

STATE CHAMBER TELLS IDAHO TAX HISTORY

(This is the seventh of a series of articles dealing with taxation in Idaho, written by Glenn Balch, under the direction of the State Chamber of Commerce.)

Idaho's governmental tree has, during its 40 years of existence, been subjected to many operations, especially graftings. True, there have been some amputations, but the fact that the number of governmental functions and items have increased from 18 in 1891 to about 115 at present, is conclusive proof that the amputations have been in the minority.

The first legislature made appropriations for the various state officers, the governor, the treasurer, auditor, attorney general, superintendent of public instruction and the secretary of state; for the supreme court, district courts and district attorneys; for maintenance of the capitol building; for the insane asylum, land office, penitentiary, national guard, legislature, state law library, bond interest and deaf and blind education.

That was the sum total of governmental functions at that time. The largest of these appropriations was $95,000 for the insane asylum. Other appropriations were: $61,000 for the penitentiary; $46,500 for the legislature; $40,000 for the district courts; $26,680 for the supreme court and $25,000 for district attorneys.

New Appropriations Added

Adding operations begin with the next legislature, which convened in 1893. Appropriations for the university, a mine inspector, a boiler inspector and a soldiers' home were added. There were two amputations, the appropriations for deaf and blind education and for bond interest being eliminated. Both of these items, however, were due to make their reappearance shortly.

In 1895 a state engineer and a horticultural inspector were added, the latter being the beginning of our present agriculture department. The engineer's appropriation totaled $8,800, while the inspector received only $2100.

The 1897 legislature added appropriations of $14,000 each for the two normal schools to the list. The next legislature, 1899, provided for eight new items: A sheep inspector, a board of pardons, a board of equalization, insurance for the state library and buildings, official bonds, codification of laws, fish and game and immigration and labor statistics.

Mineral Exhibit Purchased

In 1901 $5,000 was appropriated to purchase a mineral exhibit and $6,000 to provide a traveling library. In 1903, appropriations for the industrial training school, the Academy of Idaho and the insurance department, totaling $39,000, were added. In 1905 a dairy, food and oil inspector was provided for, and the north Idaho insane asylum, a state veterinarian and a bank examiner were added to the list.

A board of health, the historical society and the Children's home received appropriations totaling $17,000 in 1907. The next legislature, meeting in 1909, added a grain commission, the G. A. R., Indian War veterans and a water commissioner to the list.

The next four succeeding legislatures carried on the work of finding new appropriation needs steadily and we find that by 1917 appropriations were being or had been made for new items as follows: Lava Hot Springs, state board of medical examiners, Heyburn Park, pure seed, to enforce anti-trust law, board of education and regents, timber fire protection, feeble minded sanitarium, dairy, food and sanitary department, state chemist, predatory animals, return of fugitives from justice, public utilities commission, state tax commission, director of farm markets, industrial administration fund, Pocatello law library, a livestock show at Lewiston and a state fair at Boise.

Departments Created

The following legislature, in 1919, instituted the cabinet form of government and the various departments came into being. Among them were: the department of agriculture, the land department, the department of law enforcement, the department of public investments, the department of public welfare, the department of public works and the department of reclamation.

Also a large number of boards and bureaus, including the bureau of the budget, the bureau of public accounts, the bureau of finance and the bureau

"Alfalfa Bill" Be Candidate

"Alfalfa Bill," Oklahoma's militant governor, seems to think that just because he ruled Oklahoma with an iron hand he would make a good president of this great country. He might, at that, but the chances are small that he will be given a chance to even try. Bill is a "good democrat," just like Bill Rogers—only Rogers makes money by making jokes. We are afraid "Alfalfa Bill" would be such a big one that the people couldn't even laugh at it, to say nothing of believing he is serious.

