STATE CHAMBER TELLS IDAHO TAX HISTORY

(This is the ninth of a series of articles dealing with taxation in Idaho, written by Glenn Balch, under the direction of the State Chamber of Commerce.)

Idaho's family of government functions has grown, in the course of 40 years of statehood, from 18 to approximately 115 members, the records in the state auditor's office reveal. This remarkable increase in departmental children has quite naturally been accompanied by additional costs in family upkeep; i. e., operation and maintenance. Just now the state is finding the financial burden rather inconvenient, to say the least.

A peculiar characteristic of our governmental offspring is that they seldom if ever leave the parental roof; many of the oldest and largest still insist on living at home and eating at the tax-supported table. A few are deceased and, in most instances, unremembered. Some of the youngest are the lustiest, some of the oldest the smallest and practically all of them have outgrown the fondest expectations.

A Lusty Infant

As an example, let us consider, for no reason except that it is the first to come to hand, the mine inspectorship and follow it through the vicissitudes of the years, keeping our eye peeled particularly for changes in its financial status.

The office of state mine inspector was created in 1893. Its first appropriation totaled $5,000, which, considering that it covers a two-year period, does not seem excessive. In 1895 the amount was, by some means, reduced to $250, but thereafter the upward progression began.

In 1897 the appropriation totaled $3600; in 1899, $4900; in 1901, $5900; in 1903, $6000; in 1905, $7600; in 1907, $8600; in 1909, $10,800. In the years of 1911, 1913 and 1915, the appropriation hovered about the $10,000 mark and in 1917 it reached $11,100.

The increases continued through the succeeding years until 1929, when a total of $21,599.36, the peak figure, was appropriated for the office. The 1931 appropriation was $19,310.

During these years the activities of the inspector were probably expanded and the additional funds put to a good and beneficial use. As to the facts in this particular, this writer is not informed and the only picture he is interested in drawing, without casting the slightest reflection upon any of its incumbents, is that of a $5000 infant that has developed into a $20,000 child.

The example cited above is not extreme; on the other hand it is very conservative.

The Governorship

For the purpose of further illustration, let us choose an executive office—the governorship, for instance—and follow its financial trail through the two score years.

For the first biennium of statehood a total of $7850 was appropriated for the governor's salary and the expenses of his office. Increases began immediately. In 1893 the amount was $9750; in 1895, $9900; in 1897, $8300; in 1899, $8150; in 1901, $10,500; in 1903, $11,000; in 1905, $16,200; in 1907, $18,000; in 1909, $23,800; in 1911, $22,300; in 1913, $22,800; in 1915, $20,320; in 1917, $24,000. During the years from 1917 to 1931, the governor's appropriation ranged from $26,500 to $29,850. In 1931 it was $27,325.

Thus it became apparent that an executive office which cost the taxpayers $7850 in 1891 is now costing approximately four times that much. Perhaps the increase is justified, this writer is not arguing that question; he is merely calling attention to the figures as revealed by the records, hoping that through them additional light may be thrown upon the increased financial burden of the government.

The two examples of governmental growth outlined above are by no means unique; but rather are two of the more ordinary instances of development. Others, many of which are more astounding, will be dealt with later in this series of articles.

Regrets

"Hey," cried the sarge at rifle practice, "don't you know better than to fire before the range is clear? You just missed me."
"I am awfully sorry, sergeant," responded the recruit.

Have You?

Have you made out your income tax report, for both the state and Uncle Sam? If you haven't, you better get busy. The date for filing is not later than March 15. Of course most reports will show that it has been principally "out-go" instead of income, but that doesn't matter, if you have an income over your Deduction, you must make a report.

While the corner will look bare for a while, those living near will be glad to have the menace removed.

INTERESTING BITS FROM OUT LELAND WAY

The Club met at the school house last Wednesday for their regular business meeting. Also election of officers. R. M. Smith was elected president, L. L. Yenni vice-president and Virgil Flesham secretary-treasurer. Orville Turnbaugh was host to the men, serving oysters and crackers for refreshments.

The Singing club met with Mrs. Fred Haase Tuesday evening. Spring was farther than "just around the corner" last Friday, when about eight to 10 inches of snow fell on the ridge.

