel and John Milton, working the property.

Several years ago gold was reported found at the ranch and a company formed for developing the mine. Work was abandoned and the company dissolved when it was found the shaft had been sunk too deep.

Entertained at Bridge

Another one of those very pleasant evening bridge parties was given Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas, the invited guests each bringing a covered dish. After lunch, bridge was played at five tables, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ramey holding high combined score.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames F. H. Rider, Wade T. Keene, Geo. Leith, R. H. Ramey, D. A. Christensen, A. K. Carlson, E. H. Emery, W. A. Watts, Mrs. Mary Adams, Miss Josephine Deagen and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas.

Parents of Son

Mr. and Mrs. C. Davis, residents of Orofino, are the proud parents of a son, born Monday, February 1, at the home of Mr. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis, living in Kendrick.

Mother and babe are doing nicely.

BYRON DEFENBACH ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Byron Defenbach has sent out information announcing that he will be a candidate for the nomination for governor, at the primaries, to be held next May. Following is a statement of intentions sent out by Mr. Defenbach:

I am a candidate for nomination for governor of Idaho, subject to the will of the republican voters in the coming primaries. I do not contemplate any extensive pre-preliminary campaign, do not know of and will not be party to any deals or combinations, and will make no promises except publicly and to the people of the State as a whole.

The next governor of Idaho will be confronted with difficult problems; of these, the excessive and growing cost of government overshadows all others. The first step in the solution of this problem is the reduction of the gross load. Reform should begin where abuses are most glaring—in the state government. When this reform has become a certainty, and not before, the state administration may with propriety request and insist upon similar action by subordinate governing bodies.

The taxpayers of Idaho will no longer be diverted by the three ancient alibis: 1. "The state-tax doesn't amount to anything;" 2. "Taxes are not too high, if properly distributed;" 3. "People want things, and then don't want to pay for them."

The incoming governor, recognizing instead of evading existing unsatisfactory conditions, will recommend:

No more "continuing" appropriations; the reduction of the public debt; the simplification of state government; abolition of the so-called cabinet form; discontinuance of all activities not useful; allocation of remaining duties, wherever possible, to the elective officers of the state; less state-owned automobiles, and less use of those retained; all appointments to be based upon technical, rather than upon political fitness; salaries and hours of service to be the same as those obtaining in similar positions in private enterprises; new appointees to receive beginner's salaries, with promotions based on merit.

My attitude on the questions with which your next governor will have to deal, is in accord with the above program. I can only promise that, if elected, I will use my best efforts toward putting these reforms into effect. As to my qualifications and the probability of my keeping my promises, I point to my past record in public life and leave the decision to the judgment of the voters.

Gave Farewell Parties

A farewell party was given Wednesday night of last week by Miss Bessie Blevins in honor of Miss Eldwa Jones, who departed the next day for Spokane where she was to take up nurse's training at St. Luke's hospital. Cards and dancing were the pleasures of the evening. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

The invited guests were: Eldwa Jones, Edna Lohman, Jane Plummer, Elizabeth Carlson, Bessie Morey, Bessie Blevins, Walter Morey, Hugh McDowell, Claude Woody, Lovick Walbeck, Ralph Blevins and Jack Plummer.

A taffy pull was given earlier in the week at the home of Edna Lohman for Miss Jones, those present being Misses Eldwa Jones, Bessie Blevins and Edna Lohman; Hugh McDowell, Ralph Blevins and Lovick Walbeck.

Should Be Protected

And now "XYZ" of Lewiston Orchards says that we are going to have a diversified month, somewhat similar to January but with Spring conditions opening before the close of the month.

We hope he is right. Little Miss Spring should be protected by all means—but by whom? We have had so many high officers, such as General Prosperity, General Business, and others who have allowed General Depression to out-general them, that something should be done to see that little Miss Spring is not kept "just around the corner" too long.

Realty Transfers

A warranty deed filed at the courthouse at Lewiston last week transferred ownership of 180 acres of land from Charles Johnson to R. B. Parks, both of Leland. The consideration was not given.

Another deed transferred 160 acres of land from Wesley Hartinger, Leland, to Fred Sillow, Cameron. No consideration was mentioned.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held in the Raby Hotel Monday evening, February 8, and all interested in the welfare of our little city are asked to please be present.