Much Material Delayed

Owing to the severe storms of last week, which in many instances delayed mails and transportation, and with stages and trains far behind schedule, a great deal of our country correspondence was delayed and is now appearing in this issue of the Gazette. We are sorry this happened, but no one has any control over the elements so we feel—better late than never.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING CROP LOANS TO FARMERS

Regulations governing loans to be made farmers from the $50,000,000 crop production money set aside from Reconstruction Finance corporation funds, have been made known in a bulletin issued by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde.

The Spokane loan office, to be headed by John F. Davies, Spokane banker, will handle loans in the four northwest states. Harry E. Goldsworthy of Rosalia, will be loan inspector here, while V. D. Allen will be auditor.

All applications for loans must be made before April 30. Loans are payable on or before November 30, with interest at 5 1/2 per cent per year.

No loans will be made for summer following, it is revealed in the bulletin. All applicants must agree to plant a garden for home use and a sufficient acreage of feed crops to supply feed for their livestock.

Other principal regulations are: No loans for crop production in 1932 will be made to any applicant in excess of $400. Loans for crop production in counties where fertilizer is not commonly used will be made at rates not to exceed $3 per acre, except for truck crops, including potatoes and sweet potatoes, for which loans will be made not to exceed $12 per acre. Where fertilizer is deemed essential the rate will not exceed $6 per acre or $20 per acre for truck crops and potatoes.

Not to exceed $1 per acre of such loans may be used for repairs and miscellaneous expenses other than seed, fertilizer, work, stock feed and fuel and oil for tractors.

Loans not to exceed $25 per acre will be available for fertilizer and spraying and dusting of bearing fruit trees and vineyards.

Applicants must agree to use seed and methods approved by the department.

No loans will be made to any applicant who has a means of livelihood other than farming, nor to a minor.

Loans will not be made for the purpose of machinery, or live stock, or for feeding live stock other than work stock used in crop production, or for the payment of taxes, debts or interest on debts.

A crop mortgage on the 1932 crop may be deemed sufficient security by the secretary.

The department reserves the right to harvest the crop in the event the farmer fails to protect it and harvest it at the proper time.

The applicant must secure waivers in favor of the department on any prior mortgage or claim on the crop. The department may pay the loan to the farmer in installments, on showing of proper expenditure of each installment already paid.

There is also a plan for having a committee of three in each county to furnish information about local conditions.

Plowed Out Roads

On Monday Ben Cummings took the new snow-plow, which is mounted on the forward end of the big highway "cat," to the Cameron-Southwick sector of snowdrifts and proceeded to batter them "all samee Jap-Chinese tanks" in the present unpleasantness in the far east.

Ben has had pretty good luck removing snow from the highways with the new plow, but on Monday he encountered a few large "cakes" of mud while working on the Cedar creek road that almost put the plow out of business. However, he brought it to the Deobald hospital where it was put in shape again and he was soon out on the roads looking for more snow to conquer.

Many Attend Dinner and Program

There was a good attendance at the dinner and program given in the Community church last Friday evening, the event being in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Lincoln and Washington.

There was a splendid cafeteria dinner served at 7 o'clock which was followed by a very interesting program in the church which was heard by a goodly number of people and much enjoyed.

Refused to Support Family of 23

Michael Dereso, 55, of Hoboken, N. J., has been sentenced to serve a year and a day in jail for refusal to support his family, which includes 23 children. He said that two years ago he owned a $100,000 orchard, but today is a peddler. Eighteen of his children are self-supporting.

LEGISLATORS HAVE GONE WILD ON APPROPRIATIONS

Just recently the administration bill was put in force setting aside a "measly" little old two billion dollars for the purpose of building up the credit of the nation and assisting banks and farmers. But seemingly not satisfied with this small amount, senators and congressmen have gone wild in an orgy of appropriation bills, demanding that bills aggregating more than 29 billions more than the government budget be passed.

It makes one wonder sometimes if an alienist should not be called to examine some of the would-be legislators who demand, in the face of the present financial crisis, that these bills, for an almost unheard-of amount, be saddled on the taxpayers of the nation, when the hue and cry throughout the country is for reduction in taxes.