Thursday about 4 o'clock an urgent telephone call stating that Jesse Hoffman's house was on fire, took three carloads of men out to Jesse's. Prompt work on the part of Mr. Hoffman and the closer neighbors, with some assistance from the town men, checked the flames. The fire started in a wash-house and woodshed, built in connection with the main part of the house. The damage was confined to those buildings.

The Ladies Missionary society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Virgil Flesham for their business and devotional meeting. Mrs. Rachel Daugherty led the devotional meeting. Mrs. Sylvia Peters and Mrs. Zella Walker served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. James McVicker and Violet and Mrs. C. Leavitt and son were Sunday guests at the A. G. Peters home.

The Marvin Vincent family, Lyle Harrison, Dick Colegrove and Mrs. Fred Haase are among the sick this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Turnbaugh spent Saturday evening at Mrs. Jennie Hund's.

Leland To Give Play

On Friday, March 18, at the I. O. O. F. Hall in Leland the Ladies' Missionary Society will present a play called "Little Miss Jack," written by Lillian Mortimer.

The cast of characters is as follows: Maggie, a girl of the bowery, Blanche Wolff; Jimmy, with no taste for "woik", Laurel Flesham; Julia Trevors, who has been a mother to Jack, Grace Woodward; Jacqueline, Little Miss Jack, Geraldine Harrison; Doctor Carlyle, a successful physician, Robert Smith; Paul Sanborn, his assistant, Gordon Peters; Neene, the doctor's adopted daughter, Jaunita Flesham; Aunt Katie, the doctor's sister, Edith Smith; Rider, a social hanger on, Jake Daugherty; Drake, a justice of the peace, Virgil Flesham; Jones, of the police, Herbert Wolff.

Out of the darkness of poverty and suffering a strange whim of circumstances brought Jacqueline into her rightful inheritance, but the shadow of grim tragedy lurked always behind the bright curtain of romance. How many girls would have faced their enemies with the courage of Little Miss Jack.

Bridge Club Meets

The Afternoon Bridge club was very pleasantly entertained by Mrs. F. H. Rider on Thursday afternoon of last week, when the game was played at three tables. Mrs. Rider won high score for the afternoon. Mrs. E. H. Emery and Mrs. W. A. Watts were invited guests.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Harold Thomas.

Among The Sick

Mrs. Ira Bolon is confined to her home with quinsy.
S. A. McAllister, who has been quite ill for some time, is not much improved.

KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB IN MONTHLY MEET

Another of those interesting and beneficial meetings of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the Raby Hotel Monday evening, when 18 interested citizens of the town gathered to help solve the problems confronting our little city and the surrounding country.

The first thing on the program was a splendid chicken dinner, served under the direction of Mrs. Raby and splendidly carried on by her assistants. After the inner man had been satisfied the business of the evening was taken up and much discussion of the topics presented was indulged in.

Rev. Smith, a member of the committee appointed to look into the feasibility of organizing a Boy Scout troop in Kendrick, reported that some progress had been made along that line; that the boys were here and anxious to take part in such organization, and that all that is now needed is a suitable leader who can and will spare the time necessary to make the movement a success. The committee was continued in power.

At this time Rev. Smith took opportunity to invite the members of the club to the "Father and Son" meeting to be held in the Community church on the evening of Wednesday, March 16, and requested that each man try and bring a boy with him; that if he had no son of his own, to try and borrow one—but to come. Rev. Smith also invited and urged the members of the club (and their wives) to attend services in a body at the church Palm Sunday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. This will be the Sunday before Easter—March 20. The club very graciously accepted the invitation and it is more than likely that all members will attend.

N. E. Walker was called upon to make a report on the highway situation, the report resulting in much discussion. More than an hour was given over to this all-important subject. Different phases of the situation were discussed and it was finally decided to leave the matter as it stood, continuing the committee, with power to act. When the delegation had a conference with Gov. Ross some time ago, he made it very plain that all roads sanctioned by him would be put where they would do the farmers the most good; that he was not in favor of designating any more purely tourist roads until all practical and feasible farmer roads had been taken care of. Of course the state does not build all the road, by any means, but when a road is once designated the state goes 50-50 on the building and then maintains it—which means a lot to any road district.

According to information given out from Boise on Monday, Governor C. Ben Ross will leave that city for the northern part of the state March 13 and it is more than likely that he will give our road the "once over". Could he have traveled the Arrow road last week he would more than likely have designated it as a proper place for a ferry-boat. A full report will be had at the next meeting of the club.