The wives of the members are cordially invited to attend this meeting. There will perhaps be several things that need attention, and a report will be made on the trip of the committee to the Lewiston meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce.

LEWISTON CELESTIALS EXPRESS VIEWS ON WAR

Lewiston's Chinese colony, numbering about 60, believes war between China and Japan is inevitable and that if the United States is drawn into the conflict it will support China, says the Tribune.

War is the chief topic discussed by members of the colony. Already the local Chinese have taken steps of reprisal against Japan by boycotting all merchandise manufactured in that country and which until several months ago was handled in stores conducted by the Chinese.

At the Kwong Wo Lung company and Wing Wo Yuen company, merchandise markets conducted by Chinese on old Sixth street, groups of celestials gather each day to talk over the situation. They are reticent as to how they are extending aid to their fatherland but intimate broadly this is being done and will continue.

"The trouble has been on for five years," Wah said. He went to China two years ago and returned with his wife and their children, a boy and a girl. "China does not want war; everybody knows this," Wah said. "My country has had a hard time trying to get food, and the men, women and children are to be pitted. The United States is the best friend China has, and has helped the country." He referred to the flour shipments being made to the Orient as one evidence of the humanitarian view of the United States toward China.

Short—One Gas Pump

The immediate use of too much of their high-powered gas, caused Deobald Brothers to be short (at this time) one perfectly good gas pump, that used to grace their place of business near the street. However, the other morning a patron stepped on the gas and cramped his car just a night too much when backing out and caused the back end of his car to come in sudden contact with the pump: Gas pump in hospital at rear of the garage for repairs.

Improvements Progressing

The making of improvements at the Long store is still going forward, but is lasting longer than Mr. Long had figured on for the reason that more had to be done. A new section of floor is being laid and underpinning strengthened, as well as other necessary improvements and rearrangement of the store room, which, when completed, will make for much convenience for those waiting on the trade.

Hard Luck

A news item from Weippe appeared in the Morning Tribune of Sunday, wherein it was stated that a resident of that section had severed the index finger of his left hand while splitting wood.

We have always contended that men were entirely too nervous, or sumptin' to be allowed to split wood or kindling. A light axe for the faithful housewife would have saved the gentleman the finger and much suffering.

Death of Mrs. Louise Johns

Mrs. Louise Johns, mother of Mrs. Thos. McDowell, passed away at her home in Kendrick Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, the cause of death being apoplexy. She was 75 years of age.

Further particulars will be given next week.

GRAIN MARKET FIRMER WITH COLDER WEATHER

Wheat futures advanced rather sharply toward the close of the week ending Jan. 29, influenced by threatened damage from lower temperatures to the unprotected and growing domestic winter wheat crop and also by the unsettled political situation in the Orient according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Rye and feed grains strengthened with wheat. Cash grain markets were mostly firmer with futures, but price advances were less marked and at several points cash grain was quoted unchanged or slightly lower than a week ago.

WHEAT: New crop developments and prospective acreage to be harvested in 1932 are becoming increasingly important factors in the world wheat market situation. The outstanding feature to date among winter wheat producing areas is the decrease of around 4,500,000 acres in the U. S. acreage and the relatively unfavorable condition of the domestic crop in important areas in the Western part of the Belt.

This however, has been partially offset by larger seedings and more favorable conditions in other countries. India apparently has seeded the largest acreage since 1918, with the preliminary estimate which normally represents 98 percent of the total acreage, placed at 32,437,000 acres, or around 6.8 percent above the corresponding estimate a year ago and also slightly above the final harvested area last season.

Crop conditions however are only fair, with additional moisture needed in some areas. Trade and official data now available for eight European countries show an increase of around 1,500,000 acres or a little more than 3 percent. Increased acreages are reported for the important deficit countries of France, Germany and Italy, with conditions favorable. Conditions in Spain, so far, are good despite the recent changeable weather. In the countries of the Lower Danube some reduction is indicated in Rumania, with areas in other countries showing a little change from a year ago.

The snow cover is inadequate in Hungary but is fairly abundant in other sections. Conditions in North African countries are favorable, although recent rains caused some flood damage in Tunis. In Algeria, germination of early seedings was regular and the condition of late plantings has improved with recent rains.