The following article from the Washington (D. C.) Post, captioned "The Squanderers," is indeed very timely:

The Post presents a partial list of bills offered in congress during this session, together with an estimate of the amount called for by each bill. The sum total exceeds $29,000,000,000, all of which is outside of and beyond the budget.

Presumably each of these bills has been offered in good faith. Certainly no senator or representative would admit he had offered a bill for the purpose of deceiving his constituents with false hopes, or that, although knowing his bill would drain the treasury and increase taxation, he had offered it merely to gain notoriety or to embarrass the administration, and without thought that it would be enacted.

Some of the chief critics of President Hoover are the authors of bills which, if enacted, would bankrupt the treasury and increase taxes. Senator McKellar, for example, attacks Mr. Hoover for extravagance in making up the budget, and yet Mr. McKellar proposes to make appropriations aggregating $860,000,000 beyond the budget.

Senator La Follette, an advocate of unemployment relief, would exact from taxpayers the sum of $5,750,000,000 without provision against their consequent destitution.

Senator Norris, a critic of administration efficiency, offers to help by draining the treasury of $3,126,000,000 which it does not possess.

Senator Brookhart yearns for the relief of agriculturists and veterans, to such an extent that he would add to the deficit by $3,500,000,000.

Can it be that the astounding demands contained in this list are the result of careful thought on the part of the authors? Have they studied the state of the treasury and revenues and tried to adjust their proposals to the condition of the taxpayers? If so, they reveal themselves to be utterly ignorant and incompetent.

Where is the sense of responsibility on the part of the legislators who propose to bankrupt the government and impoverish the taxpayer?

What value can be attached to the opinions of a legislator, on any subject, if he destroys public confidence by demanding appropriations for his pet projects equal to or exceeding the entire budget of the United States government?

The mere listing of these proposals enables the taxpayers of the United States to form a picture of the obstacles confronting President Hoover in his efforts to keep the government solvent. Many legislators in both parties are faithfully cooperating with him in trying to reduce expenditures and conserve revenue for necessities. But others, who are among his most bitter critics, are asking congress to plunge into bankruptcy and national panic.

Bills Demanded Before Congress

Below is a partial list of the staggering total of appropriations demanded in bills before congress.

Public roads	8,525,000,000
Army	25,500,000
Navy	411,200,000
Aids to Indians	28,000,000
Aids to agriculture	1,931,000,000
Unemployment relief	577,000,000
General welfare	8,201,000,000
Veterans	637,000,000
Total	$29,028,000,000

Life in Russia is said to be just one five-year plan after another.

Mix An Aspirant "Gov" Mix of Moscow, lieutenant governor of Idaho, now thinks he would like to be a United States senator. Well, there are a lot more who have been trying to climb into the same band-wagon. Maybe "Gov" could fix it up with "Alfalfa Bill" to give him a little boost. One stands just about as good a chance as the other to get to the point to which they aspire.

The high stools at the pie counter are sometimes hard to mount.

REPORT DEER BEING KILLED OUT OF SEASON

Reliable reports have been current recently that several deer have been killed up the canyon toward Cedar creek, and other localities. There are no "ifs" nor "ands" about some of the story. It might be a good idea if those killing deer at this time would be a little more careful. Over at Orofino the other day Ernest Ederle was given a 30-day jail sentence for killing a deer out of season by Justice Loomis at Orofino.

There are many deer up the Potlatch canyon, having been driven to the lower level by the deep snow. The elk that were brought to this part of the country a couple of years ago have also been seen many times recently. Just last week they were said to be on the east hill slope, only just a short distance from town.

If these animals—and the deer—are let alone, there is every likelihood of good hunting nearby next fall, although elk are protected in Latah county at all times.