J. W. Thometz, county agent for Nez Perce county, was in Kendrick recently trying to make arrangements for another farmer meeting, such as was had in Kendrick last year. While Latah county has no agent this year, Mr. Thometz is willing and anxious to hold another meeting in Kendrick. This will be absolutely free and there will be good speakers for the occasion, should the meeting become a reality. The Kendrick Commercial club will lend every possible aid to make the meeting a success, should Mr. Thometz decide to hold one here.

H. B. Thompson, chairman of the committee on education, reported that the regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers association would be held in the assembly room of the school building on Monday evening, March 21, and that the ladies in charge of the program promised a good time. It was stated that an interesting program is being prepared and all interested in the school are invited to attend this meeting.

Supt. Brigham reported that the student funds were at a somewhat low ebb and that they were contemplating an invitation dance in the near future. He asked better support for all school activities so the mounting deficit could be taken care of.

A report of the relief committee showed that this branch of the club's activities had exhausted the fund recently provided for emergency cases.

Many Transients Don't Want Work
It has been learned from a resident of the bunk car down near the depot that fully 80 per cent of the travelers do not want work. They say this depression is the finest thing that ever happened for they can use a hard-luck story to get meals and lodging. The per cent mentioned above are professional bums and would not work if they had a chance.

Not So Hot

This part of Idaho isn't the only place in this great U. S. that has been suffering from belated winter weather. Over at Billings, Montana, the mercury dropped to 7 below zero Sunday morning, with other places to the east ranging to 18 below in North Dakota.

While this section of the Northwest has had a long winter, with more than the usual amount of snow, there has been no extremely cold weather, for which we are very thankful.

Some nine inches of snow was deposited in the canyon Friday and Friday night, and at least a foot on the ridges, after which a nice rain began falling and another flood was feared, but cooling weather Saturday evening dispelled all fear, unless another warm rain and chinook comes. There are two to six feet of snow in the hills drained by the Potlatch and its tributaries, which could easily cause a lot of trouble.

Much Cream Shipped

While cream does not bring a very high price at this time, yet it is helping to pay grocery bills that might otherwise be hard to pay. According to depot records, there is on an average of from 20 to 25 five-gallon cans of cream shipped to various points from Kendrick each day and the yearly average, R. H. Ramey agent, states, is between 450 and 500 cans per month. Twenty-nine five-gallon cans were shipped from the local depot on Wednesday of this week. This, in addition to what is taken in at the local station and shipped out in trucks.

GRAIN MARKETS DULL WITH DEMAND SLOW

Grain markets had a slightly easier undertone during the week ending on March 4, largely as a result of a continued slow demand, according to the weekly grain market review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Relatively heavy stocks of domestic wheat, together with generally favorable prospects for the new winter wheat crop and a less active export inquiry for North American grain, were the principal weakening influence in the wheat market and prices were slightly lower. Rye had some independent strength, very largely because of the light domestic supplies and an increased export inquiry for North American rye. Corn and oats continued to move slowly into trade channels and the light receipts were easily sufficient for all current market needs. Barley was in better demand and was firmer than other feed grains. Flax was slightly lower despite the very small marketings, with crusher demand light.

Foreign wheat held generally steady during the week. Continental buying was more active, reflecting the relaxation of French and Italian milling regulations for foreign wheat. Germany was reported to have purchased additional quantities of wheat in anticipation of new milling regulations. Italy was taking increased amounts of southern hemisphere wheat and purchased Russian wheat, while Greece purchased Russian wheat in store in England, and made inquiry for United States grain. Appreciation in value of the British pound sterling and the announcement that restrictions in trading in foreign exchange would be withdrawn, were favorable features in the general market situation in the United Kingdom. Portugal has prohibited the importing of bread grain. Procurements of Russian grain to Feb. 20 were reported at 90.8 per cent of the yearly plan.