While the uncertainty as to developments in the Orient, where political conditions are very unsettled, tended to strengthen the general wheat market situation during the week, current demand continued of only moderate volume, with European requirements being supplied principally from the Southern Hemisphere offerings. The Australian and Argentine shipments totaled about 8,000,000 bushels during the week and comprised over one-half of the world's shipments of 15,000,000 bushels. The control of the Argentine grain markets has been temporarily vested in the Argentine Department of Agriculture, but as yet no change in operations has been reported.

Samples of Argentine wheat on English markets are reported of good quality, while Australian wheat is averaging about one pound per bush heavier than a year ago. Russian shipments decreased to only 384,000 bushels during the week. Prices of native wheats in Europe were generally steady, except in Italy, where a decline of about 3c was reported at Milan. Good milling wheat was quoted in that market at $1.49 on Jan. 28.

Native milling wheat was quoted at Paris at $1.68, the same as a week ago and at Hamburg at $1.51, an advance of 4c for the week. American Durum wheat was quoted CIF Marseilles at 85c and CIF Naples at 77 1/2c per bushel. Italian Durum was quoted at Marseilles at $1.69.

Pacific Coast markets did not follow the advance at Eastern points but continued weak as a result of the lack of export outlet and rather slow demand from domestic mills. Export mills in the Pacific Northwest continued active operation on the Chinese flour contract. From the total of 1,600,000 barrels, 1,325,000 barrels has now been allocated to mills. While no export sales of wheat were reported during the week, a sale of 1,000 barrels of flour was made to Shanghai from a mill with an established brand in that market. Receipts of wheat at Columbia River and Puget Sound markets totaled 602 cars, compared with 310 cars the corresponding week last season. At the close of the market.

Out of the Sino-Japanese crisis may come approval by congress of a $600,000,000 naval construction bill and dismissal by the democratic house of efforts to economize by curtailing army and navy expenditures. Senator Hale of Maine, chairman of the senate naval committee, plans in a speech on the floor this week to urge passage of the legislation. Although approved by the house naval committee, the measure has been shelved pending the outcome of the Geneva general arms conference.

Should the far east situation become still more acute, many members indicated they would be anxious to see the huge construction plan rushed through at once.

Needs Fixin'

There's something decidedly wrong with the heating plant in coach No. 1076, or some such number, that brings up the rear of the morning passenger from Lewiston about every other day. Anyway, there have been a number of times that Kendrick passengers have complained of a lack of heat in the rear passenger coach—and even the train crew admitted that "it is hard to heat". That wasn't what ailed it the other morning when we happened to come up from the metropolis of the Banana Belt—it was just naturally cold.

A man was unkind enough the other day to say that the State of Washington "would certainly be in a pickle" if they happened to nominate Senator Dill for the vice-presidency.

Another "Sham Battle"
Suit to test the constitutionality of the Idaho income tax law was filed Monday in the supreme court by the attorney general.
The suit involved a claim of $10 for stamps purchased by the income tax commissioner, Ben Diefendorf, which State Auditor E. G. Gallet, in line with the agreement, declined to certify to the board of examiners for payment.
The tax commissioner sought a writ of mandate to compel the auditor to certify the claim. Date for return of the writ has not been fixed.
Both parties wish a decision before the first returns are due under the tax law, which is March 15.
Attorneys named by the state chamber of commerce will represent the state auditor in attacking the constitutionality of the law.

for ANY BABY

WE can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't you should call a physician.

How Old?

He doesn't look a day over fifty. And feels like forty. At the age of 62.
That's the happy state of health and pep a man enjoys when he gives his vital organs a little stimulant!
When your system is stagnant and you feel sluggish, headachy, half-alive—don't waste money on "tonics" or "regulators" or similar patent medicines. Stimulate the liver and bowels. Use a famous physician's prescription every drug store keeps. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.
This appetizing syrup is made from fresh laxative herbs, active isenna, and pure pepsin. One dose will clear up almost any case of headache, biliousness, constipation.
But if you want to keep in fine shape, feel fit the year 'round, take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin every few days. You'll eat better, sleep better and feel better. You will never need another laxative.
Give the children a little of this delicious syrup two or three times a week. A gentle, natural stimulant that makes them eat and keeps the bowels from clogging. And saves them from so many sick spells and colds.
Have a sound stomach, active liver and strong bowel muscles that expel every bit of waste and poison every day! Just keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin on hand; take a stimulating spoonful every now and then. See if you don't feel new vigor in every way.