Show Hand Labor Cheaper

Representatives of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce and the Nez Perce County Taxpayers' league have united in a program to obtain economy in government and to further unemployment relief. Hand labor on all highway relief projects is being urged. Seventy men are working on the Lewiston spiral highway and the cost of rock excavation there has been 79 cents a yard, compared with 84 cents for excavation by machinery. Business men declare that the tax burden on city property is as severe as that upon farms. Reconstruction of the state revenue system by the legislature is necessary for tax relief, was the opinion expressed.

High educational costs were condemned and consolidation of school districts was discussed.

Cougar Near Kendrick

A very large cougar—according to the amount of noise those who have professed to have heard it say it makes—is reposing in the hills not far up the canyon from Kendrick, supposedly driven down by hunger as most of the deer from the upper country are now above town only a few miles.

Of course those who claim to have heard the fearful cries of the animal are sober men, so the noise couldn't possibly have come from within.

It is known to a certainty that it is only a few miles up the canyon to where there are plenty of bob cats and it may be that one of these little fellows got extra noisy.

Open Season For Candidates

The open season for candidates has very evidently arrived for the Gazette is receiving almost daily—and sometimes oftener—much propaganda, bunk, or what have you, from candidates for various offices, mostly for that of United States senator, thus far. But up to the present time none of the envelopes have contained anything that resembled money or a check to cover the cost of expected, or requested, publication. Until that blessed day arrives we fear there will not be much publication of this nature done in the Gazette.

We still have some "promise to pay" bills of politicians left over from the campaign of two years ago.

More Bad News

Bad news just keeps filtering in from day to day. Now comes the information that the DeBeers diamond mines, at Kimberly, Africa, will be closed March 1—on account of the "repression." There is just no telling what calamity we may be called upon to face.

Gasoline Down

Gasoline in Kendrick is now selling at a price approaching the low of last fall—21c. This is a 2c drop from the previous price and levels with Lewiston, which formerly was 22 1/2c but is now 21c.

GRAIN MARKET MAIN-TAINS FIRMER TONE

Further strengthening occurred in domestic wheat markets during the week ending February 19, under the influence of a broadening European demand for North American wheat, further advances in security markets and uncertain prospects for this season's domestic winter wheat crop, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains were strengthened by the advance in wheat, but demand continued of limited volume and was readily supplied by the light current offerings. Rye was firmer with wheat, while flax advanced, stimulated by higher grain prices and very light receipts.

Pacific coast wheat markets were strengthened under the influence of higher prices at eastern points, but advances were less pronounced because of the slow demand from domestic mills and lack of export business. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals were relatively large, totaling 1095 cars, compared with only 375 cars for the corresponding week last year. The movement however, represented principally the transfer of stocks from interior to terminal warehouses before the increase in freight effective February 20. Export mills continued to operate on the Chinese relief orders and all but 100,000 barrels of which have now been allotted. Shipments of wheat and flour continued to go forward according to original schedules. Inquiry from California was rather slow, since California buyers were generally taking only sufficient grain for immediate requirements and were supplying most of their current needs from stocks accumulated earlier in the season. No export sales of either wheat or flour were reported, since local prices continued out of line with offerings from Australia and Canada. At the close of the market February 19, Big Bend bluestem hard white was quoted at Seattle at 72c, western white and hard winter at 62c, and western red at 61c per bushel, sacked, for No. 1 dark northern spring from Montana, with 10 per cent protein, was quoted in bulk at 93c. Bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at 73c, soft and western white at 62c, hard winter, northern spring and western red at 59 1/2c per bushel, sacked, for No. 1 wheat. An unusual in the market for bluestem this season, has been the sale of around 100 cars to Minneapolis for use in the manufacture of cereals.