Winter wheat crops remained in generally favorable conditions during the week. The mild weather over the main winter wheat section of the U. S. promoted growth in most parts. Wheat greened up and made noticeable growth in Kansas and more southern sections. More soil moisture is needed in the west central great plains, especially eastern Colorado, western Kansas and Nebraska and northwestern Oklahoma. Winter grain in most European countries are reported protected by a snow cover, although damage is reported from previous unfavorable weather in some areas, particularly in some of the lower Danubian countries and in southern Russia. Recent rains benefited crops in North African countries and the condition of wheat in Egypt at the first of March was reported to be 100 per cent of the ten year average. Conditions in India, where harvesting begins this month, are variable, with rain needed in unirrigated regions, particularly in the Punjab, where more than one-third of the Indian crop is produced. More than half of the Punjab acreage, however, is under irrigation.

Domestic wheat markets declined sharply despite a sharp reduction in market receipts. Arrivals at the principal central and southwestern markets totaled only 2,917 cars, compared with the unusually large receipts of 5,583 cars of the previous week. Milling demand was fairly active and storage interests continued to take good amounts. Elevator stocks in Kansas City were increased to a new record total of over 37,000,000 bushels, with large amounts still on the track to be unloaded. At the close of the market March 4, No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at 52c to 52½c. Milling demand at Omaha was fairly active and 160 cars were shipped out, mostly to Minneapolis mills. Current offerings were readily taken and at the close of the week No. 2 hard winter, was quoted at Omaha at 51½c per bushel.

Receipts at Denver were the lightest since July, following the heavy movement prior to the advance in freight rates, but demand was also very dull and prices held about unchanged. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at 40c to 43c per bushel. Offerings at Fort Worth were light but there was a good demand both from exporters and mills. Millers were paying 61c to 62c for No. 1 hard winter, delivered Galveston export rate points. Exporters were bidding around 61c per bushel. The same quality was reported sold at Liverpool for April

"Ford Risks All"

At least that's what the headlines in Sunday's papers said. Any old time Hank Ford risks a dollar he sees $10 coming back to take it's place, you can bet. He figures on making 1,500,000 cars—and he also figures on selling them.

NOTICE OF AMENDMENT OF ORDINANCE NO. 207 — AN ADDITION—OR SECTION 18 B

Section 18 of Ordinance No. 207 says: Stables—Every owner, lessee, tenant and occupant of any stable, stall, pen, building or place in which any horses, cattle or any other animal shall be kept, or any place in which manure or any liquid discharge of such animal shall accumulate, shall cause such manure or liquid discharge to be placed or kept in a suitable box, device or receptacle enclosed and covered from flies, mosquitoes, or other insects, and such device, box or receptacle shall be kept in a suitable place on the aforesaid premises and the contents thereof removed therefrom to some proper place at such intervals as shall be necessary and proper under the circumstances in each particular case.

GRAIN MARKETS DULL WITH DEMAND SLOW

Shipments at 66c per bushel, compared with sales of Australian wheat at 64c, Argentine Rosafe at 58c and No. 2 Manitoba from Vancouver at 69c per bushel. Soft winter wheat markets declined 1c to 2c on a dull demand. Receipts at St. Louis were fairly liberal and storage space continued scarce, although some space was made available during the week by loading out grain. Mills at that market were taking only a small part of the receipts and this resulted in some further widening of discounts. No. 2 soft winter was quoted in that market March 4 at 57c. This same grade was quoted in Kansas City at 52c to 53c, with elevators about the only buyers of the rather heavy offerings at that market. Receipts at Cincinnati were principally of wheat shipped for storage. Mill demand was very light and millers who formerly took as much as 25 cars at a time were reported taking only an occasional car.

And every owner, lessee, occupant and tenant of any of the aforesaid places shall, at all times keep or cause to be kept, said places and the drain yards and appurtenances thereof in a neat and clean and wholesome condition.

Section 18-B: No cattle, sheep, horses, goats or other livestock shall be kept, stabled or housed within 150 feet of any dwelling occupied or used as a habitation and no building now or hereafter occupied for said purpose or use or to be built shall be used to house or stable such animals within the above described limits within the boundaries enclosed by Front street and Mill street.

Pacific Coast markets were generally quiet with prices moving within a narrow range. Futures at Portland March 4 closed 1/4c to 1 1/4c lower than a week ago. Cash markets were dull with export demand very light and domestic inquiry of small volume. One sale of 500 tons of wheat to Japan was confirmed at the close of the week, which was the first export business for some time. Export flour mills were operating on the last allotment of 100,000 barrels of flour for the Chinese flood relief but reported no new export business with the Orient. Moderate flour sales continued to the Philippines but sales to other markets continued light. Inquiry from California was more active although actual sales were not of large volume and were principally of feed wheat. Prospects for winter wheat continued favorable and moisture for spring plantings was abundant as a result of good snow fall. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river points were sharply reduced and totaled only 632 cars for the week. Cash prices were lowered with futures and at the close of the market March 4 Big Bend bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at 71c to 72c, soft and western white at 61c, hard winter, northern spring and western red at 58c to 59, sacked, No. 1 wheat. At Seattle western white and western red were quoted at 62c and 61c respectively and hard winter at 61c per bushel, sacked, for No. 1, with high protein Montana wheat being quoted at 99 1/2c in bulk. Moderate sales of Canadian wheat for export were reported at Vancouver during the week, with No. 1 Manitoba Northern quoted at 61c and No. 2 at 57c in terms of United States currency.

Section 19 — Penalty: Any person who shall fail to comply with the provisions of the preceding section and who shall neglect or refuse to remove such manure, liquid discharge or other matter for a period of one day after being notified to do so by the Chief of Police shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. The same penalty shall apply to both divisions of Section 18.

By Order of the Board.
Edgar Long, Village Marshall.

California wheat markets were mostly quiet but steady with prices practically unchanged, compared with those of a week ago. Local marketings continued rather light and principally to interior feeders where offerings from other states were at a freight disadvantage. Business at the terminals was principally in northern wheat although some grain was received from Texas and inter-mountain states. Canadian spring wheat markets declined about 1c during the week, reflecting the slower export demand. At the close of the market March 4, No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg at 65 1/2c, which would be equivalent to 58 1/4c in our money.

War at Ford Factory

Four were killed and many wounded at the entrance of the Ford factory on Monday when some 4,000 unemployed marched on that plant. The marchers had been inflamed by communists. While Henry Ford has never been accused of philanthropy, yet there can be no real blame attached to his institution for the gathering of the lawless element.

40,000,000 Bushels Wheat to Poor

President Hoover on Monday signed a bill releasing 40,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat for use for the unemployed, to be released through the American Red Cross. We sincerely hope there will not be room for criticism of that body as there was only a short time ago over the handling of supplies in the drought-stricken area of the south.

Smoking The First Cigar
(An Essay)

Cigars may be secured at all pool halls, confectioneries, drug stores, etc. The young fellow will clutch himself up to his full height, cluff frantically at a nickle in his pocket, and march bravely up to the counter.

"Gimme a Crema," he will say, and unconcernedly pass over the nickle. Sticking the cigar in his mouth, he will start reaching for a match as he goes out. But will he light the cigar? Certainly not. First he must try it in the seclusion of a barn or some out of the way place.

Arriving at his destination, he will look carefully around to see if there is anyone near. Seeing no one, he will try to light the cigar. But, as he has not bit the end off, of course the cigar will not light. After using up half of his matches, it may occur to him that most men usually chew the end of their cigars. This he will do, meanwhile swallowing several times. Finally, after the cigar is lit, he will puff away in contentment, imagining himself to be the president of a railroad or even the town banker.

Late in the evening he will arrive home, green around the eyes and

Dead Line Is April 1

Don't forget that you must have your 1932 auto license plates in place on April 1 if you expect to use the highways. There have already been three months of "grace"—the date having been set ahead from January 1—so it is not probable that the state traffic department will tolerate a further delay on the part of autoists.

TEAKEAN GOSSIP

The weather continues very changeable, it thaws a few days and then turns colder for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Erlewine and little son Neal, from Cedar Creek, visited at the home of Mrs. Erlewine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Butler last week.

Simon Baugh was up from Orofino one day last week on business.

Wallace Sewell and Ned Harless assisted with Carroll Groseclose Sunday.

Mrs. J. H. Butler has been sick in bed with the flu for a few days.

The ladies aid met at the Wm. Groseclose home last Thursday and tied a quilt and presented Mrs. Groseclose with blocks for a friendship quilt as a birthday gift.

The teachers and some of the young people of the community have begun to practice a play, "A Family Affair," to be given soon. They were getting ready for this same play last spring but gave it up on account of sickness in the community.

Mrs. Wm. Groseclose visited with Mrs. J. H. Butler Monday afternoon.

Arlos Welds and Johnny Lettenmaier of Southwick were visitors at the J. H. Butler home Saturday evening.