California wheat markets held about unchanged in local grain, but prices on wheat for shipment from outside areas were advanced from 2 1/2c to 5c per 100. Trading in local wheat was confined almost entirely to sales in interior centers, where out of state wheat was at a freight disadvantage. Growers in some instances were reducing stocks before the tax assessment period at the first of March, but interior supplies were reported at low levels and total offerings were of only moderate volume. Inquiry for northern wheat was limited, as was also demand for inter-mountain and Texas grain. Poultry feeders were taking smaller amounts, since they have killed flocks heavily and have not greatly increased young stock. At the close of the market February 19, local No. 1 hard white wheat was quoted at San Francisco at $1.35 and No. 2 hard white at Los Angeles at the same price. No. 1 soft white wheat was quoted at San Francisco at $1.25 and No. 2 soft or western white at Los Angeles at $1.20 to $1.22 per 100. No. 1 western white from Washington and Oregon, ordinary protein, was quoted delivered San Francisco at $1.17 1/2 to $1.20 and No. 1 Big Bend bluestem at $1.40 per 100, sacked. No. 2 hard winter, 13 per cent protein, from Texas, was quoted delivered in bulk at $1.33 and at Los Angeles at $1.30 per 100. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at Los Angeles at $1.18 to $1.20 per 100.

New crop prospects are becoming increasingly important influence in the wheat market situation and the present uncertain condition of the Northern Hemisphere winter wheat crop has recently been a strengthening factor in the market. The U. S. winter wheat crop made generally favorable progress during the week, except in western Kansas, where prospects are poor. The condition of winter wheat in Europe is rather irregular. Severe freezing without snow covering, has occurred in Austria, Czechoslovakia and

A cake contest is to be held this coming Saturday, February 27, among the high school students and the people of the town. The cakes are to be judged by a committee of three, appointed especially for this purpose, and will be exhibited at the Ellis Cash Store, who are sponsors of the contest.

Cash prizes will be awarded winners of the contest. All cakes entered will be sold at auction, with the proceeds going to the school athletic fund.

Parents and students are urged to contribute cakes. Auctioning will take place at Ellis' Cash store on Saturday evening, commencing at 7 o'clock.

GRAIN MARKET MAIN-TAINS FIRMER TONE
some other areas. A good snowfall, on the other hand, has improved conditions in Italy, Spain and Hungary, but the outlook in the latter country is not favorable. Lack of moisture is reported in Denmark and Portugal but milder weather during the week favored the new crop in Germany and France. Some damage is reported to winter wheat in Russia, by alternate freezing and thawing, which caused the formation of an ice cover in December and again in January. The acreage of winter wheat in Russia has been increased 11.4 per cent over that of a year ago and is officially reported at 32,337,000 acres. The condition of the crop in India, where harvest begins in March, is only fair, with a deficiency in moisture reported in important areas.
World shipments of wheat continued of good volume during the week reflecting some improvement in European demand, but consisted principally of shipments from the Southern Hemisphere. Argentina exports were reported at 4,218,000 bushels, and the Australian out-movement at 4,546,000 bushels. Black Sea shipments amounted to only 408,000 bushels, all of Russian wheat. Most of the remainder of the World's exports was of North American grain. Reduced supplies of native wheat in Europe resulted in some modifications of milling restrictions. The quota of foreign wheat allowed French millers has been increased to 20 per cent and trade reports indicate that some modification of German import tariffs is being considered. Prices of native wheats advanced in most European markets, with good milling wheat quoted February 19, at Hamburg at $1.59½, at Paris at $1.72¼ and at Milan at $1.64½. The market for foreign wheats also strengthened, with sales of No. 2 Manitoba from Vancouver reported at Liverpool at 68c and for old crop Argentine wheat at 58¾c. No. 2 Manitoba from Vancouver was being offered at London at 65c, Argentine and Rosate at 53¾c and Australian wheat from New South Wales at 61½c per bushel.
Domestic cash wheat markets were firm with futures, despite sharply increased offerings of winter wheat. Receipts at the principal central western markets totaled 4774 cars for the week, compared with only 2982 cars for the corresponding week last year. The increased movement was attributed in part to the increase in freight rates effective March 20, and to the approaching tax assessment date March 1. Mill demand was fairly active, but a good proportion of the offerings was taken by elevator interests for storage. Prices of ordinary protein wheats advanced around 2c to 3c at Kansas City, while high protein types held only steady. At the close of the market February 19, No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at that market at 54¼c to 55½c, and the higher protein wheats up to 58½c.
Soft winter wheat markets were generally firmer, but advances were less than for hard winter wheat at central western markets. Mill demand at the terminals was rather light, since interior mills were being supplied with sufficient wheat for immediate re-