Game Warden Visits Kendrick

Deputy Game Warden Harry Driscoll was a Kendrick visitor Friday of last week, having come here to look into the report that deer were being killed up the canyon. Just what he learned was not made public, but it is safe to say that it will be unsafe for the killers if they persist in this decidedly risky "sport."

Why Electric Rates Vary

Just as the costs of food, clothing, rent and other items vary in accordance with the locality or section of the country, so the cost of electric service varies in different localities or sections of the country.

In fact, so many factors enter into these costs, that comparable costs and, therefore, comparable rates, are the exception rather than the rule.

What are some of these factors?

Character of community served. No two cities or towns are alike. They differ in their industries, their population and their variety of uses of electric service.

In a commercial or industrial center there is a greater demand, and it would be spread more evenly over more hours of the day, than is the case in a strictly residential community. This is conducive to mass production and consequent lower rates for electric service.

Also, greater density of population means that more persons are reached with fewer miles of transmission and distribution system, thus reducing the cost of serving each customer.

Investment in land, which is cheap in some localities and expensive in others.

Construction costs of building, including generating plants, substations, office buildings, etc.

Cost of constructing and maintaining transmission and distribution lines.

Difference in wage scales for labor.

Varying costs of equipment and fuel.

As rates for electric service are based on the cost of furnishing that service, the cause of varying rates is varying costs.

THE TRUTH ABOUT Puretest ASPIRIN

Puretest Aspirin tablets are made from true and pure Aspirin . . . Each tablet contains precisely five grains of true Aspirin. In the presence of water or moist secretions, Puretest Aspirin Tablets disintegrate in from 2 to 7 seconds. That's why the relief you secure from Puretest Aspirin tablets is prompt and complete. Even the weakest heart is not depressed by Puretest Aspirin. On the contrary, it has a mild tonic effect. A better Aspirin tablet than Puretest has never been made . . . the laboratories of the United Drug Company make every tablet of Puretest Aspirin . . . and make Aspirin tablets for nobody else.

Men, Do You Realize

Men, do you realize that, according to the rating given in the federal and state income tax ratings that your wife is valued at $1,500, while you, the lesser half, it seems, are valued at only $1,000? Thus it is pointed out that a wife should be worth $1,500 to any man—but look what they are doing at Reno! Separating them at the rate of many hundreds each month.

The how come of the rating is that a married man is allowed $2,500 exemption on income while a single man is allowed only $1,000, thus making the value of a woman $1,500, or $500 more than any man. Now, we suppose that, having this information, some heartless wretch will try to cash in on his wife, since $500 bills are rather scarce.

Oregon Consolidates Schools

Consolidation of all institutions of higher education in Oregon under one administration has been ordered by the state board of education. This will include the University of Oregon, Oregon State College, and three Normal schools. All will be under the control of one president and he will be responsible to the state board. The move was forced by a $2,000,000 decline in appropriation for the institutions mentioned above.

Store In Shape Again

Improvements that have been in progress at the Long store for the past several weeks, are about completed and things are being put in shape as rapidly as possible. However, it will be some little time before everything is put to rights and things running smoothly. The improvement really is an "improvement." It makes for greater efficiency and easier handling of goods. There is also better light and more room.

No Wonder We Have Postal Deficits

Senator Jones yesterday succeeded in getting into the commerce department bill an amendment appropriating $200,000 for starting development of the northern transcontinental air route between St. Paul and Seattle, via Spokane, according to a special dispatch from Washington, D. C.

The department of commerce estimated it will require between $700,000 and $800,000 to put in lighting and make other ground improvements, needed before the air mail service can be inaugurated. Senator Jones had asked for $500,000 but the committee cut his amendment to $200,000.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

but that the money had been well and wisely spent. The club feels that it has been of some real use in that it has not only helped solve the problems of our little city, but has actually helped people who really needed help and were appreciative of it.

It is indeed regrettable that more of the townspeople do not take the club's activities seriously. This work not only helps other but makes the members feel that they, too, have had, in an indirect way, some part in the good that has been done—and what is yet to be done.

Take On International Agency

A representative of the International Harvester company was in Kendrick Tuesday and signed a contract with the Kendrick Bean Growers association to handle International machinery for the coming year. The association ordered a carload of machinery and will later receive a supply of repair parts. This line will be handled from the association's warehouse.