Win And Lose
The boys' and girls' basketball squads journeyed to Genesee last Friday evening, where they met the Genesee team. The girls defeated the opposing squad by the large score of 19 to 6. The girls have the distinction of winning every game that they have played this year. The boys did not do as well as the girls and were defeated by two or three points. However, if they win the two remaining conference games they will be tied with Genesee and Southwick for second place in the district tournament.
The results of the Southwick game will appear in next week's paper.

No Dramatics Club
The Dramatics Club will not hold its regular meeting this week on account of conflicting engagements.

New Student
Edna Lohman enrolled this week in the senior class. She was prevented from finishing last year on account of illness.

Jokes
Mr. Brigham—This makes the fifth time I have punished you this week. What have you to say?
George Jones—I'm glad it's Friday, sir.
Harold—Why the rope around the finger?
Karl E.—Ellen put it there so I'd remember to mail a letter.
Harold—Did you mail it?
Karl E.—No. She forgot to give it to me.
Maxine—You don't love me any more. When you see me crying now you don't even ask me why.
Johnnie—I'm awfully sorry my dear, but these questions have already cost me an awful lot of money.

Idaho May Get Road Money
Probably two million dollars of highway money for Idaho is contained in the Hayden bill, now before the senate, the bureau of highways estimated.
The bill provides emergency federal aid for highways in double the amount distributed last year. From the 1931 appropriation of $80,000,000, Idaho received $1,008,000. The bill this year provides $175,000,000, or more than two times as much. It was anticipated that the bill, if passed, would provide for certain specified construction, but if the balance is divided on last year's basis, the Idaho share was believed certain to exceed $2,000,000.
"If time is allowed to spend it," J. H. Stemmer, director of the bureau, said, "we can build a lot of highways and keep a lot of men busy."
He said Idaho might find difficulty in a short season such as is promised with the immense amount of snow which must be removed before building and planning of highway projects can start.

Roads Impassable
Now that the snow in the canyon is almost gone and with it the frost from the ground our bottom roads are almost impassable, in fact, many of them are impassable.
The road between Kendrick and Arrow, near the reservation line is impassable, the Kendrick Dray and Ice truck, piloted by Frank Boyd, requiring the services of a tractor to pull it through the hole, and very good authority says the road is closed to all cars of any weight or who do not have at least a foot or more of clearance, so look your car over and measure up. It may save you a lot of trouble.

Washington's Birthday Crowd At Leland Largest In Twenty Years

Did we have a crowd? I'll say. The largest one to assemble in Leland for 20 years and more, when about 450 people from the Cameron, Welker, Fairview and Leland communities as well as visitors from Grinolds and Southwick, assembled at the I. O. O. F. hall to take part in the Washington Bi-Centennial Celebration, on Monday, February 22.

After a varied program of about 50 minutes in the forenoon, the audience adjourned to the lower part of the hall, where a number of the men had spread out and arranged the bounteous dinners provided by the ladies of the various communities.

Two large tables groaned under the weight of about one hundred pies and cakes, not to mention the stacks of sandwiches, chicken and salads on the other tables. One man said he "Wished to rent a vacant house in town, believing that no depression existed here."

The afternoon program was a varied and interesting one and about 4:00 o'clock the people departed for their various homes, tired but expressing themselves as having had a profitable and enjoyable day.
